WHITWORTH TO BATTLE SPOKANE U

Whitworth Team Shows Marked Improvement

BUS TO BE CHARTERED

Coach Neustel Is Putting Men Through Daily Grind

Whitworth meets Spokane University Friday, November 2 upon the gridiron of her ancient rival. The season this far has shown an immense improvement upon the team which struggled onto the field the first day. Coach B. C. Neustel has persistently hammered the line and backfield into shape until at present the men, mostly inexperienced, are playing both offensive and defensive fully two hundred per cent better than they did in the first game of the season. The average weight of the team is approximately one hundred and sixty pounds.

Spokane University has a heavy team this year as usual, and defeated Spokane College. A great game is expected. A bus will be chartered to take the team and as many students as possible. The game is called for 2:30.

Y. M. C. A. Holds Conference Here

This year the Y. M. C. A. organization of Spokane again held its annual fellowship meeting in Whitworth College. On the afternoon of Sunday, September 30, a large caravan of automobiles brought out the men and their families to the Whitworth chapel, where an extended program of religious exercises and explanatory talks was given. The meeting was presided over by Mr. W. L. McEachran, president of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A., and the main address was given by Dr. C. F. Koehler of Knox Presbyterian church. Professor Lyle W. Moore and Mr. Simon of the first church choir both sang baritone solos. After the program everyone went to the college dining room, where an excellent lunch was served by some of the visiting ladies, under the leadership of Mrs. W. W. Dillon, assisted by Whitworth students.

Hold Traditional Pep Rally

On Thursday, Oct. 25, a large group of Whitworth students gathered about the traditional monster bonfire and watched the flames shoot high into the sky, heaving up the flag of Spokane college upon the topmost mast as they roared heaven-ward. It was, the night before the big game, to be played on our own field.

Miss Holt and Mr. Clark came from the crowd and gracefully led a series of successful yells, songs, and cheers for the school and various individuals. Coach Neustel, Captain Skaer, President Randal, and Manager Killian told of the good spirit and co-operation displayed by the team this year.

When the fire began to die down, the students filed into a single line and marched through the halls of both buildings, then out on the quadrangle where more songs were vigorously sung. The program closed with the "Alma Mater."

The spirit displayed in the firelight and then on the campus in the moonlight was an inspiration, and will always be remembered in the history of pep rallies.

Male Quartet Organized

Under the direction of Professor Lyle W. Moore, the new director of voice, a male quartet has been organized and the practices started. The personnel is Bruce Clark, Lewis Randal, King Olney, and Lee Knoll. The college awaits with interest the first public appearance of this organization.

DOROTHY HOOD HEADS PRESBYTERIAN LEAGUE

Mary Hinton Is Conference Committee
Chairman

A meeting of the Young People's League of the Synod of Washington was held in the First Presbyterian church of Spokane on October 16 in connection with the state Synodical society being held there at that time. About two hundred were present. Miss Dorothy Hood, a freshman at Whitworth college, presided and was elected president for the coming year. Miss Mary Hinton is chairman of the conference committee.

Picnic Held On Mount Spokane

The first all-college event was the trip to Mount Spokane on September 28. After chapel the cars left the college, filled with eats, bats, balls, girls, kodaks, and faculty. At Cook's Cabin a thrilling baseball game preceded the lunch, when quantities of hot dogs, cookies, and coffee disappeared. The entire crowd then went cheerfully up the mountain to the summit. There exhibitions of flag-pole climbing were made by Prof. Buxton, "Snuffy", and Skaer; and an exploration was made to a nearby peak on which a fitting "W" memorial was left.

The main feature of the afternoon was the championship baseball game. Notwithstanding the difficulties encountered when the ball rolled down the mountain side, the game progressed to a fitting climax amid the pitching of Dr. Tiffany and the cheering of the girls. The descent back to Cook's Cabin was made with flying heels, and after finishing up the "eats", all returned to Spokane, filled with memories of the annual trip to Mount Spokane—and dust.

Gospel Team To Visit Palouse

The Volunteer Fellowship, composed of students who believe in Jesus Christ and want to serve Him, started its active work of the season by presenting the ideals and the work of the organization to the student body in chapel. After chapel service a meeting was held and those who wanted to become members were welcomed. There are several new members.

On the fourth of November a team of five will hold a service at Palouse. Frank Tiffany and Mary Hinton are to be the speakers, and a quartet composed of Leon Killian, Mary Hinton, Dorothy Hood, and Frank Tiffany, accompanied by Helen Doig, will bring a message through song. Dr. Couterline will go with the group.

Yell Leaders Chosen

Maude Holt and Bruce Clark have been duly elected yell leaders for this year. With their pep and vocal ability the Whitworth rooting section ought to be a strong contributing factor in the winning of the season's games.

EVERELL SHARNBROICH

Editor of Natsihi

Everell Sharnbroich of the class of '30 has been elected Editor-in-Chief of this year's Natsihi.

Former Student Famous Singer

Mr. Jesse Phillips-Robertson, a student at Whitworth in 1922-24, is now doing graduate work in Columbia University. He is working out a unique problem in music, in interpreting and singing the Psalms. He spent a part of the summer in Spokane and sang in the Fourth Presbyterian church while here. He presents in an unusual way some of the beauties in the language and music of the Psalms often overlooked by the lay reader. He is now one of New York's most popular church soloists and is listed among the exclusive Brunswick recording artists. Mrs. Robertson is also a former Whitworth student and McMillan dormitory girl. In a recent letter, Mr. Robertson writes: "We want you to know that Whitworth is as dear to us as ever."

Office Has New Assistants

The office work is being handled this year by two capable students, Mr. Lee Knoll and Miss Kathryn Bockman. Mr. Knoll does the book-keeping work and the work of a business and Miss Bockman does the stenographic work. This method of handling the work reduces the cost of administration by eliminating the cost of a full-time office secretary and at the same time provides an opportunity for two students who have already had considerable training in these lines of work to defray part of their expenses while attending college. Mr. Knoll was for several years a book-keeper in the offices of the Spokane Gas and Fuel Company. Miss Bockman worked in a newspaper office in Anacortes before coming to college.

Convocation Was Impressive

The first convocation of the year was held at 10:30 on Tuesday, September 25. The main address was given by Dr. C. F. Koehler, pastor of Knox Presbyterian church. Words of welcome were also spoken by Mr. W. L. McEachran, president of the Board of Trustees. Professor Lyle W. Moore, director of voice, sang two solos. The congregational singing was led by Mr. A. K. Arcnd, a member of the Board of Trustees. Several ministers of the Spokane Presbytery were on the platform, among which were Rev. E. B. Carey, Rev. W. L. Livingston, Dr. C. F. McKean, Rev. Paul E. Ratsch, Rev. H. A. Brown, Rev. A. B. Blades, Rev. W. L. Killian, Rev. S. H. Roberts, and Dr. Donald Finlayson.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY TO BE HELD IN GYM

Annual Entertainment to Be

GOOD PROGRAM PLANNED

Committees are Busy Preparing For Traditional Event

Friday, November 2, Whitworth College will hold its annual Hallowe'en party in the gymnasium. All are expected to come in costumes fitting to the occasion.

Committees in charge of the affair have planned a delightful program. The program committee consists of Virginia Koyl, Janice Schermerhorn, and Kathryn Bockman; the refreshment committee is Helen Doig, Lela Mae Muir, and Kenneth Knoll; the decoration committee, Lloyd Smith, Carlome Petsch, Dorothy Hood, Bruce Clark, and Milton Andrews; the publicity committee, Maude Holt, Leah Grove, and Beulah Cox; and the auxiliary committee, Everell Sharnbroich, Forrest Travaille, Robert Millican, Victor Morgan, Ed Schimke, Frances Gardner, and Margriet Mayer.

Church Training School Held

The Spokane Standard Training school for church and Sunday school workers began its fourth annual session on Monday evening, October 15, in the Westminster Congregational church.

The courses offered this year are, "Life of Jesus", "Program of Christian Religion", "The Teaching Task of the Church", "Supervision in Religious Education", "Intermediate, Senior, and Young People's Work", "Story Telling for Beginners and Primary Workers", and "Story Telling for Junior Teachers." Strong interest has been shown by the large number of people who are taking the courses. Classes, which are held on Monday and Tuesday evenings will continue until October 30. Dr. O. E. Tiffany is dean of the school and Dr. J. W. Couterline and Mr. W. I. Wolverton are among the instructors.

Whitworth Has New Librarian

Mrs. Josephine Hunt of the University of Washington is the new librarian of the college. She has an A. B. degree from the University of Washington, 1926, and she then took the library course and graduated with a degree in library science in 1927. She has had experience in the library of the University of Washington and in the main public library of Seattle. This means that Whitworth's library is now under professional direction.

Dr. Tiffany Attends W. E. A.

Acting President O. E. Tiffany left Wednesday night, October 24, for Walla Walla, where he visited with President Penrose, listened to Professor Jacob's history class, and attended some of the sessions of the annual convention of the Washington Education Association. Dr. Tiffany is a member of the state committee on moral and religious education.

Apologies may be due for the somewhat delayed appearance of the WHITWORTHIAN this year. No excuses can be offered, however, except that "everyone is busier than his neighbor."

Summer cares are past and gone, and ahead of us lies a glittering multitude of unblemished opportunities, countless in number and infinite in degree. The golden future beckons us on to unlimited achievement. The policy of the WHITWORTHIAN is the realization of such achievement: high scholastic standards, clean and loyal sportsmanship, willing co-operation among all, perfect harmony of feeling throughout the year, and radiation of the spirit of Jesus Christ from the heart and soul of every Whitworth student.

LET'S BE GOOD SPORTS

Everybody likes to be called a good sport and every school covets a reputation for good sportsmanship. Whitworth has gone a long way to deserve this title, yet a little word or incident can destroy what years of endeavor have built up.

Good sportsmanship on the football sidelines or the basketball gallery does not consist in making fun of the other side but in encouraging our own team. It does not consist in trying to bewilder the opposing side by taunts and jeers but in giving them all the credit due them whenever they make a good play. Regardless of how funny or appropriate, sarcastic remarks about opponents often lead to hard feelings and destroy that spirit of friendliness which should exist between schools.

Let's remember we are playing against friendly rivals, not fighting enemies. They may take away our victory, but only we ourselves can take away our reputation for good sportsmanship. Let every Whitworthian resolve that, winning or losing, he will be a good sport.

—L. E. K.

From Dr. Koehler's Convocation Address

Go forward to strong scholarship. Go forward to an incentive. Go forward in building a life. Do not lose sight of the finer qualities of life. In pursuit of finer scholarship seek the finer realities. Finer scholarship means finer responsibility. The difference between Christian and secular education is that Christian education develops life training and secular education develops mental training. Life is like the making of pottery; it must be hardened and glazed before it is a finished product. Christ never intrudes; He stands at the door and knocks. Life must rest on a secure foundation.

New Faculty Members

There are four new members on the faculty this year. Dr. J. W. Countermine, head of the Bible department; Professor B. C. Neustel, in charge of the chemistry and biology work; Professor Lyle W. Moore, director of voice; and Mrs. Josephine Hunt, librarian. They are all well-trained in their respective fields, and are warmly welcomed to the Whitworth fellowship.

Students At Knox Church

As in previous years, Knox Presbyterian church has proved to be a popular place of Sunday worship for the students of Whitworth. The girls swelled the ranks of Mrs. C. F. Koehler's Bible class to the extent that she was obliged to find a larger room in which to hold its sessions.

The members of the men's club at Knox are showing their usual Christian spirit by sending cars out to the college every Sunday morning. This accommodation is highly appreciated by the dormitory students, as it has furnished them practically their only means of transportation to and from church.

First Church Sunday School Class

A college students' Sunday School class has been organized at the First Presbyterian church under the direction of Mr. W. I. Wolverton. Twelve members have been enrolled, ten of whom are from Whitworth College. The purpose of the class is to train leaders for Sunday school and church work. Consecutive courses will be offered in the class, to be credited toward a Leadership diploma issued by the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian church.

CHAPEL SPEAKERS

SEPTEMBER 27

One of the first chapel speakers was Dr. McCracken from the University of Ohio, who visited Whitworth September 27. As research counsel for the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, he told of his purpose in visiting the forty-seven regular Presbyterian colleges, and some of the problems he helps the administrators to solve. Most of the problems, he said, are those connected with money, character development, and individual school problems.

OCTOBER 2

"Character is the best capital," said Dr. H. M. Campbell of San Jose, California, in chapel. He added that for success in life one must have, primarily, a definite high aim, second, self-confidence; last and perhaps hardest to learn, one must pay the price. With determination and the help of God one can do anything; hence one should determine to be a success. But the greatest education is that found in the Word of God.

OCTOBER 4

"The Peculiarities of John" was the topic of Dr. E. D. Riddick, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Spirit Lake, based on the text of John 20:30, 31. He likened the apostle John to a super-salesman who does not argue with his prospects but faithfully demonstrates his product, and then when he finishes, he asks, "Don't you think you ought to take it?"

OCTOBER 10

Mr. W. I. Wolverton, director of religious education at the First Presbyterian church of Spokane, gave a practical talk on "What Would Jesus Say?" If Jesus had grown up as a child, youth, and man in Spokane at the present time, what would He talk about? Would not His teachings be the same today as of old? Perhaps He would use different parables illustrating His teachings, but the thought would be the same, because His theme is a universal one. Yes, if Jesus were here now, He would probably talk about the same things He did two thousand years ago: God, Life and Love.

OCTOBER 15

Miss Mabel Nelson, a returned missionary from Persia, spoke in chapel in a native costume. She discussed the Persian people, and the work that the missionaries are accomplishing among them. She stressed the fact that Persia is awakening to the possibilities of Christianity, and the consequent increased responsibility to the civilized world.

OCTOBER 18

Senator Reba Hunt, a prominent lawyer of Spokane, spoke on the current political situation. She said that even as the individuality and accountability of man was Christ's ideal, so opportunity in a land of democracy and righteousness is the ideal of the American government. She spoke in

Death of Clara Parker's Mother

On Friday, October 12, word came to the college that Clara Parker's mother, Mrs. L. L. Parker, had died the evening before. She had been suffering from cancer for some weeks and died after an operation in St. Luke's hospital. The Associated Students sent a floral offering as a token of their sympathy for the Parker family at this time, and the college was also represented at the funeral. Many Whitworth students remember with pleasure the social gatherings at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Parker at Colbert last year, and now sympathize with Clara in her deep loss. Clara will not return to school this semester.

a very interesting and informative manner on the issues in the coming election—prohibition, immigration, farm relief, and the tariff.

OCTOBER 22

Rev. W. C. Crockett, Chataqua speaker, delivered an address on "Drifting." The thought he stressed was "Is the trend of society drifting toward war?" He changed the statement "war is the cause of the collapse of civilization" to "the collapse of civilization is the cause of war." His warning was for the individual, who makes up society, not to lose sight of the fundamentals of life, home, and religion.

OCTOBER 23

When Dr. Joel Harper, pastor of the Westminster Congregational church of Spokane, visited the college, he spoke to the students on the question Christ asked Pilate during His trial, "Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or did others tell it thee?"

The speaker said that Christianity was as much a personal matter as air and water, and that each individual must test it for himself. Our personal faith is in danger. It is endangered by the modern fatalistic philosophy which teaches that we are all creatures of circumstances, and by ecclesiasticism which tries to do our thinking for us in religious experience, and by legislation which tries to deprive us of our responsibility to the state. Human souls are individuals and must stand as individuals before the judgment. We therefore need to do our own thinking and have a personal acquaintance with Christ and not merely know the story of someone else's experience.

OCTOBER 25

Rev. Raymond Campbell of Washuena, representative of the United Presbyterian young people's work, brought an interesting message. He urged students to get every advantage out of their college life, to enter into a variety of activities and sports, to cultivate our fellowship with one another, but most of all not to forget the soul and its need of spiritual food. His theme and parting message was "Whosoever things are true, noble, just, lovely, and of good report—think on these things."

Musical Chapel Program

"Music" was the topic of the October 16 chapel service. Illustrating Prof. Hussong's brief talk, Miss Eleanor Brand, a former Whitworth student gave the following enjoyable piano selections: "The Ninety and Nine," "Shall We Gather at the River," and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Other students who knew Miss Brand were especially glad to have her play in chapel once more; as she is leaving soon for California to continue her study of pipe organ music.

Dr. Countermine Loses Sister

Dr. J. W. Countermine received word on Saturday evening that his only sister, who lived in Brookings, South Dakota, had died that day. The distance from here together with his engagements in Spokane as well as his work at the college made it almost impossible for Dr. Countermine to leave at this time to attend the funeral.

Miss Selma Crow, formerly teacher of biology and home economics at Whitworth, is now teaching in the biology department of the University of Minnesota and at the same time working toward her master's degree.

Professor Harvey Now In Berkeley

Professor P. A. Harvey, professor of biology and chemistry in Whitworth last year, now has a professorship in the department of biology in the university of California at Berkeley. He has charge of the field work in connection with the investigation of a special problem of biological life in that section of the country. Professor Harvey is still interested in Whitworth, however, and has sent in his subscription to the Whitworthian.

Changes in McMillan Hall

When students returned to college this fall, they found that McMillan Hall was somewhat changed. All the rooms except the chapel had been re-decorated, new linoleum was on two of the hall floors, the wood-work had been varnished, a telephone booth had been made near the main entrance, the old offices had been made into one large room, now used for the music department, and the large room of the home economics department had been made into two rooms. One of these is now used for the town-girls' study room and the room on the north end makes a good-sized recitation room and is used for the sociology and economics work. The town boys now have a special study room in one of the well-lighted basement rooms of Ballard Hall, and a cloak room has been made for them in the basement near the chemistry entrance of Ballard.

Ballard Hall

The opening of this fall term found Ballard Hall with many various improvements. The new typing room is one of the outstanding features. The fourth floor has been finished off into a number of very attractive rooms. Professor Neustel has purchased considerable equipment for the science department. Enough chemicals have been ordered to take care of both the general and the organic experiments for the year. New glassware is on the way for the chemistry laboratory. Two hundred new slides have been ordered for the microscopes in the biology department. The work in this line has been greatly aided also by the purchase of one-half dozen new microscopes. Ballard Hall is now one of Whitworth's greatest assets.

Whitworth Music

Vocal training is this year playing a prominent part in the college curriculum, under the able direction of Professor Lyle W. Moore.

A great musician once said, "Music is the artistic expression of emotion, aroused by means of tones." If that be true, then we have real music at Whitworth. For many times the emotions of several of us have been aroused by the tones that have floated from the studio. And wherever there is an available piano, some vocal student at some hour of the day, is heard practicing his symphonical exercises. Surely such assiduity will not go unrewarded.

Astronomy Class

Midnight prowlers don't stand any chance around Whitworth college this year, with a half-dozen vigilant stargazers patrolling the campus at all hours of the night. All last week the venerable Jupiter was reported by the erudite astronomy students to be conspicuously visible, and Friday night, after the football battle, bloody Mars was glowing in the heavens.

Students Filling Pulpits

Mr. Lee Knoll, '20, who last year supplied a church in Valleyford, is now the supply pastor at Holy Trinity Evangelical church in Spokane.

Mr. Lewis Randal, '20, who last year preached in the community church in Rosalia, is now in the Emmanuel Presbyterian church in Spokane.

Zada Padgham Married

Miss Zada Padgham, '29, former Whitworth student, was married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Padgham in Sunnyside, Washington, on September 16 to Mr. S. A. Fernandez of the same town. After a two-week's trip through Western Washington and British Columbia, they have taken up their residence in a country home near Sunnyside.

In a letter of October 24, Mrs. Fernandez extends an invitation to former Whitworth students to visit her whenever they are in the vicinity of Sunnyside, and expresses her desire to hear all available news concerning the college.

College Mixer

The traditional all-college Mixer, the first of the year, was held Friday night, October 5, in McMillan Hall. Entertainment was provided by a program in the chapel, after which the guests adjourned to the dining room to play games.

The program was made up of readings by Leah Grove and Frances Gardner, and musical numbers by Professor Moore, Dorothy Parr, and Maurice Holt. In the dining room contestants tried their skill by composing parodies to old time songs such as "Jingle Bells" and "Nellie Gray". Other games were the acting out of advertisements by various groups, and a fast and furious clothespin relay race. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served.

Dorm Parties

The evenings of September 24 and 25 were filled with informal parties to help the old and the new students of the dormitories get acquainted with each other. The boys' dorm and the girls' dorm mixed in the parlor of Ballard Hall. College songs were sung; and stunts were enjoyed. Football was played with a blow. An important debate was held on the subject of "Love is blind." Various games were played, and from the ensuing sounds one would conclude that the dorms must have been thoroughly mixed.

Popcorn Parties

A "popcorn party" was held the evening of September 28 after the Mount Spokane trip. The popping and eating of popcorn to the accompaniment of banjo music furnished by Maurice Holt, were the main features of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Alan Rice of Wellpinit, who spent the night at the college, were also present. Stories were told, and everyone enjoyed a general good time.

Orchestra

Mrs. Gertrude F. Mather again has charge of the orchestra. She has several students taking private lessons in violin, and the wind instruments. Under her direction, the orchestra is starting off with an enthusiasm which promises well for the year's work.

Those who have heard from Dorothy Brenton, '26, and Phillip Laurie, '28, who are attending the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, California, say that even the alumni have to study.

Former Students

Jean Seaton, '28, reports having spent a busy summer in Seattle.

Dorothy Daily, '28, is teaching and directing music this year in the high school at Albon, Washington.

Mr. Russell Boucher, '28, is teaching Mathematics and Latin in the high school at Milan, Washington.

Mrs. K. K. Rupp, '27, formerly Martha Miller, is teaching her second year in the high school at Medical Lake, Washington.

Mr. Alan Rice, '28, and wife, known at Whitworth as Margaret Ritter, are now at Wellpinit, where Mr. Rice is superintendent of schools.

Mrs. J. B. Auld, formerly Sarah Miller, '25, is in Spokane, with husband and daughter, after having resided for more than a year in Burbank, California.

Miss Eleanor Brand, a former Whitworth student, is leaving on November 9th for Long Beach, California, where she will continue her pipe organ study.

Mr. Thorson Bennett, '28, former student-coach of Whitworth, is in charge of athletics at the Deer Park high school, where he is doing splendid work in football.

Mr. Herman Klaufl, a member of last year's freshman class, visited Whitworth on October 20. He was on his way back from North Dakota to his home in California, where he will attend college next semester.

Mr. Henry C. Warber, a fourth-year student at Whitworth last year, is now in Salem, Oregon, where he again has charge of a church and is also taking part-time work in the Kimball School of Religion. He says he likes Salem "immensely", but wishes Whitworth a glorious year.

When Mr. Victor F. Vaughan of the class of 1923 was visiting at the home of his parents in Spokane this past summer, he also came out to visit Whitworth and left with it a large display case of samples of building felt and roofing materials made by the Pioneer Paper Company of Los Angeles. Mr. Vaughan is chief chemist for that firm; and he and Mrs. Vaughan, formerly Bertie Gilmore, now make their home in Los Angeles.

Phillip Laurie, '28, and Dorothy Brenton, '26, are both spending their first year in the San Francisco Theological Seminary. They write that they are both busy and are enjoying their work; but that Whitworth news is very acceptable. They were both outstanding students while they were in college, were leaders in all literary and religious activities; and Whitworth is now expecting them to keep up the same good record in the Seminary.

Freshman Girls Hazed

The haze of the freshman girls is finally over, after nights of tortuous suspense, mornings of shoeless closets, and tiresome days of green hair ribbons. The dormitory girl never knew when she would open the door of her room and be sweetly greeted by the sensuous odor of hamburger, wafted up from the steaming radiator. She never knew when she would awaken from her dreams of riding in a luxurious limousine to sudden contact with a hard, cold floor under her bed. But they have survived and are now enjoying campus life with a delicious peace of mind.

Come and Come Early

The days of October have swiftly flown by,
And the season of spooks has arrived.

Lead leaves of the autumn, now brittle and sear,
Have yielded their ghosts to the air;
Infested by legions of spirits and sprites
Each breeze is oppressive and witching.

Under the dancing black shadows of night,
And under the soft beaming moon,
Will come hooded mortals in white and in black,
To leave daily troubles behind;
Forget then the worries of studies and books,
And, in costume, come and come early.

Personals

Miss Kathryn Boekman spent a few days recently with her cousins in Spokane.

Mr. Leon Killian enjoyed a two-day vacation on October 19 and 20 at his home in Davenport, Washington.

Miss Ruth Feller, a graduate of Cheney normal school, has enrolled as a member of the junior class.

Dean Morrison was the principal speaker at a Mothers' and Daughters' banquet near Ephrata on October 12.

Mr. E. W. Hansen of Seattle, an uncle of Ralph Hansen, visited his nephew and the college on October 14 and 15.

Mr. Frank Tiffany is at present attending evening classes of the Spokane Standard Training School for Sunday School workers.

Professor and Mrs. B. C. Neustel and family are now living in the college house formerly occupied by Professor J. C. Martin.

Miss Leta Mae Muir and Miss Helen Dolg recently spent a pleasant Saturday and Sunday at the home of Miss Muriel Mase in Spokane.

Mr. H. H. McMillan, for whom McMillan Hall was named and who spent the summer in Spokane, is now spending some time at the Y. M. C. A. in Seattle.

Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Campbell and little son and Mrs. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Morrison, from Washburn, visited Whitworth on October 25th. Mrs. Morrison has been a missionary in India.

Knox church Sunday school put on a grand carnival Friday evening, October 26. Several Whitworthians attended: Maude Holt, Helen Dolg, Mary Hinton, Leta Mae Muir, Ralph Hansen, Myerell Sharnbroich, Hugh Bronson, and Louis Keyser.

Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Hood of Wellpinit recently visited their daughter at Whitworth College. Mr. Hood and little Miss Martha returned home the same day, but Mrs. Hood remained for the rest of the week and attended some of the meetings of the state Presbyterian while here.

Dr. J. W. Countermine, professor of Bible at Whitworth college, is also teaching a course entitled "The Life of Jesus," in the Spokane Standard Training School being held in the Westminster Congregational church for Sunday school and church workers.

In his course, Dr. Countermine aims to bring out clearly and vividly the big the social, racial, and religious personality of Jesus. He is also giving background of Jesus' world.

"He Shall Not Fail Nor Be Discouraged, Till He Have Set Judgment in the Earth."---Isaiah 42-4

Pirates Lose To Spokane College Indians

Whitworth's first conference football game of the season was fought upon the home field last Friday, October 26, with Spokane college. The visiting team outweighed Whitworth's by over ten pounds to the man, but the latter gave them a much stiffer battle than they had expected.

Whitworth received on the kick off, and the line of scrimmage began in about the middle of the field. It worked back and forth throughout the quarter until the ball was finally pushed back over the home goal. The following try-for-point was successful in a well-directed place-kick. Gradually, as the quarters passed, three more touchdowns were accumulated by Spokane college. One try-for-point was faked into a successful end run, another was blocked by Whitworth men who broke through the line. A "safety" was scored on Whitworth by a fumble on her own goal line, netting two more points for the visitors.

Shimke, right guard, came very near creating the sensational run of the season when he snatched up the ball, which had dropped from the hands of his opponent, and started down the field for a touchdown. But he had taken off so suddenly that he could not gain his equilibrium, and after running a few yards, pitched forward on his face.

Skaer did the heavyweight plunging, and inevitably threw his man when he tackled. Millican and Doak showed splendid fast work, and Kilban caught every pass that came his way. Most of the time the line held, and on the defensive they often broke clear through.

The line-up was as follows:—

W. C.	S. C.
Andrews ..... LE	Morton

Basketball Progress

The basketball men of the school had their first meeting last week, and talked over the plans for this season. Basketball prospects for the year look very good. Coach Moore has purchased some equipment, and practice will start immediately after the football season closes.

W. A. A.

Maude Holt's sale of candy will be rather slim until Christmas, when "hygiene" will be over and most of the girls will be allowed to eat sweets again, having earned a point toward a pin or a sweater. The majority of the members of the Women's Athletic Association enter wholeheartedly into its various activities, which are: lunking, hygiene, basket-ball, volley-ball, and tennis. The leaders of these five functions are, respectively, Maude Holt, Leah Grove, Kathryn Bockman, Alice Sandstrom, and Janice Shermanhorn.

A "W. A. A." rally was held October 1, at which the organization was explained to the new girls by the president and the heads of the departments. Classes are conducted every Friday afternoon by Mr. Lyle W. Moore, director of physical education, besides the lunking done by the regular groups.

It is hard to hold a grudge and think at the same time.

Leta Mae Muir thinks the freshman year is the gateway to hard work.

Evelyn Chapman: "What would life be without a few thrills?"

Dorothy Hood: "We are glad we have the front rows of seats reserved for our own exclusive use."

Robert Millican: "Imagine sixty-five cents for a little piece of green cloth that covers only half your head?"

Bruce Clark says the difference between Freshmen and Sophomores is that a freshman neither has nor wants any business except his own to attend to.

Louis Keyser: "We honor them in their brave attempts to uphold tradition."

Donald Allen: "We hope to be able to live in harmony with the sophomores for the rest of the year."

Mrs. Mather Explains Lohengrin

The first regular meeting of the Faculty Club was held in the parlor of Bullard Hall on the afternoon of October 17th. Mrs. Gertrude Mather read a paper on Wagner's "Lohengrin", wherein she told the story of the opera and explained what to listen for in hearing it.

Tone of Scholarship

This is rather early in the college year for one to be able to give an accurate estimate of the grade of scholarship in comparison with that of other years; but judging from the character of the transcripts that have been furnished for the incoming students and from the informal reports of the members of the faculty on the work done thus far, the grade of work is good and the general attitude toward doing solid class work is very satisfactory. No students of questionable scholastic records have been admitted this year; and so far, no drones have developed.

PROFESSOR LYLE W. MOORE

Director of Voice at Whitworth College

Mr. Lyle W. Moore, professor of voice at Whitworth college, has already made a name for himself in Spokane. Since his arrival, many audiences have been delighted by his vocal numbers.

During his short stay here he has been a guest soloist at the Central Methodist and Knox Presbyterian churches. Last week he rendered splendid programs at the Whitworth public school and at a meeting of the Knights of the Round Table in Spokane. He is also a member of the Spokane Mendelssohn Club.

Andrew Byram thinks he is wearing his green cap not because of sophomore dictation, but simply to please the faculty.

Song Books

"Special! Cheap! Whitworth college song books are on sale. Ten cents a copy. Have you bought yours yet? Go to chapel—you need your song book. Go to a party—you need your song book. Go to English class—yes, you need your song book. Attractively bound in a red cover, containing all the college songs you ought to know—say, folks, don't you want a song book?"

ALL-WHITWORTH DAY DECEMBER SEVENTH

PIRATES WILL INVADE INDIANS' GRIDIRON FRIDAY

Many New Plays Will Be Used
By Whitworth Team

GAME WILL CLOSE SEASON

Both Teams Show Results Of Three Weeks of Intensive Training

In the last conference game of the season the Whitworth Pirates will meet the Spokane College Indians on their field on November 16, at 2 30 P. M.

This promises to be the best game of the season by far. S. C. defeated the Pirates on October 26, but three weeks of intensive training will show when the two elevens meet again.

Coach B. C. Neustel has been using new tactics lately and has also been introducing many new plays which promise to bring yardage.

In the last five minutes of the S. U. game the Pirates showed that they had the driving power to make yardage when they romped through tackle and around end for five and six-yard gains consistently.

The two elevens are evenly matched and both are keyed up for their last game. There has been a keen rivalry between these two schools for a long time and both are anxious to do their best. Everyone should be out to this last game and help the team bring home the turkey dinner.

Spokane College played their homecoming game last Friday with S. U. on the college field. The Pirates scrimmaged the same day with Hill-yard High.

Famous Portraits Donated To The College

Through the generosity of Mrs. Gertrude Mather, instructor of the orchestra at Whitworth and Mr. H. M. Hart, principal of Lewis and Clark High School, four copies of the great masterpieces of art were presented to the college. The pictures, which are about thirty-six by thirty inches in size, are very fine imported European prints. They are: "Portrait of the Artist", by Velasquez, "Man With Glove", by Titian; "Charles I.", by Van Dyck; and "Beatrice De Cusance", also by Van Dyck.

Some time ago Mrs. Mather gave $100 to the college to be used for the purchase of new pictures. With this beginning, Mr. Hart, who had secured these pictures at a special sale in New York, presented the four portraits to the college. After being beautifully framed by Mrs. Mather, they were presented by Dr. Tiffany at the chapel period, November 5th. At this time Professor M. C. Jacobs of Whitman College, who was visiting here, gave a talk on "Art", and Dr. Tiffany later gave an interesting discussion on the individual pictures and their artists.

Dr. Donald Finlayson, who has recently resigned from the Manito Presbyterian church, is accepting the permanent pastorate at Post Falls.

Dr. O. E. Tiffany supplied the pulpit in the Manito Presbyterian church on Sunday.

A WELCOME

We take pleasure in announcing our All-Whitworth Day, Friday, December seventh. The day will afford an opportunity for alumni, friends, and special guests to enjoy the hospitality of the college, to renew old friendships, and make new acquaintances.

More than that, it will give an opportunity for becoming more definitely acquainted with the college, its activities, and the forward-looking program of the institution.

The faculty and the associated students welcome you to the home-life of the college, the class rooms, the chapel exercises of that day; and in the evening, to a dinner and a varied program which will reflect the life and interests of Whitworth College.

O. E. Tiffany

Acting-President.

OPEN HOUSE AND BANQUET

Objectives of A Christian College
Will Be Discussed and Various Phases of Whitworth Life Presented.

Plans are being formed by faculty and students for an all-college day at Whitworth on December 7. The general plan is that the college will be host on that day to special guests, alumni and other friends of the institution. The chief purpose will be to give the people outside of the present college group an opportunity to see the inside workings of the college and to talk over together the purpose and objectives of a Christian college.

Open House and Dinner

There will be open house all day, and visitors will be especially welcome to visit the regular class-room and other activities. In the evening there will be a fellowship dinner, at a nominal price, at which there will be both entertainment and earnest discussion of the various phases and the objectives of a Christian college. A representative of the Synod will talk on what the church expects of the college, and other speakers will explain what Whitworth is doing now.

College Activities Represented

Student representatives will tell briefly what is being done in Whitworth in such activities as the student association, the Gospel Teams, oratory, debate, football, basketball, track, the W. A. A. Christian Endeavor, the annual, the paper, the glee club, and the orchestra. These will be interspersed by special music numbers.

Alumni To Be Represented

The alumni, always welcome, are invited to make this all-college day their particular time of homecoming. Several alumni will voice the sentiments of their group and a representative of the organization effected last commencement day will be heard. Each former graduating class is asked to have at least one representative here; and if that is not possible, then a brief letter or message should be sent in to be read at the banquet table that evening.

Transportation Assured

Transportation from and return to the street car line will be furnished to those who make it known beforehand that they wish it.

Volunteer Fellowship Invited To Spokane University

The local Volunteer Fellowship was pleased to receive an invitation this week from a similar organization, the Deputation Band of Spokane University, to be their guests at a joint meeting some time soon. The invitation was readily accepted by all members of the Whitworth group.

An invitation has also come recently from the Volunteers of America to hold a meeting in their mission on Trent avenue on a Sunday evening in the near future.

Dr. Countermine Preaches at Post Falls

Since the resignation of the Reverend David Brown from the Presbyterian church at Post Falls, Idaho, Dr. Countermine has been supplying that pulpit. He has filled this position for several Sundays.

Hallowe'en Party Is Great Success Pipe Organ Recital In First Church

All ghosts and witches did not disappear on October thirty-first, but some remained over to carry on their peculiar antics Friday, November second, when Whitworth College celebrated Hallowe'en in the gymnasium, attractively decorated for the occasion. Many students survived the shock of seeing skeletons, grave stones, and limping bodies well enough to shout and make merry at the party.

A variety of gay-colored costumes appeared, for each student had vied with the other for originality of dress. The revelers found vent for their enthusiasm in various stunts and games.

Misses Virginia Koyl, Janice Schermerhorn, and Kathryn Bockman took the group from one game to another until all were caught in the whirl of gaiety. Even the sober and sedate Dr. Hays was seen hopping across the floor with a fair co-ed. A wise-looking witch told to trembling folks the errors of their "dim and distant" past and whispered warnings of a fearful future. To mention names would be quite inappropriate, but one must say that even the faculty members appeared to be having a good time.

The finest feature of the evening was the impromptu presentation of the playlet, "The Gathering of Nuts", in which all those most fitted for the cast of such a play took part.

As a grand "finale," doughnuts and cider were served. Nowhere were heard murmurs of complaint, unless perhaps from those who had unwisely partaken too heartily of Hallowe'en refreshments.

Meteors Coming Thursday

The night of November 15th the earth will pass directly through the center of the largest known group of meteors, called the Leonids. Every November the earth crosses the orbit of this group, but only once in thirty years does it actually come in contact with this great body of meteors. They have a temperature of minus 400 degrees Fahrenheit, and upon contact with the atmosphere become so suddenly heated that many will be consumed by their own heat before they reach the earth. This will be the most brilliant astronomical spectacle of the year.

Fernando Germani, the young Italian pipe-organist who has recently been creating such a sensation in the large cities of eastern United States, is stopping off in Spokane for one day during his western tour. He will give a concert in the First Presbyterian Church on the evening of November 21st. All Whitworth students who can possibly attend that evening, will likely do so. The press reports in the eastern papers are overwhelmingly complimentary.

The staid Philadelphia Record says of his performance there, "It was a thrilling exposition of the rich polyphony of the organ answering the behests of a true overlord." The New York Times said of him, "Germani, the young Roman organist, closed his recital yesterday amid an ovation of fifteen recalls."

Gifts to College, 1927-1928

Gifts totaling $6,104.94 were contributed to the current expenses of Whitworth College during the year 1927-1928 by the Presbyteries of Washington.

The average per member in each Presbytery was as follows:

	Per Member
Bellingham Presbytery	$1.65
Central Washington Presbytery	.03
Coeur d'Alene Presbytery	.20
Columbia River Presbytery	.06
Olympia Presbytery	.12
Seattle Presbytery	.127
Spokane Presbytery	.28
Walla Walla Presbytery	.09
Wenatchee Presbytery	.28

This shows that the average contribution throughout the Synod of Washington was sixteen cents per member.

The fourth annual convention of collegiate registrars of the Pacific Coast will be held in Riverside, California, during the week of November 19th. Problems in connection with the Junior college form the central idea of the addresses and discussions.

"GOING FORWARD WITH CHRIST"

December seventh will be a great occasion. It will be a day of good fellowship and information and inspiration. The general theme of the day will be "Going Forward With Christ." The chief purpose will be to show wherein Whitworth is now doing that and in what ways the college may still better serve the Synod of Washington. It will afford an opportunity for friends of the college to become better acquainted with what it is doing; and it is hoped that the college will receive from this day an inter-change of ideas that will make it a more efficient Christian college, a college that will be known for its high scholarship, wholesome activities, and Christian culture.

HOME-COMING FOR THE ALUMNI

December seventh, for the alumni, will be Home-Coming day. Time, we hope, will soon mellow the annual "All-Whitworth Day" into a venerable and wholesome tradition. Each year the friends and graduates of the college can look forward to this time of reunion when they will be welcomed back to their Alma Mater. Most of the alumni would like to learn of the progress their followers have made, to see all the latest improvements, and to be gazed upon in awe as one of the "old timers."

To the alumni, then, we extend a most cordial invitation to visit the scenes of "those dear old college days," to linger in the familiar halls of learning, and to stroll again on the paths of the campus 'neath the pines.

Dr. Hays' Car Overturms

Dr. Hays has at last had his record broken. For those who are not aware of it, Dr. Hays has always prided himself on the fact that his daily trips to and from Whitworth have been without any trouble, more than an occasional flat tire. Wednesday morning, however, when turning off the state highway onto the Whitworth road, the Hays' Ford turned over on its side. According to the story told by Doctor Hays and James Doak, who was riding with him, the car had slowed down to make the corner, the pavement was icy, when the front wheels hit the gravel of the side road, the back wheels commenced to slide. When the front wheels came to the gravel they stopped, while the top of the car continued on its way toward Whitworth; and the Ford "turned turtle".

Neither of the occupants of the car was hurt. The car was again turned right side up by some obliging Whitworth students, and it continued on its way. The windshield was broken and the top was smashed in, but aside from that, and a fender or two that might need straightening, the car was none the worse for the affair. Dr. Hays taught his classes as usual, and continued to see the happy side of life.

Victor Morgan returned on Monday from a few days spent in harvesting beets near his home in Asotin.

Campus Radio Discovered

The mystery has been uncovered. At last we have found out why the lights in the north west corner of the second floor of Ballard Hall have been seen burning so much of the time when the rest of the building is hushed in sleep. The occupant, Professor Lyle Moore, has a RADIO. Over this he sits, with the earphones on his head, hearing great singers send forth their melodies of song over the vast ether. Sometime he studies, but the majority of the time he sits back with his hands folded on his chest, idly enjoying the pleasure of modern science.

In an interview Mr. Moore said, "The radio I have is not an expensive machine. In fact, the entire set, with the exception of the earphones, cost me approximately seventy-five cents. As you see, I have one wire grounding it to the radiator. I use an inside aerial, as I find the reception much better. There is practically no expense connected with the upkeep of this machine, and I find it quite satisfactory."

Thereupon, Mr. Moore resumed his listening, sitting back with a pleasant expression which he frequently radiates. All other attempts to converse with him were useless. He was lost in his art.

Annuals For Sale

Students of Whitworth College may now get copies of the 1927-28 annual for 50c. This is very cheap, in as much as the original price was $2.50. These may be had by applying at the office.

← CHAPEL →

October 29

Speaking of acquaintance with God, Dr. Charles W. Hays suggests that just because a man was an expert in mathematics did not mean he knew all there was to know about Chemistry or about God. "All knowledge is not gained in the same way."

October 30

Rev. Alexander Hood spoke on "Records." He said we are all making records that will last. A tiny stream makes a record of its wanderings just as surely as the mighty Columbia River did in Grand Coulee. Our experiences leave their records on our lives. The giant Sequoia trees of California show the scars of dry years through which they passed several thousand years ago.

Every time a good record is written in the world by the life of someone the world is made that much better. The record we write of the Glory of God will not only live thousands of years, but throughout all eternity.

NOVEMBER 1

Professor W. H. Buxton said that all scripture has a real meaning applicable to all, not a different meaning for each individual. An interpretation of scripture, according to Professor Buxton becomes authentic when it is in harmony with all the known facts of other scripture.

NOVEMBER 5

Professor Melvin C. Jacobs of the History department of Whitman College visited Whitworth and spoke on the subject of art. He said life in the east was more static than in the west; consequently, the westerners are the ones who are progressing the more rapidly and should have no feeling of inferiority toward the East just because it has most of the art. To enjoy art when one is touring the East or Europe, requires a careful study beforehand. This study can be made in the West as well as in the East. He suggests that if any of the Whitworth girls are planning a honeymoon in Europe they had better begin studying art right now. He gave four characteristics that go hand in hand with the production of art: plenty of leisure, a well developed curiosity, a love of the beautiful, and public spirit.

The Forum

Why Not Have a Dramatics Club?

Last year the suggestion was made that it would be a fine thing for Whitworth to have some more organizations. A start was made to form several new clubs but there is at least one club still unformed that would be of great value to the school.

Why not have a dramatics club here in Whitworth? It would not only furnish enjoyable recreation for the students but would be an aid in oratory, debate, and other forms of public appearances. It would enliven our school program, for appropriate plays could be given in Chapel at Christmas, Easter and other special days. Such a club could put on a full-length play some evening and in this way add to the few special occasions Whitworth now has. It could also serve as a fine advertising medium for the college.

Such a club would fill a very definite need in Whitworth. Why isn't one organized?

—K K

The newly-organized male quartet will likely make its initial appearance on December 9th.

Miss Dorothy Skerry of Hillyard is in the chapel accompanist this year.

Whitworth Service at Coeur d'Alene

"Present Conditions at Whitworth" was the topic of a short talk given by Dr. O. E. Tiffany at the First Presbyterian Church at Coeur d'Alene, Sunday evening, October 28. The main address of the service was made by Dr. P. C. McKean, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Spokane, who spoke on Religious Education. The point stressed was the necessity for church schools in order to supply the growing demand for Christian leadership. They were assisted on the program by Professor Lyle W. Moore, who sang three sacred numbers, and by Mr. Albert Arend, who presided.

Election Night

Through the courtesy of Burgan's store, Dr. Tiffany secured a radio to bring to Whitworth, by means of which the students of Ballard and McMillan halls could hear the election returns on the evening of November 6. It was installed in the parlor of Ballard Hall. After dinner students brought their books to the parlor and attempted to study and listen to the returns at the same time. Bags of peanuts from the Holt store also added to the evening's enjoyment. Judging from facial expressions and the muffled exclamations, the audience was well satisfied with both the returns and the good fellowship of the evening; and they appreciated the loan of the radio.

Transportation To First Church

First Presbyterian Church has begun this year to furnish transportation to Whitworth students to both Sunday School and church on Sunday mornings. Through the efforts of Mr. Wallace I. Wolverton, the religious education director of that church, members who own large autos and who are willing to make these two extra trips to the college on Sunday forenoons have been enlisted and take turns in coming out. A new class has also been organized in that Sunday school for Whitworth students and other young people of college age. Mr. Forrest Travaille of Walla Walla is the president and Mrs. W. J. Ramage is the teacher.

Mary Hinton Active In C. E. Work

Mary Hinton is in charge of an intermediate Christian Endeavor Society at Knox Presbyterian Church. The group, which was organized last year, is composed of boys and girls from the eighth and ninth grades. They have just completed a very successful year under the capable direction of Miss Hinton, who has been active in C. E. work for some time, both in her own church and in the city Union. Last year she held the position of vice-president and prayer-meeting superintendent for Spokane District Union.

Saturday Evening Fun in Gym

Sounds of vibrant exercise have been heard from the gymnasium on Saturday nights this year. Upon investigation it was found that the dormitory men and women are getting ready for the basketball season by playing basketball, volley ball, "keep away," and performing acrobatic stunts. This might explain some of the painful efforts at climbing stairs the days after the first few practices. Except for minor accidents, such as when a huge "Ballardite" steps on a midget "McMillanite" there have been no casualties. The games, which proceed in quite an orderly manner, are kept in rapid action when one person decides another is keeping the ball too long and tries to relieve him of it. Certainly the art of holding on to the ball is being thoroughly learned.

However, these informal Saturday night contests afford a profitable form of relaxation and pleasure to the dormitory students, and have come to be looked forward to with interest.

ATHLETICS

Whitworth vs. Spokane University

Uncovering a powerful running and passing offensive, Spokane University defeated Whitworth College 54 to 6 on the University gridiron Friday, November 2.

Spokane kicked to Whitworth, Skaer receiving the ball behind his own goal. It was brought out to the twenty-yard line and the Pirates lost the ball on downs.

A series of line bucks and passes in the first few minutes of play, netted Spokane "U" their first touchdown when Sacco, half-back, went over to drop the pigskin behind the goal. The try for point was successful and the score stood 7 to 0.

One more touchdown was scored in the first quarter and two touchdowns and a safety in the second quarter.

At the opening of the second half, many fresh men faced the Pirates, but they found them easier and began to make first downs.

Schimke Scores

It was near the end of the third quarter when S. U. fumbled the ball and Schimke, right-guard, picked the oval up and dashed forty yards to make the only score for Whitworth. The try for point was blocked.

The S. U. regulars came back in the last quarter and it was then that Whitworth showed her real power. In the last five minutes of play, the Pirates made more first downs than in the three quarters. Five and six-yard gains were made consistently through tackle and off end. When the final whistle blew, the ball was on Whitworth's 47-yard line.

S. U. had the advantage over the Pirates in weight as their team averaged 184 and the Pirates averaged 163. One of the mainstays of the U's line was Anderson, the 265-pound tackle.

Taylor, Pasley, and Bethel starred for Spokane University, and Skaer, as usual, played a remarkable game.

The lineups were:

Spokane University	Whitworth
Hartling	L. D. Andrews
Anderson	L. T. Hansen
Zimmerman	L. G. Olney
Reynolds	C. Tiffany
Allen	R. G. Schimke
Griffith (c)	R. T. Sharabtoich
Right	R. D. Allen
Jacobs	Q. Donk
Taylor	R. H. Kilban
Pasley	L. H. Millican
Bethel	F. Skaer (c)

Substitutions: W—None, S U—Sacco for Taylor; Barnard for Anderson; C. Allen for D. Allen; Todd for McCurdy; McCurdy for Jacobs; Emerson for Right; Barbary for Reynolds; Reynolds for Barbary.

Penalties—Whitworth five yards; S. U. seventy-five yards.

Officials: Referee—Pete Hupperton. Umpire—Neil Nelson

Score by quarters—
S. U. 13-15-12-14 54

Maude Holt's Store

The college store, now under the management of Miss Maude Holt, is the center of attraction for a great many student customers. Her skillful advertisements and display of wares frequently allure the passerby "to sample" a candy bar. Between classes there is active business in supplying nourishment for emaciated students who need support through another class period. After dinner hygiene fans rush the store for their long-awaited candy bar that must be eaten within ten minutes after meals. At all times of the day, in fact, customers or would-be customers may be seen about the counter.

The question, as to whether the main attraction is the candy wares or the business-like proprietress, has not been definitely decided.

Bob Millican and Forest Travaille saw Ellensburg Normal win the football game from Cheney, at Cheney, Saturday, November 3.

Men's Athletic "W" Club Still Active

The Men's Athletic "W" Club is an organization which has for its motto "School Loyalty." The members of the "W" Club try to see that all campus rules are enforced. They form the nucleus of athletic interest at Whitworth.

To be a member of this organization one must win a letter in football, basketball, or track, according to the requirements stated in the constitution of the Student's Association. Then he is voted into the club and initiated.

The surviving members of this illustrious group in the college at present are Marvin Skaer, Lewis Randal, Clifford Bromling, Ralph Hansen, and Clifton Hussey. After the football season when this season's letters have been awarded, new members will considerably swell the ranks of the organization.

Sport Items Of Interest

Forrest Travaille, who has been out of football since the second week on account of a bad ankle, is again turning out. His presence strengthens the team and gives it renewed courage.

The Pirates have two scrimmages lined up before the college game on the sixteenth of November. One is with Hillyard High School on their field today, and one with Hillyard on our field next Tuesday.

The basketball season will start as soon as the last football game is out of the way. Already two games have been signed up with Cheney Normal and quite a few other games are being arranged to make this a banner year in basketball. The girls are also arranging for games for their fair team.

The new basketball suits will be loud and flashy, the jerseys white and the trousers red. Leon Killian will be manager for the basketball affairs this season.

S. U. Coach Praises Whitworth Team

In a post-game interview with Coach Bailor of Spokane University, the Whitworth Pirates received very favorable comment. Bailor said "The boys played a bang-up game. Considering the fact that we are experienced and have a heavy team, and you are light and inexperienced, I would say that your boys played a fine game. They were fighting every minute and often held my boys for downs."

Coach Bailor says he has much respect for the friendly rivalry between Whitworth and S. U. and hopes it will continue through the years.

Football Banquet

The Women's Athletic Association will give their annual banquet to the football men in the dining hall, Friday, November 23. This year the affair is limited to members of the student body, by the "powers that be."

The Public Speaking Class

The time-honored Public Speaking class at Whitworth is still under the expert direction of Professor Alice Morrison. Each student selects his or her own topic, usually one of local campus interest. These speeches are being delivered continually. The class is constantly drilled to place emphasis on the central thought and the specific purpose of the talks. Some of the interesting speeches that have been given are: "Music in the Dining-Room," "The Flag on the Flag-pole," "Conservation of Time for Study," "The Impracticability of Football in a Small College," and "State Consorship of Moving Pictures."

Mr. E. W. Hansen, uncle of Ralph Hansen, visited the campus again Monday morning, November 5.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Janice Schermerhorn

Chapman: My wrist watch has been gaining.

Skaer: Getting heavier?

From news which has reached Whitworth, we gather that Mr. McNeal would be pleased if his correspondence was not limited to that with Mrs. Tiffany and Dr. Hays.

Prominent students whose names failed to appear in the directory printed in the last Whitworthian have protested. Among complaints are: Town Girl's officers, president of the French Club, and Miss Jamison, president of the Town Girl's milk association.

No one who attended the Hallowe'en party will ever forget the helpless expression seen on a faculty member's face while she guarded one lone peanut and "quacked" plaintively for the leader of her group.

If the fellows who caused the dorm girls to break hygiene don't give a real serenade now, We'll always think they should have.

The caterpillar adopted as the Town Girl's mascot has been named "Booker T. Washington".

Speaking of mascots—we'd hate to pay the grocery bill for Spokane U's St. Bernard.

At the game last Friday we heard some one refer to Mr. Donk as a "little darling." We know Jimmie would just love to hear about it.

"Sinnals"—25—16—48—luke.

The hunting season is upon us. Even Tiny has been hunting squirrels—with walnuts.

Professor Hussong is nothing if not obliging. He has even offered to quiet his classes any time that they disturb the group in the Town Girl's room.

Sniffy says he can't see any reason for "hollering" just because he did what he could to keep the presidential chair in the family.

Dr. Hays (to class of two): "Now do you all catch that?"

Hallowe'en

'Twas midnight when on Hallowe'en queer sounds were in the eerie atmosphere. Gravel crunched under mysterious feet. Lights flashed on and off. Coal in the coal bin started to slide. Strange, roving noises ascended from the lower hall.

Then all was still. McMillan Hall was on the eve of an epoch in history. Even the frosty stars blinked in silent wonder. A murmur, a step, a light—dusky forms crawl up the fire escape. Silence. Now a pounding, a jarring—footsteps overhead. Can this be McMillan Hall?

But hold! What sound was that? From out the stillness of the night strange melody is wafted gently o'er the air. Entranced, the very night drew back in surprise. A rumble, a jar—all is still. Whence came that was rendered by Miss Caroline Petsch and Messrs. Lee Knoll, Marvin Skaer, the tune of "Auld Lang Syne." This eerie melody?

Morning dawns. Studious students fare forth for morning nourishment. Stay! What is this? Huge decorative signs enlighten the venerable halls, and broadly advertised is an extensive political campaign. But, grand spectacle of former days! In majestic state, rides—a farm wagon. Truly civilization must have reverted, for even the old-time hand bell appears on the scene. This then explains those strange, roving noises, those mysterious footsteps.

But was it a dream—those dusky sprites, that melody strange, when 'twas midnight on Hallowe'en?

Clifford McNeal returned to college on Monday, to rejoin the sophomores. He had been detained by the heavy apple harvest in Wenatchee valley.

College Papers For Memory Books

A complete file of the 1927-28 "Whitworthians" may also be procured at the very low price of 50c. The office will keep six copies for reference in the college archives; but the rest will be sold.

The sooner these are applied for the more chance there will be of getting your copies. See Mr. Knoll or Miss Bockman at once. Get a set of these papers for clippings and pictures for your memory book.

Former Students

Donald Beal, '27, is teaching his second year in the high school at Valley, Washington

Vivian Holm, a freshman at Whitworth last year, is a sophomore at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Russell Boucher, '28, was recently elected deacon of the Milan Community Church which is under Congregational auspices.

Jessie Walton, a freshman with the class of '30, is now secretary to the head of the statistical department of Cheney State Normal.

Karl K Rupp, '28, now has a permanent appointment at the main Spokane Post Office.

Delpha Coffman, '30, besides doing library work, is studying the pipe organ.

Carl Laudenbach, '28, is teaching in the high school at Goldendale, Washington. He has the commercial work there, and is coaching the school athletics.

Lillian G. Brown, '28, substituted two days last week at the Havermale High School in Spokane. She had charge of study rooms and instructed several Latin and English classes.

For two months prior to the election, Helen Jacobson has been employed at the Republican Headquarters of Bonners Ferry county, Idaho. Helen is a member of the last class to graduate from the now extinct Whitworth Preparatory Department.

Miss Mary Hinton is this year student assistant to the dean of women, and is doing her work well. The dorm girls have already learned to control their giggles or at least reduce them to muffled sobs when they hear her authoritative knock at their door.

Luella Bruce, who attended Whitworth during her freshman and sophomore years and who graduated from W. S. C. last June, is teaching English and history in the high school at Riverside, Washington. Also she is advisor of the junior class there. Miss Bruce was active in debate work here.

Former students will be interested in knowing that Miss Lilly Schwendig is the official bell-ringer this year. She keeps a wary eye on her wrist watch and rings the bells with promptness and dispatch. She is particular that students have no more than the allotted two minutes in which to hasten from class to class. Miss Schwendig is also efficiently assisting Mr. Moore in the girls' athletics.

Dorothy Daily, '28, is turning out a winning debate team at Albion this year. They have defeated both Colfax and Oakesdale.

Society Editor's Plea

O teachers, students, hear my plea! Give me some news of "societee". For inspirations I must ask; As alone it is too great a task. To go and ask each separate one To tell what he or she has done Means many frowns and haughty looks; For Society doesn't come from books. So, I say, it's up to you To tell me; and this much I'll do: I'll put your name in societee And not collect a single fee.

Girls Hold Open Dorm

The girls of McMillan Hall held their annual "Open Dorm" on the evening of Friday, November 9th, at which the other students and faculty were entertained with a lively program.

The guests were first met and cordially welcomed by a dignified receiving line. The program started out with a game which produced much laughter, as in such instances when the victim was embarrassed by the sight of Miss Morrison pointing to her elbow, saying, "This is my hair-pin", and then rapidly counting to ten. The chief feature of the program was the faculty review put on by the girls of MacMillan Hall. The poetry accompaniment was written by Miss Maude Holt, and read by Miss Leah Grove. This reproduction of various mannerisms and appearances (how do men keep on such large shoes?) of the faculty members, with the aid of numerous pillows, afforded much amusement. Miss Helen Doig and Miss Kathryn Bockman represented Dean Morrison and her mother respectively; Miss Dorothy Hood represented Prof Moore; Miss Frances Gardner, Prof Buxton; Miss Beulah Cox, Dr. Hays; Miss Mary Hinton, Prof Neutsel; Miss Leta Mae Mur, Prof. Hussong; Miss Maude Holt, Dr. Countermine; and Miss Lilly Schwendig followed by Miss Muriel Mase represented Dr. and Mrs. Tiffany, respectively.

A pillow race and an abridged version of "musical chairs" produced considerable excitement. The party was then divided into six groups, and each group was instructed to withdraw, but to return in five minutes and sing the words of one song to the tune of another. The judges, as well as the audience, took careful appraisal of the selections offered. A prize was awarded to the most musical group, who sang "Maryland, My Maryland" to and Lewis Randal, accompanied on the piano by Miss Beulah Cox.

Inspection of the rooms was the next feature of the evening. The boys, especially, seemed interested in which room was which, and it is whispered that several household partnerships were suggested as the result of the inspection. At the close of the evening, refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served. Later, much masculine attire was returned to Ballard Hall—for which the boys were duly thankful.

I love its gentle flow,
I love to feel my mouth in motion
I love to hear it go."

WHITWORTH COLLEGE WELCOMES GUESTS

HONORS FOR FIRST QUARTER ARE ANNOUNCED

Twelve Students Named on Honor Roll

JUNIORS WIN TROPHY

Lilly Schwendig of Wenatchee Leads School in Individual Honors

The Junior class won first place in both class and individual honors for the first quarter, making an exceptional average of 36.80 grade points. Highest individual honors went to Lilly Schwendig of the Junior class. The average number of grade points for the other classes were: Sophomore, 27.38; Senior, 26.50, and Freshman, 19.63.

To the Junior class goes the privilege of decorating the W. L. McEachran Class Trophy with their colors and engraving on it their numerals. The Juniors also hold the distinction of having five-sixths of their members on the honor roll.

Twelve students succeeded in gaining a place on the honor roll, having received an average of at least B plus one point. In order of their grade points they are:

Lilly Schwendig, Wenatchee
Kathryn Bockman, Anacortes
Maude Holt, Spokane
Lewis Randal, Seattle
Janice Schermerhorn, Spokane
Mary Hinton, Spokane
Virginia Koyl, Hillyard
Leta Mae Muir, Sunnyside
Lloyd Smith, Waitsburg
Leah Grove, Deer Park
Lee Knoll, Spokane
Ruth Feller, Spokane.

Honorable Mention:

Margaret Jamison, Spokane
Ruth Johnson, Spokane
Louis Keyser, Spokane.

Miss Leah Grove made the speech of acceptance when the cup was presented to the junior class.

Nine of these students live in the college dormitories; and the other six live at their homes in Spokane.

Faculty Promises Program

At a recent faculty meeting steps were taken toward having a special party or program during the last hour and a half of the final day of school before the Christmas recess, December 21. It seems to have become a tradition at Whitworth that this program is kept a secret from the college as a whole until the hour for having it. Not all the faculty even know beforehand what may be behind the curtains that day. The committee in charge for this year's event is composed of Professors Hussong, Neustel, and Moore.

"Stability, not brilliancy, brings success."

FACULTY AND STUDENTS ARE HOSTS TO MANY VISITING ALUMNI AND FRIENDS

COME AND SEE

In welcoming you, former students, prospective students, and other friends of the college, to our "All-Whitworth Day" of December 7, we wish to acquaint you with and to strengthen your faith in the program of a Christian college; and so we bid you "come and see."

We are not asking you to rejoice in victories won simply on the gridiron, but in victories won all along the line—victories that are being won in the building of character, character for the world beyond the class room.

If as a Christian college we have not caused the student to set higher values on Christian living, we have in a measure failed. For we aim to have every student put Christ into the program of his life, according to His will. Come and see.

Former students, you will remember "the good old days"—come and see if we are undertaking anything better. We want your advice.

Prospective students, you are looking for the best place to invest your time and efforts. Come and see what we have to offer. We have the selective type of student with whom we deal as with hand work. We have no mass machinery process.

Parents, you will want to know what this is all about. Come and see. A college may be general; but a college education must be individual.

PAPER RECEIVES PRAISE

Mr. H. H. McMillan is Now in Sunny San Diego But Does Not Forget Whitworth

"Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. San Diego, California Nov. 13, 1928

Miss Leah Grove
Spokane, Washington

Dear Miss Grove:
I wish to acknowledge receipt of the recent WHITWORTHIAN. I read every word of it with great interest. I am very much pleased that the students of Whitworth are capable of producing such a fine paper. I am accordingly enclosing my check for $1 to pay my subscription for the college year.

Wishing the college and the Whitworthian success, I am

Yours very sincerely,
H. H. McMillan"

Mr. McMillan has always been a staunch supporter of Whitworth college both in word and in deed. His belief in the need of Christian colleges has never faltered.

Additions To Library

Several books have been contributed to the library recently. Among them are books on education, science, philosophy, biology, art, French, Spanish, fiction, and a new Webster's International Dictionary.

Miss Josephine Hunt, the librarian, is a graduate of both the liberal arts and the library science courses of the University of Washington; and her experience in library methods is putting the college library into standard condition.

ALL—WHITWORTH DAY

What are our visitors seeing in Whitworth today? They are seeing you and me, and as they look at us they are forming opinions of our school. Will the school suffer because it is being judged by your actions and mine? Or, will it gain because we are a part of it? After all, a school is not made up of just a campus, some dormitories, and some class rooms; it is a group of students united in the pursuit of education; and since it is made up of individuals it has a character of its own. What is Whitworth, according to you?

On this our All-Whitworth Day we expect our visitors, like true friends, to tell us what in our school might be corrected. We hope that to them Whitworth may mean not merely a group of buildings nestled among the pines, but that to them it will stand for a particular college with an individual character of high ideals and genuine worth.

DO YOU GIVE YOURSELF A CHANCE?

Does the average student take a portion of the day by himself? Should he not purposely draw himself away from the crowd for a period each day? The average student arises simultaneously with others, dresses before a mirror with ten other faces in it, studies with others, goes to assemblies, prays in public, takes his recreation with others, and goes to sleep at night with the sound of his roommate's typewriter in his ears. If he attempts to withdraw once in a while to enjoy his own company, he is often stamped by his associates as queer.

In that way it is impossible to do any creative thinking. Creative thinking is done only in solitude. Every student should make it a point to shut himself away from the crowd for at least a short period of time daily. Spiritual growth comes as much from solitary meditation as it does from association—in many cases that is the only condition under which it comes at all.

SCHOLARSHIP

A broadcasting station in California recently sent out to the world what was supposed to be a joke: "Some different building arrangements will have to be effected on the campus of the University of California. Students are coming late to their classes because the stadium is too far from the class rooms." There is probably more truth than jest in that statement. There is coming to be a strong feeling in many colleges that athletics is playing too prominent a part in the college life, and that in many places scholarship, which should be the main objective in institutions of higher learning, is being crowded into the background.

When the late Woodrow Wilson was president of Princeton University he made this statement: "If a university is a place for distinction at all, it must be distinguished by conquests of the mind."

In a college the size of Whitworth it is difficult to make a good showing in athletics—as the world judges it. But there is no reason why we may not attain distinction along the lines of scholarship. Other extra-curricular activities, as well as athletics, often tend to lead students off the main path, too. Some of us are also worried over our personal finances. Yet, despite these temptations we should ever keep before us the goal of scholarship. Debts can be paid off in time and some of these other achievements are only passing incidents; but our grades go down on the college books, never to be erased.—F. T.

CHAPEL

November 28

Professor Neustel says that Thanksgiving is distinctively American. There are two forces in life. One which builds up, and the other which tears down. If we are in tune with the universe and with God, we will live satisfactorily in peace and contentment. It takes only one to find labor and troubles but it takes two to find the highest relationship in life. Our biggest relationship is with God.

November 26

Dr. Tiffany advises the use of the habit of making the most of our time and using it to the best advantage. The time we spend in College is worth fifteen to twenty dollars a day in money-earning power. The men who succeed are not always watching the clock. Instead, they put in extra work that they may win over the supreme difficulty of competition.

One of the most precious things we have is time. How much of it do we squander?

November 27

Our school life at Whitworth, Mr. Freed of the Crescent Store tells us, is only practise ground for the burdens we are to meet out in life. What thought are we giving to the management of life? Out in the world our burdens will be increased one-hundred fold. The courses in college are only instruments in our lives. God has the best program for us. We are bound up with Him. If we are timid relative to God's program for our life we will be failures.

We should "Be still, and know that God is God."

Nov. 20

Dean Alice Morrison presented a splendid ideal in her recent chapel talk. Illustrating her point by quotations from the Scripture and works of classic poetry, she cautioned the students not to be satisfied with their achievements, but to strive for something better than that which they have attained. One's grasp should stretch beyond his reach. Accomplishments should form an incomplete pyramid, the lower part being founded on reality and the upper unattainable portion existing only as our ideal.

Russell Pederson

Russell Pederson, a graduate of Whitworth and now an ordained minister and a missionary in Alaska, visited the college on the Friday before Thanksgiving and spoke in Chapel. In a very interesting manner he told of some of his experiences in Alaska. Apparently a missionary's life is not all the same kind of work, for Mr. Pederson told of crawling on hands and knees after wild geese, climbing steep mountains after deer, and waiting patiently for hours in ambush for bear. "Christianity," he said, "needs quiet and patient waiting for God, and climbing steep paths to catch a vision of Him." He also spoke of the need for more workers in Alaska and the opportunities for preparation afforded students in Christian colleges such as Whitworth.

Knoll Shows the "Way"

At the prayer meeting in chapel, December 5, Lee Knoll was the leader and gave an earnest talk on "Our Part In Our Salvation." We must first hear the gospel, then feel the need of salvation, be anxious to accept it, repent, and then be baptized and confess Him before men. The rest of our salvation is acceptance of the gift of the Holy Ghost. The importance of our confession at home and our prayer in relation to our steadfastness in the Christian life was also stressed.

"Why the Church?"

On November 23, Dr. O. E. Tiffany delivered the main address at the fortieth anniversary celebration of Knox Presbyterian Church. He spoke on "Why the Church?" "The church is not an organization; it is an organism. The gospel is universal in its scope."

Dr. Tiffany mentioned the three phases in which the church was eternal: in its conception, in its power, in its consummation. Its temporal purpose is to witness for Christ.

The great commission Christ gave to his people would be only idle words if there were not some ways of executing the command. It can be done by living the Christ life; by witnessing for Him; by prayer; by sacrificial gifts; and by "bearing the Glad Tidings to all men that some might be saved."

The Hope of America

On Thanksgiving morning Dr. O. E. Tiffany was the speaker at the union service of the Manito Presbyterian church. His sermon was built around the one hundred seventh Psalm. He gave a short history of the observance of Thanksgiving.

Dr. Tiffany pointed out the blessings we have in the prosperity of our homes and cities; then of the wider circle, our national life. As a people we are blessed by our location, our natural resources, our government, our general educational advantages. It is astonishing that our income each year is ninety billion dollars. Not only are we abundantly blessed with material prosperity, but also with spiritual. Our Bible is open and we have free access to our churches and to Christianity.

But with all these blessings, America can still fall. "The hope of America, and of the world, is not commerce; it is not general education; it is not social nor political reforms. The hope of America and of the world is Christ and Christ's gospel."

Volunteer Fellowship Helps Volunteers of America

The Whitworth Volunteer Fellowship held an evangelistic service with a very appreciative audience at the mission of the Volunteers of America in Spokane on the evening of Saturday, November 21. Lewis Randal gave the main address, on "Christ, or Barabbas?" A quartet composed of Leon Killian, Mary Hinton, Dorothy Hood, and Frank Tiffany brought the gospel message in song and Miss Helen Doig recited the 95th Psalm. Lee Knoll, leader of the Whitworth Volunteers, was chairman of the meeting.

Can the World See Jesus In You?

(Found yesterday in a senior's note-book)

"The world may read of Christ in our lives, though it does not read the Bible."

Christ has no hands but our hands
To do His work today;
He has no feet but our feet
To lead men to His way

He has no tongue but our tongue
To tell men how He died;
He has no feet but our feet
To lead men to His side.

We are the only Bible

Read by the careless world;
What if the type be crooked?
What if the print be blurred?

Spokane College Trims Whitworth

By Andrew Byram, Sports Writer

Spokane college scored eight touchdowns in running up their total against Whitworth. The collegians completed eight out of 17 passes while Whitworth finished one pass out of six attempts.

Ekergren, who was in the game only a few minutes, shared starring honors with Poffenroth for Spokane college. Ekergren ran 60 yards for a touchdown from the kickoff. Marvin Skaer, fullback, played the best game for Whitworth.

Football Injuries

When men face a final stand in life, they are often driven to desperation. When football players are engaging in the last game of the season, knowing that the season's record is not without its blot, they are likely to put more into that game than they ordinarily would. They think less of their personal injuries than they would if saving themselves for another game.

So it was with the Whitworth football team. Knowing that they had yet to win their first conference game of the season, the players gave all they had in attempting to throw back the horde of "Indians" that seemed to overwhelm them. More injuries were suffered in the last game than in any other. Early in the first quarter Jimmie Doak, quarterback, received a blow on the back of his head that sent him "far, far away", and from which he did not entirely recover until after the game. In the second quarter Edwin Schimke, guard, cracked two ribs. Notwithstanding this, he played all but the last two minutes of the game. Sharnbroich suffered a broken knee-cap. Millican has been having trouble with his hip. Jimmy has been out of school because of blood poisoning acquired on the gridiron. Andrews, too, has been making his regular visits to a doctor set on having his good looks restored. A broken nose kept him from playing in the last game.

All these men are now recovering rapidly, however, and will soon be back in pre-football condition.

Girls' Basketball

Prospects for girls' basketball this season are good. Although the players are inexperienced, they have capabilities of developing into a fast, well-balanced team. Mr. Moore is a very capable coach and is rapidly getting the team into shape. Several practice games are already arranged for the new year. A game is planned between the town girls and the dormitory girls for this coming week. Practices are held three times a week, and the girls are working hard.

The next time Killian starts bidding for Leah's dessert he'll know better than to go as high as 35 cents.

W. A. A. GIVES ANNUAL FOOTBALL BANQUET

Letters Awarded to Eleven Players

The football season for Whitworth closed officially after the Spokane College game, but one event of the season remained until November 23. A few days previous to that date the girls were much occupied with affairs other than scholastic. Friday evening the W. A. A. entertained the football team and the rest of the college at the annual Football Banquet.

Professor Hussong had a dignified air that well-befitted a toastmaster. His stock of stories filled the evening with laughter. Marvin Skaer, as captain of the team, thanked the girls for serving a fine meal and incidentally winning the way to the young men's hearts. He spoke of the fine spirit among the football boys in practice as well as in games. In appreciation of the patience and perseverance and good nature of Coach Neustel, the team gave him a beautiful fountain pen.

Characteristically generous, Coach Neustel gave all the credit to the boys and praised their fine spirit. Later he presented the letters to the deserving ones with a word of praise for each.

"W's" were awarded to Everett Sharnbroich, Leon Kilhan, Marvin Skaer, Edwin Schimke, James Doak, Robert Millican, Frank Tiffany, Milton Andrews, Donald Allen, King Olney, and Ralph Hansen.

Dr. J. W. Counterline responded with a toast to "The Eyes." He spoke humorously of some things he had seen on the football field, and also of the splendid spirit of the boys. It fell to the lot of Marvin Skaer to make the remaining speech, that of Captain-elect. He promised as fine a spirit next year, and better results in the line of scores. The annual event closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Basketball Commences

The basketball season began in earnest on Wednesday afternoon with a few regulars out and a number of new recruits, who look promising and who will help strengthen the team.

The gymnasium has had a thorough going-over. New backboards have been put up and a coat of oil put on the floor. It is now in fine shape.

The regular conference games will begin shortly after the new year and Manager Killian is getting a lineup of other games with W. S. C. Frosh, Idaho Frosh, and other games which promise to make a full-rounded season.

The official suits for the team are red and white. Red trunks and white jerseys make a pleasing combination on the floor.

Basketball-Suit Campaign

A campaign has been started to raise funds for basketball suits. It is necessary to have at least twenty-five dollars for suits before the team can be completely outfitted. So far, $11.10 has been turned in to the committee in charge of funds, and there are promises for about $5.00 more. This is a good start but much more is needed.

All contributions to this cause of major sports at Whitworth will be most thankfully accepted.

"Let your daily play be a source of joy and strength, a balance wheel for your work. Cultivate growing things, fresh air, sunshine, and simplicity."

"Find your talents and train them. Spend wisely less than you earn."

"Do something daily to make your school, your community, your state, your country, and your world happier, cleaner, quieter, more beautiful, better governed."

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Janice Schermerhorn

Miss Borden (struggling with Caesar): "Near the city flew the Rhine river."

Mr. Lane's definition of a comet: "A hairy star."

We have just discovered that we have something in common with Shakespeare. It is said that he had "small Latin and less Greek."

"Thy says she is one of these 'self-made men.'"

Holt: Who was Diogenes?
Killian: Oh, he was that fellow who ran around with a flashlight looking for an honest man.

Have you seen the mascot of the History I class?

Miss Holt's store has been referred to as the social forum of Whitworth. It was last year. The difference is that the crowd this semester contains more gentlemen.

Everybody at the football banquet thoroughly enjoyed the "heh, heh," tacked on to the end of Mr. Allen's speech.

Loudy writes that he is thinking of sending his phonograph back to Whitworth. In that event we believe that it should be placed in the town girls room, as that is where Loudy spent most of his time.

Booker T. Washington, the town girls' caterpillar, is still slender, as a result of his forced diet during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Miss Bockman Entertains

"All girls meet in room five at two-thirty," read the notice posted on the bulletin board. "What's it all about?" asks one girl.

"Never mind that—but you'd better come." And they did come, one and all to Kathryn Bockman's room on that afternoon of November 28. What saw they there? Don't get too anxious; you'll find out.

One big chicken, stuffed, sixteen cranberry pastries, dressing, cranly, nuts, and raisins, piled high on the study table.

"Well, this is a feed."
"Oh Kathryn! Gee, I'm glad I came."

"Can I have a drumstick?"
"I wonder what the postage on such a large box would be." (This from the only Scotch member of the group.)

An unsuspecting onlooker might easily believe that the girls had seen no food for weeks. Soon only the skeleton of the chicken remained. The only evidences of the feed were sticky fingers, scattered crumbs, dirty dishes—and satisfied grins.

The crowd dismissed to the strains of, "Nobody loves me; everybody hates me. Guess I'll have to eat some worms." The sentiment expressed in song differed greatly from that expressed in these departing words, "Great feed, Kathryn, ask me again."

The young men have been heard to complain that they did not care for the sudden style of colds as set up by the young women and adopted by the young men. Although all donations, such as handkerchiefs, would be appreciated, it is "sneezingly" hoped that the sneeze will soon pass and no more attempts be made to get "in style".

When Victor Morgan returned recently from a visit to his home in Asotin, he brought a radio with him.

Another McMillan Dorm Feed

Monday evening, November 26, at 10 o'clock, the girls of McMillan assembled in room 11 for a feed. The evening's entertainment was featured by a duet, "The Fuzzy Wuzzy Worm," sung by Miss Grove and Miss Schwendig. The refreshments consisting of crackers, relish, cookies, peaches, fudge, and mints contributed to the enjoyment but perhaps not to the physical well being. The flickering lights and the sound of approaching footsteps in the hall concluded the party.

"I Bring You Good Tidings of Great Joy, Which Shall Be To All People."—Luke 2:10.

Former Students

Delpha Coffman is doing pre-holiday work at the Crescent Store.

Josephine Smith, who attended this school two years, visited the campus during the Thanksgiving holiday.

Mr. Alan Rice, '28, attended a teachers meet at Colville, Washington last week.

Zenola Clapp, a junior here last year, spent Thanksgiving at her home in Spokane.

Ora Landis, one of the former graduates of Whitworth, is teaching this year at Grangeville, Washington.

Miss Elizabeth Beal, who is now studying music in Ashland College, Ohio, sends greetings to her friends in Whitworth and often wishes she might be back with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Rupp, both well known to past and present Whitworth students, are making their home for the present on North Monroe in Spokane.

Laura Willey, who with two others graduated from the Whitworth Preparatory in '27, is employed at Graham's in Spokane. The Willeys have moved from Canada to Spokane since Laura attended Whitworth.

Harold Shippee, who attended Whitworth two years ago, visited Whitworth a week ago. For a time he was employed at the Turnbull Undertaking Parlors in Spokane. Now he is with the Buick Motor Distributing Company in Auburn, Washington.

Delilah Barber, '25, is teaching this year in the Wenatchee High School. Every year without fail Miss Barber sends a five-dollar contribution to the Volunteer Fellowship of which she was an active member.

Lessie Rasco, '28, and Mrs. S. O. Fernandez, formerly Zada Padgham, motored from Sunnyside Friday, returning Monday morning. Their visit came as a surprise to everyone, at Sunnyside as well as at Whitworth.

Melvin Gilmore, '27, is assistant sports editor for the Spokesman-Review. Mr. Gilmore was active in debate and well known at Whitworth for his many literary efforts, especially in poetry and philosophy.

Luella Bruce travelled 280 miles in order to be home for Thanksgiving. She came from Riverside, Washington, where she is teaching. Many will remember that Miss Bruce attended Whitworth two years.

Hansen: "Anybody that wastes his time talking to women will never amount to anything."

Sharnbroich: "Sure, that's why I'm such a success."

Busy, Yet Interested

Miss Thelma Porter of the class of '26, who is now teaching her third year in a mission school in Frenchburg, Kentucky, recently sent in her subscription to the WHITWORTHIAN and accompanied it with an interesting letter. The following excerpt gives us a glimpse into her busy life and also shows her continued interest in her alma mater.

"Inclosed you will find a dollar for my subscription to THE WHITWORTHIAN, which I consider a very newsy paper. I eagerly await its arrival. Thanks for sending it to me and pardon the delay in sending my money; but you know the position of teaching, coaching, entertaining, selling, and so forth keeps me busy.

With best wishes for the success of THE WHITWORTHIAN . . . . ."

Such letters from Whitworth alumni are always very welcome in the office of THE WHITWORTHIAN. May hers be followed by more. The college is vitally interested in what its former students are doing; and because they are gone they are not forgotten.

Many Whitworth students who were unable to go home for Thanksgiving spent the vacation with other students. Lewis Randal went to Kettle Falls with Ralph Hansen. Leta Mae Muir went with Dorothy Hood to her home in Wellpinit, Lilly Schwendig and Helen Doig visited Maude Holt. Kathryn Bockman was the guest of both Muriel Mase and Margaret Jamison.

At the organ concert given recently in the First Presbyterian Church the following Whitworth people were seen in the audience: Misses Hinton, Holt, Muir, Hood, Skerry, Bockman, and Jamison; Messrs. Trayville, Sharnbroich, Millican, and Hansen; and Dr. and Mrs. Tiffany.

Beulah: "When people fall in love they usually lose their appetite."
Frank: "If that were true, I'd have starved to death before this."
"C" is a gentleman's grade at Harvard—likewise at Whitworth.

The flu list has been prominent lately. It appears that there may be some competition among the principals.

How dear to my heart are the green looking freshmen

The green-capped freshmen, the dippy looking freshmen,
And even the smart ones which each sophomore knew.

Lewis Randal is the fond uncle of a very small baby girl.

Fred Clanton, a former student in Whitworth but now a junior at Whitman College, had the leading role in the "Chocolate Soldier" put on at that institution last week. While at Whitworth, Fred was prominent in both music and oratory, as well as being an "honor" student.

Gospel Team to Lead Sunday Mission Service

TEAM HELD SERVICE AT EM-MANUEL CHURCH

PLAN COLLEGE MEETINGS

Thursday Afternoon Meetings to Be Held Twice a Month

The Gospel Team is to hold a service at the Volunteers of America Mission in Spokane on Sunday evening, January 13. Frank Tiffany is to be the speaker and Evelyn Chapman is to give the scripture reading. Special music will consist of the Gospel Team Quartet and a special duet. This is the second time the team has been at the mission this year.

AT EMMANUEL CHURCH

With "Consecration" as the subject of the day one of the Gospel Teams from the Volunteer Fellowship took charge of the regular morning service at the Emmanuel Presbyterian church in Spokane.

Miss Maude Holt and Kenneth Knoll delivered short sermons, each dealing with a phase of the subject, and Helen Doig gave the Scripture reading. The quartet, consisting of Mary Hinton, Dorothy Hood, Frank Tiffany and Lewis Randal sang a special number, accompanied by Helen Doig. Dorothy Hood and Lewis Randal also sang a duet. Hugh Bronson presided.

Among the Whitworthians present were Dr. J. W. Counterpane, Ralph Hansen, Everett Shambroth, and Bruce Clark.

WILL HOLD BI-WEEKLY MEETINGS

At a general meeting of the Volunteer Fellowship, held recently, future plans and activities of the association were discussed. It was agreed that on every second Thursday of the month there should be a general 'get-together' of all the members for a brief study of missionary topics, with song and special music also in the program. By this method interest will be kept up in missionary work.

The first of these meetings was held December 20, at 2 o'clock in the chapel. Kathryn Bockman gave a well-prepared talk on "Tekel, or Weighed in the Balance." The Gospel quartet sang special numbers. Lee Knoll, president of the association, presided.

Glee Club Concert

The Whitworth Glee Club, under the direction of Professor Lyle Moore will be presented in a concert to be given in the early part of April. The Club is holding two rehearsals a week and is working hard to make this program a success. Definite announcement of the time and the nature of the concert will be made at a later date.

Financial Help From Synod

So far this year the financial help coming from the various churches of the Synod has been a few dollars short of what it was at the same time last year. There is not room enough in this issue to give a detailed report; but the next issue will list all the churches of the Synod that have contributed this year up to the date of that issue.

ALUMNI, ATTENTION!

The secretary of the Alumni Association of Whitworth is making an appeal for help in finding "lost" alumni of the college. Every institution has a certain per cent of them. Mail sent to the latest address the college has for them is returned, and all other attempts to locate them seem futile. The college tries to send mail to them; the constituted officers of the alumni association try to communicate with them; but all to no avail. "Where is Tom Carr?" How can they so completely maroon themselves?

One may ask, when is an alumnus considered "lost"? He is in that list if he has not received at least one copy of THE WHITWORTHIAN this year; and if he has received no communication whatever from the college or the alumni association this year.

The college does not want to lose track of a single alumnus. It realizes that a well-organized and interested body of alumni may be an exceedingly potent factor in advancing the interests of their alma mater.

Ballard Men to Hold Open Dorm

The annual occasion of men's Open Dorm will be held on Friday, the eighteenth of this month. All doors of Ballard Hall will be thrown open and for the first time this year everyone, especially the girls of McMillan Hall, will be given an opportunity to visit the various rooms which are, of course, models of good housekeeping. There will also be an entertainment given, with several very unusual features. No admission charged, but visitors are welcome.

Faculty's Christmas Program Was Success

About 11:30 Friday morning, December 21, one could easily have deduced from the oranges, candy, instrumental offerings, festive package and general atmosphere that the faculty Christmas party was in progress. The chapel was dressed in its Christmas garb, and was a fitting background for the program. This consisted of readings by Miss Morrison and Helen Doig, selections by the Glee Club and Quartet, a prayer offered by Dr. Hays, a splendid talk by Dr. Tiffany on "The Christmas Spirit," and the exchange of gifts. Many appropriate gifts, such as monkeys and raffles, were received. The party, which was under the direction of Professors Hussong, Neustel, and Moore, was a pleasant event to be remembered by the students as the last event of the college year of 1928.

Bible Department Reports Fine Work

Dr. J. W. Counterpane, head of the Bible Department, reports that the work this semester is very successful and the results encouraging in every way. There are six courses in Bible, of which most interesting is the study of missions and missionaries, mainly for seniors. The advanced class in Old Testament History stands unusually high in scholarship. The last examination records showed an average of 95, in the class of thirteen. The freshmen who compose the elementary class in Old Testament History, have shown a remarkable improvement over their low examination grades of the first quarter, by striking an average of 89 in their last test.

The Rev. W. L. Kilban, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Day-enport, motored over with his son, Leon, New Year's day and spent the night at the college.

New Students May Enter February Fifth

The second semester will open on Tuesday, February fifth, and the semester is so arranged that new students may enter at that time and carry full work. This makes it possible for students graduating from high school in January to enter college at the beginning of this second semester and complete sixteen or seventeen hours of college work yet this year. Students who do this might complete their college with the present freshman class of 1932, provided they take some standard correspondence courses during the summers or spend a summer term at some standard institution of higher learning.

NEW COURSES OFFERED

Several new courses will be offered next semester in addition to those now being taught and continuing through the year. Among them are the following that make their appeal to a variety of tastes: Mental Tests and Measurements, Roman Civilization, Comparative Religions, Industrial History of the United States, Integral Calculus, Sunday School Methods, Ovid, Greek New Testament, Zoology, Educational Psychology, Oratory, Dramatics, Social Psychology, Ethics, Biblical History, Constitutions, Financial Organizations, History of Music, Shakespeare's Comedies, Secondary Education, the Epistles, an English Seminar, Plane Analytics, Adolescence, How to Study, and Logic.

Debate Team Chosen

As a result of debate tryouts in Chapel, December 11 and 12, Margaret Januson, Hugh Bronson, Leah Grove, and Lee Knoll were chosen to represent Whitworth in the intercollegiate debates. Clifford McNeal and Frances Gardner were selected as alternates. Eight contestants prepared speeches for the tryout. These were rated by men of the faculty. The question debated was "Resolved, That the Russian plan of disarmament proposed at the Geneva conference should be adopted by all nations."

Dr. Tiffany will go to Tacoma on February 2 to conduct the services of the First Presbyterian church on the 3rd during the absence of Dr. Weyer in Nebraska.

The Reverend Alexander Hood of Wellpint visited at the college and participated in the chapel exercises last Wednesday morning, when he brought his daughter Dorothy back to college.

Prayer Week Is Observed By Whitworth

PRAYER MEETINGS HELD
EACH EVENING

IS OBSERVED ANNUALLY

Special Prayer Meeting in Chapel
Wednesday Evening

The annual Week of Prayer for colleges and universities is being observed by Whitworth this week. Special Chapel services are being held each day. Dr. C. W. Hays spoke Monday morning, Rev. "Dick" Ferrell on Tuesday, the Student Volunteers on Wednesday, Rev. Geo. D. Nielsen on Thursday, and the senior class on Friday. Short periods of prayer are being held each evening after dinner, the girls meeting in the parlor of McMillan Hall and the boys gathering in the boys' parlor of Ballard Hall. A special joint prayer meeting is being planned for Wednesday evening to be held in the chapel. The entire program is under the direction of Dr. J. W. Counterpane, head of the department of Bible and Religious Education.

Three National Educational Meetings in Tennessee This Week

Dr. O. E. Tiffany left last Thursday morning for Chattanooga, Tennessee, where he will attend three conventions being held there this week, the National Council of Religious Education, the annual meeting of the Presidents of American Colleges, and the annual conference of the presidents of the Presbyterian colleges. At this meeting Dr. Frederick E. Stockwell and Dr. Charles W. Covert will be the principal speakers. These are both representatives of the General Board of Christian Education for the Presbyterian Church and have visited Whitworth within the past two years. Dr. C. C. McCracken, the representative of the Nexus committee, who visited Whitworth, together with Mrs. McCracken, during the opening week of school last fall, will give a report at that time of the survey he has been making of the Presbyterian colleges during the past six months. Dr. Tiffany will return about the middle of this month.

Oratorical and Recitational Try- Outs Coming

The annual oratorical and recitational local contests are scheduled for the fourth week in January. Several students have already signified their intentions of entering each group, and the contests promise to be interesting. The winners of these local contests will then compete in the inter-collegiate contests held with other colleges of this section, some time in April. Members from all four classes in college are eligible to enter.

Professor Frank Tattersall Leaves Spokane

Professor Frank Tattersall, one of Spokane's most popular musicians and formerly professor of piano at Whitworth College, will move to Seattle, where he will open a music studio about the first of February.

Professor and Mrs. Hussong entertained a company of friends at dinner on New Year's Day.

NOW IS THE TIME

Now is the time to start cramming for examinations. In a very short time the ever-recurring ordeal will be upon us. We usually wait until the final exams are announced, and then sit up all night with a wet towel wrapped around our head, cramming our tired brain full of facts, figures, and theories. Then when we have them all in a neat row, they suddenly go whirling in all directions and we can't even remember whether a parenchyma cell is part of the subjunctive mood or a town captured by the Israelites.

Beginning now, a little time spent each day in review, and a conscientious effort to grasp the most important facts of the subject, will avoid all this confusion and worry. It will give time to arrange the facts in our mind so they can be remembered. Why wait until the night before? Now is the time to begin getting ready for examination.

THE GIFT OF GIFTS

What matters it how clear and strong ring out the chimes at the Christmas time, if the soul of the hearer is not attuned to the message of the music? What matters it how beautiful or magnificent the gift, if the giver and recipient feel not the thrill of love and affection tokened by the gift? So, what matters the angels' song, or the wondering surprise of the humble shepherds, or the sweet emotion in Mary's heart, or, better yet, the expression of the Father's great love in the gift of his Son, if we, you and I, do not try to comprehend its deeper, true meaning?

Because he loved, our Father gave, and gave his all, his only Son. What a love is here! His Gift was the gift of a life, a life that should reveal God's own character in all its holy attributes, a life that should show God's feeling and disposition towards man, a life that should express the longing of God for intimate fellowship with man.

Surely, it is for us, gladly, fully, freely to accept this gift of God's love, and to requite it by giving our lives to be the revelation of Christ's character, to be the manifestation of his disposition and feeling towards all men, and to be the expression of his longing for intimate friendship with all, for time and eternity.

POST-CHRISTMAS THOUGHTS

It seems to me that Christmas has departed far from its original place. Could God possibly have wished the celebration of the birthday of His Son to become a commercialized holiday? Men and women two weeks ago were rushing from store to store spending much more money than any of the baubles for which they spent it were worth. Bright lights and gaudy window displays attracted the purchaser to buy things of small use and great cost.

America's Christmas spirit, so talked of and lauded, is not the spirit of that One about whom the angels sang. The common Christmas spirit consists of a gift of a few pennies for charity, maybe a small gift of food to the starving poor, and a big gift for the friend who will probably remember you. If self sacrifice were still embodied in the Christmas spirit, the commercialized Christmas would disappear and again the watchword would be, "Peace on earth; good will toward men."

CHAPEL

Professor Hussong: Seek to find God, and faith will grow. When we cast away the things of the world and commit ourselves into God's hands, we will find faith. If we have an absolute faith in God, all our problems will be solved. We are to let God work through us.

Professor Buxton elaborated on the fact that there are wonderful possibilities in a college course. There is hardly a subject at Whitworth college that is not a nucleus for a professional career. The world requires more of us as students than does the faculty. Education will be worth to us what we put into it. One who discovers what he is best fitted for early in life makes a success, if he determines to work.

Dr. W. W. Sullivan, dean of Albany college in Oregon, stated that everyone has within him a surplus of power. This surplus power can be used only when it is called upon for reserve. Three things that tend to keep people from using this power within them are: fear, secret sins, and ancient grudges.

When this is conquered we can use our surplus power. When we come to a crisis in which we must call on our reserve powers secret sins stand in the way. If we remove all these things from our lives we can go forward, drawing upon our powers, and accomplishing things undreamed of.

"The Value of Prayer"

A very effective meeting was held on the night of the regular student prayer meeting, Wednesday, December 12. Lewis Randal was the leader. The topic was "The Value of Prayer." A few special phases of the topic were discussed by other students. In his own talk on the subject Mr. Randal gave several striking illustrations to show how prayer has wrought wonders in our own day. By way of conclusion there was a call for testimonies as to personal experiences of the saving power of Christ. Several earnest responses were given.

Originality Shown in Prayer Meeting

An original prayer meeting was held January 2nd, the first school evening of the year, led by Mary Hinton. The New Year's topic was based on Philippians 3:13-14. The various members of the audience conducted the meeting—one announcing a song, one offering a prayer, another reading the scripture, and others discussing different topics, such as "What and how shall we forget?" and "To what and how shall we reach forward?" The meeting, though appearing as without a leader, showed careful planning, and aroused the interest of all.

Whitworthians Attend Play

"The Rock," a dramatization of the life of Peter, was given by the young people of the of the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, December 11th. The excellent acting, as well as the staging and costuming, made the play most interesting. Several Whitworthians attended the play. Among them were Mrs. Tiffany, Miss Morrison, Dorothy Skerry, Margaret Jamison, Kathryn Bockman, Forrest Travaille, and Everell Sharnbroich. Mr. Wallace I. Wolverton, religious director of First church, supervised the play.

Howard Luddy, a North Central graduate of this month, started the new year right by coming out through the snow early on the morning of New Year's Day to enroll for the second semester. He was escorted to the college by Louis Keyser.

There should have been a "have-your-flu-early" drive so that fewer would leave.

FORUM

"Founders' Day"

At the "All-Whitworth Day" held recently we celebrated victories won in the past and visioned possibilities for advancement in the future. It was a day of rejoicing for present achievements. But would it not be well to think about the past also and give honor to some of these men who have made this school possible, especially in its founding?

On February 20, scarcely a month and a half away, Whitworth will celebrate its thirty-ninth birthday. Wouldn't it be a good idea to set such a day aside as other schools do, and celebrate it as "Founders' Day?"

The pioneer founders of our school need more recognition, and the birthday of the college could well be observed in their honor. Plans ought to be put under way at once for a "Founders' Day" program for February 20, when we can do homage to the memory of the intrepid founders of our school and catch a glimpse of the high vision that was theirs.

Davenport Church Dedicated

Dedicatory services were held in the new Presbyterian church at Davenport on the morning of Sunday, December 15. The Reverend W. L. Killian, pastor of the church, delivered the dedicatory address at the request of his congregation, to a crowded house. His subject was "The Church." Dr. James Thomson and Dr. O. E. Tiffany also took part in the service. In the evening Dr. Thomson preached the sermon.

All-Whitworth Day Was Huge Success

On the evening of All-Whitworth Day about two hundred people sat down to the banquet in the Chapel. The room and the tables were tastefully decorated in the school colors of red and black. Efficient student waiters served the meal in record time.

Shortly after the program commenced, Dr. O. E. Tiffany greeted the guests and introduced Lewis Randal, president of the Student Association, who in turn introduced the sixteen student speakers. All phases of college life were briefly explained in a clear, interesting way. Friends of the college and prospective students were able to catch a glimpse of all the actual campus activities and functions, including the athletic, religious, social, and scholastic fields. The musical numbers were given by Mr. Lyle W. Moore, Miss Dorothy D. Farr, the Male Quartet, and the Glee Club.

Dr. Tiffany introduced Dean W. W. Sullivan, who was a guest from Albany college for the occasion. Mr. W. L. McEachern spoke of the progress Whitworth had made since he first had become interested in it, and told of its splendid financial condition at the present. He believes it now has no mortgage and no bonded indebtedness. He believes that great things are in store for Whitworth.

Dr. W. W. Edmondson, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church and chairman of the promotion committee of the alumni, gave an outline of the plans of the alumni for a closer organization.

Prof. James A. Burke, '18, principal of the Garfield School, spoke of the new spirit at Whitworth.

Dr. P. O. McKean, pastor of First church, gave definite figures to show that Whitworth college has been an economic asset to Spokane, that it has brought to Spokane approximately $1,150,000.

Dr. James Thomson, executive secretary for the Washington Synod, said that in his travels over the state he is finding a very friendly and enthusiastic spirit for Whitworth and that the people of the church are expecting quality rather than quantity in the product of the college.

The general assembly room, which had been decorated in the college colors and used as a banquet hall for the occasion, was more than filled with students and guests.

ATHLETICS

W. C. Defeats Bulldogs

Playing with very little teamwork and showing little basketball form, the Pirates defeated the Bulldog Service Station by a score of 25-21 in a practice game, played Friday, January 4.

The Pirates led the first half, but seemed to be unable to find the hoop in the last half. Masterman with 18 points was high point man for the losers; Killian with 7 points for the Pirates. Bill Miller refereed the game.

Grahams, 28; Whitworth, 23

Coming up from behind in the last 5 minutes of play, a team from Graham's defeated the Pirates 28-23 on the Whitworth court, Saturday, January 5.

The Pirates showed real speed and seemed to find the basket until the last quarter when they began to weaken and the boys from Graham's put in 3 baskets to win the game.

Allen and Bromling tied for scoring honors for the Pirates with 8 each. Barrett starred for the winners with 12.

Dorm Boys Win Local Game

In a basketball game that was full of upsets, due to a slippery floor, the Dorm boys vanquished their opponents, the Town boys, on Thursday, December 13.

The playing was kept going by Renee Moore, and the boys showed that they have the making of a real team. The final score was 20-14. The players for the Dorm were Millican, Killian, Travalle, Thomson and Smith. Those for the Town students were Doak, McNeal, Bromling, Allen, and Skaer.

Frosh Boys Win

In another intra-mural game, the Frosh boys defeated the Sophomore boys 20-20. The game was hard fought and only a last minute rally by the frosh won the game.

Clean Gym For Season

The gym has been swept, scrubbed, scraped, and scoured from top to bottom, and is now germ-proof for the basketball season. The floor has been oiled, as may be seen from the slippery attitude of the players, but it is hoped that the surplus oil will soon be digested and rapid playing begun. With a good supply of coal, the gym is heated, broken windows have been replaced, new backboards have been made and painted, and all obstructions removed—somewhat to the discomfort of some gallery observers. Credit is to be given to Everett Shambroich, Marvin Skaer, Robert Millican and Bruce Clark, who spent many hours in the gym armed with brooms, shovels, rakes, water, pails, soap, rags, brushes, and who came out leaving a clean gym behind them.

Girls Lose Practice Game

The North Hill Christian girls, with a team made up of experienced high school and college players, defeated the Whitworth girls on Saturday, January 5.

The game was one-sided in the first half but in the last frame the Whitworth girls held their opponents to four field goals.

This was the first basketball game for many of the College girls and with more practice and experience they should make a good record this season.

Leta Mae Muir was high scorer for the college and Martha Schoening for the Christian church.

Dorm Girls Win

In a basketball game that was very even until the last half, the Dorm girls defeated the Town girls 33 to 18 on Wednesday, December 12, in the Whitworth gymnasium.

This was the first game played by the girls this year and it revealed some good playing. The girls had fine team work, and several of them are "dead shots."

Frosh Girls Win

Winning their game by a 45-17 score, the Freshmen girls showed their superiority over the other girls in the school. The game was well played, despite the one-sided score. Another game is scheduled for a later date to enable the Sophomore girls to defeat these skillful rivals, the Frosh.

"Hail, hail, the gang's all here" was composed by Sir Arthur Sullivan, who also composed "The Lost Chord" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Leap Year's Last Party

About nine o'clock on the Thursday night before Christmas vacation, all ladies of McMillan Hall gathered in Leta Mae Muir's room. Such cries as, "Oh!" "How pretty!" "A Christmas tree!" greeted the smiling hostess. More exclamations and surprises were in evidence during the evening, for the two hostesses, Miss Muir and Miss Kathryn Bockman, had planned many nice things for their guests. They even labeled the Christmas tree as such, and the decorations also. The boisterous shouts which pierced the hall told that a contest was in progress. All the girls proved that they were very steady when they carried a bean on a knife the whole length of the room.

It was great fun to line up according to the length of the slip of paper that one held, in order to get a gift from the tree. Everything from a parrot to an automobile was seen after the seals and tissue paper were discarded. The dignified Dean of Women made as much noise with her horn as any of the girls have ever made during study hour. Dainty sandwiches and cookies with cocoa brought that part of the party to a close.

As there was only one more opportunity left for the girls to make a bid for the boys' favor that year, they serenaded the boys. No effects have been noticed, but the boys say they enjoyed the serenade. During the singing the girls almost lost their voices when they saw a ghost appear on the scene, but it proved to be even less horrifying than the one last year. At least, the girls said with sincerity, "We had a glorious time tonight."

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Janice Schermerhorn

Now that vacation is over perhaps we can have a little rest.

Never put off till tomorrow what you can talk someone else into doing for you today.

For instruction in ironing shirts, gentlemen may apply to Miss Laura Frederick.

Holt: "Kiss and make up! Why can't we kiss and make up?"
Heien: "I'll bite."

Just before vacation many of the town students wish that they lived in the dorm so they could go home for Christmas.

Reward: Lost, strayed, or stolen, from town girls' room—one black caterpillar with six red legs. Liberal reward for return, dead or alive.

Dorothy Hood says she had to buy all new Christmas cards this year because all those she got last year were signed in ink and couldn't be used again.

Mrs. Ann Holmes, Whitworth's famed cook, was born at Storakopabag-slane, Korsbruk. (A prize of one dish of fresh chocolate pudding to be awarded to the first one to guess the name of the country).

Mr. Randal informed Mr. Andrews recently that there was a committee on his nose. Mr. Andrews says that his nose feels quite extensive, but hardly large enough to provide even standing room for a committee.

Clifton Hussey Married

Mr. Clifton Hussey was married January 3 to Miss Marian Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hall of Spokane. The wedding took place at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Reverend Fred Thomson of Coeur d'Alene read the ceremony. Miss Cecil Benson was bridesmaid, and Mr. Walter Bozell was best man. The couple will make their home at the Allen Apartments, S. 322 Washington.

Lee Knoll preached in Emmanuel Presbyterian church on December 30, in the place of Lewis Randal, the regular supply there, who was spending the vacation at his home in Seattle.

Christmas Seal Campaign Concluded

The annual sale of Christmas seals closed this year with the amount of $10.70 to be sent to the Anti-Tuberculosis League. The freshman class sold the most seals, having outsold the faculty by only twenty-one cents. The campaign was carried on by the various captains appointed for the different classes, and was under the general leadership of Kathryn Bockman.

Dr. J. W. Countermine spent his Christmas vacation at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. Clarence W. Weyer, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Tacoma.

Dutchman's Philosophy

Iss to half bluff and lost out better than neffer at all to half bluff? In other words, as Dr. Tiffany says, should we an accurate historical guess make efen iff neither accurat nor historical to be turn out it may? Friends, it iss better to half done than not efen an effort to half make. I ask you, duss a freight train get anywhere while he standing still is? Duss a mosquito anybody sting iff he won't down sit? Don't you mine point get? It is better to half bluff, efen though the results what the speaker desires to be turn out not. Don't giff up your ghost or the ghost uff anybody elses niffout an an attempt to make, poor or otherwise, to half him.

WHO'S WHO

Upon this campus there looms a tall, broad-shouldered young senior of mighty mien. For almost four years his manly form has been seen striding up and down the halls. Now—but a short time—and his long footprints will be a thing of the past.

A perpetual worry to the fair sex is his variegated bachelorhood. According to one new member of the student body, "Ralph is the only boy on the campus worth going after." His shy smile, his droll laugh, his wavy hair, his "adorable" blue eyes, his slow drawl—verily, they are the cause of many a fluttering heart.

Let us briefly mention a few of the outstanding features of this worthy senior. First is his fame as a marathon hiker. He has even been known to hike as far as Seattle for a mere maid, as rumor accounts for it. Second, his illustrious membership in the "W" club. Third, his hearty appetite. Fourth, his melodious tenor, as all discovered one morning in chapel. Fifth, his generosity in distributing apples and cider. Sixth, his athletic ability, especially as the left-handed pitcher, not to mention two football letters. Seventh, his dignity as president of the senior class. Eighth, his ability to use psychic processes in smiling triumphantly over an unprepared lesson. Ninth, his ready conversation. Tenth, his fatherly care of the inmates of Ballard Hall. "Still waters run deep."

But alas—how can the abilities of so distinguished a character be enumerated? Who's who? An introduction is in order to Mr. Ralph Hansen, Esquire.

Miss Taylor Writes From Anyox, B. C.

The following is an excerpt from a letter recently received from Miss Taylor, former secretary of Whitworth college.

"I am leaving Vancouver, B. C., for Anyox, which is away up the coast beyond Prince Rupert, so you see I have my wish at last. I am being sent by a big mining concern having offices in Vancouver, also, and they practically own the town of Anyox.

"The trip takes two days and three nights on the boat—I shall probably be sending all my friends fish for Christmas. My address will be Anyox, B. C., unless the boat sinks."

Students Help in Program at Knights of Round Table Lunch

Miss Virginia Koyl, Miss Helen Doig, and Miss Dorothy Fair, assisted Dr. O. E. Tiffany in furnishing a Christmas program one Thursday noon recently at a meeting of the Loyal Knights of the Round Table in Spokane.

The secretary of that organization in writing of it afterwards said that "they put over big league stuff."

A touch of tonsillitis made James Doak one day late in returning to college after the holidays.

Miss Leta Mae Muir was greeted by a new member of her family when she returned home for the Christmas recess—a little niece.

Alumni: Have You Read This?

Have you received a copy of the WHITWORTHIAN this year? If not, then you are listed with the "lost" alumni; and that means that neither the college nor the officers of the alumni association knows your address. So when you read this, or hear of it, take a post card or the first piece of paper near you, write your name and address and the year of your graduation; and then send it in to the secretary of the Whitworth College Alumni Association, Russell Boucher, Milan, Washington.

You will feel better after you have done that. Do not break off diplomatic relations with your alma mater and the alumni association. You need that relationship, and they need you and want you. The college is always glad to hear from its graduates; and it would be glad to know what you are doing, and better still when you are coming back to visit. So write at once about yourself, and also about any other alumni who you know may not have an opportunity to read this. Send the information either direct to the college or to the secretary of the association, Russell Boucher at Milan, Washington.

Everett Shainbroich and Frank Tiffany spent a part of their holiday recess in starving solitude on the campus.

Dr. Countermine Takes a "Pre-Mortem" of the Class of 1932

At last we have the "low-down" on the freshmen. They have been thoroughly diagnosed, analyzed, all their symptoms noted, and the facts recorded by Dr. Countermine. The following gives a part of the tabulated results of a quiz of thirty questions that was asked each freshman.

Among the occupations of the fathers of these students, four are farmers, three ministers of the gospel, three engineers, three workers in industrial shops, two postmasters, two contractors, two dairymen, one educator, one professional scientist, one commercial dealer, and one civil employee.

The church membership of the fathers includes eight Presbyterians, three Lutherans, two Congregationalists, one Baptist, one Methodist, one Christian, one Brethren, one Nazarene, and one Free Methodist.

The church membership of the mothers includes ten Presbyterians, three Methodists, two Lutherans, two Episcopalians, one Baptist, one Free Methodist, one Brethren, one Christian, and one Nazarene.

The church membership of the students shows nine Presbyterians, three Congregationalists, one Christian, one Episcopalian, one Evangelical, one Brethren, and one Methodist.

One of the out-of-town visitors at the All-Whitworth Day program was Mayes Smith of Watsong. He is a high school senior this year and expects to enter Whitworth next fall.

Former Students

Miss Lessie Rasco, '28, has been teaching Spanish in the high school in Sunnyside since the middle of December.

Mrs. Harold Keagle, formerly Gertrude Fite, recently visited her friends at the college. Mrs. Keagle was a freshman with the class of '30.

Mildred Hess, '25, is teaching in the high school at Tillamook, Oregon, for her second year. She teaches history, which was her major at Whitworth.

Miss Gladys Tattersall, formerly of the class of '29 but now on the staff of the Spokane Daily Chronicle, has charge of the department in that paper known as "The Daily Tillakums."

On December 13, George Neil Baldwin, Jr., arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Baldwin in Spokane. Both the parents have attended Whitworth. Mrs. Baldwin, formerly Genevieve Welch, graduated with the class of '25.

Bob Russell, a member of last year's freshman class, who has been working for the Boeing Aeroplane company, recently lost two fingers of his left hand when an accident happened to the large punch press at which he was working.

Among the alumni and former students who attended the All-Whitworth program were Professor James A. Burke, Dr. C. P. Koehler, Dr. W. W. Edmondson, Dr. Viola Kinert, formerly Viola Schumacher, Mrs. J. B. Auld, '25; Mrs. Karl Rupp, '27, and Misses Bertha and Gladys Tattersall and Lilian Brown, '28.

Mrs. Marthelena Miller Rupp, '27, won a prize of twenty dollars during the holiday season for the second best poster entered in the Chronicle poster contest. When Mrs. Rupp was in college she exhibited ability in many lines, but this is a new field for her to enter. Her poster told the Christmas story through the star of the east and the visit of the Wise Men.

Wife of Former Whitworth President Died Recently In Spokane

Mrs. Charles P. Milne, whose husband was the acting president of Whitworth College in 1920, died last month in a hospital in Spokane. She was buried in Pollatch, Idaho, where her husband is now pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Education Class Visits North Central

The High School Methods class spent December 17, at North Central high school. The members visited many classes and took notes on methods of presenting the lesson, disciplinary control, and other problems of the class room, as handled by experienced high school teachers. The trip was profitable as well as interesting. Those who made the visit were Dean Morrison, Lally Schwending, Leah Grove, Beulah Cox, Frances Gardner, Ralph Hansen and Lloyd Smith.

Semester Examinations Will Soon Be Upon Us

Examinations for this semester will commence about the 25th of January and will close on the 1st of February. Four-hour courses, three-hour courses, and two-hour courses will have tests on the last four or three or two recitation periods of the term. The days are short and the time is passing rapidly as this period of judgment approaches. One day of vacation is granted at the close of the semester in order to give students an opportunity to recuperate and the faculty time to assemble and average grades before the next term begins.

FELLOWSHIP HOLDS REVIVAL AT EUCLID

Gospel Teams Sent Out Every Night

SERVICE HELD AT KNOX

A revival campaign is being conducted by the Volunteer Fellowship at the Euclid Avenue Baptist church in this city. The services are to last one week, commencing Monday evening, February 4, and continuing thru the following Sunday. Meetings are being held each evening including Saturday, and with services both morning and night on Sunday.

Different speakers are being sent every evening, the work being divided among the various members of the Volunteer Fellowship so that it will not take anyone away from his studies too often. There is special music each evening, furnished by the Gospel Team singers and the Baptist church choir. The Whitworth male quartet will sing Friday night.

Two students are speaking at each service, as follows: Mary Hinton and Helen Doig on Monday; Forrest Travaille and Frank Tiffany, Tuesday; Margaret Jamison and Kenneth Knoll Wednesday; Leah Grove and Maude Hoff, Thursday; Everett Shambroich and Lewis Randal, Friday; Hugh Bronson and Virginia Koyl, Saturday; Dorothy Hood and Evelyn Chapman, Sunday morning; and Dorothy Skerry and Lee Knoll on Sunday evening. The singers are Dorothy Skerry, Dorothy Hood, Caroline Petsch, Abee Sanstrom, Mary Hinton, Kathryn Bockman, Everett Shambroich, Frank Tiffany, Bruce Clark, Lee Knoll and Lewis Randal. Others participating are Suzanne Borden, Muriel Mase, Leta Mae Muir, Marguerite Miller, Lona Frederick, Lloyd Smith, Ralph Hansen and Leon Killian.

This is the first time the Volunteer Fellowship has undertaken an entire week's services, though they conducted a three-day campaign at the same church four years ago. Every effort is being put forth to make this week a success and to accomplish definite results in bringing other young people to Christ.

Team Holds Service at Knox Presbyterian Church

Christian Endeavor week was observed at Knox Presbyterian church Sunday evening, January 27, when the Whitworth Gospel Team took charge of the service. Lewis Randal was the speaker, using for his topic "Facing the Future." Special music consisted of a duet by Alice Sanstrom and Caroline Petsch, and a quartet by Dorothy Skerry, Dorothy Hood, Everett Shambroich, and Frank Tiffany. The Scripture lesson was the 96th Psalm, which was rendered as a reading by Evelyn Chapman, who also acted as chairman of the meeting.

Team at Volunteers of America Mission

The Gospel Team held a service at the Volunteers of America mission in Spokane on Sunday evening, January 13. Frank Tiffany was the speaker and used for his subject, "The One Thing Needful." Lloyd Smith led in prayer and Evelyn Chapman

JUNIORS WIN CLASS HONORS

Lilly Schwendig and Kathryn Bockman Head Honor Roll

RIVALRY IS KEEN

When semester scholastic honors were announced in Chapel on Tuesday morning it was revealed that the juniors had again won the W. L. McEachran class scholarship trophy. Miss Leah Grove, president of the junior class, accepted the honor for the coming term and will see that the appropriate numerals are carved on it. The seniors ranked next highest and had good marks but could not overcome the exceptionally high average struck by the juniors this past quarter, of 38.83 grade points.

Miss Lilly Schwendig maintained the reputation she had already well established, of being the highest scorer in individual honors. She carried sixteen semester hours of work and attained forty-four grade points. Other students on the honor roll for this past semester are Virginia Koyl of Bilyard, Kathryn Bockman of Ana-cortes, Janice Schermerhorn of Spokane, Lewis Randal of Seattle, Louis Keyser and Lee Knoll of Spokane, Lloyd Smith of Wallburg, Leah Grove of Deer Park, Leon Killian of Lavenport and Susanna Borden, Margaret Jamison, Kenneth Knoll and Ruth Feller of Spokane. Miss Caroline Petsch, with just one-half a point below the requirement for the Honor Roll received honorable mention.

Perhaps there are no other days of the school year when the entire school is so tense with expectation as they are on the first mornings of a new term when the reports for the previous term are about to be read. The rivalry is keen; and the importance of good scholarship in college life is emphasized.

New Books Purchased For Library

Over two hundred new books have recently been purchased for the Whitworth library at an approximate cost of $600. The fields especially stressed are history, international relations, chemistry and physics. Many of the books deal with South America states.

The new purchases are taking care of the present need of the library by supplying immediate reference works in history and science. The field of education was built up two years ago, and additions along other particular lines will be continued from year to year so that Whitworth will have an excellent reference library. At the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees last June $2,000 per year was apportioned to be applied for laboratory equipment and books, and the purpose is to put about $500 each year into the library, not including the various periodicals.

Attempts were made to establish an "Ad Week" at Whitworth, but with very little success. It is hoped that some self-sacrificing student will offer his or her services in the near future to get more advertisements for the WHITWORTHIAN; for its finances are in a critical condition.

CAPTAIN BALLARD WAS ONE OF WHITWORTH COLLEGE FOUNDERS

CAPTAIN W. R. BALLARD

Interested in Whitworth Students and Christian Education

Captain W. R. Ballard of Seattle, the senior member of the Board of Trustees of Whitworth college, died last Monday, February 4, from a heart attack while being taken to a hospital in an ambulance. Captain Ballard had been a member of the board since the college was incorporated in 1890, and has been known to practically every Whitworth student since, with the exception of the present freshman class. He was not only one of the founders but was a continual and generous supporter. Ballard Hall was named for him. He also established the Ballard oratorical contest, held each commencement week, and to which he contributed $60 annually. Last June he came over to present the prizes in person, and at the close of the exercises gave an earnest address on Christian education. A copy of last year's annual, which had been dedicated to him and Mr. H. H. McMillan, was presented to him as a surprise at the close of his address.

As a young man he had been a captain on a boat that operated on Puget Sound, and later he was one of the founders of the large section of Seattle called "Ballard" and was also one of the organizers of the Seattle National Bank.

The following letter, received just a week before his death, shows something of his ideals, his fine Christian character, and the deep interest he took in Whitworth students.

"To the Editor of the Whitworthian:

I received two copies of the Whitworthian a few days ago. I found much good reading in them to interest me.

First, I was delighted that the All-Whitworth Day was such a great success, and so many were there to enjoy it. I would like to have been there myself.

I was also glad the Gospel Teams led Sunday Missionary service at the Volunteers of America Mission and that the Volunteer Fellowship had charge of the morning service at Emmanuel Presbyterian church. It was grand for the young men and was one of the things for which we organized Whitworth college. I also read with interest that the Bible department under the supervision of Dr. Countermine is very successful this year. I wish Whitworth great success in all of its departments.

I enclose you my check for $2.00 for my subscription for the year.

Sincerely yours,
W. R. BALLARD"

His funeral was held yesterday in the First Presbyterian Church of Seattle, with Dr. M. A. Matthews in charge of the services.

ed, is an exceptionally capable class which accounts for their sub-normal preparation and takes for granted that the difference in time is spent on collateral work.

Colonial Party Coming Feb. 21

Annual Event Is To Be Costume Affair

Whitworth's annual Colonial party will be held in Murray Memorial Chapel at eight o'clock Thursday evening, February 21. Alumni and former students are cordially invited to come and partake of the evening's pleasure.

The Colonial party is the big social function of the year, and it is expected that, judging from the display of previous years, many fanciful and elaborate costumes of the days of George Washington will make their appearance. It is rumored that there will be one costume worn that is over a century and a quarter old.

Maude Hoff and Evelyn Chapman make up the Program committee; Kathryn Bockman, Janice Schermerhorn, Helen Doig, Ralph Hansen, Everett Shambroich and Forrest Travaille, the Decoration committee, and Mary Hinton, Lee Knoll and Louis Keyser, the Refreshment committee.

Last year's Colonial party was a great success, but it is hoped that this year's event will eclipse even that, in the number and spirit of those who take part.

Survey Made of Bible Preparation

According to Dr. Countermine's survey of the Bible Department, the average time spent by the individual in preparation of the lesson in Freshmen Bible was two hours and twelve minutes. This is above the ordinary amount of preparation, which requires two hours of outside study for every class period. The sophomores in Advanced Old Testament History averaged two hours and nineteen minutes, and in the New Testament class it was only one hour and twenty minutes. The latter, it is concluded,

CAPTAIN BALLARD

With the death of Captain Ballard, Whitworth loses one of its most loyal friends. There were times when others despaired of the future of the college, but Captain Ballard never gave up his faith. That faith is a challenge to every one of us. Just as the Whitworth of today is the result of the faith and loyalty of friends like Captam Ballard, so the Whitworth of the future will be the result of our faith and loyalty. Whitworth College will always remember Captam Ballard, but the greatest memorial to his life will be the lives of those who have come in contact with the ideals and traditions he helped to establish here.

—L. E. K.

"EVERY STUDENT AN ORATOR!"

The Oratorical and Recitational tryouts, which are to be held in the Chapel on February 12, give an opportunity for all loyal Whitworthians to get behind this activity and help it along. Whitworth made a good showing in the Oratorical and Recitational contest of the Columbia Valley Conference last year, and if the same is to be done this year, it means that these tryouts must be real contests, with a large number of entrants. The orations prepared for this contest may be used later in the annual Ballard Oratorical contest.

AIM HIGH!

With this new semester opening there is a grand opportunity for everyone actively to renew the broken resolutions of the past month. Set a goal to work to; aim at a certain definite accomplishment; and aim high!

A single suggestion might help: Since no one can get an "A" in any subject without some outside, unassigned, collateral work, it would be a worthy plan to reserve eight or ten hours a week to such work, especially in the major subject. One who merely reads the text book is only entitled, in most cases, to a "C".

Even though scholastic standards are high at Whitworth, let us strive to make the individual records proportionately as high.

OPPORTUNITIES AHEAD!

The first semester has passed; the books have been closed; a record has been made. May it bring us a feeling of satisfaction for time well spent.

But a new semester opens, and with it come new opportunities—opportunities to make a new record, higher and better than the one just made. There are boundless opportunities for a higher scholastic standing, a deeper appreciation of sacrifices made by the home folks, a chance to make more and better friendships, and a growing realization of the ideals of a Christian college. May we all be willing to apply the text brought to us by the Reverend Boyd Patterson during the past week, so that when the time comes again for testing our strength, we may be able to say as St. Paul did, "as much as in me lies I am ready."

—Alice Morrison.

Students Have Sleighing Party

By Mary Hinton

Jingle bells, jingle bells! Across the campus they sounded—very faint at first but louder every moment. Soon their sound was replaced with the shouts of hilarious town students. As the sleigh came to a stop, people scrambled in from all sides. Unfortunately the sleigh was not big enough for everyone to sit down, to say nothing of being comfortable. Everyone was good-natured though, and answered the question "Can you move over some?" by squeezing himself into a space unbelievably small. By a synthetic process nearly everyone got settled at least for a few minutes.

There were several places of honor on this occasion. The first two were taken by Mr. Clark and Mr. Randal. They told us afterwards it would have been all right if the horses hadn't become hot, and there hadn't been so many bumps in the road. The other places of honor were occupied by Mr. Travaile, Mr. Smith, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Holt, Mr. Hunter, and Mr. Knoll. Any of those gentlemen will be glad to tell you how it feels to walk on a sleighride party.

Kettle Falls Has Landslide

Ralph Hansen recently received word from home that a huge landslide, consisting of several acres of wooded land, had occurred at a point on the Columbia river directly opposite his home two miles south of Kettle Falls, Washington. A tidal wave was created that swept over a gravel bar dissolving a foot of snow, and rolled far up on the eastern shore leaving in its wake as it receded a host of astonished and badly-frightened fish up to two feet in length.

The landslide happened at midnight, January 16, and made such a roar and concussion in the ground that many thought it was an earthquake. An island now stands in that part of the river that previously measured about seventy feet in depth, and upstream from the island to the falls water was fourteen inches higher.

GOSPEL TEAM SERVICES

Missionary Meeting Held in College Chapel

The regular semi-monthly Missionary meeting of the Volunteer Fellowship was held in the college Chapel Thursday, January 17. Everell Sharnbroich gave a very interesting account of the life and work of Peter Parker, early missionary to China. Susanna Borden read the Scripture lesson and Ralph Hansen led in prayer. At the close of the meeting the group joined in singing some of the Gospel Team choruses.

Dorm Students Listen to Dedication Program

Through the kindness of Victor Morgan who set up his radio in the dining room on the evening of January 12 the dorm students had an opportunity to hear the dedication program at the opening of the famous Great Northern tunnel during the dinner hour. Speeches by Mr. Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, President Coolidge, President-elect Hoover, and three vocal numbers by Madame Schumann-Heineck were features of the evening.

New Students This Semester

The following students were welcomed to Whitworth at the first convocation of this semester: Miss Virginia Hedstrom, who was graduated last week from the Roosevelt High School in Seattle; the Misses Vivian Johnson and Ruth Nielsen from Lewis and Clark; and Howard Lundy from North Central.

Ballard Men Hold Open Dorm

The "semi-annual" Ballard Hall open house took place Friday, January 18. The first part of the program consisted of a song guessing game, followed by a burlesque radio broadcast. The "Kiddies' Hour" kept the little misses of McMillan Hall delighted. The bed-time story, given in a big bass voice by Lee Knoll as Uncle Remus, was very entertaining though perhaps all did not get the value of its object lesson.

Following the musical entertainment the group inspected the dormitory rooms. All these were appropriately labeled, that one might know to whom they belonged. In some rooms even the furniture and rugs were labeled. It has been rumored that many mysteries which had previously bothered McMillan girls, are now solved.

Even after the refreshments were served the young ladies showed no desire to leave; for Professor Lyle Moore, one of the chief entertainers, was exhibiting pictures pertaining to his college career. As a most fitting close to the evening's enjoyment the guests were informally entertained in the Tiffany apartments, where again Mr. Moore showed his ability as an entertainer. This time it was in playing a uke and leading the crowd in familiar college songs. When the guests finally departed, this remark was heard: "My! I'm glad it's semi-annual."

Debate Season Is Here

Madam Chairman, friends before me—

Earnestly I do explore thee

If you've neither time and means to help debating rise and soar,

There are other ways to do it

That you'll know if you've been through it,

Which will help your team win laurels for our Whitworth—even more.

Bear in mind the question given,

And as sure as you are livin'

You'll hear talk or you will read of Russia's plan for no more war:

Tell us what you think about it —

Believe me you won't have to shout

it —

And you'll help to keep the motto,

"Whitworth loses nevermore!"

And the freshmen; if you're thinking

That an ornamental shrinking

Would raise your lowly standards to the height of the sophomore,

Give your facts and causes to us,

For a lot of good 'twill do us

In the argument that Russia's plan should get the highest score.

If upon some school night dreary

While you ponder weak and weary

O'er some large dry volume that some prof assigned before,

And you come across a stating

That would help in the debating,

Mark it down and give it to us and we'll thank you evermore.

Then some night when you're gab

festing

When in bed you should be resting,

And you hear a squeaking, creaking,

coming down the corridor,

Of all things that could befall you,

Dean of women crossly calls you:

"Girls, what are you doing?" as she knocks upon the door;

And you huddle there in terror

Lest to breathe would be an error,

And you rake your brain for alibis, as ne'er you've raked before,

Answer "Surely there's no harm meant

'Tis a conference on disarmament,"

And immediately she'll leave you and molest you nevermore.

—Laura Frederick

Prayer Week Successful

Prayer Week was observed with exceptional enthusiasm at Whitworth. A definite program for the week was arranged beforehand and everything went off exactly according to schedule. Among the outside speakers were Reverend George D. Nielsen of the First Evangelical church of Spokane, Reverend "Dick" Ferrel, of lumber-camp fame, and Reverend J. E. Rice, of the First Free Methodist church of Spokane.

ATHLETICS

Boys' Basketball

Jan. 12, 1929.

Pirates vs. Spokane Drug Co.

After playing nearly even during the greater part of the game, the Spokane Drug men spurred ahead in the last few minutes to bring the count up to 29-19 at the end of the game.

Jan. 19, 1929

Pirates vs. Hillyard All-Stars.

This proved to be the most interesting practice game played in the Whitworth gymnasium for several seasons. The game was close throughout and when the final whistle blew the score stood 26-26. An overtime period of 5 minutes was played and the score stood 28-28. Five more overtime periods of three minutes were played and at the end of this the score was 34-34 so it was decided to call it a draw. Skaer was high point man for the Pirates with 15 counters.

New Basketball Suits

In their first conference game of the season the Pirates wore their new and long anticipated basketball suits. These suits have white jerseys on which Whitworth is written in red letters across the front, with the number in red on the back. The trunks are a bright red. The boys also will have red jerseys to use when playing teams using white jerseys.

The girls of McMillan Hall showed their school spirit by sewing the lettering on the jerseys and they are to be complimented on the quality of their work. Those who are to be given the credit are Mary Hinton, Maude Holt, Muriel Mase, Leah Grove, Leta Mae Muir, Kathryn Bockman, Dorothy Hood, and Carolyn Pelsch.

Girls' Basketball

Jan. 12, 1929

Whitworth girls vs. Richland high school.

After playing a much closer game than the score indicates, the Whitworth girls lost to Richland by a 22-12 score. This was the second game of the season for the college girls and they showed much improvement over their previous game. Richland won the girls' tournament at Spokane U.

Jan. 18, 1928

Whitworth girls vs. Deer Park high school.

Deer Park was victor in this game by a 32-5 score. These girls have been playing all season and showed some real basketball form. There probably will be a return game with them later in the season.

Jan. 19, 1929

Whitworth girls vs. Hillyard Congregational Church.

Showing some real basketball playing, the Whitworth girls won their game by a 42-7 count. At the half the score was 12-3 but in the second half the college forwards seemed unable to miss the little ring and counted up 30 points to their opponents' 4. Leta Mae Muir was leading scorer. Miss Lilly Schwendig guard, injured her leg in the second quarter and was unable to finish the game. The other players were Kathryn Bockman, Helen Doig, Maude Holt, Dorothy Skerry, and Alice Sanstrom.

Grease From Greece

The tests are ended, but the memory lingers on.

Well, folks, eight weeks to take it easy before we have to start cramming again.

All incoming frosh will do well to learn the meaning of "K. B. T." as soon as possible. Woe be unto them if they read and heed not.

At a program on the S. C. gym floor last Saturday night, the Whitworth male quintette, under the direction of Professor Lyle W. Moore, rendered a number entitled "Oh How We Miss It Tonight".

We believe that Prof. Moore's sleep is sweet. At least he has pleasant (?) dreams. Can it be that he has acquired the habit of sleeping with his light on?

There was some comment on the excitement in the girls' dorm Sunday night. We didn't know that four girls could make so much noise.

Frosh! Don't worry if you're not on the honor roll. You can't hope to be perfect until you are sophomores.

It is suggested that the male quartet learn to sing "Oh, Promise Me." The words would probably come easy to some of the members.

Our regards to Aristotle of the Atomaz. Perhaps he can suggest an answer to the question "What happens when Greek meets Greek?"

Yours till the dining room serves finger bowls,

Sappho and Plato.

Dr. O. E. Tiffany returned Tuesday morning from the Puget Sound country, where on Sunday morning and evening he had preached in the First Presbyterian church of Tacoma. Dr. C. W. Weyer, pastor of the church, is holding a Bible conference at Hastings college in Nebraska.

Sure Signs of Spring
Hansen's hair is getting curly.

Tryouts Coming

The inter-collegiate oratorical and recitatorial try-outs are scheduled to be held in the Chapel on Friday, February 15. Four have signed up to participate in the oratorical and four also for the recitatorial. This elimination contest will determine who will represent Whitworth in the finals some time in the latter part of March.

Students Visit

A number of Whitworth students took the opportunity of the brief vacation between semesters to visit friends and relatives. Dorothy Skerry entertained Leta Mae Muir; Dorothy Hood spent her vacation with Muriel Mase and with Evelyn Chapman; Victor Morgan went to his home in Astoria.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Janice Schermerhorn

Just before the tragedy:
"Nah, I never cram for tests."
"Oh, I don't think he'll ask us that anyway."

We have first-hand information to the effect that Tiny buys her wearing apparel at the "Kuddles Toggery."

We think it is just too sweet for Professor Moore to save his rattle for "little Leta Mae." Wonder what he will do with the rolling pin?

There is still some speculation as to why Schinke didn't make use of Professor Neustel's overcoat.

Anyway all the girls who can't raise the price of a haircut can let their hair grow.

The optimists who were preparing to welcome spring have been strangely silent for a few days.

Just the same, since his performance at the sleigh ride, we have thought that Lewis should be a bare-back rider in a Wild West show.

Maude: I'm training
Helen: Who?

First Frosh: What's our Bible for tomorrow?
Second Frosh: Books Deuteronomy

Mase: Neither do I.

The Rev. H. B. Wallin, pastor of the First Nazarene Church in Spokane, visited Whitworth during the chapel period on Tuesday.

Former Students

Clara Parker, a freshman last year, visited Whitworth a week ago.

Erster George, formerly of the class of '30, is now training in an electrical Sanitarium located in south Spokane.

Miss Frances Gardner, whose parents have returned from Alaska to Seattle for the remainder of the year, will attend college in Seattle this semester.

Miss Miriam Cassill, '23, who has been in Cairo, Egypt for the last three years will return to her home in Spokane sometime this year. Miriam will not return to Egypt again, but plans to teach near Spokane.

Russell Boncher, class of '28, visited the college Friday, February 1. The school at Milan where he teaches was closed for the week on account of bad roads. While at the college he spent most of his time revising the list of college alumni.

Mr. Carlyn Winger, a former Whitworth student who now is the head of the department of Public Speaking at Pacific University writes that he has a full schedule: eighteen hours of teaching, and five plays and twelve debates to coach during the year.

A letter has recently been received from Mr. Robert L. Kinkade, a graduate of Whitworth with the class of 1912. He is now pastor of the Presbyterian church in Florence, Wisconsin and would like to renew acquaintances with his alma mater and the alumni association.

William Miller known better as "Bill", will be the golf instructor next semester at W. S. C. This is a new phase in the college's physical education curriculum and is a very promising one both for the students there and for Bill who is starting the course. Bill was at one time a "prep" at Whitworth.

Word has been received of the election of Lawrence Mitchelmore as president of Sigma Delta Chi, national honor journalistic fraternity. Mr. Mitchelmore is a major in journalism at the University of Oregon and is acting as day editor on the Emerald staff.

Mr. Mitchelmore was on the Whitworth staff in 1925-26 and was editor-elect for the following year.

Mrs. H. M. Tremaine, who has recently come to live in Spokane, came out to visit Whitworth one afternoon last week. She is a daughter of Dr. Amos T. Fox, the first president of Whitworth College. Mrs. Tremaine was born on the Whitworth campus, while it was an academy at Sumner, then played about it after it had become a college in Tacoma, and later was graduated from it with a baccalaureate degree. Mrs. Tremaine has for the past few years been living in St. Paul. Mr. Tremaine is a construction engineer with the Weyerhaeuser Lumber company.

Alumni Entertain Volunteer Fellowship

Last Saturday evening, February 2, Mr. and Mrs. Karl K. Rupp of the classes of '28 and '27 respectively, entertained the Volunteer Fellowship at their home at 1128 North Madison. It was truly a pleasant occasion, especially after a grueling week of examinations.

About Whitworth there is one pair of shoulders which towers above those of everybody else—those of Lee Knoll. In fact, it has been rumored that he lowered the seat of his Ford in order to obtain space for his knees. Casual observation would suppose a studious and scholarly attitude, but this serious man has proved deceitful since it does not withhold his sly humor. Certainly he has been known to frolic about on occasion in a care-free manner devoid of any appearance of senior dignity.

If Mr. Knoll is noted for his height, so also is he for his breadth in college activities. His scholarship throughout his college course has been high; notwithstanding the fact that his trusty Ford was kept busy tumbling him back and forth from college to the Spokane Gas and Fuel Company where he has worked for several years. His ability to add four digit figures in his head has been proved to disbelieving students. This year Mr. Knoll assumes a professional air, as the college bursar. He is cheerfully obliging—whether it be to sell a two-cent stamp or to receive one of his surplus gold.

Mr. Knoll's deep bass voice is frequently heard in the male quartet, the college glee club, and at gospel meetings. His lung power is also loosed in the orchestra.

He is now president of the Volunteer Fellowship, of which he has been an active member for four years. His ability to speak has been shown in his gospel-tem talks and in his position as pastor of the Valleyford Church and later of the Holy Trinity Church. He is one of the Christian leaders of the campus.

In student affairs he has served on the student council as class representative for two years, this year he is vice-president of the student association. Last year he spent many sleepless nights as editor of the Whitworthian, and is now indispensable as associate editor.

As a freshman his dramatic ability was first shown when he took the part of Bobby in "Ride 'em, Cowboy." In his sophomore year he took first prize in the Ballard Oratorical contest. Among his other avocations are photography, hunting, fishing and mountain climbing.

And so this time in our Who's Who, it seems fitting to remember Lee Knoll—tall in stature, and large in the circumference of his college activities.

In a communication to Dean Morrison recently, Dr. W. A. Stevenson, former president of Whitworth College, enclosed a picture of his church and a bulletin, and stated that plans were under way for the installation of a fine, large pipe-organ in his church in Hutchinson, Kansas.

Dr. Tiffany, on his return home from Chattanooga, Tennessee, called on Miss Selma Crow, a former teacher of Whitworth college. He found her busy in the science laboratory at the University of Minnesota where she teaches eighteen hours each week. Miss Crow has a teaching fellowship at the university and at the same time is working for her master's degree.

WHITWORTH CAMPUS IN MID-WINTER

As Viewed By Freshmen

I don't know just what it is, but there is "that something" which holds one spell-bound for a moment as he gazes out over a landscape that has suddenly become white. To me, pure white snow is as beautiful as the deep blue of the sea. The quietness and stillness of the atmosphere gives the impression that all nature's inhabitants have departed for a long sleep.

One does not get the full beauty of the campus until he gets out into the clear inspiring air and tramps through the pines along the many trails on this spacious campus. Then one begins to realize the beauty of the pine tree with each branch bearing so proudly its little patch of snow.

Last Sunday as I was tramping through the snow at a point about a half mile from the college, I came upon a scene that I will never forget. Standing at the edge of a plain, which was quite a bit lower than the rest of the country, and on which were several small farms, I could see in the distance the stately figures of Ballard and McMillan Halls proudly lifting their heads above the green wave of the tree-tops. To the right were the castle-like cliffs of "five-mile prairie", looming up as haughty as Mussolini himself and then blending into the horizon. To the left, the pine forests rolled onward, showing their white caps like the waves of a stormy sea. Then gradually dusk came on, the shadows became darker, the squirrels ceased their chattering, as if they, too, were ready to "turn in" with the rest of the earth under the white blanket for a short nap; and as I continued to admire God's handiwork, I appreciated the fact that I was alive and had the privilege of looking at so beautiful a scene as this one near Whitworth's campus on that winter afternoon.

—Robert Millican, '32

"Our Wonderful Campus"

One day as I was gazing out of a window on the third floor of Ballard Hall I was impressed with the beauty of the scene before me. The time was mid-winter, and the landscape was covered with a white mantle of snow. The longer I looked the more beautiful it became, and I was entranced as I stood there in mute admiration.

To the eastward was the cultivated portion of the campus, now glorified with its white covering. The tall pines stood out against this blanched background breaking an otherwise monotonous space into delightful groups. Their white-tipped branches sparkled in the morning sunshine giving me the feeling of the biting cold atmosphere from which I was sheltered. The stillness and the scene before me made me feel as though I were alone in a world of beauty, and my thoughts seemed to drift far, far away. The chattering of a pine-squirrel brought me out of my reverie with a snap.

The tennis courts stood out looking like some king's carpet, a spotless patch of smooth whiteness. Robbed of their drabness by nature's touch the small sheds appeared beautiful in their white-capped roofs; and the small scrubby pines surrounding them seemed like an army of protecting soldiers. In the distance the hills rose high in whitened splendor, appearing more like mountains than mere hills. Again I found myself drifting; and when a bell rang somewhere in the building, I felt as though I could not get back. However, worldly things took possession of my thoughts as I reluctantly left in order not to be late to a class.

Several times since that day I have gone back to this vintage point and have filled myself with the enthralling beauty of our wonderful campus.

Dr. Gaebelein has lectured on Bible subjects in all the leading seminaries and Bible institutes in the United States. He is also the author of several books, among which are "Harmony of the Prophetic Word," "Studies in Zechariah," "Commentary on Matthew," "The Work of Christ," "The Prophet Daniel," "The Lord of Glory," "The Book of Revelation," "Studies in Prophecy," "The Jewish Question," "The Annotated Bible," "The Angels of God," "The Holy Spirit," "The Healing Question," "Exposition of the Gospel of John," "Commentaries on the Acts of the Apostles," "Ezekiel," "Joel," "Ephesians," "Prayer in the Light of the Bible," and "Is Christianity a Religion?"

Dr. Gaebelein has been a staunch friend of Whitworth for many years; and at one time he was instrumental in securing an annuity of $10,000 for the college.

While he is in the Northwest this spring, he will also hold Bible Conferences in Presbyterian churches in Seattle, Tacoma, and Portland.

Letter From Euclid Baptist

The following paragraphs are excerpts taken from a letter received by Dr. Tiffany recently from the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church. The letter was sent in appreciation of the revival meeting the Whitworth Gospel Teams held in that church in February.

"The church body feel strengthened and revived by the fellowship and gospel messages given. We feel the Spirit was present and that we shall be able to carry on more earnestly the work which is before us.

"We shall remember these young people in our prayers and pray that the work they are doing shall be both pleasing and profitable unto the Lord.
"Yours in the Master's Service,
"Euclid Avenue Baptist Church
"By E. L. Jourdan,
"Clerk."

Dr. Sutcliffe's Visit

Dr. B. B. Sutcliffe, who is head of the Union Bible Classes of Portland and a member of the faculty of the Evangelical Theological College of Dallas, Texas, gave a series of very interesting and helpful Bible studies in Chapel during the week of February 18. He took up the study of the first Epistle to the Thessalonians, and called attention to Paul's salutation where he says, "Grace be unto you, and peace." Grace always comes before peace according to Dr. Sutcliffe for grace must be accepted before peace can be found.

With a touch of humor Dr. Sutcliffe suggested that Satan likely feels sorry every time he hears anyone reading this book, for if he hadn't "hindered" Paul from going to Thessalonica this letter would never have been written.

WHITWORTH WINS FROM SPOKANE U

Leta Muir Scores High

Outclassing Spokane University in every department of the game, the Whitworth girls won their last game of the season 28-11 in the Whitworth gymnasium on Saturday evening, March 2.

Starting right at the first with a fast brand of ball the Whitworthians kept forging ahead until the final whistle blew.

Miss Muir was star of the game with her accurate shooting ability. Her teammates in the game were Helen Doig, forward; Maude Holt, jumping center; Kathryn Bockman, side center; and Alice Sanstrom and Ruth Johnson as guards.

Miss Marcia Herbert of Spokane was the referee.

The winners will meet representatives from Spokane college and Spokane university in a contest the last Friday in April. The students trying out in recitation will give one serious selection and one humorous, and those competing in oratory will be limited to fifteen minutes each.

DEBATE FINALS NEXT WEEK

Spokane University is Only Rival

The Columbia Valley Conference debates scheduled between Whitworth and Spokane University are set for March 12 and 15, on the question, "Resolved, that the Russian plan of total disarmament, which was proposed in the Geneva conference, should be adopted by all nations."

On Tuesday the Whitworth affirmative will debate on its own campus; and on Friday the Whitworth negative will go to Spokane University.

VOLUNTEER FELLOWSHIP ACTIVE

Held Service at Hillyard

The Volunteer Fellowship had charge of the service at the Hillyard Congregational church Sunday evening, February 24. Previous to the meeting the members of the team were served a light supper by some of the ladies of the church.

Alice Sanstrom conducted the services and Leta Mae Muir and Maude Holt gave the messages, on the subject "Put on the whole armor of God." Forrest Travaille led in prayer and Marguerite Miller read the Scripture. The musical numbers consisted of a duet by Caroline Petsch and Alice Sanstrom, and a quartet by Dorothy Skerry, Dorothy Hood, Lee Knoll and Lewis Randal.

To Go To Union Park

The Gospel teams have been invited to hold evangelistic services at the Union Park Baptist church in Spokane, from March 14-17. This invitation came as a result of the series of meetings which the Fellowship recently conducted at the Euclid Avenue church, also in Spokane.

Five Teams to Serve

The following will be the speakers at the meetings which the Gospel Teams will hold at the Union Park Baptist Church next week. On the evening of March 14, it will be Misses Maude Holt and Mary Hinton; on March 16, Kathryn Bockman and Frank Tiffany; on Sunday forenoon, March 17, Muriel Mase and Hugh Bronson; and on Sunday evening, Helen Doig and Lewis Randal.

Natsihi Progressing

With the contracts for the printing and engravings signed, and negotiations made with the North American Press for the covers, the 1929 Natsihi is beginning to take form.

A few changes in the staff have been made due to some of the students being too busy to undertake this extra work. Louis Keyser has been named business manager, Marvin Skaer, sport editor; and Professor H. L. Hussong the faculty adviser.

All copy for the 1929 Natsihi must be in the hands of the printer by May 8 and the Annuals are to be delivered on May 28.

The contract for printing was awarded to the Union Printing Co. of Spokane. The engravers for the annual will be the Spokane American Company.

Friday the subscription drive started and over 75 are already signed up

SENIOR CLASS WILL SERVE REFRESHMENTS

About 7:30 on Saturday, March 16, Whitworth will celebrate the birthday of Saint Patrick. It promises to be another delightful social function in which all students, faculty, and, we hope, many former students and friends, will participate. The men students have taken this party into their own hands; and as is usual when there is masculine management of a social affair, there is already keen interest in its anticipation. No one knows just what to expect; but St. Patrick parties at Whitworth in the past have always been interesting and "different"; and this one promises to be better than ever.

The young men having the program in charge are Everett Sharnbrock and Lloyd Smith. Forrest Travaille, Howard Lundy, Bruce Clark, Andrew Byram, Milton Andrews, Bob Millican, and Victor Morgan will see that the rooms are appropriately and attractively decorated. Lee Knoll, Lewis Randal, Frank Tiffany, and Ralph Hansen have charge of the refreshments. Leon Kilian heads the auxiliary committee; and those desiring transportation either for themselves or their friends should see Marvin Skaer, chairman of the transportation committee.

It might be well, just on general principles, to refresh our minds on "The Wearing of the Green" and on Irish poetry, before the 16th.

President Hoover's Inauguration Exercises Heard in Whitworth Assembly

On Monday morning students and faculty gathered in the general assembly room at eight o'clock instead of going to classes then, and heard the inauguration exercises of President Hoover and Vice-President Curtis, as they were inducted into office in Washington, D. C. Through the courtesy of Mr. W. L. McEbachran and the Burgan store, Dr. Tiffany had secured an Atwater-Kent radio for this special occasion. The band music, the speeches, the taking of the oaths of office, and even the applause were all plainly heard. The listeners could almost see the display of gold braid, shiny automobiles, colorful umbrellas, and floating flags. This is the first time in history that college students throughout the whole country could sit in their own college assembly room and listen to inaugural addresses at the nation's capital. It was the first time that any broadcasting had ever been done from the senate chamber.

Death of Mrs. Hammacher

Word came to the college Tuesday morning that Mrs. Ethel M. Hammacher, former secretary of the college office, under the administration of Dr. W. A. Stevenson, had died at her home in Spokane on Monday evening, March 4. Professor H. L. Hussong had charge of chapel exercises on Tuesday morning, and he as well as Dr. C. W. Hays and Professor W. H. Buxton, both of whom had been associated with her while she was in Whitworth, spoke briefly in her memory.

SAINT PATRICK

When thinking of the social function to be held at Whitworth on the evening of March 16, our thoughts turn back to shamrocks, the emerald isle, and to that illustrious old man, that illustrious old Scotchman, who did so much for Ireland—Saint Patrick. Not only did he rid that country of snakes, but he also brought those people the gospel.

St. Patrick was a native of Kilpatrick, Scotland; but like Samuel Johnson, he found "Scotland was a good country to come from." He was born into a religious family, his father being a deacon and his grandfather a priest. St. Patrick himself later became a bishop. When he was a small boy he was sold into slavery and taken to Ireland where he was a slave for six years. When the first opportunity to escape presented itself, he went back to Scotland; but later returned as the great apostle to the Irish people.

"LET'S HAVE SOME SUPPORT!"

Debate season has slowly crept upon us, with only a small show of enthusiasm on the part of the students. This is a shameful contrast to the decisive vigor with which Whitworth usually goes into this major spring contest. Talk debate, boost debate; and by a sympathetic attitude help the debaters! It is this interested spirit of co-operation and backing that accounts for much of the inspiration that we expect our debaters to have.

OPENING NEW BOOKS

Before the days of the printing press much time and hard work was spent on the art of bookbinding. The money used for materials for a book was often sufficient to build a house; and very elaborate volumes were the result, bound in thick leather and having heavy metallic clasps, sometimes studded with jewels.

But since books today are made by machinery and made as cheaply as possible, they will not stand much rough usage, and especially when new. The opening of a new book is considered by one publishing house to be of such importance that it encloses a warning in every volume that leaves its presses. To open a new book properly one should place it upright on its back, then open the two covers with the leaves remaining upright, and continue to open the leaves, two or three at a time from each side, working into each opening with the hand to eliminate stiffness.

Such simple precautions will greatly lengthen the life of a book and will prevent it from "cracking"; and "cracking" eventually disintegrates the best of bindings.

—J. H.

SPRING

The mere mention of the word "spring" requires courage this year; however, there are some grounds for hope. The warmth of the few shafts of sunlight that have already found their way through our class room windows suggest the possibility that soon we can lay our sins of neglect to that popular malady, spring fever.

Wise is the student, who, like the squirrel hiding away seeds and nuts against the winter's shortage, has stored up a few choice "A's" to balance the less desirable marks likely to come with the first violets and the springing to life of the campus verdure.

—M. D. A.

LIVING PREACHERS

In the twenty-eighth chapter of Matthew we are enjoined to "preach the Gospel to all nations." The ministers and missionaries are doing their bit. But we, too, as Christians, have our part to do in this preaching work. Not all preaching is done in words. We are to preach, as lay people, with our lives. Unconsciously we are setting an example to others. Non-Christians look at us to see Christianity at work. Are our lives good propaganda and advertisements for Christian living? Do people see Christ reflected in us? Let us pray with the Psalmist: "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts;" ever remembering that "whatsoever we may do, all must be done to the glory of the Lord." Let us be "doers of His will, and not hearers only."

—H. C. W.

CHAPEL SPEAKERS

Whitworth College is especially fortunate in both the number and the kind of addresses it has at the general daily chapel exercises. Almost every day brings a different speaker. It may be a pastor from the city, it may be a returned missionary home on a furlough, it may be a business man interested in religious education, it may be a national Y. M. C. A. worker, it may be a health specialist, it may be a state C. E. worker, or it may be one of our own faculty or students. But always there is something interesting and always there is a vital message.

"DICK" FERRELL

The Rev "Dick" Ferrell, missionary to the lumber camps of northeastern Washington and Idaho, preached an unusually interesting sermon on "the pearl of great price." If we seek diligently we will surely find Him; and when we do truly find Him, we will be willing to give up all we have to attain Him.

W. L. KILLIAN

The Rev Mr. Killian spoke on the sources of strength, and cited Joshua and Saint Paul as examples of unusual strength, because of the pains they had taken to equip themselves. The successful person is strong in his purpose and strong in his equipment. This preparation includes physical fitness, a well-furnished mind, a cultivated soul, strong convictions—"Paul was a man of tremendous convictions," and personal integrity. The joy of service is in the preparation.

DEAN MORRISON

Using Paul's farewell to the people at Ephesus as the basis of her address, Dean Morrison described five of the main essentials of true greatness, and closed by emphasizing the point that all truly great people have found and expressed through their lives that it is truly more blessed to give than to receive.

STANLEY H. ROBERTS

On the coldest morning of the winter, when the college campus thermometer registered 26 degrees below zero, the Rev Mr Roberts, pastor of Fourth Presbyterian church, came out to the college and gave an excellent talk on "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" Everyone was deeply interested from his opening sentence, "A young man came running," until the closing injunction was given to be willing to give up everything to follow Him. An interesting digression was the explanation that none of us is really good, except as some goodness may be imputed to us.

BOYD PATTERSON

The Rev. Mr. Boyd Patterson, who has just recently come to Spokane to be the pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church said that the Fifth Gospel is "the gospel of work." His text was "As much as in me is, I am ready." He said that building a life is somewhat like building a cathedral: the first main work is to build a sure and firm foundation; and that no matter what our final task may be, a vital and necessary part of the foundation is a living faith in God. Mr. Patterson is so recently out of college himself that he remembers many of the experiences common to most students. In urging everyone to thoroughly prepare himself for his life task, he said that instead of a student's having the "buck fever," trembling in a class for fear the professor will call on him, he should have the feeling of mastery, the feeling of kingship, that thorough preparation gives. This same preparation will prepare either for toil or for the altar of sacrifice—whichever is the divine plan for us.

GEO. D. NIELSEN

Stanley E. Jones' "Christ at the Round Table" was used as the basis of the address given by the Rev Mr Nielsen, pastor of the First Evangelical church of Spokane. His central theme was that Christianity deals from the center outward and that Christ comes, after he has been experienced, to be a growing Saviour.

C. FRANKLIN WARD

"The youth is father of the man." The youth has in his hand today the man he is making of himself for tomorrow. The person who can look back on his youth with gratitude is the one who is a valuable citizen in the community.

PAUL C. BROWN

The youth of today is going out into leadership. The college student is especially responsible because of the greater values of life he is receiving there. But the greatest responsibility of all is that of leading others to Jesus Christ.

O. E. TIFFANY

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." If one were to record all the thoughts of his heart for one day, the result would reveal what he really is. The real Christian should be careful to see the right kind of things, to read the right kind of literature, and to choose the right kind of companions. He should have the right attitude toward life, toward his superiors, and most of all, toward God.

The Colonial Party

The Editor Didn't See This

To the merry tune of "Turkey-in-the-Straw" many Whitworthians expressed their happiness on the eve of George Washington's birthday. It was said the girls might have enjoyed themselves more in skirts a wee bit shorter, but the laughter and the general atmosphere of gaiety was proof enough that a little thing like that didn't bother the modern girl for very long.

Many old-fashioned costumes were in evidence that night. Some dresses were made especially for the occasion, but others were from ten to one hundred twenty-five years old. Not all the praise goes to the ladies, however; for several gentlemen were very handsome in brocaded coats, knee breeches, and buckled shoes. The Senior class with their colonial costumes won the admiration of all.

Under the direction of Maude Holt and Evelyn Chapman, a delightful program of music, games, and readings was presented. Karl Rupp's shrill voice pierced the room as he demonstrated how the deacon could sing, and Janice Schermerhorn gave the girls a few pointers from Cleopatra. Delpha Coffman played a group of old-fashioned favorites, and Alice Sandstrom and Caroline Pelsch sang a duet. Frank Tiffany gave a reading on the Constitution. Scenes depicting the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitutional Convention (behind closed doors), and the Inauguration of George Washington as President of the United States were ably presented by the Senior class. The informal program was a variety of games, the most popular of which were the "Virginia Reel" and "Skip-to-M'Lou."

The room had been attractively decorated with red, white, and blue streamers, flags, cherries, and hats, by a committee consisting of Kathryn Bockman, Helen Dolg, Janice Schermerhorn, Forrest Travaille, Everett Sharnbroich, and Ralph Hansen.

The joyous time came to a close when napkins in the form of soldier hats were passed. Punch and pumpkin pie with whipped cream were served as refreshments. Those responsible for this part of the good time were Mary Hinton, Lee Knoll, Louis Keyser, and Forrest Travaille.

Smith to Lead C. E.

Since the last issue of the WHITWORTHIAN, campus prayer meetings and Christian Endeavor meetings have been conducted by Leta Mae Muir, Bob Milligan, Muriel Mase, and Bruce Clark.

Sunday night, March 3, Kathryn Bockman led an interesting Christian Endeavor meeting, with the question,

Grease from Greece

We would like to know:

1. How much milk can the average young man drink?
2. Has Kathryn Bockman heard anything further from her dashing basketball center?
3. Can it be possible that Frank Tiffany thought he could be like his brother by merely growing a moustache?

A new species of bird has been discovered. It can be heard at approximately 9.30 in the evenings. Its song consists of "Peep, peep, peep." (See Prof. Moore for further details.)

Helen: "I wish presidential inaugurations would come on Tuesdays instead of Mondays! I have a lot more classes then."

Dot Hood: "And just think, I got up at five o'clock Monday morning to study!"

If Janice throws any more sea ells into us, with false wedding rings and such, it will go hard on what is left of the kitchen's supply of rice.

Bughouse Fable

The Seniors are planning their senior sneak some Saturday this spring.

Tennis Note

Killian: "Sure, all the girls know what 'love' means."

Smitty: "G'wan, there's one that doesn't!"

Whitworth enigma: What became of Louis Keyser's "misplaced eyebrow?"

Foolish question No. 999: "Why does Forrest insist on sitting at the girls' table over the week-ends?"

Prof. Moore says in Glee Club that he'll "harp" till he's dead. What we're worried about is whether or not he will continue to do so after that.

We hear that the girls are getting anxious for Butter Scotch Pie.

"What is our reasonable service?" as her subject. Many took part and, as usual, made the service a decided success. At the close Lewis Randal sang "We Give It All to Jesus."

Next Sunday, March 10, Lloyd Smith will conduct the campus Christian Endeavor and will use as his subject the command of Paul, "Study to show thyself approved unto God." Much time has been spent in preparation.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Janice Schermerhorn

The worst thing about spring is the remarks about it that one is forced to endure from optimistic people for about three months before its arrival.

Evidently Hansen's isn't the only hair that curls in the spring. Schinke's has been trying pretty hard.

There's no doubt about the arrival of spring. Professor Hay's Ford is venturing out for faculty meetings again.

There's one advantage in studying Ovid. It cures a woman of the habit of looking ahead to read the end of the story first.

We wonder if the seniors had as much difficulty in keeping their stockings up at the Colonial party as Mr. Rupp had last year.

Which reminds us that the Colonial party couldn't have been a success without "Sockery Settin' the Hen."

An animated discussion in the town girls' room concerned the possibility of forming a near-perfect specimen by combining features from several gentlemen. The following conversation took place.

Johnson: "Let's see, take Cousin Clifford's disposition."

Koyl: "—An' throw it in the alley!"

And the following poem resulted: "The boy of our dreams has Kenneth's frame"

And Hunter's curly hair
Moore's eyes of blue, Randal's high

I. Q.
And Morgan's complexion so fair.

Milton's technique; Marvin's physique,
He would make any maiden sigh.

"The boy of our dreams is just what he seems—"

PERSONALS

The following Whitworth people went to the Roland Hayes concert in Spokane last Friday evening: Leah Grove, Mary Hinton, Kathryn Bockman, Forrest Travaille, Dorothy Hood, Dorothy Skerry, Ruth Johnson, Virginia Hedstrom, Hugh Bronson, Malcolm Thomson, Mrs. Holmes, and Professor L. W. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Tiffany of Minneapolis visited the Whitworth campus recently. They attended most of the classes during the week, and were guests of the Student Association at the Colonial party, February 21. They left on the train early Friday morning for the east.

Dr. James Thomson, Synodical Executive for the Washington Synod, and Mrs. Thomson visited Chapel exercises recently, when Dr. Thomson brought Dr. C. F. Ward out to address students and chapel at morning exercises.

Miss E. Beatrice Barnes, former teacher of foreign languages and Journalism at Whitworth, is now doing graduate work at the University of California. Her address is 1430 Holly Street, Berkeley, California.

Dorothy Hood visited with her father and brother when they were in Spokane last week for the conference on Indian work, which was held in the Fourth Presbyterian church.

Reverting to his favorite pastime, walking, Ralph Hansen went to his home in Kettle Falls for a brief visit between terms.

Dorothy Skerry Entertained on Washington's and Jimmy's Birthdays

Dorothy Skerry entertained a group of friends from Whitworth at her home Friday afternoon, February 22, in honor of Washington's birthday. The guests played games and sang popular songs.

While refreshments were served, Margaret Jamison, whose birthday is also on the 22nd, was honored with birthday songs. Those present were: Dorothy Hood, Ruth Johnson, Virginia Koyl, Margaret Jamison, Evelyn Chapman, Marguerite Miller, and Jean and Dorothy Skerry.

Senior Class Increases

The masculine uniformity of the senior class has become a thing of the past. Why? Because Zenob Clapp, a junior of last year, and senior of this year, has returned.

Perhaps the call of the spring on the Whitworth campus has brought her back. At any rate, we of the college welcome her back gladly into the student body, and though the senior class must break the traditions it established last semester we know that they too admit their former classmate with a hearty welcome.

McMillan Hall girls have resumed their dormitory evening prayer meetings. They hope to continue them throughout the remainder of the year.

Warber Writes Whitworth Friends

Henry C. Warber, formerly of the class of '29 and an associate editor of THE WHITWORTHIAN, is now attending the Kimball School of Religion in Salem, Oregon. In a letter received by friends here last week he says:

"I am enjoying the 'atmosphere' at Kimball immensely. It is right in line with my own type of thinking. But there are times when I get 'homesick' for good old Whitworth. Sometime, some day, I shall get back there for a visit. Give my kind regards to all my old friends.

"Sincerely,
HENRY C. WARBER"

Mr Warber also enclosed an editorial, which appears elsewhere in this paper.

Among the "former students" who were here the evening of the twenty-first for the annual Colonial Party were Bertha Tattersall, Delpha Coffman, Clara Parker, Dorothy Dailey, '28, and Karl Rupp '28.

Stanford Hall, the hall in which Miss Selma Crow was living at the University of Minnesota, was recently burned.

Bob Stevenson, son of the former president, has resumed his work at W. S. C. where he will graduate this June.

Clara Parker spent last Thursday and Friday at the home of Caroline Petsch. Clara expects to return to school next year.

Thorson Bennett's Engagement Announced

Announcement was recently made of the engagement of Mr. Thorson Bennett, Whitworth '28, to Miss Beth Ager of Bend, Oregon. Miss Ager is a senior in the University of Oregon and is prominent in student activities there. She is also a member of the department of physical education of the university. Mr. Bennett is this year teaching in the high school and coaching high school athletics at Deer Park, Washington.

Dramatics Club Organized

Maude Holt was elected president of the "Dramatics Club of Whitworth College" at the first meeting of the organization, held January 15th. Mary Hinton was elected vice-president and Kenneth Knoll secretary-treasurer.

The object of this club is to foster an interest in dramatics as well as to give opportunity for individual development in the field of expression. The work is to consist of the presentation of plays, either in public or private; and papers on allied topics such as readings, types of plays, and technique of staging.

There are twenty-five charter members: Robert Millican, Forrest Travaille, Evelyn Chapman, Leta Mae Muir, Edwin Schinke, Clifford McNeal, Marvin Skaer, Helen Doig, Maude Holt, Mary Hinton, Leon Killian, Clifford Bromling, Muriel Mase, Janice Schermerhorn, Caroline Petsch, Everell Sharnbroich, Ralph Hansen, Lee Knoll, Kenneth Knoll, and Lewis Randall.

The Rev and Mrs. H B Wallin of the First Nazarene church of Spokane came out to Whitworth one morning recently and sang some stirring gospel songs. The Wallins are always welcome visitors.

Who's Who

Stately stalking, stoutly stating—that's Frank Tiffany, another senior in our Who's Who. Frank, as the dignitarian of his classmates, willingly bears their shreds of dignity upon his shoulders in the hope that they may sometime retrieve it. In fact, he seems to be the repository for various qualities that his fellow classmates reserve for his special benefit. Studious as he is, his persistency is admirable, though at times hard on frankish observers.

His conception of funny happenings as a contribution to the college humor, for the students are given a chance to laugh twice—at the time of the joke and when Frank assimilates it. A mystery to Frank is the problem of how people always seem to discover that he has lived in Canada. His ability as a speaker and a propounder of opinions is easily recognized. Whenever a heated discussion is heard, it is probable that it is merely a foolish undergraduate argument with Frank again.

Although this is only his second year at Whitworth, having transferred from Seattle Pacific College, Frank has made himself active in college activities. He is a member of the Volunteer Fellowship and one of its ablest speakers. He is president of the college Christian Endeavor, and teaches a Sunday School class at Knox church. At the football banquet this year, he became the worthy possessor of a football letter. He is senior class representative on the executive board. Last year he was assistant editor of the WHITWORTHIAN, and is now a contributor to it. He is a member of the orchestra and glee club, and sings in the Volunteer Fellowship gospel quartet.

In short, Frank is another of those mighty seniors; and not by him will that class be forced to lower its rights, nor lessen its "deepest dignity."

Whitworth Creek Celebrates, Too

On Monday, March 4, Whitworth Creek, born of the sudden spring thaw, had reached the proportion of a swollen, angry stream. At one point there is a three-foot waterfall, and at several other places the young river had developed the propensities of a turbulent cataract. The roar of its rushing waters strangely breaks the stillness of these otherwise quiet, starry nights.

At the February meeting of the Faculty Club Professor B. C. Neustel led the discussion. His subject was some of the recent discoveries in the division of matter. Professor Hussong is chairman of this club.

"The Lincoln Foot"

From the first class we're attending
To the closing of the day,
Eva's foot is kept a-hobbing
In a quick and rhythmic sway.

Sociology begins it
With Prof. Hussong in the chair,
Makes me want to dive and tackle
It, a-swinging in the air.

Psych Class almost sets me screeching—
Round the room the feelings pass,
And she starts that hectic hobbing
Of the others in the class.

Woe is me if fate e'er send me
Climbing up the golden stairs,
And I see a foot a-golping—
I will know just who is there.

And before I even see her,
Gaze upon her "angel" face,
I will turn and run down, seeking
Comfort in the other place.

Athletic "W" Club Initiates

The Men's Athletic W-Club commenced its installation of new members Friday, March 1. New lettermen of both the football and the basketball teams are eligible. Plans are under way also for the club's annual spring banquet.

Those undergoing the process of being admitted into membership are Frank Tiffany, Everell Sharnbroich, Leon Killian, Clifford McNeal, Forrest Travaille, Bob Millican, Milton Andrews, and Edwin Schinke.

Athletes Exposed to Camera

Last Friday a photographer came out from town and took photographs of several groups of athletes. Others will be taken this week, and next we expect to see proofs of individuals being exhibited in the halls, between classes. This is all in preparation for the 1929 NATSIII.

Antique Worn at Party

The prize costume, in point of antiquity, at the Colonial party was that worn by Maude Holt. It was a royal blue white-plaid taffeta dress a hundred and twenty-five years old. It was worn by her great-grand-mother, Amariah Van Slyke, who belonged to a family of aristocratic bankers that originally came to New York from Holland at the time the Van Rensselaers and the Roosevelts did. Maude could not help but look the part of the colonial lady in such a costume and with powdered hair to match.

You can tell a Senior—
He is so neatly dressed
You can tell a Junior—
By the way he swells his chest.
You can tell a Freshman—
By his innocent looks and such.
You can tell a Sophomore,
But you cannot tell him much.

BASKETBALL

Pirates vs. Westlakes

The Pirates dropped their last game of the season by a narrow margin when Westlakes, a commercial team from Spokane, took the game by a score of 29-24.

The game was fast and was closely contested all the way through, being tied five different times.

Coach Lyle Moore refereed the game. This ends the season for the Pirates. They played 3 games and scored 300 points against 405 for their opponents.

Only one letterman was back to start the season last fall and Coach Moore had hard sledding to get a bunch of new men working together smoothly. The men on the team were McNeal, Killian and Travaille, forwards; Bromling, center; Skaer (C), Millican and Smith, guards.

Girls' Basketball

Playing their first season of organized basketball, the women of Whitworth have made a good showing. They played thirteen games and won 6 and lost 7. Among the teams they played are North Hill Christian Church, Richland High School, Deer Park High School (2 games), Hillyard Congregational Church (2 games), Spokane University (2 games), West Valley High School, Hillyard Christian Church.

They scored 307 points against 304 for their opponents. Miss Leta Muir was high individual scorer for her team.

This is the first season that the girls have played any outside teams and starting also with raw material, Coach Moore has found a fairly smooth working combination.

Leta Muir, Kathryn Bockman and Helen Doig were the forwards; Maude Holt and Dorothy Skerry, jumping center; Ruth Johnson, Kathryn Bockman and Dorothy Skerry exchanged at running center; Alice Sanstrom, Lilly Schwendig, Caroline Petsch, Evelyn Chapman, Maude Holt, Kathryn Bockman and Ruth Johnson exchanged at guards.

SCHOLARSHIP CUP WON BY JUNIORS

Lilly Schwendig Leads in Individual Honors

KEYSER HIGHEST GRADE POINTS

Faculty Elects Lee Knoll to Whitworth Honor Club

The Junior class won the W. L. McEachran scholarship trophy cup for the third term of the school year which closed last Friday. Their general average was 37.5 grade points. The sophomore class came next with an average of 29.15. The next in rank were the seniors with an average of 27, and then the freshmen with 21.86.

On the basis of excess number of grade points over the total number of semester hours Miss Lilly Schwendig of Wenatchee again lead in individual honors. On the basis of total number of grade points Louis Keyser was first. Miss Schwendig carried 16 hours and made 46 grade points. Louis Keyser carried eighteen hours and made 47 grade points. Other in individual honors were won by Virginia Koyl, Leah Grove, Lewis Randal, Lloyd Smith, Maude Holt, Lee Knoll, Kathryn Bockman, Muriel Mase, Sussanna Borden, and Ruth Johnson.

At a recent meeting of the Faculty Lee Knoll, president of the senior class, was elected into the Whitworth Honor Club. Membership in this club is composed of students who have been on the honor roll for at least three semesters and in addition to that scholastic distinction have also been noted for their excellence of character, dependability, and general helpfulness to the institution. Mr. Knoll's election to this club will be announced at the investiture exercises this morning, and at that time he will be presented with the "W. H. C." pin.

Dramatic Club Progressing

The Whitworth Dramatics club has made plans to present two one-act plays some time in May. A committee consisting of Janice Schermerhorn, Dorothy Hood, and Clifford McNeal chose the plays.

The dramatics club is a real asset to Whitworth in developing interest and ability along the lines of dramatics and also in giving entertainment. The club expects to make its first presentation a real success, to show that there is some real dramatic ability in Whitworth.

Ballard Contest Continues

Word has been received from Mrs. Ballard that the prizes for the annual Ballard Oratorical Contest will be continued as usual for this year at least. This contest is open to anyone in the college and all those who are able are urged to enter. Some faculty member should be chosen to advise the contestants as to subject, structure, and possible delivery. The writing of the oration must be completed by May first, and the final contest will be some time during commencement week.

Here is a fine opportunity of showing your oratorical ability. Let us have a large number of contestants and have all the classes represented in it.

Oratorical and Recitational Contests of Colleges in Spokane Will Be Held April 26

An inter-collegiate test of skill in oratory, and declamatory and dramatic readings will be held on the last Friday of this month in the First Christian church of Spokane. The colleges participating will be Spokane College, Spokane University, and Whitworth College. Whitworth will be represented in oratory by Mr. Lewis Randal, and in the recitational contest by Miss Janice Schermerhorn. Mr. Randal last year won second place in the Ballard Oratorical contest, and it is expected that he will make a good showing for Whitworth in the inter-collegiate contest this year. Miss Schermerhorn has often entertained Whitworth audiences with her readings. Last year Whitworth took first place in the inter-collegiate contest in oratory, the prize having been won by Philip Laurie of Tacoma. Whitworth also took third prize in the recitational contest. This was won by Mr. Karl Rupp, also of the class of 1928.

Natsihi

With only three weeks left before it goes to press the 1929 Natsihi is fast taking its form and the editor and his staff are all working at top speed to comply with their part of the contract to have all copy and engravings in the printers' hand by May 1st.

The group pictures have been taken by Nelson's and are now in the process of engraving. The individual cuts have also been made and are being finished. Copy is coming in daily; and by the last week in April the editor hopes to have the dummy made up ready for the printer.

The advertising end of the book, being cared for by Milton Andrews and his assistants, is also becoming a reality, and within the next week we hope to see the contracts all signed. Louis Keyser, business manager, reports some $7 sales and is sending out his patron-letters this week. All but three of the first down payments are in.

The contract for covers for the annual has been signed with David J. Molloy Co. of Chicago, and are of an entirely different style than ever used before at Whitworth. These will be put on by the Union Printing Co., and the annuals will be ready for distribution on May 28.

As a fitting close to the work on the 1929 Natsihi, a banquet is being planned for the 28th of May, at which the dedication will be announced, the report of the work made, and annuals distributed.

Skaer Repairs Flagpole

We freshmen feel immensely sorry for the sophomores who, in an unguarded moment last fall, cut the flag rope. It affords us great pleasure to see the brawny stature of Mr. Skaer at the top of several ladders attempting to thread an illusive pulley at the top of the flag pole.

INVESTITURE SERVICE WILL BE IMPRESSIVE

Campus Day Plans Well Carried Out

Everyone turned out Friday, April 5, to clean the campus, joyous to escape another day of tests. Especially happy were those assigned to outdoor tasks. Much merry chattering and laughter resounded throughout the campus grounds. Almost everyone came arrayed in his working clothes. Sweat shirts, overalls, house-dresses, smocks, aprons and golf knickers made up the "dress parade."

Dr. Countermine very skillfully and carefully arranged the groups of workers so that the greatest amount of work possible could be done. He saw to it that the Messrs. and the Misses "Jones" were not forgotten. Thirty-six rakes and some other tools had been secured from the city park commission.

The girls who raked the campus did an excellent job. Many acquired blisters and callouses from their hard work. Smoke from many bonfires of pine needles and rubbish wafted through the woods into the surrounding neighborhood. Those not knowing about campus day would surely have thought Whitworth was burning.

Dr. Hayes and Professor Baxton worked ambitiously in raking the sides of the roads around the campus. About ten o'clock everyone began to complain of being "starved to death." Professor Hussong came promptly to the rescue by passing candy bars around, which were received with many grateful thanks and looks.

After diligently painting the flagpole, raking, washing windows, scouring, dusting, fixing the tennis courts, and other numerous jobs, the students were summoned to the dining room to partake of a hearty luncheon. This meal appropriately consisted of beans, meat sandwiches, gingerbread, and coffee. Songs, yells, and poetry passed back and forth between tables. Afterwards the Whitworthians disbanded, some to work again and others to go home. On account of the rain, which began at three o'clock, the game of baseball that had been scheduled between the Freshman and the rest of the school was postponed.

Services Held at Union Park Baptist By Whitworth Gospel Team

The Volunteer Fellowship took charge of several evangelistic meetings at the Union Park Baptist Church, March 14-17.

The speakers were arranged in teams—two speaking at each meeting. The speakers were: Muriel Mase and Hugh Bronson, Thursday; Kenneth Knoll and Leon Kilban, Friday; Kathryn Bockman and Frank Tiffany, Saturday; Maude Holt and Mary Hutton, Sunday morning; and Helen Doig and Lewis Randal, Sunday night.

Those who provided special music were: Dorothy Hood, Kathryn Bockman, Lewis Randal, Alice Sanstrom, Evelyn Chapman and Lee Knoll.

Easter Sunrise Service

Several Whitworth students attended the annual Easter Sunrise services of the Spokane District Christian Union which was held in the Marie Antoinette room of the Davenport Hotel. Mr. W. I. Wolvelton, director of Religious Education at the First Presbyterian church, gave the main talk. He hoped that everyone present would "get on fire" for Christ.

This is the second time that there has been a formal investiture in which the faculty have worn the academic costumes. The college, with the approval of the board of trustees, is going to bestow on each member of the senior class a "Whitworth pin", one that has been modeled on the design of the shield that has hung for years in a conspicuous place in the college chapel. ## Gospel Teams Receive Many Invitations

The Volunteer Fellowship took charge of the evening services at the Hays Park Methodist Church on April 7. The speakers were Leah Grove and Forrest Travaille. After the services a lunch was served.

The Gospel Teams have received many invitations to hold services. On April 22 they will take charge of a young people's meeting at the Swedish Baptist Church. They will go to Davenport on April 21. On April 28 they will have charge of three meetings at Kettle Falls, a "Sunrise" service and the usual morning and evening services.

Spokane College Debates

Whitworth broke even in the debates with Spokane College on the question, "Resolved: That the Russian Plan of Total Disarmament Proposed at the Geneva Conference be Adopted by all Nations."

Herbert Hunter was called home to Othello last week because of the illness of his father. He returned Monday morning.

A FRESH START

In spring we think of things as beginning anew. It typifies the resurrection of life in general as well as the resurrection of Christ. The flowers and grass are coming up again, beautiful and green, and everything typifies new life and a hopeful spirit.

What should this season mean to the student? Should it not mean hope and renewed life? There are not many more weeks of school; and should not one try to make these last weeks the best of the school year? Perhaps you started out with cheerfulness and determination but lost some of it during the long winter months. However, start again and finish in the same spirit in which you began!

SPRING

After, it has seemed, an endless period of King Winter's reign, Spring has at last in all of its splendor appeared on the horizon.

Spring is a time when life with all of its gayety and color comes to bring youth into the hearts and lives of men. In its array of finery, spring is not yet here, but the spirit of anticipation has invaded the land. This spirit is of intrinsically higher value than the actual appearance of Spring itself.

What is there to look forward to with the coming of Spring? The richness and fullness of life returns in Nature to beautify God's world.

With the coming of Spring each person's step becomes livelier, and his inward spirit arouses itself to face the responsibilities of life which lie before him.

LET'S HAVE A FRESHMAN ORATORICAL CONTEST

There is not enough interest shown in this important phase of college work, and there is no better time to begin than in the freshman year. Both construction and delivery of a ten-minute oration would offer valuable training which could not be obtained elsewhere. Most students fail to see this opportunity, which they are neglecting, and do not participate in this sort of contest.

A freshman oratorical contest should be open for all of that class, and all should be required to enter. It is only natural that the more competitors there are the more enthusiasm there would be and the more interest shown. This one trial would create a desire in many for further attempts, and many would continue their efforts throughout the remaining three years. Such a contest would also be beneficial practice for the Ballard Oratorical contest which takes place each year. English for the first year of college touches all main phases of composition work. But, is it complete in its attempts if it omits orations? We think not.

Kathryn Bockman spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Margaret Jamison

CHAPEL SPEAKERS

Whitworth College has had some especially interesting chapel speeches this month, all containing vital messages to help us on through life.

On April 2, 1920, Professor Hussong gave an address on the topic, "Where are You Going?" His speech was short but right to the point. He spoke of the great blessing we have of being allowed to go to college, and of the great sacrifice that some one is making. He asked, "What are we going to do with our education?"

Professor Buxton, in his chapel talk on Thursday, March 3, spoke on the two passages from Romans, "The wages of sin is death" and "Whoever is not of faith is of sin." He put these two passages together and said that the inference is that the result of lack of faith is death. He said that men of highest morality may be lacking in the Christian faith, but those who are lacking cannot hope to rise in the spiritual life. Christ is the source of eternal life, and unless men are on intimate terms with Him, they cannot grow in His grace. We should, therefore, do our utmost to grow in the grace of our Saviour, lest we fail to become heirs to that life which He gives to all His followers.

The Rev. Mr. Skerry of the Hill-yard Congregational Church spoke in chapel Wednesday, April 3. The text which he used was Acts 26, which deals with Paul before Agrippa. Some of his thoughts were that Paul was happy to try to win audiences to Christ, that he used his own record, and that on the road to Damascus he was smitten to the earth by the spirit of God and rose to enter the Lord's work. The conclusions which Mr. Skerry drew from these thoughts, were that we must enter our work, gladly. Paul felt the power of his message and he was entirely taken up with his work. The test of intelligence is the power to learn from the experiences of others. The spirit of an entrance into a contest means much.

Dr. A. C. Gaebelein Spoke at Whitworth Last Tuesday

Taking his theme from the book of Daniel Dr. A. C. Gaebelein of New York City opened his series of chapel talks at Whitworth last Tuesday morning. The audience was very much interested throughout the period. He said the Bible is the only book written which foretells the future. Prophecy is history pre-written, and since God is omniscient He knows from the beginning what the end will be. Dr. Gaebelein gave the assurance of having made extensive studies in ancient literature and archaeology, all of which support his findings in regard to the authenticity and infallibility of the Bible.

A Fireside Prayer Meeting

Everell Sharnbroich, assisted by Miss Amy Hinton, had charge of the student prayer meeting on Wednesday evening. They issued a call for this one to be held in the men's parlor of Ballard Hall with a fire built in the fireplace. It proved to be an unusually interesting meeting; for many told their own personal experiences of how the Lord had graciously blessed them through prayer this school year.

New Pastor at Manito Presbyterian

The Reverend Merle T. Edwards, pastor of the Benson Presbyterian Church, Benson, Arizona, has accepted the call as pastor of the Manito Presbyterian Church, and will arrive in Spokane with his family about May 1.

The pastor-elect and his family will come to Spokane by automobile. The Reverend Mr. Edwards is a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary.

Orchestra Concert

On Wednesday, March 21, the orchestra, directed by Mrs. Judson Mather, played during chapel period.

The following pieces were presented: "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" by Ambrose; "Bohemian Girl" by W. Balfe; "Junior March" by ASher; "Adieu" by Rudolph Friml; and "Apple Blossoms" by Kathleen A. Roberts.

The members of the orchestra are: Violins: Kenneth Knoll, Professor Hussong, Laura Frederick; Piano: Bruce Clark; Clarinets: Louis Keyser, Howard Lundy, Hugh Bronson; Snare drum: Lewis Randal; Bass Drum and bells: Leah Grove, Baritone: Forrest Travaille; Trumpets: Lee Knoll, Malcolm Thomson.

New Church Memberships

On Easter Sunday Milton Andrews and Frank Tiffany joined Knox Presbyterian church, and Bruce Clark joined Emmanuel Presbyterian. On Palm Sunday Miss Lily Schwendig joined the First Presbyterian, and Robert Millican had joined First some months before.

Students Attend Banquet

Whitworth was well represented at the Presbyterian Young People's League banquet, which was held in the Bethel Presbyterian church basement Friday, March 15.

After the banquet Dr. W. T. Locke, a returned missionary from China, gave a very interesting address in the main auditorium of the church. Dr. Locke spoke in chapel March 12 and aroused an interest in all the Whitworthians to hear his last address during his stay in Spokane.

Those who attended the banquet from Whitworth were: Dr. and Mrs. Tiffany, Dr. J. W. Countermine, Mary Hinton, Evelyn Chapman, Dorothy Hood, who is president of the Young People's League, Kathryn Bockman, Maude Holt, Helen Doig, Leta Mae Muir, Forrest Travaille, Ralph Hansen, Everell Sharnbroich, Clifford Bromling, Lloyd Smith, and Marvin Skaer.

Freshman Have Debates

Many debaters have been developed in the English 2 class. Each student has debated.

Leta Mae Muir, Evelyn Chapman, Dorothy Skerry and Ruth Johnson debated on the question, that religious education should be taught in the public schools. Miss Chapman and Miss Muir of the negative won the decision.

Bob Millican, Malcolm Thomson, Louis Keyser and Howard Lundy debated on the question, that the intervention of U. S. in the affairs of the Nicaraguan Republic was justifiable. Mr. Keyser and Mr. Lundy of the affirmative won the decision.

Dorothy Hood and Virginia Hedstrom debated on the question, that the electoral college should be adopted. Miss Hedstrom of the affirmative won the decision.

David Lane, Victor Morgan, Vivian Johnson and Margaret Mayer debated on the question, that the child labor amendment should be adopted. Mr. Lane and Mr. Morgan of the negative won the decision.

Herbert Hunter, Edwin Schimke, Andrew Byram, and Milton Andrews debated the question, that small colleges offer better possibilities for the individual than do large colleges. Mr. Hunter and Mr. Schimke of the affirmative won the decision.

Forrest Travaille, Bruce Clark, Ruth Nielsen and Marguerite Miller debated on the question, that co-educational colleges have more educative value than do either men's or women's colleges. Mr. Travaille and Mr. Clark of the affirmative won the decision.

One of the debates will be given in chapel, though which one will be used has not yet been decided.

Mr. Leon Killian spent the Easter vacation at his home in Davenport. He brought back some butterscotch pie that satisfied the appetites of several.

KEEPING FIT

Do you want to feel energetic?

We most certainly say "yes". "Health is the thing that makes you feel that now is the best time of the year, and that the thing you are doing is the most important thing in the world." All of us should exercise daily if we are to keep physically fit. What good is knowledge to a person whose body is not capably fit to receive it?

Some people have more time than others. True enough; but we all have time for just fifteen minutes of exercise a day. Try it and find out if you don't develop more courage in yourself and feel that you could conquer any obstacle that darkens your path.

There will be 800,000 who will die this year of preventable diseases.

Will you be one of them? By spending a few minutes in the open air every day really exercising our bodies we will naturally take on that most valuable thing on earth—health.

BASKETBALL MEN RECEIVE LETTERS

Coach Moore Awards Seven "W's"

Six happy basketball men marched up the aisle last week and received letters as a token for their superior work on the maple court. Coach Moore said that he has never worked with a squad of players who were more willing and eager to learn the art of the game than these men. He also stated that the men co-operated with him at all times and conducted themselves as men while on trips.

Four Sophomores Receive Letters

The first letter went to Marvin Skaer who captained the team thru out the year. He played a cool, steady game at guard during the season. This is Marvin's second letter in basketball.

The next letter went to Bromling, petit center. He was small, but how he could jump! He made some six footers feel ashamed of themselves. This is his first letter. Coach Moore said he liked to work with this individual because he was always humorous and kept the squad in the best of spirits when everything looked gloomy.

McNeal received the next letter. He played forward and this was his first year of varsity competition. He was a good passer and showed wonderful teamwork during the season. Coach Moore said basketball did a wonderful thing for this player, in that it helped him control his temper.

The last letter went to Leon Killian. He played forward. His accuracy in shooting made him an asset to the team. He was also manager of the team and transacted the business like a professional.

Two Freshmen Receive Letters

The first freshman to receive his letter was Bob Millien. Because of his accuracy in shooting and ability to guard he easily won the title of the best player. Coach Moore praised his excellent work and nicknamed him "Smiling Bob." Bob played guard.

The next freshman to receive the "W" was Forrest Travnille. This was his first year of basketball but he was without question the fastest man on the team. Coach Moore said that he would always remember this player because of his wild shots and that whenever he would miss the basket anywhere from four to ten feet he would yell "aw shucks!"

Substitutes are Praised

Coach Moore also thanked Thomson, Hansen, Clark, Sharnbroch and Smith for turning out and helping the first team practice. On presenting the letter to each player Coach Moore said he hoped that they would always wear their letters as a token of their sacrifice for the college. Each player made a speech in which he said he was glad to receive his letter and that he had reaped much from Professor Moore's coaching.

Whitworth Nine Defeats Country Home Estates: Score 10-5

In the opening game of the season Whitworth College defeated the Country Homes Estate baseball team on our home field. Because of the cold day both teams did not display college baseball. Coach Moore changed the men around at different times to find out which players were best suited for the different positions.

Both teams did well considering the little practice they had. The Pirates made more hits than did their opponents and also made more errors. The batteries for Whitworth College were Byram and Lane, for the opponents, West and Pelsch. Professor Hussong umpired the game and handled it like a professional.

Athletic "W" Club Functions

The membership of the "W" club has grown to more than double its former number since the awarding of the letters last fall. There are now eleven members in the organization.

The activities of the club have been several and variant this spring. Before the pledges from this year's athletics were taken into the club, the old members voted on the initiation program. Each of the pledges was to make a paddle for the members, and also to salute whenever they met a member. As a penalty for failure in either of these requirements, the paddles were to be applied quite freely, to the pledges on the day of initiation. After this was done, the pledges were officially announced as members of the organization.

Several meetings have been called rather impulsively of late for minor business matters. Among the things decided upon is a picnic, which will probably be held the twentieth of April. The club also voted to paint the flag pole on Campus day.

Professor Neustel and Professor Moore have been chosen as faculty advisors. The officers of the club are: President ..... Marvin Skaer Vice President ..... Lewis Randal Secretary ..... Ralph Hansen Treasurer ..... Clifford Bromling

Sophomores Put On Party

On March 15 all members of the freshman class received little envelopes with their respective names on them. Curiosity, of which the freshmen have plenty, caused them immediately to open the envelopes and see just what they contained. Were they rewarded for their curiosity? We should say they were. The envelopes contained invitations to a "Kid Party" to be given by the sophomore class.

After all, that crowd wasn't so bad—why not go to their party?

On Friday night, March 22, the freshman and sophomore classes gathered at McMillan Hall. There they played games and ate peanuts. The freshmen were told that they were going to have to go to school some more. We always thought there was something wrong somewhere, now invite a fellow to a party and then have him go to school. First, we had to register; then, we were given all-day suckers and sent to the home of Professor Neustel. School wasn't so bad with all-day suckers to eat, and long walks between classes. Maybe this party wasn't so bad after all.

We were given the primary essentials of mathematics at Professor Neustel's home under the instruction of "Professor" Kenneth Knoll.

Then, we went to the home of Mr. G. W. Pelsch, where we were taught our spelling lesson by Caroline Pelsch and served jelly-beans. This was, indeed, a splendid school to attend. Never before had we gone to a school like this. From there we went to the home of Professor Hussong. Here we were given a test in geography by Miss Hinton and served popcorn-balls. How we wished the professors would do this in the tests that were coming off in the near future!

The groups returned to McMillan Hall from Professor Hussong's. A very delightful program in connection with the graduation was the next big event. Lady Jane Gray from Mars, Mrs. Tiffany, pictured bright futures for most every one. Mr. McNeal caused many laughs with his portrayal of a judge from the backwoods. Mr. Kenneth Knoll, Miss Hinton, and Miss Pelsch played well the parts of the teaching force at some country school. Little Marvin Skaer and Maude Holt gave readings.

After everyone had received a napkin diploma, ice cream cones and animal cookies were served. This was one of the most pleasing parties of the year. We will have to thank the sophomores.

Did You Ever Think of It?

When you pick up a newspaper, and glance at the cartoons, editorials, and news items, do you ever stop to think of the work of putting a paper together? I am sure I never did before. The hard work of gathering the news, writing it up, of making up editorials, and jokes, and poems is simply stupendous. Think of the reporters who go into all sorts of places risking their lives often-times, just to get some news! Think of the brain power expended by editors in writing editorials!

When I pick up a paper in the future how much I shall appreciate the work of others! Still at the same time joy of reading the paper will lessen when I think of the hard, hard work to publish it.

Where do cartoonists get all their ideas? Do they sit up all night until a sudden inspiration comes to them or are they naturally bright? Do the editors have to write editorials on any subject?

According to Mrs. Tiffany, I am supposed to be the Editor of the North American Mercury ten or twenty years from now—more likely fifty years. She also added that I would have charge of all the hearse factories which proves that newspaper life is difficult. Will my paper be so good, and will so much work be put into it that I'll have to run a hearse business on the side? Alas! I hope not! the side Amen.

Give the Grass a Chance

Every spring it is a problem to keep people from walking and playing on the lawn before the grass is strong enough to stand this abuse. Everybody enjoys seeing a nice lawn during the long, sultry, summer days and when we return in the fall, and the only way to be sure of having this is to give the young grass a fair kind of start in the spring. We realize that the green grass looks very soft and inviting now, but it will be appreciated much more a little later. So let us co-operate in an effort to "give the grass a chance."

Books

Recently there have come to light several instances of students' books disappearing and later returning. Only one explanation offers itself. Some one is using these books without the owner's knowledge.

Borrowing others' property without their consent constitutes a serious offense in court and certainly is not becoming conduct for a Christian person. If we need a book, the owner will doubtless be very glad to loan it to us if we first ask permission to use it.

An April Fool Chapel

It was chapel hour, it was also April the first. The speaker was in the height of his speech, when "bi-r-r" came a muffled sound from some remote part of the room. A grave faculty member hunted for it but to no avail. The speaker spoke on amid the wise smiles of the students, when "bi-r-r" went another cloyly sound; but "ah" the brave faculty member had scented it this time. Without any further delay he bravely mounted a chair and withdrew the unlucky victim from inside the trophy cup, and still the speaker spoke on. Chapel ended after a few more of the trusty time pieces had released their surplus energy; and everyone agreed that it had been a "cloyly" period.

But the excitement of the day was too much for some of the clocks. A number of them got lost and styned to the office where they will be sold to the highest bidder.

WHO'S WHO
Lewis Randal

He is a Senior. He used to be a freshman. When he was a freshman he didn't know Dorothy. He entered college the second semester of the year 1925-1926. He has been one of the most active members of the Volunteer Fellowship ever since he entered Whitworth. He was on the debate team for the first two years. He was a member of the Glee Club the first two years and also this year. He has much volume. He was twice business manager of the football team. He had a part in the play "Go Get 'Em Pirates." He was a modest freshman.

He met Dorothy when he was a Sophomore. He had distractions. He was business manager of the Natsih. He was a participant in the Ballard Hall fire, concerning which our students have memories of some shortages. He was a reporter on the Whitworthian staff. He became a member of the Men's Athletic "W" Club. He was Sophomore class representative on the Executive Council. He can play "My Wild Irish Rose" and "Mother MacCreo" on the piano. He wrote the pageant on the early history of Whitworth. He is a recognized Whitworth authority on the birds of the Northwest.

He continued to know Dorothy when he was a Junior. He was vice-president of the Inland Empire Student Volunteer Union. He was pastor of the Rosalia church. He had a Ford that ran sometimes when it worked. He was vice-president of the Student's Association last year. He was associate editor of the Whitworthian. He was athletic editor of the Natsih. He was president of the Junior class. He roomed with Ralph Hansen and has grown to be over 6 feet tall. He has been drummer in the orchestra for the last two years. He won the second prize in the Ballard Oratorical contest. He is an enthusiastic participant in early morning exercises.

He is always very busy. He keeps the office busy supplying him with postage stamps. He knows Dorothy this year also. He is pastor of Emmanuel Presbyterian Church in Spokane. He is going to Texas Theological Seminary next year. He is the distracted editor of the Whitworthian. He has a remarkable eating capacity. Dorothy is planning to learn how to cook. He is a member of the Dramatic Club. He gets frolicsome at times. He has just turned twenty-one. He can produce poetry at short notice. He is interested in stargazing. He played football this year. He is president of the Students' Association. He is a leader at Whitworth in all phases of activity.

In short, he is Lewis Randal. (The one non-freshman article in this issue!)

The Reverend F. M. Knoll, former Whitworth student and now pastor of the Evangelical church at Valleyford, visited a chapel period recently and took part in the exercises.

On Campus day Lewis Randal scaled the dizzying heights to give the sixty-five foot pole a lovely new spring coat of white, while Marvin Skner supervised the job, and put up the rope.

Professor Moore Sings at All Saints

The "Seven Last Words of Christ," an oratorio by DuBois, was presented by the choir of All Saints' Cathedral, Sunday evening, March 24, and broadcast over station K H Q. Professor Moore sang the baritone solo parts.

Among the others who attended from Whitworth were Dr. J. W. Countermine, Helen Doig, Dorothy Hood, Leah Grove, Lily Schwendig, Leta Mae Muir, Robert Millican, and Forrest Travaille.

Our Passing Seniors

In eight weeks we're going to lose our senior class. Ralph Hansen, Lewis Randal, Zenola Clapp, Lee Knoll, and Frank Tiffany will all graduate June 7. How queer it will seem! Next year we won't see Lee's tall figure bending to get through the class-room doors, Randal's spritely step, Frank's "dignitude," Hansen's cheery smile, nor hear Zuzu's ringing laugh. We sincerely wish these seniors good luck, and we shall always welcome them back to visit us.

WHITWORTH WINS ORATORICAL SHARNBROICH STUDENT PRESIDENT

Randal and Schermerhorn Are Representatives

"Challenge of Capacity" Takes First Place

Lewis Randal, Whitworth's representative, won first place in the Spokane Intercollegiate oratorical contest held Friday April 26, at the First United Presbyterian church. Mr. Randal's oration, "The Challenge of Capacity," left no question in the minds of the judges. Choosing a good theme and delivering it splendidly, he was obviously the winner.

Second place was taken by Clyde Flemming of Spokane University. He spoke on the one current topic, "Prohibition." He answered and made light of many of the arguments and assertions of those who would repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

Marcus Rieke of Spokane College was third, with a plea for reformation of the courts and the present system of handling crime. His oration was entitled, "The New Crusade."

Spokane University's representative took first place in the recitational part of the contest. She gave the interesting recitation, "My Poe," a serious one, and "Ladies Aid," a humorous one.

Second place in this contest was won by Lola Rosholt of Spokane college. Miss Rosholt was very fortunate in her choice of a theme, as she had selected that stirring recitation concerning Lincoln entitled "The Lost Speech." Her humorous one was "Jimmy Crickets."

Janice Schermerhorn, Whitworth's candidate for the Recitational, took third place. Her serious number, "The Bishop's Silence," contained a bit of humor that was fatal to the contestant. It was very dramatically delivered, however, and the audience was most attentive throughout. Her humorous piece was "Sophie Jacobowski," a selection which had a Russian setting and narrative.

The orations and recitations were as a whole very clever and instructive, and everyone did justice to his institution.

Killian Freshman Oratorical Contest

This year more interest than ever has been aroused in oratory. The Freshmen have not only written orations as they did in former years, but they are also delivering them. Each member is competing with every member in the class in a preliminary, then on the evening of May 31 the seven or eight winners in this series of preliminary contests will participate in the Killian Freshman Oratorical Contest, which will be held in the general assembly room. In this there will be awarded prizes of $5, $3, and $2 to the three highest. The three winners of these prizes will undoubtedly enter the Ballard contest the following week.

The Young People's League of the Presbyterian churches of this district will hold a meeting and picnic supper on the Whitworth college campus on the evening of May 20th. Miss Dorothy Hood is president of this league.

Natsihi To Come Out May 29

On the night of May 29, the 1929 Natsihi, which for the past few months has been in preparation, will become a reality, and at the Natsihi banquet they will be ready for distribution.

Last Wednesday, May 8, the Union Printing Co. received all the cuts and the copy for the book and to use the term of a journalist "it goes to press." The contract allows three weeks for printing and putting on the covers and this year the annual will come out on the date set.

No pains have been spared to make the 1929 Natsihi one of the best yearbooks Whitworth has ever put out. The staff has shown a fine spirit of co-operation, and they deserve a large share of credit. The book will contain many surprises, especially for the old students of Whitworth, as the Editor has taken the privilege of dropping many old ideas which the Natsihi has used for the past decade, and using new ideas which are sure to please everyone.

May 29 is set as the date for the Natsihi banquet, which all the school is invited to attend. At this banquet, reports will be made, the dedication announced, and all the affairs of the annual will be wound up.

Fellowship To Hold Picnic

Another happy event in the Whitworth calendar will be the annual picnic of the Volunteer Fellowship at Granite Point, Loon Lake, Friday, May 17. The picnic promises to be a well-deserved treat for the members who have worked faithfully during the past year.

Kathryn Bockman, Virginia Koyl, and Forrest Travaille have charge of the plans for the day. Cars will be provided to take the members to the lake immediately after school. There the time will be spent rowing, and picnicking about a camp fire.

Last year the organization held a "splash" party at Natatorium Park. Those who attended know what a good time the Fellowship can have, and are looking forward to this year's outing with even greater pleasure.

Gospel Team Ends Season

Will Go To Oakesdale Sunday

The Gospel Team is planning to hold two services at Oakesdale next Sunday. Leaving early Sunday morning they will arrive in Oakesdale in time to take charge of the regular morning service. Frank Tiffany will be the leader, and Margaret Jamison and Kenneth Knoll will be the speakers. Special music will consist of duets by Caroline Petsch and Alice Sanstrom, and the Gospel Team quartet composed of Evelyn Chapman, Dorothy Hood, Everell Sharnbroich, and Frank Tiffany.

A basket dinner is to be served in the church by the people of Oakesdale at noon. At the afternoon service Hugh Bronson will be the leader, and the speakers will be Alice Sanstrom and Dorothy Hood. The same singers will furnish the music for the afternoon service. Carl Lewis and Dr. Countermine will furnish the transportation. The team will return to Whitworth after the afternoon service.

Annual Visit to Kettle Falls

The long-looked-forward-to trip of the Volunteer Fellowship to Kettle Falls was made April 27 and 28. Eleven members and Dr. Countermine made the trip, leaving Saturday afternoon. Having arrived and been assigned for the night to various homes, the first meeting held was that of the sunrise prayer meeting on the sandy banks of the Columbia river. Songs were sung to the accompaniment of the ukelele, and Dr. Countermine spoke on "Being filled with the Spirit." Several testimonies were also given.

The morning church service was led by Evelyn Chapman. Helen Doig and Lee Knoll gave the talks, speaking from the verse "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation." Special music was given by the mixed quartet, consisting of Evelyn Chapman, Dorothy Hood, Lee Knoll, Everell Sharnbroich and Lewis Randal.

Team Explores the Falls

After the morning service a picnic dinner was served in the church to the members of the Fellowship and of the community. The group then went out to the falls in the Columbia, after which the town is named, and spent the afternoon exploring the formations found there. Though reluctant to leave, the promise of dinner at Mrs. C. L. Hansen's caused everyone to return there. As Dr. Countermine said, "I see now why everybody talks so much about the trip to Kettle Falls."

Mary Hinton led the evening meeting. Lewis Randal conducted the song service, and Dorothy Hood and Evelyn Chapman sang a duet. Maude Holt and Lewis Randal gave the talks, taking as their subject "Thou hast the words of eternal life, to whom shall we go?" The mixed quartet sang a closing number, and the Volunteer Fellowship consecration hymn followed the benediction.

The group returned early Monday morning. Those making the trip this year were Helen Doig, Dorothy Hood, Evelyn Chapman, Maude Holt, Mary Hinton, Kathryn Bockman, Everell Sharnbroich, Ralph Hansen, Lewis Randal, Lee Knoll, Lloyd Smith, and Dr. Countermine. Mrs. Tiffany with Margaret Jamison, Kenneth Knoll, and Robert Millican also were there for the morning service.

Maude Holt Receives Vice-Presidency

Class Representatives Also Selected For Coming Year

The annual Student Association elections, held Friday, May 10, resulted in the choice of Everell Sharnbroich for president and Maude Holt for Vice-president, for the coming school year. Mr. Sharnbroich is a prominent member of the Junior class and is Editor-in-chief of the Natsihi. Last semester he won a letter in football. He is also a singer in both the Gospel team quartet and in the Glee Club. Maude Holt is a member of the sophomore class and is very active in school affairs. At present she is president of the Dramatic Club, sings in the Glee Club, and is one of the most-used speakers in the Volunteer Fellowship.

The class representatives elected are as follows:

Senior—Kathryn Bockman, Lloyd Smith
Junior—Helen Doig, Margaret Jamison
Sophomore—Leta Mae Muir, Forrest Travaille.

Glee Club Concert Is Success

On Friday night, May 10, the Whitworth College Glee Club presented a concert before a filled house. The numbers were well presented and the audience received them enthusiastically. The number "Sympathy" brought more than one smile from the audience. Much credit is due to Professor Moore who has worked long and patiently with untrained material to make a polished Glee Club.

Miss Dorothy Skerry, accompanist for the club, presented two piano solos, and Miss Janice Schermerhorn gave a reading entitled "By Courier." The Girls' Chorus rendered two numbers, both of which showed splendid interpretation. The feature of the program was "Old College Chum", sung to the accompaniment of six ukeleles. The ukelele girls were seated on cushions in front of the singers. The program closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

The advertising for the concert was handled by Leah Grove, Mary Hinton, Maude Holt, and Caroline Petsch. The lighting was arranged by Lloyd Smith. Leta Mae Muir and Lilly Schwendig acted as ushers.

The members of the Glee Club are: Hugh Bronson, Lewis Randal, Maryin Skuer, Malcolm Thomson, Evelyn Chapman, Helen Doig, Leah Grove, Mary Hinton, Maude Holt, Marguerite Miller, Caroline Petsch, Janice Schermerhorn, Kathryn Bockman, Laura Frederick, Dorothy Hood, Margaret Jamison, Ruth Neilsen, Alice Sanstrom, Leon Killian, Lee Knoll, Everell Sharnbroich, Frank Tiffany, and Forrest Travaille.

Professor Neustel, chemistry and biology teacher at Whitworth, will attend summer school at Washington State College this vacation in order to finish his work and receive his Master's degree.

"NO THOROUGHFARE—KEEP OUT"

Whitworth welcomes visitors, but when the visitors make a speedway out of our private roads, a noisy thoroughfare of our quiet trails, and raise choking clouds of dust to besmirch our beautiful campus, such visitors are not wanted. The general public has the privilege of touring through our campus, but a few unknown people have been taking advantage of this privilege lately. We would ask that every student be observant of such offenders, and, if possible, obtain the license number for identification purposes. Whitworth no doubt will never put at her entrance such a sign as "No Thoroughfare—Keep Out", but nevertheless, to those who persist in abusing their privileges, this is definitely her attitude.

GIFTS ARE APPRECIATED

The Sable "W" Club of Whitworth took the occasion of Campus Day, as we all know, to present their annual gift to the college. It consisted of two coats of glistening white paint upon the ancient flagpole on the quadrangle. The contrast of this white shaft with the fresh, green grass and foliage is striking. Visitors are given the feeling that things are "kept up" at Whitworth.

No organization in college is modest about proclaiming its love and loyalty for the Alma Mater, but few indeed are those that go so far as to express their fealty in material terms. The "W" Club is one of those few, and to it goes the credit of setting a fine example that every organization in Whitworth would do well to follow.

Senior Play Is Progressing Rapidly

Under the capable direction of Miss Alice Morrison the senior play, "The Servant in the House", is progressing by leaps and bounds. An early start and a unanimous decision gave the seniors a decided advantage.

As the Bishop of Benares, and disguised as the servant in the house, Lee Knoll plays a powerful role. The setting is that of an English manse, and the story is of a serious nature but with plenty of almost "killing" humor intermingled. The play occupies a full evening. Its moral is the exaltation of divine love—love that is utterly unselfish, un hypocritical, and self-sacrificing.

The plot centers about the fortunes of three brothers, all of whom followed a different path through life until the climax—when the eyes of all were opened and the truth struck them like the judgment-bomb of doom. One of these brothers is the Vicar, a restless minister, played by Frank Tiffany. He is the idol of his wife, and it is her adoration that he has been serving rather than his God. For fifteen years the Vicar and his wife (played by Mary Hinton) have been bringing up as their own child the daughter of Robert Smith, the second brother and the "under dog". The latter is a poor, drinking, hard-working plumber—"the bloke wot looks

Hold Service At Davenport

The Gospel Team conducted the evening service at the Davenport Presbyterian church, on April 21. Maude Holt and Lewis Randal spoke on the text, "To whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." Helen Doig gave the scripture reading from John 6: 53-69.

Music was furnished by the gospel team quartet, consisting of Dorothy Hood, Evelyn Chapman, Everell Sharnbroich, and Lewis Randal. Evelyn Chapman and Dorothy Hood sang a duet also.

After the drama—taken by Lewis Randal. He can talk only Cockney English, and his manners are most gruff and often very comical. His daughter is a sweet young thing, whose part is played by Zenola Clapp. The third brother is the one who has actually risen to become the Bishop of Benares. It is he who comes in the humble garb of servant and exerts a benign and transforming influence over his kin. Ralph Hansen plays the part of the villain, which is the Bishop of Luncashire, brother-in-law to the Vicar, a bribing, corrupting church official. He is very hard of hearing and has some very amusing difficulties with his ear-trumpet. Clifford McNeal takes the part of Rogers the clever page-boy.

CHAPEL

APRIL 29

"What is your name?"

"How much do you weigh?"

"How do you live?"

These three questions were asked in the address given by Professor B. Neustel to the seniors on April 29.

He continued by explaining why these three questions were regarding some of the most vital things of life. In answer to "What is your name?" he said that every person is more or less burdened with a name—a particular name—and back of his name is his parentage. We do not choose our names but we choose the things which bring credit or discredit upon him.

In answer to the question, "How much do you weigh?" he said that each individual has a certain weight. Weight of character rather than physical pounds is the important factor. Napoleon and Martin Luther did not have great physical strength, yet they won out in the battle of life by sheer strength of character.

In his final question, "How do you live?" he said that not how long one lives is what counts. Few lives are too short for the accomplishment of some good.

APRIL 30

The Reverend Mr. A. B. Blades of the Opportunity Presbyterian church brought the students a message on the subject of "atmosphere and poise." His admonition was to "avoid the spirit of restlessness." It interferes with our work and does not tend to make us attractive to others. We should cultivate and practice poise, whether we are—in the schoolroom on the campus, or in a restaurant. We should strive also to have human sympathy, sympathy not only for our friends but for the stranger and for our enemies.

MAY 1

The Reverend Mr. Ferdinand M. Knoll, formerly of Valleford has now taken over pastorship of the First Evangelical church of Yakima. His theme was taken from Ezekiel, one of the most difficult books from which to prepare a sermon. Symbolizing the four faces of the creature in Ezekiel's vision, he made a plea for the four-square christian. The man's face in front stood for kindness and love. The face of the ox represented patience, one quality which is so needed in these modern times. The face of the lion on the other side stood for courage—courage to do and stand for right. The face of the eagle represented vision. Great things are not accomplished without vision. These four qualities are essential to a four-square christian. Mr. Knoll was a student in Whitworth for two years, and is a brother of Lee and Kenneth Knoll.

MAY 2

Professor Buxton addressed the students on the subject of "The Home of the Saved." "In science," he said, "we try to get at the facts and from these facts deduce conclusions." So it should be in the study of religion. We should take the word of God as written in the Bible and from the facts presented there reach conclusions." Professor Buxton read a number of verses from the Bible which were descriptive of a future life. He brought up some of the problems involved in the study of this phase of Bible study and discussed possible solutions.

Dorothy Brenton Van Camp, '26, visited the campus two weeks ago with her husband, Warren Van Camp. They expect to return to California this week where they will have work in a summer vacation Bible school until late this fall.

Russell Pederson Writes

The following letter was received by the WHITWORTHIAN, and we take pleasure in here publishing the greater portion of it:—

Skagway, Alaska,
April 22nd, 1929.

The Whitworthian,
Spokane, Wash.

Editors: Dear Friends,

Since my visit to Whitworth last November I have been receiving regularly the WHITWORTHIAN. The paper is a worthy edition and I am delighted with the material you have been sending forth.

Perhaps you'll be interested in our task in Alaska. This Easter in Skagway six young people of high school age united with our church on profession of faith, two men were baptized and united on profession of faith, and three other adults on re-affirmation. We feel that the response is encouraging. The Presbytery of Alaska had its spring meeting April 5th to 10th in a small Native village named Kake. You may be surprised to know that as we left Skagway with the mission boat the seas were so rough that at times folks watching us with field glasses could not see the boat. We went on to Haines where we took on board four workers and then pushed on to Juneau. We had eighteen on board as we were ready to leave Juneau, but the dreaded Taku wind was so strong and the weather so cold that we had to wait storm-bound two days. . . . Our Presbytery ordained to the Gospel Ministry a Hyda native. A Tsimpson had been ordained many years ago but Mr. Samuel Davis was the first Hyda to be ordained in Alaska. Haines House, the Presbyterian orphanage, gave a splendid report. About forty-eight native children are being cared for this winter. The Sheldon Jackson School presented a pleasing outlook with every indication of continued progress during the coming year. Truly they are pressing forward to fulfil the aim of "Competent Christian Citizenship."

As the permanent committees of Presbytery gave their reports, the committee of college visitation was happy to report the constructive work of Whitworth College.

Sincerely,

Russell F. Pederson.

Mrs. Counterline Coming From Honolulu Next Month

Mrs. J. W. Counterline expects to reach Seattle about June 19 from Honolulu, where she remained this year to fill an unexpired contract. Dr. Counterline will meet her in Seattle and from there they will drive to Tacoma to visit relatives for a few days and then motor back to Spokane about June 24th.

Synod Committee Visits Whitworth

The Rev. L. N. Williams of Mulwood and the Rev. W. J. Sharp of Tacoma representing a committee appointed by the Synod of Washington for college visitation, visited Whitworth May 14th. The Rev. Mr. Sharp addressed the students and faculty at the regular chapel period; and they visited classes for the rest of the day. They also inspected the buildings and took lunch at the college. Mr. Sharp gave a very interesting talk in chapel on the four classes of people: the poor poor man, the poor rich man, the rich rich man, and the rich poor man. The other member of the committee, The Rev. Russell Pedersen, visited the college last November.

Killian Wins Tournament

Interest in tennis reached its highest pitch Friday afternoon when the final match between Leon Killian and Bruce Clark climaxed the season's tournament. Spectators were numerous and cheered freely at every specially clever play. Killian maintained the lead in the first set and finished with a 6-3 score.

The second set was the most interesting as the ball was in motion much longer. At one point Clark, upon returning, slipped and reposed briefly upon the terra firma, but was on his feet again to successfully return Killian's drive. This brought forth wild cheering from the side lines. This set ended with the games 6-2, in Clark's favor.

In the third set, Killian's smashing drives predominated and forced it into a love score. Thus ended the men's final match of the season which determined Whitworth's championship.

Sixteen Men Try Out

When the call was made for entrants in the Men's Singles Tennis Tournament, 16 men responded. The tournament was under the auspices of the Athletic Association and was of the single elimination type.

In the preliminary matches Lundy defeated Tiffany, 6-1, 6-1; Clark defeated Keyser, 7-5, 6-0; Andrews defeated Bromling, 7-5, 6-1; Millican defeated Byram, 6-2, 6-1; Killian defeated Travaille, 6-0, 6-0; Knoll defeated Randal, 6-1, 6-1; Thomson defeated Morgan 6-1, 6-0; Skaer defeated McNeal, 6-1, 6-2. In the second round Clark defeated Lundy, 6-1, 6-3; Millican defeated Andrews, 6-0, 6-1; Killian defeated Knoll, 6-0, 6-2; Skaer defeated Thompson, 6-3, 6-3. In the semifinals Clark defeated Millican, 6-4, 6-2; the final match Killian defeated Clark, 6-3, 2-6, 6-0 for the school championship.

PLAY GONZAGA

Tuesday afternoon, May 14, three representatives, Leon Killian, Robert Millican, and Bruce Clark, from Whitworth officially competed against three representatives from Gonzaga university on the courts of the latter. The sets were for the most part quite evenly matched. Clark's second set was so drawn-out that he did not even get back to the college in time for dinner, where his presence was decidedly missed. The results are as follows:

W. C.	Gonzaga
Killian	3-6, 6-2, 6-3
Millican	0-6, 6-3, 6-4
Clark	2-6, 6-11, 2-6

CURRICULAR GLIMPSES

The class in English 68 under Mrs. Tiffany has read many of Shakespeare's plays this semester. They have studied "The Tempest", "Two Gentlemen of Verona", "Twelfth Night", "As You Like It", "Merchant of Venice", "Taming of the Shrew", "Winter's Tale", and "The Comedy of Errors." In the "Merchant of Venice" nearly the entire play was enacted. The class has met regularly on the green campus "quadrangle," where the staging is natural and inspiring. "Midsummer Night's Dream" will be given on the campus in the near future.

Much of the rehearsing for the Freshman orations is being done in the woods. Frequently a would-be orator can be seen talking earnestly to the trees, and the only response is a sighing of the patient wind.

Baseball Team Wins Every Game

Season's Standing 1000 Per Cent

Although no regular conference baseball team has been organized this year the boys turning out for Physical Education have built up a scrub team and are securing games with teams around town.

So far this season they have played five games and won all of them. The first game was with Country Homes Estates and was won by a score of 10-1. The second game was also with them, with the final score standing 7-4. The next game was on our field with the First Presbyterian church and came out in our favor 11-3. The second game with the First church was played at the Underhill grounds and our boys succeeded in taking another victory 10-4. The last game played was again with Country Homes Estates and gave Whitworth a 9-5 score.

Annual W. A. A. Awards Given

Friday, May 10, awards were presented by the Women's Athletic Association to the girls who had earned the required number of points in basketball, volley ball, hygiene, and other athletic activities. The presentations were made by Professor Lyle Moore and Miss Lilly Schwendig, who is president of the association. Those receiving "W" letters for having earned 5 points were: Helen Dolg, Mary Hinton, Muriel Muse, Maude Holt, and Alice Sanstrom. Gold "W" pins were presented to Maude Holt, Alice Sanstrom, and Caroline Petsch. Last but not least, Kathryn Bockman and Lilly Schwendig were awarded white sweaters for having earned 12 points. Inasmuch as these letters, pins, and sweaters are not easily earned and take continued effort and persistence on the part of the girls, they feel justly proud of the awards.

W. A. A. Holds Tournament

The W. A. A. tournament is being held for those girls who wish to win a point in tennis. To be eligible for participating in the tournament, each girl must play tennis at least two hours a week.

The players are to be: Marguerite Miller, Caroline Petsch, Lilly Schwendig, Margaret Jamison, Ruth Nielsen, Leta Mae Muir, Muriel Muse, Alice Sanstrom, Kathryn Bockman, and Dorothy Skerry.

In doubles, the two winners in the finals gain a point, and the losers gain half a point.

In singles, both the winner and the loser gain a point.

Next Tennis Date

Whitworth representatives will play the representatives from Spokane college on Saturday, May 18.

Uke Club Is Organized

The newly formed Uke Club met at the home of Margaret Jamison, Saturday, April 27, where the members drew up a constitution and elected officers.

The purpose of the club as set forth in the constitution, which has been authorized by the faculty, is to promote music, especially ukelele music, and to assist in programs as they achieve greater efficiency. Mrs. Tiffany has been chosen faculty counselor for the club.

Officers elected are:
1st Lady of the Leis—Janice Schermerhorn
2nd Lady of the Leis—Laura Frederick
Lady of Records—Ruth Johnson
Lady of Keys—Margaret Jamison
Lady of the Gate—Zenola Clapp
Lady of the Uke—Dorothy Hood.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Janice Schermerhorn

We always thought that all of the Kellys were on the police force until Mrs. Tiffany referred to Kelly and Sheats in English Literature class.

The Scotch ancestry of some of the instructors doesn't seem to interfere with giving generous assignments, but it shows up in the grades they hand out.

According to Dr. Hays, Sol had a "day window." The Ovid class are terribly disillusioned. They never supposed the gods had things like that.

The Glee Club members have been singing flat lately. D flat we presume.

Dr. Hays: Have you ever studied biology?

C. M. McNeal: Well, I've been exposed to it.

Sammy says he has read some poetry for recreation.

Why is it always somebody like Miss Koyl who notices lack of height in others?

We wonder just who Laura Frederick is. The last time we were in the biology lab we saw a bottle containing an earthworm labeled "Laura Frederick." Now there is a crayfish in the same bottle.

Prof Hussong says discussions are valuable until they become one-sided, as in families.

After three weeks of tennis practice, Miss Jamison has just about decided to join a circus tumbling act for the summer.

Faculty Club Has Outing

On the evening of May 17 the Faculty Club together with several Presbyterian ministers and their wives went out to Liberty Lake for a picnic. Professor Hussong and Dean Morrison made the arrangements.

Campus Crazes

College students are supposed to be highly intellectual, and indeed they are; but college wouldn't be college unless a new craze were instituted once in a while. The latest form of this extra-curricular activity is seen and heard and felt. The occasion is somebody's birthday; the methods are varied.

One form is the child's birthday song, "Happy Birthday to You." Any meal during the days is the proper time. Sometimes a table of girls gets the giggles so much that the song is drowned out by the mirth of the singers. Anyway, their intentions are good and the idea gets across, despite the difficulties.

A birthday wouldn't be a birthday if gifts weren't in evidence. Sometimes the gifts are just ordinary ones, such as candy or wearing apparel, or even birthday cards. Other times, though, a great deal of surprise is connected with presents. Mrs. Holmes was much surprised when the students and faculty of Ballard and McMillan Halls made her a formal presentation of two dozen chrysanthemums in the dining room one evening, but there were other McMillanites who also have been surprised over certain gifts.

Two more birthday parties were staged after study hours last week. On May 8 one was held in Ballard Hall for Everett Sharnbroch in which a cake, baked by Mrs. David Auld, and ice cream furnished the main entertainment, and on May 13 there was one in Dean Morrison's apartment in McMillan Hall for Miss Mary Hinton where a cake, baked by the dean of women herself, and ice cream were the center of attraction.

Keeping a birthday a secret is next to an impossibility at Whitworth. But why should one want to keep his birthday a secret when he can have such attention shown him as Whitworth students delight to show?

Barber Outdoor Beefsteak Breakfast Coming

Some months ago Miss Dehlah Barber '25, now teaching in the Wenatchee high school, sent some money to her alma mater and stipulated that it be used to buy beefsteak for an outdoor breakfast this spring. This will be for the whole school and the place chosen will be one of the scenic spots on or near the campus. It will doubtless take place this year on the morning of May 20, and early enough so every one can return to the buildings before the first period classes, at eight o'clock.

Miss Barber is a very loyal daughter of Whitworth. She makes annual contributions to the endowment fund, and to the Volunteer work, and comes back to visit whenever she can.

Mrs. Mather, director of the Whitworth orchestra, recently gave the members a pleasant surprise when, after the practice hour, she served refreshments of home-made ice cream and angel-food cake. The orchestra was delighted, needless to say.

Professors Give Us the Low-Down on Their Classes

Professor Buxton shows pride when asked about his mathematics classes. The classes in College Algebra and Plane Analytics are the largest in Professor Buxton's six years of service at Whitworth. The class in calculus seems to give Mr. Buxton more pleasure than any other. He calls it his "crack class in calculus." He says that they get most of their work independent of his help.

The class in "How to Study Effectively" have worked out some schedules allowing them to see how their time is being spent.

The class in "Tests and Measurements" is taking the Herring revision of the Simon-Binet tests. They are endeavoring to determine their I. Q.'s.

Dr. Countermine's class in "Comparative Religions" is making a survey of Spokane. The purpose is to study each leading denomination as to origin and occasion of organization, and the number of places each denomination is holding services. They are including all cults operating in the city, and in the end they will know how many services are conducted each week in Spokane.

Professor Neustel reports that his class in Organic Chemistry is studying dyes, indicators, and dye intermediaries. This class will soon begin qualitative analysis.

Sable W-Club Holds Picnic

In spite of threatening storm clouds and occasional showers, the Sable W-Club spent an enjoyable afternoon at Newman Lake, Saturday, April 20. This is the newly-chosen name of the Men's Athletic W-club. Of course, the party being near a lake, rowing was the chief amusement. Then all the members and their fair guests gathered in the large, rustic lobby of the Gillette Inn and sat about the huge fireplace while the governing committee served the refreshments. These, and especially the fruit salad, would have done credit to the most skilled chef. But to think that they were concocted by members of this "he-man" group was almost unbelievable. At least that was the opinion of one of the invited co-ed guests. Late in the evening the group returned home, tired but happy. Professor Neustel acted in capacity of chaperon. It proved to be by far the best W-club picnic on record.

The governing committee, so called because it looked after all the details, was composed of three members, Forest Travaille, Ralph Hansen, and Lewis Randal.

Mrs. Mildred Angle Carmichael recently came from Tacoma to visit her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Angle, of this city.

"Passing By"

By Kathryn Bockman

An impressive scene might have been witnessed at the chapel period, May 6. According to custom, the Senior procession advanced down the aisle. With several caps askance, flowing robes, and hems carefully turned up the "Seniors" advanced. Dr. Tiffany and Miss Morrison mounted the platform. Special music was given by Misses Alice Sanstrom and Caroline Petsch. An appreciative resume of the dignities of the Senior class was brought to mind by Dr. Tiffany. Then Miss Morrison gave the address to the "Seniors." Her topic, "Passing By", was especially appropriate, as she said. The recessional took place. The chapel period was ended—all according to due form and regulation. But it was of a special nature that will not soon be forgotten—either by the onlookers or the "Seniors." But what can you expect when the Senior class shifts its responsibilities?

Directions for Examinations

2. Arrive after the teacher has given instructions.
3. Take several deep breaths.
4. Borrow paper from your neighbor.
5. Scratch your head.
6. Search ceiling for answers.

Girls Hold Traditional April Frolic

The traditional April Frolic was held by the W. A. A. on April 19, at Cook's lake, where all girls spent the late afternoon picnicking and rowing. The pleasures of the eventful day were brought to a close by a "frolic" in the dining room of McMillan Hall.

As in past year the "old" girls drew the names of the "new" girls for partners, and after classes various amusing couples were seen posing about the campus, "the boys" in shirts and trousers borrowed from the men's dorm. Even a wedding scene took place, "Parson" Skerry officiating.

The girls then hiked to Cook's lake where they rowed, and chatted around the bonfire. Giant wiener buns, and marshmallows were toasted, and consumed with delicious coffee, made camp-fire style. Then, before departing, the girls made the woods echo with the Whitworth Alma Mater.

In spite of weary feet, everyone returned to take part in the evening dance with zeal and enthusiasm. The girls danced to Leah Grove's music while a mysterious odor of hydrogen sulphide filled the room. After the programs had been filled, wafers and punch were served by the refreshment committee.

Dr. Countermine Will Have Busy Summer

Dr. J. W. Countermine, head of the Bible department at Whitworth college, will have charge of the Bible work at the 31st annual conference of the Nez Perce Indians at Craigmont, Idaho, from June 28 to July 8.

From July 15 to 21 he will teach a course in Bible in the Presbyterian Summer conference, which will be held this year in the Weona Home grounds on Lake Coeur d'Alene.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Fursey and Miss Frances Fursey were dinner guests at Whitworth last Sunday.

Eleanor Brand recently returned from Long Beach, California where she had spent the winter.

Dr. O. E. Tiffany has spoken recent Sundays in the Presbyterian churches of Cashmere, Opportunity, Knox, and Monroe Park in Spokane.

NEWS NOTES

Phillip Laurie, '28, and for the past year a student in the San Francisco Theological Seminary, will spend the summer in Omak, Washington, where he will have charge of the Presbyterian church during the summer. The regular pastor of that church, Dr. Duncan Matheson, has gone back east for the summer.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Bruce of Pendleton, Oregon, and Mrs. Anna Morrison of Spokane were guests of Dean Alice Morrison for dinner one evening last week. The Rev. Mr. Bruce is pastor of the Presbyterian church in Pendleton and was once moderator of the Synod of Washington.

Among those who attended the senior play at North Central high school last Saturday evening were Maude Holt, Leta Mae Muir, Helen Dolg, Dorothy Hood, Ralph Hansen, Everell Sharnbroch, Clifford Bromling, and Forest Travaille.

Miss Lessie Rasco, '28, of Sunnyside is expected back for the festivities of commencement week. Next year she goes to teach in the high school at Dubois, Idaho.

Mrs. C. Travaille motored up from their home at Walla Walla on May 3d and spent the weekend with her son Forest on the campus.

Professor Lyle W. Moore was the baritone soloist with the Mendelssohn Club in its program given in Spokane and Wilbur this week.

Juniors Entertain Seniors

According to schedule, the junior-senior "function" functioned on May 3. Leaving the campus after three o'clock and bound for some place, they knew not where, the seniors finally found themselves at Honey-moon Bay, Newman lake. After numerous hot dogs, pickles, marshmallows, etc. had disappeared, exciting rowing contests were held on the lake.

About eight o'clock all made ready to leave—supposedly for home. After a short intermission at a garage, during which the seniors might have been seen "cracking the whip", the wondering class found themselves dumped out in front of the Liberty theatre.

After this part of the entertainment was ended, the seniors again found themselves in the cars headed for—they began to wonder whether it might be Kettle Falls or Idaho. At any rate they soon found themselves at Audubon park. After the explorers had come down from the top of their tree the group enjoyed apple pie a la mode. By this time it was observed that curfew must have rung some time before, and the seniors soon found themselves safely at home.

More Furnishings For Boys' Parlor

The past week the boys' parlor of Ballard Hall was somewhat brightened up and given a more finished appearance by the addition of drapes for the windows. These were presented and hung in their place by a committee of ladies of the Brownie's Addition section of the Aid society of the First Presbyterian church. This committee was headed by Mrs. W. L. McEachran and Mrs. George Odell.

GRADUATION EXERCISES THIS MORNING

HONORS FOR YEAR ANNOUNCED TODAY

Juniors Win McEachran Cup For Fourth Time

VIRGINIA KOYL IS HIGHEST

Faculty Elect Randal into Whitworth Honor Club

When the final grades for the year were totaled last evening it was found that the Juniors had again won the McEachran scholarship trophy cup, making the fourth time for them to win it this year.

Miss Virginia Koyl has the highest scholarship for the year, with Louis Keyser and Lilly Schwendig a close second. Others who had honors for both semesters are Kathryn Bockman, Susanna Borden, Leah Grove, Lewis Randal, Leon Killian, Lloyd Smith and Ruth Feller.

Those who are on the honor roll for the second semester are Virginia Koyl, Louis Keyser, Susanna Borden, Kathryn Bockman, Leah Grove, Lilly Schwendig, Ruth Johnson, Leon Killian, Murrel Mase, Ruth Feller, and Lloyd Smith. Howard Lundy receives honorable mention.

At a recent faculty meeting Lewis Randal was elected into membership in the Whitworth Honor Club, one basis of which is three semesters of honors.

The "W. H. C." pin, the badge of membership will be awarded to Mr. Randal this morning. This club now includes Phillip Laurie, Russell Boucher, Kathryn Bockman, Lilly Schwendig, Lillian Brown, and Lee Knoll.

Baccalaureate Services Held at Knox Presbyterian Church

The annual Baccalaureate services were held at Knox Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, June 2. Dr. C. F. Koehler preached the sermon, using for his subject, "The Meaning of Life." "The meaning of life," Dr. Koehler said, "can only be realized when we come into a personal experience of Him who said, 'I am the way, and the truth, and the life.'" He said life was a trust for which we are responsible to God, an unfolding of our powers and abilities, and an investment in all that is highest and best in the world.

Dr. C. W. Hays read the scripture lesson, Professor Lyle Moore sang as a solo, "Service," Dr. J. W. Countermine led in prayer, and Dr. O. E. Tiffany pronounced the benediction. The Knox Presbyterian choir sang "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Alumni Business Meeting Friday Noon

Professor James Burke, president of the Whitworth Alumni Association, has called a meeting to be held at noon, immediately after the graduation exercises today. This meeting will be in Room 2 of McMillan Hall. After the business meeting, all who can will get at once to the dining room where a special lunch will be served to the alumni for 35 cents.

LEAH GROVE WINS FIRST IN BALLARD CONTEST

Second and Third Prizes To Travaille and Skerry

The annual Ballard oratorical contest was held in the college auditorium last evening. There were seven contestants; and the orations were almost of uniform excellence. The first prize of $30 was awarded to Miss Leah Grove, who spoke on "The Pioneering Spirit of Youth". The second prize of $20 went to Forrest Travaille, whose topic was "The Menace of Mechanization"; and the third was won by Miss Dorothy Skerry, who spoke on "Richard Wagner". The orations were of almost uniform excellence; and the markings for them were close. The judges were the Rev. A. B. Blades of Opportunity, Mr. O. V. Duell, an attorney in Spokane, and Mr. James A. Burke, secretary of the Inland Empire Association and a member of the alumni. Professor H. L. Hussong presided and Dr. O. E. Tiffany presented the prizes. The Ballard contest was founded by the late Captain W. R. Ballard, a member of the board of trustees; and this year Mrs. Ballard sent the checks over in time for the contest.

Natsihi Out On Appointed Day

Much credit is due to the staff of this year's NATSIHI. It is a very successful edition in many respects. First, it came out on the appointed day. Second, the material and the workmanship on it are above the average. Third, when Louis Keyser, the business manager, gave his financial report in general assembly it was revealed that sufficient money was in sight to pay all the bills and that $287 was left as a balance to the good—an unheard of thing before in the former history of this publication. The Student Association feels justly proud of this feat, and much credit is due to the diligent and courageous work of Milton Andrews, the advertising manager, Everett Shambroch, the editor-in-chief, Louis Keyser, the business manager, and Professor H. L. Hussong, the faculty adviser. Miss Holl, who had charge of the art work, also deserves special commendation. The annual was dedicated to Professor H. L. Hussong.

Alumni Attend Whitworth Lawn Fete

On Thursday afternoon there was the leading social event of commencement week, the lawn fete on the front campus. This gave the present student group an opportunity to meet the alumni and their friends in a social way. The young ladies of the college were the hosts and directed the festivities of the afternoon. A delightful program of music, speeches, readings, refreshments, and conversations was enjoyed, coming as it did after the last examination had been written and at a time when the alumni and other visiting guests were not called away to other exercises.

Some of those taking part in the program were DeLilah Barber, 25, Alan Rice, 28, Sara Miller Auld, 27, Eleanor Brand, 27, Carroll Pederson, 25, Virginia Koyl, 31, Alice Sanstrom

Senior Class Presents Gift To School

The class of 1929 very greatly surprised the faculty and students of the college by having its president, Mr. Lee Knoll, come to the platform at the last chapel of the year to make a farewell speech, on his own invitation, while the other members of the class filed onto the platform after him, bringing with them what he called the "climax" of his speech in the form of a beautiful clock. This will be a useful remembrance of this class. The preceding class gave pillars at the entrance of the grounds.

Welcome Alumni!

Welcome back to Whitworth, Alumni! Whitworth throws open its doors to you and bids you make yourself at home. Notice any changes? They're a sign that Whitworth is growing and moving forward. If you don't think they're an improvement, let us know. Notice any new faces? Don't let them be strange faces long, for they, too, are loyal Whitworthians and are a part of the "family."

We're proud of what you have done for Whitworth in the past and we're trying to carry on the work you started. We're proud of the records you are making out in the world of today, and we're hoping to take our place beside you soon to help carry the ideals and spirit of Whitworth to others.

Again we say, "Whitworth is yours; make yourself at home."

THE 1928-29 STAFF PASSES

You hold in your hands the last issue of The Whitworthian for the college year of 1928-29. Throughout the year the staff, headed by Lewis Randal and assisted by Lee Knoll, has tried to make this paper representative of the school. If in a small measure we have succeeded, it is due to your co-operation; if we have failed, it is not because we have not tried.

Now at the close of this year, we pass it on to you. But another college year will soon be here and a new Whitworthian staff will be needed. What will you do? You may not be the editor; but you may be a reporter. You may not be a reporter; but you can be a contributor. So let's all boost the Whitworthian for next year and come back willing to do our part. Here's to Whitworth and the Whitworthian for next year!

—K. A. B.

ORATORS MADE, NOT BORN

Orations cannot be written in a single night. To have an oration that is worthy of public presentation, one must spend many hours, not only in securing material and in putting it together, but in practice and delivery. The winners of the Ballard Oratorical Contest this year spent much time on their orations, and the result was plain to be seen. This summer, in your leisure hours, is the time to commence to think about your next year's oration. With ample time for getting together your subject matter, you should be ready at the beginning of school to put intensive work on the delivery, so that when May 1 comes around you will be able to say "My oration is complete, and I have spent much time in practice." Orators are made, not born.

—L. D. K.

THE FORWARD LOOK

Whitworth next year. What will it be? It is hard to say; but one thing is certain. Whitworth will be no better than its best students. The faculty can, to some degree, determine the character of the school. The administration can too; and yet, in the last analysis, it is the character of the student body that determines the character of the school.

It is not going to be so much the new students who will come in that will have an effect upon the school. It will rather be those of us who are returning next year. It will be the old students who will take the places of leadership. It will be the old students who will head organizations and determine policies. The duty of making Whitworth what it ought to be will fall upon those of us who return.

Some of the things done this year will be carried on into next year. Where they have been harmful we must try to overcome them. Where they have been helpful we must cultivate them.

The future of Whitworth therefore lies largely in the hands of the students of next year. Let each one resolve to do everything in his power to keep Whitworth a school of outstanding character.

—K. C. K.

The Volunteer Fellowship

ACTIVITIES OF VOLUNTEER FELLOWSHIP

The Volunteer Fellowship has sent out Gospel Teams for thirty-one services during the past year. These meetings have been held in churches of five different denominations. ### SENIOR PLAY MARKED SUCCESS

Servant in House Set High Standard

Each Part Well Suited and Well Portrayed

"The Servant in the House," a five-act play carrying a strong message of the triumph of brotherly love over selfishness and intrigue, was presented by the class of '29 in the Chapel Wednesday evening, June 5.

The play centers around three brothers. The one, an English vicar, with the aid of his wife, has been bringing up his niece, Mary, keeping her ignorant of who her father is because he is a common "working-man." The third brother has become the Bishop of Benares and, when he comes to visit the vicar for the first time in years, is mistaken for the new butler and so plays the role of the servant in the house. When all three brothers meet in the same house, the struggle grows tense between brotherly love as expressed by the Bishop of Benares, and selfishness in the lives of the vicar and his wife, aided by the vicar's brother-in-law, the wealthy Bishop of Lancashire. Finally brotherly love conquers and Mary's father is revealed, not as a good-for-nothing "drain-man," but as a real hero.

The part of the vicar was taken by Frank Tiffany, his wife, by Mary Hinton; Mary, the niece, by Zenola Clapp, the Bishop of Benares, by Lee Knoll; the "drain-man," by Lewis Randal, the Bishop of Lancashire, by Ralph Hansen, and Rogers, a page-boy, by Clifford McNeal.

Music was furnished between acts by the Whitworth College Orchestra,

Skerry, Thomson, Travaille Are Contest Winners

Through the courtesy of the Rev. W. L. Killian, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Davenport, and Dr. J. W. Counterme, of Whitworth, it became possible to offer prizes for the first freshman oratorical contest. This contest was the outgrowth of one of the projects in the regular work of the class in Freshman English. In the preliminaries every member of the class entered, and out of the preliminaries eight were chosen to represent the class in the final contest. Those who took part in the Killian contest last Friday were: Edwin Schimke, who spoke on "The Vanishing Americans," Ruth Neilson on "Jane Addams," Forrest Travaille on "The Menace of Mechanization," Dorothy Skerry on "Richard Wagner," Robert Milbean on "Aviation," Ruth Johnson on "Woodrow Wilson," Howard Lindy on "The Relation of Chemistry to Health," and Malcolm Thomson on "Herbert Clark Hoover." The judges were Mr. George W. Petsch, the Rev. H. A. Brown, and Mr. Russell Boucher. Mr. Killian was present that evening, and in an especially appropriate speech he announced the winners and awarded the prizes—five, three, and two dollars. Miss Skerry won first place, Mr. Thomson second, and Mr. Travaille third. Mr. Killian said he planned to continue this as an annual gift as long as he remained in the Synod of Washington. He also said it was much easier to give the prizes in that contest than it would be to decide on which were the winners.

Miss Dorothy Farr, and Mrs. Sarah Miller Auld.

The same cast presented the play at the Knox Presbyterian Church on Monday evening, June 3. The church was filled with a very appreciative audience.

In women's doubles Bockman and Schwendig will play Jamison and Samstrom, and the winner will play Muir and Chapman. The Juniors have won two matches and need but one more match to take the inter-class tournament.

Leta Muir Wins W. A. A. Tournament

When the call came for the W. A. A. singles tournament ten girls entered. In the preliminaries Petsch defaulted to Miller, Schwendig defeated Jamison 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, Muir defeated Nelson 6-0, 6-1; Doig defeated Mase 2-6, 6-0, 6-3 and Bockman defeated Skerry 6-1, 6-0. In the second round Miller defaulted to Schwendig. In the semi-finals Muir defeated Schwendig 6-2, 6-1 and Bockman defeated Doig 6-2, 6-0. In the finals Muir defeated Bockman 2-6, 6-3, 9-7 for the W. A. A. championship.

In the doubles Mase and Doig defeated Skerry and Nelson 6-4, 6-1, and Schwendig and Jamison defeated Mase 6-3, 7-5. This gives Muir and Bockman each one point, and Schwendig and Jamison each a half a point.

Freshman Sophomore Picnic

The Sophomores were entertained by the Freshmen, Friday, May 22, at Liberty Lake. Even though it was cold and windy, several were brave enough to go swimming while those on the dock shivered and admired their bravery.

About six o'clock, fruit salad, sandwiches, cake, and coffee were served to the party. After lunch the boys congregated and showed their skill in jumping. The girls decided not to be left out so they secured a rope and went to the end of the dock where they played "Cinderella Dressed in Yellow," "Stars Shine O'er Now," and other such games. Several went out on the lake in boats while the others remained on shore holding a glee club concert with Ruth Nielsen as director.

The Freshmen regretted the fact that it was so cold, but the weather did not prevent the outing from being a success.

Miss A. M. Dailey drove over from Seattle on Wednesday. She and Miss Dorothy Dailey are spending most of the week as interested visitors on the Whitworth campus. Miss Dailey has been teaching this year in the high school at Albon, Washington.

Barber Beefsteak Breakfast

Students and faculty enjoyed a beefsteak breakfast near a little stream opposite Cook's Lake, Wednesday morning, May 29. The breakfast was made possible by a gift from Delilah Barber, '25.

Arriving at the creek at 6:15 A. M. with keen appetites, members of the party secured spits and cooked their steak over a large campfire. Some even brought along frying pans and fried their meat in real style. The early risers then made delicious sandwiches which they enjoyed with piping hot coffee. The novel breakfast was particularly appetizing since it was held out in the open air.

Miss Barber is also a "patron saint" of the Volunteer Fellowship. She is a prominent campus visitor at the Commencement Exercises this week.

Dr. Hays Making Survey

Dr. C. W. Hays, head of the department of classical languages, has been making a survey of some of the smaller high schools in the state of Washington to determine the nature of the load carried by the teachers of latin in those schools. He wishes to determine in a general way what other subjects the teachers of latin are commonly required to teach in those schools. This information will be a guide for Whitworth students majoring in the classics and expecting to teach latin in high school after they leave Whitworth.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cathey, of Port Townsend, are campus visitors this week, having motored over on Tuesday. Mr. Cathey is principal of the high school at Port Townsend, and Mrs. Cathey is a daughter of Dr. O. E. Tiffany, and a cousin of Frank Tiffany of the class of '29.

Everell Sharnbroch's mother, Mrs. Ida C. Sharnbroch, and his brother motored over from Port Angeles on Tuesday and have been campus guests for the remainder of the week.

Who's Who

A rose amidst four thorns, a fragrant cedar amidst four stately pines—that is Zuzu, our own little Zuzu, the only fair member left in the class of '29. This was written by a Senior, so the reader will be able to get the Seniors' point of view.

Zuzu boarded the class ship in the fall of 1927 from Washington State College, and became an added impetus to all the junior activities. It was not long before she felt so at home in Whitworth that she cut loose that famous giggle of hers, and has been happy every since. The year '27-8 ended. She was partly right and partly wrong with Zuzu decidedly certain that she would not be able to return to Whitworth for the following year. She returned, and during the next year, but first she sampled again the institution where, as a freshman, she had dissected cats and dogs and men. However, as the months wore by her longing for her first choice of Alma Mater developed into resolution and soon the resolution intensified itself into action. Back she came to the "Campus of the Friendly Pines," to re-embark with her class-mates for the last run of the voyage.

If one were to propose a toast to Zuzu it would be most fitting and proper to say that she deserves the tribute of being able to hold her own along with a bunch of men. Not a class meeting is held, not a motion is passed, but what the independent and self-asserting voice of Zuzu is heard in dissension. If there's a debate, Zuzu can yell the louder, if there's a fight, Zuzu can kick the harder; if there's an argument, Zuzu can last the longer. Indeed, she is worthy of her place among the men of '29.

Zuzu is an active member of the Uke Club and has spent many a leisure (?) hour practicing in the Town Girl's room. She has a prominent part in the Senior Play, "The Servant in the House," where she takes the role of a young butterfly-type in a very realistic manner.

Although to her fellow-students she is just Zuzu, to the rest of the world the subject of our attention is none other than—Miss Zenola Clapp.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. G. Randal of Seattle drove over from Seattle on Wednesday to spend the remainder of the week visiting their son Lewis who will graduate on Friday. Another son, Dudley, commercial agent for the Pacific Steamship Company, will arrive at Whitworth on Friday morning in time for the graduation exercises.

Mrs. Alma Tiffany, of Meeting Creek, Alberta, arrived in Spokane Tuesday evening to witness the closing exercises of her son Frank's graduation.

Professor Moore To Travel In Quartet

Professor Lyle W. Moore, head of the music department at Whitworth, will travel for the first half of the summer vacation with the same quartet of male voices with which he traveled in the summer of 1927. They will visit the state of Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Wisconsin. In the latter part of the summer he will go to Frankfort, Michigan, to study again with the well-known teacher of voice, Arthur Kraft.

Faculty Entertains Seniors

The seniors were entertained at a banquet in the Mandarin room of the Davenport Hotel by the faculty, on Tuesday evening, June 4. Dinner was served at 6:30 with Professor Hussong acting as toast-master. Dr. Tiffany spoke in appreciation of the loyalty and cooperation of the students and faculty during the past year, and his hopes for the future of Whitworth. The faculty drank a toast to the class of '29 and then called on the various members for short talks. Zenola Clapp spoke on "One Out of Five; Ralph Hansen, "Nothing;" Lewis Randal, "Grand, Square, and Upright;" Frank Tiffany, "The Boys;" and Lee Knoll, "Three Minutes." The banquet was closed by singing the Alma Mater.

Virginia Koyl Honored by Executive Board

At a recent meeting of the Executive Board of the Student Association, a motion was unanimously passed, expressing appreciation for the efficient work Miss Virginia Koyl has done as secretary of the Board during the past year.

Mrs. C. L. Hansen and daughter, Lillian, of Kettle Falls, came down on Wednesday to see the senior play and to remain over for the remainder of Commencement week. Mr. Hansen will come down Friday morning in time to see their son, Ralph, graduate.

Five gold "W" pins, representing recognition for special extra-curricular activities, were awarded in Chapel Friday morning, May 31, by Lewis Randal, Student Association president, and Lee Knoll, vice-president. Those receiving the awards were Everett Shambrook, Natsih editor-in-chief; Louis Keyser, Natsih business manager; Milton Andrews, Natsih advertising manager; Leah Grove, Whitworthian business manager and debater; Margaret Jamison, debater; Janice Schmeiborn, recitational contestant; and Lewis Randal, Whitworthian editor and oratorical contestant.

New Revision of Student Body Constitution Is Under Way

An Executive Board meeting held after Chapel Friday, May 31, authorized the appointing of a committee to investigate the need of constitutional revision, especially in the matter of athletic awards. Lee Knoll was appointed chairman, with Maryin Skaei and Virginia Koyl, to consult Professors Moore and Neuster. After due deliberation, the committee reported that the time was too limited to take any definite and constructive steps in the matter. The Board then authorized the president to modify the committee so that its members might confer together this summer and report more comprehensive revision next fall. Those appointed were Kenneth Knoll, chairman, Maryin Skaei, and Virginia Koyl.

CLASS DAY PROGRAM

Junior Class Presents Gifts To Departing Seniors

On Wednesday, May 29, at 9:30 o'clock, the annual Class Day exercises were held in the Chapel. The program commenced with the most important event of the year, the "Move-Up" song. The Juniors were permitted to move up and take the places left by the august Seniors. The Sophomores then attempted to fill the gap left by the Juniors, while the Freshmen, with great pride and dignity, marched solemnly from their accustomed places into those just deserted by the Sophomores. The Senior Will was read by Ralph Hansen, and the class prophecy by Lily Schwendig. Presentation of the "Key," was made by Lee Knoll, president of the Senior class, to Leah Grove, president of the Junior class. She was instructed that this key would open the doors of knowledge that the Senior class had found so helpful in their last year at Whitworth.

Each member of the Senior class was then given a little token of the high regard in which he or she was held by the Junior class. To Zenola Clapp was given a rolling pin, with the wish that she might have occasion to use it. To Ralph Hansen, was given a pair of shoes, with which he is to make his trips to Seattle this summer. Lewis Randal was given a set of silverware, with the hope that it might be useful. Lee Knoll was given a dime bank to save his money for his trip to Princeton, while Frank Tiffany received the car in which the two will make their trip. Carl Lewis was given an alarm clock, with the sincere hope that he would not allow it to interfere with his sleep. The Seniors each made a speech of acceptance, in which they thanked the Junior class for their deep regard and expressed their appreciation to the Student body for the assistance they have been in past years. Lewis Randal summed up the spirit of the school in his closing words when he said, "Freshman may come, and Seniors may go, but Whitworth goes on forever."
