FALL ENROLLMENT SETS NEW RECORD

Majority of Students Hail From State of Washington

DORMITORIES CROWDED

Growth of College Result of Student Body Enthusiasm

Whitworth opened its halls again with the largest fall-term enrollment in the history of the college. There are at present about 195 students, and before the semester is over the number is expected to reach the two hundred mark. Both dormitories show a decided increase in residents over last year, the men's hall being filled to the limit. Prospects for a large second semester class are greater than ever before.

Eighteen religious denominations are represented. The majority of the students are from Washington, with others coming from Idaho, California, Illinois, Alaska, and Canada.

Ford Bailor, director of promotional activities, says "Spokane students are realizing the advantages to be secured at low cost at Whitworth college. Much enrollment growth is a direct result of enthusiasm of the student body."

Sophomores 54
Juniors 30
Seniors 22

Women's Auxiliary Hold First Meeting

New Officers Are Elected; Mrs. A. C. Baker Is President.

The Women's auxiliary of Whitworth college held its first meeting, September 18, in the form of a tea in the reception room to honor the mothers of new students. The executive board was hostess. The program featured the newly organized music department, and was under the direction of Mrs. Morgan Allen. About sixty were present.

Through the auxiliary, a picture, "Point Lobos," was presented to the college and can be seen in the reception room. The picture shows a section of the California coast near Monterey. The artist, James E. Burney, has several paintings on display at the Century of Progress in Chicago. This painting was received by the auxiliary through the daughters of Mrs. Etta Laughlin Graybill as a memorial to their mother—a former member.

On Monday, October 11, the auxiliary is having a waffle luncheon at the home of Dr. Ward W. Sullivan, for members of the organization, students and friends. The proceeds from the luncheon will be used to finish paying for the chapel chairs.

The regular monthly meeting, in charge of the new president, Mrs. A. C. Baker, will follow the luncheon. During the afternoon, Mr. George Poinar will be presented in violin selections, and Dr. Virgil Whitaker will give a talk.

The chairmen of the committees are Mrs. T. M. Hodgman, membership, Mrs. F. R. Pursey, ways and means, and Mrs. Morgan Allen, program.

Plan One-Act Plays

The play-coaching class expects to present three one-act plays, and one of greater length. The long one will probably be "David Garrick," to be coached by Professor Adams. "Free Wheeling," a play by Dudley Jenkins, has been chosen for the presentation by the cast to be trained by Bob Allison.

THESE ABNORMAL OFFSPRING

COLLEGE EXHIBITS WESTERN PAINTING

Rocky Mountain Artists' Association Oils Attract.

Sixty outstanding paintings of the Rocky Mountain Artists' association were placed on public exhibit in the women's reception room of McMillan hall, last Thursday and Friday.

W. H. Colvin, traveling representative of the association, arranged to have Whitworth included in the itinerary of western schools and colleges.

The exhibit consisted of floral and landscape treatments, handled with varied technique by the artists of the West. Local schools and colleges were invited to attend this free exhibit, presented through the cooperation of the college art department, which is in charge of Miss Hulda Schweer.

Mr. Colvin said that, although not adequately recognized, the state of Washington provides a wealth of beauty for the artists' brush. "Painting," he said, "is a very desirable hobby for one who is interested, but great patience at first is required. The cost for beginners' materials is small. The paintings in this exhibit are not meant to be museum pieces, but are intended for home decoration."

Many people from the city, besides the students, enjoyed the display. Tea was served each afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, with the senior women acting as hostesses.

Miss Esther McRuer Is Guest Artist and Speaker

Miss Esther M. McRuer, board secretary for Young People's work, was the guest artist and speaker in chapel October 5. After whistling two Spanish selections, "Carlita," by Winne, and "Marchita," by Schertzing, she spoke on her visit to Cuba. Her subject was "Viva Cuba Libre!" Miss McRuer was formerly an entertainer in Chattanooga and was known as the "Oklahoma Nightingale."

Daughter of Dean and Mrs. Hardwick Is Visitor

Among the visitors at the college last week was Mrs. Lewis Harris, daughter of Dean and Mrs. F. T. Hardwick, whose home is in Wenatchee. She arrived Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Finlayson and Halycon Kyle, who was graduated from Whitworth last June. The party returned to Wenatchee Thursday afternoon.

FROM THE RECORDS!

Johnny Hedrick Expected to Yell Loudly for Whitworth.

It won't be long before we have another husky athlete for Whitworth, for he is already shouting loudly and giving his rah, rah's! for the Alma Mater.

With a mother who is a P. E. major and a father who is head of the Whitworth athletic department, what won't little Johnny be?

Johnny who? Why, Johnny Hedrick, of course. Johnny was ushered into this old world on June 11, and Whitworth is expecting great things from him some day.

LESTER HUSSEY TO HEAD SENIORS

Various Classes Select Officers for Year.

Meetings were held by the various classes of the college on September 20, for the purpose of electing officers and advisers.

The seniors elected for their president, Lester Hussey, vice-president, Ruthann Jones; secretary-treasurer, Eleanor Goetze; adviser, Professor H. I. Hunsong.

Keith Murray was elected president of the junior class. Faith Helms is vice-president; Jean Ellen Loveless, secretary; Genevieve Wilson, treasurer, and Dr. L. K. Bowersox, adviser.

The sophomores elected Irving Smith, president; Harold Penharrick, vice-president; Wilson Rasco, secretary; Mary Baker, treasurer; Marie DeMerchant, historian; Robert McEachran, sergeant-at-arms; and Coach Arthur Gustafson, adviser.

The freshmen have not as yet completed their organization.

CLASS STUDIES CRIME

Students Planning Trip to State Penitentiary.

The criminology class, under the direction of Professor Hunsong, has been having unusually interesting lectures on such cases as the Leopold-Loeb murder, and will study many more criminal cases during the semester.

At present, the class is anticipating a trip to the state prison at Walla Walla on October 13, which, very conveniently, happens to be the week-end of the Whitworth-Whitman football game. Plans have also been made for weekly trips to the courts and city jail. Through these actual contacts it is believed that the students will be able to get an excellent insight into the existing conditions of crime and criminals.

SOCIOLOGY AND ECONOMICS MAJORS TO BE OFFERED

MR. ADAMS WINS HONOR

Ranked as One of America's Eminent Poets.

Professor William E. Adams, of Whitworth college, recently received a letter from the manager of the Empire Publishing company of Fifth avenue, New York, saying: "We are compiling an anthology of the best poem of each of a large number of eminent American poets. You, having been chosen as one of those whose work will appear in this comprehensive volume, are invited to select what you deem your best poem (published or unpublished) and send it to us for publication." Professor Adams submitted a recent work, "The Passion Flower," which has not yet been in print.

EXECUTIVE BOARD PREPARES BUDGET

Student Funds Larger with Increased Membership of A. S. W. C.

The A. S. W. C. budget for 1933-34, as adopted by the Executive Board, subject to the approval of the student body, is as follows:

Football	$700
Basketball	225
Baseball	125
Tennis	100
W. A. A.	175
Social	100
Whitworthian	300
Debate	60
Volunteer Fellowship	25
Dramatics	60
Philomel	75
Band	25
Handbook	50
Miscellaneous	245
	$2265

The budget is based on an estimated A. S. W. C. membership of 162, as compared with the $2100 budget of 1932-33, based on 150 students, and the $1640 of 1931-32, based on 117.

The appropriation for football has been increased $100 over last year. The Whitworthian has an increased appropriation of $50, and the social appropriation has been increased $20. In view of the ambitious dramatic program of the college, a new budgetary expense of $60 for dramatics has been included.

Micro-Technique Is New Lab Course in Biology

Micro-technique, known as Biology 61, is a new three-hour laboratory course being taught at Whitworth for the first time by Doctor Hedrick. Prerequisites are Biology 11 and 51. It teaches the advanced student the proper methods of fixing, sectioning, and staining tissues.

According to some of the students enrolled in the class, the study of Micro-technique is proving to be exceptionally interesting.

CHURCH SENDS FRUIT

About 250 quarts of canned fruits from the Calvary Independent Presbyterian church at Wenatchee have been brought to Whitworth by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Finlayson. Mr. Finlayson seems to be the official means of Wenatchee-Whitworth fruit transportation, having made trips previous to the two this year. Calvary church has ready another 150 quarts, which will be sent to the college soon. Dr. Frank E. Beatty is the pastor.

Eight New Instructors Are Added to College Faculty.

GIVE FINE ARTS COURSE

Enlarge Music Department to Meet Growing Demands

Majors are to be offered at Whitworth this year in the departments of both economics and sociology, which were formerly united under the department of social science. A completely new subject, fine arts, has also been added. Though the courses in fine arts are as yet only elementary, it is the plan to add to them until a major may be given.

In order to handle the increased enrollment and the new departments, eight instructors have been added to the faculty. Miss Helene L. Landsberg is head of the modern language department. She is a graduate of the University of Iowa, and has had one year's training in Germany. She has also traveled abroad quite extensively. Before coming to Whitworth, she was head of the department of German and French at Davis-Elkins college in West Virginia.

Whack! Then Frosh and Paddle Connect

Freshman Women Are Also Sentenced in Court Trials.

"Assume the position." Then—whack! whack! and another freshman man met the paddle. The bullying "W" club men were the cause of all the disturbance. By some untraced tradition they have the right to assert their superiority in forming rules that the lower classmen must obey.

The every-ready paddle found its mark only after a sufficient misdemeanor. The hubbub came, when some boy, filled with the vim of having been a high school senior, decided that he would not wear his green cap or that he would walk through the front door. Then, of course, there are those that feel that they are not to be dictated to when walking with "the girl" in question.

The freshman women found their initiation less disconcerting than did the men. The sophomore women, however, finally resorted to force, and those of the new girls who failed to obey orders were called before a kangaroo court. The punishment varied from having to wear dresses backwards to sweeping the walk before chapel.

The comments on these commands were amusing. Most of the new dresses look as well one way as the other. Some of the victims said that they liked to sweep the walk because they thus had an opportunity to have their pictures taken. All of which goes to prove the old adage that punishment is all in the mind. Ask any of the men!

Three New Members on Executive Board

The three new members of the executive board are Olive Clarke, Keith Murray, and Dan Fleming. They take the places of Nora Hall, Gladys Gilbert, and Chester Glenn, who were elected last March, but did not return to college this fall.

SOCIETY

ANNUAL PIRATE MIXER IS HELD

Jig-Saw Puzzles Form Maps for Treasure Hunt.

At eight o'clock on the night of Friday, September 22, a desperate looking group, carrying wooden cutlasses thrust into gay sashes, gathered in the gymnasium.

Paper sacks were tied on the hands of each bold pirate and instructions were given him to shake hands with this unique mitten on, and to make as many new friends as he could.

Pieces of jig-saw puzzles were found in the sacks, and the group was required to put the pieces together. Four different maps were made from the pieces, and each company started out in search of its buried treasure. Much country was traversed with the aid of flashlights, and many legs were scratched before the hidden clues, and then the chests filled with marshmallows, were found.

The treasure-hunting groups returned to the bonfires on the football field and toasted the marshmallows. Coffee and doughnuts were also served.

Prizes for the best costumes were given to Jean Ellen Loveless and Busby Swenson. The evening ended with a pep rally, led by Don Frank, in anticipation of the game with Cheney Normal the next day.

The committee in charge of the evening consisted of Melvin Fariss, chairman; Estella Baldwin, Keith Murray, Mark Koehler, and Ruthann Jones.

FACULTY PRESENT ANNUAL PROGRAM

Opportunity Is Given to Students to Meet Instructors.

One of the most important events in our social yearbook came Friday, September 15, when the faculty held their annual reception.

An excellent musical program was presented by various faculty members, and Professor Adams, head of the speech department, gave two readings.

President Sullivan acted as official host to the new students and extended a hearty welcome to the returning undergraduates. For the benefit of the newcomers to the college, Dr. Sullivan introduced each faculty member.

New Women Guests of Whitworth W.A.A.

Entertainment and Mixer Held in Reception Room of McMillan Hall.

The Women's Athletic association held an informal reception in honor of the new women students on September 20 in the women's reception room of McMillan hall.

A short program was given, during which there were solos by Elsie Ratsch and Margaret Quist, accompanied by Genevieve Wilson, a trumpet solo by Nadine Fisher, accompanied by Eugenia Peery; readings by Genevieve Wilson and Ruthann Jones; and short explanatory talks by each of the activity captains in the various sports. Charlotte Slater, the president of the W. A. A., introduced Mrs. Hedrick, the adviser of the organization and women's basketball coach; Miss Jenkins, the dean of women; and Mrs. Hardwick.

After the program there was an informal "get-together." Punch and wafers were served.

ENSEMBLE PLANS TO BROADCAST

Band and Orchestra Elect Officers; Fall Concert to Be Given.

Tentative plans of the band and orchestra, under the direction of George O. Poinar, include many activities for the ensuing semester.

The concert-ensemble expects to broadcast at least once a month. During these broadcasts, trio, duet, and novelty numbers will be featured. The ensemble members are selected from the orchestra. Although the orchestra is nearly the same size as it was last year, it now has the addition of a viola, which was recently purchased by the college. The orchestra provides music for dramatic performances, for receptions, and occasionally for chapel programs.

The band, which is larger this year than previously, plays for athletic contests and pep rallies. A combination orchestra and band concert will be given several weeks before Christmas.

Mr. Poinar is sponsoring a stringed trio, quartet, and other specialty groups. The trio will be composed of William Herbst and Roy Lowell, violins; and Helen Wilson, viola. The quartet will include William Herbst and Roy Lowell, violins; Helen Wilson, viola; and Philip Walborn, cello.

Newly elected officers of the band are: President, Jack Bevan; secretary, Margaret Quist; and business manager, George Mac Dowell.

Officers of the orchestra are: Roy Lowell, president; Eleanor Goetze, secretary; and William Herbst, business manager.

Dan Cupid Shoots Three Fatal Darts

Several Students Are Married During Summer.

Cupid certainly played his role well this summer among Whitworth students, for he shot several fatal darts.

Miss Priscilla Mann and Owen Picton, '32, were married at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, in August.

Miss Ruth Allen forsook her college career to become the wife of Kenneth Lawson, formerly of Spokane, and has traveled far away to Virginia to live.

Another matrimonial knot was tied when Miss Helen Bowker and Francis Noel were wed in Seattle during the month of July. Dr. James W. Counterpane performed the ceremony.

Art Club Elects New Members and Officers

Thirty-eight applications for membership in the Art club were accepted at the first meeting of the year, which was held Friday, October 6, and initiation exercises will be held at the next meeting, scheduled for October 20. The featured speaker for the evening will be Miss Hulda Schweer, and in addition a program of musical entertainment will be presented.

Officers elected at the first meeting were: President, Genevieve Wilson; vice-president, Ruthann Jones; secretary, Mayo Van Austene; and chaplain, Clare Woodward.

CLUBS

Considerable interest is being shown in debate this year, judging from the number of students who have already turned out. Nothing definite is known yet about the debate question or the colleges to be competed with, as the debate season does not start until November.

PRE-MINISTERIAL

The Pre-ministerial association, which meets twice a week, consists of the young men of the college who are preparing for the ministry. The officers are: Harold Penharrick, president; and Paul Koper, secretary-treasurer.

FRENCH

The French club is to have a new name this year, "Le Cercle Français." The club will hold its meetings once every two weeks in class. Great artists, writers, and statesmen of France will be discussed, and short plays will be presented.

ENDEAVOR

The Christian Endeavor society meets regularly on Sunday and Wednesday evenings. Officers recently elected are Robert Hood, president; Paul Koper, vice-president; and Anne Kamm secretary. Committee chairmen are: Tena Lathrop, prayer meeting; Margaret Close, social; Bill Rasco, lookout; Earleen Schiewe, missionary.

FELLOWSHIP

During the summer the Volunteer Fellowship held services at Foothills under the leadership of Robert Grieve. The organization will continue to carry on work during the coming year.

The new officers are Murdock Hale, president; Elsie Rhoades, vice-president; Earleen Schiewe, secretary; program committee, Elsie Rhoades, chairman, Paul Koper, Clare Woodward, Tena Lathrop, and Margaret Close.

TAU SIGMA

Tau Sigma, the science club of Whitworth, has not yet had its first meeting. As many of the members, and all of the officers except Jewell Pyles, have not returned, a complete reorganization is necessary.

SEFELO

The women living in McMillan hall automatically become members of the Sefelo club, which stands for "service, fellowship, and loyalty."

The officers for the first semester are: Estella Baldwin, president; Audrey Simmons, secretary-treasurer; Anne Kamm, house committee; Elsie Aldrich, laundry; Tena Lathrop, reception; Margaret Close, social.

The main functions which the club sponsors are open dorm, the Christmas party, and the spring tea.

GERMAN

Under the leadership of Miss Helene Landsberg, professor of modern languages, the German club of Whitworth college has been reorganized this year, with a new name, "Vorwaerts" ("Forward"). The group will meet officially once every two weeks, either during class period or in the evening. German literature and important events of the German world will be discussed.

At Christmas time, the club will present an entertainment, consisting of Christmas carols and a German play.

PIRETTE

At the first meeting of the Pirettes, held Friday, September 29, Jean Ellen Loveless was elected president; Hazel Holder, treasurer; and Faith Helms, secretary.

Visitors Tell of Travels

Whitworth was recently honored by the presence of two very inspiring speakers. On Friday, September 29, Dr. Robert La Violet, of Seattle, spoke to the students on a few of his personal experiences during his many years in Alaska.

On Monday, October 2, Dr. Van Nuys of Portland gave an entertaining talk on a few personal experiences in the Mediterranean region. He stressed the fact that "if you would seek the wealth of the Indies, you must carry the wealth of the Indies with you."

Discover Unusual Specimens In Halls

Recently Discovered Types Classed as "New Pirettes."

"Yo ho ho, with a bucket of books, they're off to another class!"

While the rest of the college laugh unfeelingly, six ludicrous-looking individuals, carrying water-buckets filled with miscellaneous assortments of books and papers, march bravely, though somewhat self-consciously, down the hall. Upon closer scrutiny, one recognizes in these pale faces, which are now entirely innocent of powder, and such, the familiar features of the six new members of the Pirette club. Their harassed expressions and looks of "do-or-die" determination express as clearly as words their lowly positions as initiates. Imagine, if you can, Marie DeMerchant curtseying politely three times to a gloating "member," and simultaneously touching her pail to the floor with each outstep. And did you ever see such big feet as Christine McDonald's, as she clumps airily hither and yon in Father's pre-war shoes?

Florence Moore's dark glasses, pushed jauntily down toward the tip of her nose, lend her an air of royal dignity not at all lessened by HER enormous footwear. Mary Baker's small hands look even smaller in the shapely canvas gloves that she is affecting; they give her a convincing air of having just come in from digging potatoes, along with the ever-present pail.

If you have any eye for style in women's CHAPEAUX, Louise Picton's bandanna will surely attract and hold your attention draped, as it is, artistically, but simply.

And if you hear orders being given to Tena Lathrop to fetch two wormless apples off the notoriously wormy tree near the corner of McMillan hall, don't start marvelling at the sweet and helpful dispositions to be found at Whitworth, until you consider the fact that requests from members and honorary members are not to be ignored any more than the much-discussed and long-awaited blast from Gabriel's trumpet.

ALUMNI

Miss Vivian Jordan, prominent in the department of dramatics at Whitworth during 1931-32, has enrolled in the junior class of the University of Washington.

Henry Schlomer, '33, is attending the University of Washington, where he is studying for his master's degree.

Leo Peregrine and Orville Elton are working at the Federal Land bank in Spokane.

Alfred Marquam, '33, is attending San Francisco Theological seminary.

Delpha Coffman, '31, has returned to her school in Bickleton, Washington.

At the first fall meeting of the junior class, Charles Benson was elected editor of the 1933 annual, and George MacDowell was elected business manager. Staff appointments have not yet been completed.

Though detailed plans for this year's Natsihi are still a secret, it is understood that Mr. Benson is collecting many individual pictures, with the idea of using a largely pictorial motif.

According to tradition, the officials predict a "bigger and better" book.

professor in the department of English, received his Ph.D. degree at Leland-Stanford university in 1933. He is teaching freshman English and Eighteenth Century literature.

Dr. Carrol E. Amos is head of the department of mathematics and physics. He is a graduate of Denison university, Granville, Ohio, and received his master's and doctor's degrees at Ohio State university. He has pursued his major work in both mathematics and physics.

Dr. James G. Patrick is head of the new department of economics and business administration. He has recently secured his Ph. D. degree in the field of social science from the University of Southern California.

Arthur W. Gustafson, of Berkeley, California, and a graduate of Oregon State college in 1932, is director of the department of physical education. Last year he served on the staff at O. S. C. as freshman football coach. Mr. Gustafson will handle classes in physical education and will coach various college teams.

The new fine arts department is under the direction of Miss Hulda Schweer, graduate of the Art Students' League of New York City. Miss Schweer was graduated from Washington State college, where she majored in the department of fine arts. She has taught for one year in North Central high school and for four years at Washington State college. She is offering courses in drawing, design, and historic styles. Kenneth R. Osborne, of the University of Michigan, is the new director of the music department. He is also professor of theory, organ, piano, and chorus work. He received training under Palmer Ohristian, perhaps the foremost concert organist in America, and has been on the staff of the University of Michigan for the last three years.

Mrs. Ina Wright Herbst has also been added to the music department as instructor of voice. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan and has had considerable training in Europe as well as America. She was formerly professor of voice at Washington State college.

Halcyon Kyle, '33, visited Whitworth a short time ago. She is working as a visiting nurse in her home town, Wenatchee.

SPORTS

PIRATES BATTLE GONZAGA FROSH

Whitworth Gridders Hold Fast Eleven to Lone Touchdown.

An infuriated band of Whitworth gridders held the strong Gonzaga freshmen to a lone touchdown in the second quarter of their game played in the Gonzaga stadium on the evening of Friday, October 6.

Under the brilliancy of the large arcs the two teams battled on virtually even terms throughout the game. Gonzaga scored on a break when a high pass from center went over the Whitworth's backs' heads, and after a scramble was recovered by a Gonzaga man, giving Gonzaga first down and goal to go on the Whitworth one-and-a-half-yard line. On the next two plays Gonzaga pushed over their only score. The kick for point was blocked.

First downs were virtually on even terms, Gonzaga chalking up eight to Whitworth's nine.

The Whitworth passing attack proved a continual threat during the evening. Bobby Gray turned in a good card as a quarter, and with the help of his teammates he completed six passes and had two intercepted out of eleven attempts. Gonzaga's aerial attack did not function well, Gonzaga completing only one pass out of twelve attempts. The Pirates were able to intercept three of the Gonzaga heaves.

Ventris, Whitworth half, was a continual ground-gainer and turned in a superb game, both offensively and defensively.

The entire Whitworth team played heads-up ball. Going into the encounter the under dogs by three or four touchdowns, they played a game that was worthy of any college eleven.

A colorful crowd of some 600 spectators and the Whitworth Pep band added much to the spirit of the game.

Thirty Men Turn Out For Football Squad

Team Is Light But Shifty, Well-coached, and Dangerous

A squad of thirty men is turning out regularly under Coach "Snowy" Gustafson. The players have been working out every afternoon since Wednesday, September 13, and have developed into a hard-fighting, shifty team. Although very light, the men have shown much promise and have developed into a dangerous well-coached team. Bill Williams is football manager.

Those turning out are: Ends: E Miller, Chatterton, Smith, Fleming, and Hale. Tackles: Koper, Bender, Wiley, Calkins, Keiser, Oves, and Woodward.

Guards: Rasco, Clausen, Vicker, Davis, and Wilson. Centers: Hodgins, Fancher, and Whitmarsh.

Quarters: Gray, Kroske, B Miller, and Shaw.

Halfbacks: Ventris, Allison, and Whiteside.

Fullbacks: Moore and Rohrberg.

Forest Travaille, '32, and Miss Leta Mae Muir, '32, were married in Sunnyside on September 5, 1933. They are now both attending San Francisco Theological seminary, San Anselmo, California.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The "W" club is looking forward to a very successful year under the leadership of the new officers who were elected at the first regular meeting of the fall term. Hedley Vicker, who has been outstanding in football and basketball for the last two years, was elected president. Elwin Davis, a football letterman and a scrappy guard on this year's team, gained the office of vice-president. Dan Fleming, former football manager, who turned out to be a real find this year, was chosen secretary; and Earl Miller, who is playing his second year at end, was elected treasurer.

Many Awards Won By Coach Gustafson

Outstanding In Basketball, Swimming, Football, and Baseball

As the Greeks were led by their heroes, Achilles and Ulysses, and as the Anglo-Saxons told many stories of the heroic deeds of Beowulf, so Whitworth hails the arrival of Coach "Snowy" Gustafson as a true modern hero and leader in the field of sport. Coach Gustafson has established a list of athletic achievements in high school and college that is truly remarkable.

He attended the Oakland high school, and in 1925 he was given honors as all-city tackle. In 1926 he repeated the feat, but this time as fullback. He also played basketball and was named on the all-city team as center.

He played second base in baseball and ran the mile on the track team. The school also supported a crew, of which Gustafson was coach and captain. In all, he made fifteen major letters in a high school of 3500 students. In high school he was also president of the senior class, president of the Varsity "O," and vice-president of the student body.

While out of school during the summer months, he swam for the Athens Athletic club. In the summer of 1928 he undertook to swim the Golden Gate, and succeeded.

He was equally successful at Oregon State college, where he made three letters in football and one in basketball. He also belonged to the Sigma Nu champion swimming team, which won five out of six cups to take the college championship in 1930.

During his last year in college, he acted as freshman football coach at Oregon State and had a very successful season.

WOMEN COMMENCE HYGIENE PROGRAM

Nineteen Enroll for Hiking; Basketball to Interest Many.

Hygiene and hiking are the two fall activities that interest women students. Three months of hygiene—it certainly is a good thing that only two credits are to be earned from this source. If four points were required, we should probably see many of the women students wasting away. Just think, hygiene on Monday, Tuesday, even Saturday, until Christmas! Christmas seems far away when one is offered candy.

Hiking isn't so bad, especially these lovely fall days and moonlight nights. Nineteen women, eleven of whom are freshmen, have signed up for the six weeks of hiking.

Immediately following the hiking season, basketball, the only major sport for women, will start. With most of the team of last year back, and many interested freshmen, a good team is prophesied.

Twenty-five Players Go to La Grande

Show Scrappy Resistance Against Oregon Team.

Coach Snowy Gustafson and twenty-five players journeyed to La Grande, Oregon, on Friday, September 29, to play the Eastern Oregon normal eleven. Whitworth was again greatly outweighted, but put up a scrappy resistance that brought admiration from all who witnessed the game. The Oregon men crossed the Whitworth goal five times to take the game by a 35-0 score, three touchdowns being made by intercepting passes.

Crawford, Oregon half, was the mainstay of the normal backfield, being responsible for most of the Normal's scores. Hodgins, Miller, and Fleming played good ball in the Whitworth line, whereas Ventris and Gray were the main sparks in the backfield. Whitworth displayed much more offensive strength in this game than previously.

Before the last Oregon touchdown the Pirate eleven had made a drive of about 70 yards to within scoring distance, when Crawford, the normal half, again intercepted a flat zone pass and turned a prospective Whitworth score into another touchdown for La Grande. Ventris also intercepted an Oregon pass and galloped to within scoring distance, but the gun killed the chance for a Whitworth score.

It looks as if we're heading for the Whitman game with a full supply of injuries. "Boo," Gray, Clausen, Fleming, Ventris, and Whiteside are all laid up with various injuries.

Back Your Team!

Orientation, a course in social procedures, has to its credit eight football men, who seem quite eager to know how to shake hands and how to eat properly.

W. A. A. Organizes Schedule for Year

Elect Charlotte Slater President for 1933-34.

With the beginning of fall classes, the W. A. A., or Women's Athletic Association, immediately started to plan its program for the year.

One of the first duties was to select a new executive board, composed of the president, secretary, and treasurer, with the five captains of women's sports. Charlotte Slater is the new president; Jean Ellen Loveless, the secretary; and Christine McDonald, the treasurer. Adeline Keyser is the basketball manager. Louise Picton will have charge of hiking. Mary Borden Craig will supervise hygiene; Elsie Ratsch, tennis; and Eleanor Goeke, volleyball.

"W" Club Initiates Enjoy Novel Party

Unusual Food and Treasure Hunt Features of Evening

If any of the students wondered why a certain group of college men looked so baggy-eyed and weary Tuesday morning, they might ask them where they spent Monday night. The answer would probably be the same in all cases: in just the opposite place from heaven, or, in other words, at Bob Allison's house, where the "W" club initiation was held. Here the new men had the time of their lives playing some new parlor games, such as "Tinkle Bell" and "Kangaroo Court."

As the initiates were allowed to participate in a very novel but tiring treasure hunt, they all wished to partake of some refreshments before starting. It is needless to say that the "W" men, ever alert and ready to lend a helping hand, had planned for this meal. The new clubmen were fed such dainty tidbits as raw liver, large oysters dipped in castor oil, and enormous onions, which were provided to take away the taste of the goodies.

The men had nothing but praise for the especially well-laid treasure hunt, on which such beautiful and entrancing scenes as the moon shining on the marble tombstones at the dog cemetery and the grand and awe-inspiring sight of the city from the top of Fancher beacon were enjoyed.

After this delightful hiking experience, the men gathered at Mr. Allison's home, where they all enjoyed a real meal of sandwiches, cake and coffee.

Cheney Normal Defeats Whitworth

Cheney Normal proved too much for the much lighter Whitworth team on Saturday, September 23, defeating them by a score of 55-0 in a pouring rain which drenched spectators and players. The game was played on the Normal field before a small, enthusiastic crowd of students.

The much heavier Normal eleven used a varied attack of end runs, line bucks, and crisscrosses to score eight touchdowns. They attempted two passes, both of which were intercepted by Gray, Whitworth quarter.

Although the Pirates were completely outclassed, they displayed lots of spirit and fight, and undoubtedly would have given Cheney a much better game on a dry day.

WOMEN'S DORM IS OPEN TO PUBLIC

Old-Fashioned School Days Are Depicted in Program.

Many of the traditions of the old-fashioned school were brought back to life last Friday night in the McMillan hall open dorm program.

The pupils had old-fashioned desks; slates and slate pencils were much in evidence; and the girls wore pigtails. Miss Marion Jenkins was "teacher."

The city school board representative was to make his Friday call, and a program was being presented in his honor. Bessie Summers, the honored visitor, was dressed as a man in a swallow-tailed coat.

The program began with the school's singing, "School Days." Then the various "inmates" of the women's dorm made a great "display" of their numerous talents.

After the program, McMillan hall was open for inspection, and refreshments were served.

Arrangements were made by Margaret Clipse, general chairman; Olive Clarke, refreshments; and Adeline Keyser, program.

FIFTEEN NEW MEMBERS ADMITTED TO ART CLUB

Interesting Meetings Are Planned for Year's Program.

Bach's "Solo Sonata in G Minor," played by Mr. Poinar, was the feature of the Art club meeting on October 20. The Sonata has five movements and was played without accompaniment. Also on the program were Genevieve Wilson, who read "Gwen's Canyon" from "The Sky Pilot," by Ralph Connor, and Bob Allison, who impersonated Beau Brummel.

The fifteen new members to sign the pledge were Joan Dyar, Roy Farmer, James Penney, Eugenia Peery, Dorothy Cramer, Bob Allison, Helen Ludwison, Margaret Robbins, Charlotte Slater, Frances Jorgensen, Thomas Heald, Isabel Boot, Imogene Cowan, Pauline McCallum, and Eleanor Henderson. The revised constitution and the recorded minutes since December 9, 1930, were read and approved.

Programs promised for a later date are a pipe organ concert by Mr. Osborne; a talk, "Relationship of Designing to the Drama," by Miss Hulda Schweer; and a program of music by Harold Cassill, baritone soloist.

C. E. HOLDS SPOOKY HALLOWEEN PARTY

Entertainment Includes Visit to Chamber of Horrors.

The Christian Endeavor Halloween party, held on Friday evening, October 27, was a very mysterious affair. The entertainment included a visit to the spook chamber, reached by crawling down a long, dark passage, at the end of which was a skeleton.

Earleen Schiewe was chairman of the program committee. Audrey Simmons headed the refreshment committee, and Leslie Carson was in charge of the decorations.

Committee Heads Named

The sophomore class has appointed Gordon Johnson chairman of the social committee. He will have Marie DeMerchant and Ned Chapman as assistants. Clare Woodward was elected class representative to the Social Activities committee.

Daurice Tilden has gone to Wenatchee, Washington, to work.

Maurice Holt, '33, is attending Princeton seminary.

Junior Class Has Party

Annual Event Held at Home of Doctor Bowersox.

At the blow of the whistle the junior class kicked off for their annual fall party at the home of Dr. L. K. Bowersox, class adviser, on Saturday evening, November 11. Paul Koper was in charge, assisted by Jean Ellen Loveless and Hedley Vicker. A novel game called football was played, but most of the yardage and the touchdowns were made on the food.

Hazel Holder was chairman of the entertainment committee and Faith Holms was refreshment committee chairman.

Progressive Party Held by Pirettes

Margaret Johnson Takes Ping-Pong Game as Well as Balls.

The Pirettes entertained themselves at a progressive dinner on November 3. It turned out to be really a ping-pong tournament, however, with that versatile Margaret Johnson taking the prizes as well as the ping-pong balls.

The games were unusual by the fact that the cheering section was often attacked by the enraged contestants, and had to take refuge behind doors or under the table.

Hazel Holder served to the Pirettes Charlotte Slater's favorite dish, clam chowder, and Margaret Johnson furnished the main course. Adeline Keyser produced the finishing touches of dessert and games.

The girls began to leave as soon as they discovered that the football team were not to go to Lewiston until the next morning; for it shall be the duty of the Pirettes "to promote pep," says their constitution.

Freshmen Show Talent in Varied Chapel Program

An interesting variety program was given in chapel by the freshman class on Friday, November 17.

Lou Erickson gave another of his interesting chalk-talks. Music was furnished by Arthur Rorberg, who played a violin solo, by Isabel Boot and Loren Hatcher, who gave vocal solos, and by the double male quartet, accompanied by Elise Aldrich. Florence McEachran gave a reading, and a skit directed by Irene Bell was presented.

Vorwaerts Klub

The Intermediate German class and members of the German club chose the topic "Aviation" for the following interesting program given recently.

A book review of "The Red Knight of Germany" (the story of Baron von Richthofen, great "War Bird of Germany") by Margaret Quist. "Development and Progress of Aviation in Germany: Graf Zeppelin and his Zeppelins" by Paul Gustafson. "Eckener and What He Has Done for Aviation in Germany" by Arthur Rorberg. "Picard—the Balloon—the Rocket Plane and German Interest Involved" by Robert Reese.

Short reports on German aviation in general and of air war, by Mira Ellingston, Frances Jorgenson, and Harold Keiser. During the past week some excellent book reviews of German classics were given on the regular program in class by Margaret Quist, Mira Ellingston, and Robert Reese.

The officers of the German club are Earl Miller, president; Morland Jones, vice-president; Arthur Rorberg, treasurer; and Anne Kamin, secretary.

Arthur Stevenson, '33, is attending Princeton seminary. He reached his destination by hitch-hiking.

Hugh Bronson, '32, is working in Montana, instead of returning to San Anselmo.

FACULTY HOLDS DINNER PARTY

Mrs. Herbst and Kenneth Osborne Are on Program.

An informal banquet, attended by members of the Whitworth faculty and their wives, was held in the college cafeteria on the evening of November 8.

After dinner the guests assembled in the reception room for a short program. Mrs. Ina Wright Herbst and Kenneth Osborne, both of the college music department, presented two numbers; Mrs. Herbst singing, accompanied by Mr. Osborne. Ford Bailor showed some of his own moving pictures of Whitworth college life, after which President Sullivan made an announcement of events planned for the near future.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank R. Fursey and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carlson were guests of honor. Dr. Fursey and Mr. Carlson are members of the board of trustees.

Turkey for Thanksgiving

Students Who Cannot Go Home Will Celebrate at Dorms.

The appetizing odor of turkey with all its trimmings will lure students and faculty members to a big family Thanksgiving dinner at 3 o'clock on November 30. The dining room will be decorated, and the tables will have place cards.

After dinner, singing and games in the reception room will complete the celebration.

Since the short vacation does not allow enough time for most of the students to go home, this celebration is planned to take the place of family celebrations.

President and Mrs. Sullivan always join the students on this occasion.

Welcome New Members at Evening Track Meet

The Volunteer Fellowship welcomed its new members into the organization on Friday evening, October 20, with a party in the college library. A track meet was held, in which races, throwing of "discuses" and "shots," jumping, and competitive yelling took place.

After refreshments of coffee and doughnuts were served, the group adjourned to the women's reception room, where a candlelight service was held.

DEBATERS START WORK

This year's debate question concerns the advisability of making the increased presidential powers permanent. Doctor Bowersox has a group of twelve turning out now, and wants all others who are interested to see him immediately. Active work on speeches will begin shortly. A practice debate with Gonzaga has been scheduled for early December. Mel Fariss is the manager for this year.

Dorothy A. Hale, sister of Murdock and Roger, who was graduated from New Jersey College for Women, Rutgers, New Jersey, last June, stopped recently to visit her brothers on her way home to Lake Chelan. She had been in the East for eight years.

HOME-COMING

Paul Koper; gym, Roy Snipes; and tables, Jean Ellen Loveless.

Other committees working for the success of the 1933 home-coming are:

Field: Mark Koehler, general chairman.

Pep assembly and bonfire program: Don Frank, chairman; Faith Helma, Harold Eastburg, Bill Rasco, and Charles Benson.

Publicity: Charles Benson, chairman.

WITS'-WORTH

Keith Murray: My uncle in Scotland just sent me his photograph. Mel Fariss: What does he look like?

Keith: I don't know. I haven't had it developed yet.

Faith calls Rusty maple syrup because he is such a refined sap.

Vistor: Yes, I came all the way from Seattle to see your wonderful collog.

Tommy Ventris: Somebody's been fooling yuh. I don't own it.

The dumbest girl in the collog is the one who thinks that the scrub team exists merely for the purpose of washing the regulars.

Scientists say that a student should get eight hours of sleep every day, but many deny that this is possible. They say that no one could carry eight subjects.

Vicker: "Your daughter has consented to be my bride."

Borden's Pa: "Well, don't come to me for sympathy. You might know that something would happen to you, hanging around here five nights a week."

Jack Bevan, as the team goes by: "Look. There goes Ventris, the halfback. He will soon be our best man."

Quist, grabbing his arm: "Oh, Jack. This is so sudden."

Some football players are half-back on the gridiron and away back on their studies.

Echoes and Encores

The Whitworth Ensemble, under the direction of George O. Poinar, gave a program at the Pacific Avenue Christian church on Friday evening, October 27.

On Monday and Tuesday, November 6 and 7, the ensemble furnished the music for the production of "Pygmalion and Galatea" at the Spokane Little Theatre.

The ensemble will be featured over station KGA on Tuesday, November 14, from 9 to 9:30 p. m., and every second Tuesday in the future. The ensemble will alternate with other activities.

The Whitworth college music department gave a musical program at St. Paul's Methodist church Sunday evening, November 12. Mrs. Mildred Stephens sang a solo, and other numbers were given by the chorus; women's trio, men's quartet, and concert ensemble. The main address of the evening was given by President Ward W. Sullivan, and the Scripture was read by Dean F. T. Hardwick. Kenneth L. Osborne played the organ prelude.

The Friday Musical club will feature George O. Poinar as guest artist in a group of violin solos tomorrow evening in the Elizabethan room of the Davenport hotel. He will be accompanied by Miss Marian Schimke.

On December 12, Mr. Poinar has been asked to be guest artist at a program of the Bel Canto club.

The Concert Ensemble furnished the music for the Men's Dinner club of Westminster Congregational church Tuesday evening, November 14.

The Lewis and Clark high school will present Kenneth L. Osborne in a pipe organ recital on Friday evening, November 24. This program, sponsored by the Art club, is open to the public.

IDAHO YEARLINGS TAKE WHITWORTH

Large Crowd Witnesses Exciting Game on Dads' Day.

The "beards and brawn" of the Idaho freshmen proved too much for the lighter Pirate eleven: the yearlings pushed over two scores and converted both times, to defeat the college eleven 14-0 in the football game played on the home field as the main event of "Dads' Day," on Friday, November 10.

Whitworth eleven again was hopelessly outweighed, and had to resort to an aerial attack as the only effective ground gainer. The Pirates attempted sixteen passes, completing six and having one intercepted. Smith, Whitworth end, snagged several beautiful heaves for long Whitworth gains, once being downed on the ten-yard line, where the Whitworth threat was stopped when a pass was incomplete in the end zone. Gray also carried a punt deep into Idaho territory and Whitworth again passed incomplete into the end zone after several ground plays failed to gain yardage.

The Idaho men scored in the first period on a wide end run after a steady march down the field, and on a long well-placed pass that was completed over the goal line. In all, the visitors attempted five passes, completed two, and had one intercepted.

Idaho chalked up nine first downs to Whitworth's six, gained 140 yards from scrimmage and lost 25 yards. Whitworth's total gain from scrimmage was 79 yards; loss, 39 yards. Each team was penalized six times for 40 and 30 yards respectively.

The officials were as follows: Quackenbush, Umpire; Buckley, Referee; Hoagland, Head Lineman; Hedrick, Timer.

Prospects Look Good with Seven Lettermen Back.

As the football season ends, the spotlight turns to basketball, and Coach Gustafson has already begun plans for this season. From his record he should turn out a smooth-working outfit. He played in the high school squad four years, and was twice selected all-city enter in Oakland. After he was graduated from high school, he played for two years as forward for the Athens Athletic club. As a frosh at O. S. C., he played forward, and then played guard for two years in the varsity squad, making a letter in his senior year.

Basketball turnouts will begin about a week after Thanksgiving and will continue for several weeks, before the squad is cut. The varsity squad will have about twelve or fifteen players, with a reserve squad for all those interested.

Coach Gustafson plans to use a five-man moving defense with a fast break down the floor and set plays. Mark Koehler and Bill Williams, of the freshman class, are high

with DON FRANK

Well, once again we take up the task of writing "ye old column" with the sincere hope that we pick up some little bit of news or dirt that will be of interest to those who thoughtlessly waste their time reading this?????

Well, gang, "How's about it?" Do we score tomorrow, or do we chalk up a big, goose-egg as Whitworth's total scores this season?

Let's have everybody out and get those Panthers. After all, a few points would "look good" in the set-up.

Judging from the statements of Guy L. Rathbun, Intermountain coach, "they don't seem to come much better" than the fellows he's got on his outfit.

A man by the name of Girrus is given special credit. It seems that these Intermountain students rate him as All-Western material or something. Perhaps we had better clamp down on this threat.

Dobbins, their quarter, is rated as one of the best forward passers in Montana (quote). Well, with the passing of Gray and Boo, there should be quite a few footballs floating in the air tomorrow.

Dormitory students and a few town men got together and gave the varsity a light scrimmage last Tuesday afternoon.

Our "on the spur of the moment" idea for Dads' day brought out some twelve or fifteen dads. Too bad there couldn't have been more.

Clifton Hussey, '32, is teaching school in Hanford, Washington.

Evelyn Chapman, '32, is working in a store in Spokane.

Ethel Chapman, who attended Whitworth for two years, is attending Washington State college.

Women Will Start Basketball Practice

First Team Will Schedule Intercollegiate Games.

Women, whether they are interested in basketball from the intercollegiate standpoint or whether they are interested merely in having a lot of fun, are urged to turn out for basketball Monday, November 20. "More basketball for more women" is to be the program for the next three months.

To have or not to have a basketball team has been the question for some time. Finally a program has been arranged, whereby every woman who turns out will have an active part in this winter sport. Mrs. Hedrick will again handle the coaching, and practices will be held in the afternoon.

An intercollegiate team will be picked from the squad; but this does not mean that those who fail to make the team won't have a chance to play, for it is planned to organize several teams.

Interest has been particularly high because there has been considerable uncertainty as to whether it would be possible to have an intercollegiate team.

The W. A. A. has done some worrying, too; because Adeline Keyser found it necessary to resign her position as basketball manager and because Mrs. Hedrick feared that she would not have the time to handle the coaching.

Now everything is settled, at least partially; for the women will have an intercollegiate team. Mrs. Hedrick will coach, and the position of manager will be handled by the W. A. A. executive board.

The Women's Athletic association appeals especially to new women to turn out for practice, to help make this a big athletic year for Whitworth women.

The Spokane Chronicle's column of "Northwest Verse" has published more than twenty poems written by students at Whitworth, several of whom write under a pseudonym.

Janet Williams, '33, is attending the University of Washington, where she is studying for her master's degree.

LEWISTON GAME FULL OF THRILLS

Both Teams Threaten Goal, But Game Ends in Scoreless Tie.

The Whitworth Pirates and the Lewiston Normal Pioneers battled to a scoreless tie last Saturday in a game which was filled with thrills every minute. Both teams had good chances to score, but failed to capitalize on them.

Lewiston received the first break of the game during the first few minutes, when a Whitworth back fumbled a punt and Lewiston recovered on Whitworth's thirty-yard line. They drove to the fifteen-yard marker, where the Pirates stiffened and took the ball on downs. The rest of the first half was played mostly in Lewiston's territory.

Whitworth started the second half off with a bang, throwing a pass which was completed, and which was good for 35 yards, carrying the ball to the Lewiston ten-yard line, but here a penalty for an illegal shift brought the ball back to the fifty-yard mark, and the chances for a score were lost.

The game seesawed back and forth until the fourth quarter, when Whitworth's passing attack began to function and the Pirates drove the ball to the Lewiston two-yard line, but here a Lewiston man broke through and spoiled Whitworth's chances again.

In the line Keiser, E. Miller, and Bogenreif were outstanding. In the backfield there was no outstanding man, as everyone played a good, steady game.

Whitman Gridders Down Pirate Eleven

Band and Student Groups Accompany Team to Walla Walla.

Whitman warriors had little trouble in downing the visiting Whitworth eleven by a 32-0 score on the afternoon of October 14. The band and a group of students accompanied the squad to Walla Walla.

Whitman crossed the Pirate goal line in every quarter and twice in the third canto. Two of the counts were made on long passes, Gibson to Cummins; and two on long dashes by Gibson, flashy Whitman quarter, who broke away for a 50-yard dash in the third quarter and returned a punt 55 yards for another score. Wooten carried the remaining score after a steady march down the field.

Whitworth came to life in the second half of the contest and chalked up their only seven first downs. Allison and Moore showed flashes of first-class ball carrying, breaking through for several long gains.

Whitman made 11 first downs to Whitworth's 7, completed 2 scoring passes in 11 attempts, and intercepted one. Whitworth's aerial attack was more effective, and 6 out of 10 heaves were completed, while three passes were intercepted.

THREE-ACT OPERA OSBORNE'S CHOICE

"Cloches De Cornville" to Be Presented in Spring.

PARTS NOT YET CAST

Action Laid in Time of Reign of Louis Fourteenth.

"Cloches De Cornville," a light opera in three acts, will be presented sometime during the first two weeks of March by the music department of Whitworth college. It is under the direction of Kenneth L. Osborne, of the music department.

The cast has not yet been chosen, as singers are still competing for both principal and chorus parts.

The opera, which was composed by Jean-Robert Plaqueotte, is better known as "Chimes of Normandy." It was first published in Paris in 1877. The action is laid in the time of Louis XIV. The plot centers in a haunted castle, ghostly chimes, a miser and his gold, a handsome nobleman, a heroine who has great difficulty in claiming her property, and a brave young fisherman who switches his attentions rapidly from one girl to another, according to which one happens to be known as the heiress at that particular time. The poor fellow guesses wrong in the end.

The light, flowing melodies and graceful "bell music" of the score have made this opera a perennial favorite with all audiences.

Twenty-One Students Make Honor Roll

Senior Average Highest by Margin of Three Points.

Keith Murray, a junior, won highest individual honors for the first quarter with a total of 47 grade points earned for 19 hours of work. Second honors went to Ruth Jones, who carried 19 hours, for a total of 44 points.

Other students who won place on the honor roll are: Douglas Macintyre, Carol Smith, Harold Penhalurick, Helen Ludwigson, Elsie Rhoades, Robert Reese, Joan Dyar, Eugenia Peery, Estella Baldwin, Elsie Ratsch, Lester Hussey, Mark Koehler, Paul Gustafson, Olive Clarke, Nadine Fisher, John Finkbeiner, Mary Borden Crain, David Glenn, and Dorothy Reed.

Semester class averages based on grade points are:
Seniors 26.
Sophomores 23.9

The individual grade point average was 21.5.

HEDRICK WINS HONOR

Bird lovers of Whitworth will be interested in knowing that Dr. Hedrick has been recently elected a director of The Spokane Bird club. The club has a large membership, composed of people interested in bird science. On February 7, Dr. Hedrick will give a talk before the club on the subject, "Parasites on Birds."

HITCH-HIKERS ROBBED

Former Students Lose Small Change—Cash Overlooked

As two former Whitworth students, Loris Winn and Gene Topping were hitch-hiking to the State College from Spokane Sunday evening, three young men offered them a ride. The hikers accepted, but two miles farther on they were walking again after being relieved of 58 cents and an empty billfold.

The young robbers evidently were novices, for they overlooked $8 which Winn had in a pocket and $30 which Topping had concealed on his person.

STUDENT GIVES PUPPET SHOW

John Finney Dramatizes Humorous Stories For Marionettes

The play-coaching class could take a lesson from John Finney. When he presents a play, he can make the actors do just what he wants them to do, for he has strings on them.

When John was in the eighth grade, he made his first puppet show. This consisted of a cardboard suit box in which paper figures cut from magazines were the characters. Next he made a theater of an apple box and used celluloid dolls to enact his plays. This served until his junior year in high school, when he made a larger show, using home-made marionettes. Finally he built the large stage which he now uses.

On the front of his new theater is painted a picture in modernistic art, which supposedly has a special dramatic significance. There is a snake draped over the limb of a tree. On the ground is half an apple, out of which a bite has been taken. He calls it "The First Drama in History," explaining that Adam is in hiding and Eve is out hunting a fig leaf.

The puppets which act on this stage have cloth bodies and moulded heads. They are managed by John and his mother. John talks for the men and boys; his mother for the women and girls.

RASCO IS GIVEN SNIDER AWARD

The Snider Cup Memorial award for the most inspirational player on the football squad was won this year by William (Rusty) Rasco, a sophomore.

This cup was presented to the college by Mr. and Mrs. David Soltau in 1931 in honor of James Snider, who died during the mid-season of the 1930 football year. It is presented each year to the player who, according to his teammates, is the most inspirational. The first year it was won by Ray Lavender and Arthur Roberts, who tied for first place in the vote. For 1932, it was presented to Tommy Ventris.

Although he weighed only 115 pounds and was handicapped by injuries much of the season, "Rusty" was a red-headed package of dynamite when released on the field. He played "heads up" ball all the time and the opposition always knew that they were against a fighter when "Rusty" was in the game.

Coach Gustafson, when speaking of him, said, "Rusty won the award not only because of his outstanding conduct on the field, but because of his high moral conduct off the field as well."

FORMER STUDENT TALKS

States Reason for Most Crime as Economic.

An interesting talk on the subject of "What Makes a Criminal?" was given before the criminology class by Mrs. Milton Andrews (Janice Schermerhorn) on Wednesday, November 9. Mrs. Andrews based her address on first-hand information concerning an inmate of the state penitentiary at Walla Walla. Her conclusion in this case was that "the crime came from economic causes leading to social disadvantages in the life of the young man."

This thought corresponded to that expressed by Prosecuting Attorney C. W. Greenough in his recent address to the class.

DEBATE SEASON BEGINS

Team to Be in Intercollegiate Debates at Moscow.

Eleven men have turned out for debate this year, according to Mel Fariss, debate manager. They are Keith Murray, Clark Cople, Murdock Hale, Paul Koper, Glenn Barns, Graham Potter, Roy Farmer, Clare Woodward, Paul Gustafson, Philip Walborn, and Mel Fariss.

Whitworth will participate in an intercollegiate debate tournament to be held at Moscow, Idaho, January 20. The colleges taking part will be the University of Idaho, Washington State college, Gonzaga university, Spokane Junior college, Yakima Junior college, and Whitworth college. Whitworth will enter at least two, and possibly three, teams in the tournament.

GORDON JOHNSON WINS NOMINATION

Entrance Examinations to Be Given at Fort Missoula.

Gordon Johnson, a sophomore at Whitworth college, has been nominated for appointment to West Point military academy, according to the announcement made at Washington, D. C., by Representative Sam B. Hill in a recent Associated Press report.

Gordon is the son of Attorney E. Ben Johnson. He was graduated from North Central high school in June, 1932, where he was in the upper section of his class.

Competitive examinations for entrance will be given March 6, at Fort Missoula, Montana. If he passes these successfully, Gordon leaves for West Point, July 2, for four years.

CHANGE LETTER AWARD

Bob McEachran Basketball Manager; Schlomer Assistant.

At a recent meeting of the executive board of Whitworth college, an amendment was made to the effect that in Section three under Article four, the words "bearing upon it the insignia of the respective sport," shall be omitted. Section three now reads "Men's letter for major activities shall be a six and one-half inch full block 'W' of red chenille on a black felt background. The letter for minor activities shall be a five-inch black chenille full block 'W' on a red felt background."

At the same meeting, Robert McEachran was approved as basketball manager and John Schlomer as assistant manager.

HEDRICK DESIGNS OVEN

Dr. Hedrick has designed and put into operation various equipment to be used in conjunction with the course in Micro-technique. Especially interesting is a paraffin oven, used in keeping specimens at an even temperature. It was constructed, under Dr. Hedrick's supervision, by a carpenter. Certain reports, however, suggest that it might possibly be a remodeled ice-box.

PATRICK WRITES THREE-ACT PLAY

"Antony and Cleopatra" to Be Senior Class Production.

PRACTICE STARTS SOON

Date of Presentation Is Set for Early February.

"Antony and Cleopatra," a three-act comedy, written by Dr. J. G. Patrick, has been chosen as the 1934 senior play. Practice will start immediately after the Christmas holidays, under the direction of Prof. W. E. Adams. According to Mr. Adams the play will be given early in February. Those taking parts are Ruthann Jones, Charlotte Slater, Lester Hussey, and William Herbst.

Dr. Patrick has written about twenty-four plays, which have been produced at Spokane university and the Pacific Avenue Christian church. One of his plays, "Riding the Cowboy," was presented at Whitworth college several years ago.

Recently Dr. Patrick has been devoting his time to writing magazine articles. One, "The Interracial Friendship Circle," is to appear in an early issue of Sociology and Social Research. This article is based on his study at the University of Southern California of a group which he organized of Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and Mexican graduate students.

Whitworth May Get Conference Rating

Will Not Enter Northwest Association Before Next Year.

According to President W. W. Sullivan and Coach "Snowy" Gustafson, Whitworth is not yet ready to make application for membership in the Northwest College Athletic conference. This move, however, may be made next year.

The Associated Press stated recently that Paul Murphy, president of the conference, said that Whitworth is planning to ask for admission at the annual meeting slated this week in Portland.

Members of the Northwest conference now are: Linfield, Pacific university, Willamette, Columbia, College of Puget Sound, Whitman, College of Idaho, and Albany college.

If Whitworth should make application for membership next year, it will be placed on probation for one year before final action can be taken by the Conference.

Not only football, but basketball, baseball, track, and tennis are under the auspices of the Conference. This year Whitman was the only Conference team that Whitworth was stacked against.

CASSILL ON PROGRAM

Harold Cassill, baritone soloist, was the guest artist at the Art club meeting on Wednesday evening, December 20. The Whitworth string trio assisted Mr. Cassill in the program.

DEAR SANTY

Here it is, almost Christmas, and by this time Santy Claus should have our letter. We were almost afraid to mail it for fear Santy doesn't have what we want in his pack, and we don't like to be disappointed. But, anyway, you might like to read about what we're hoping for.

Dear Santy Claus:

Could you please look around in your pack, and find us a nice, cozy little office? But not too little, Santy, because it has to be big enough for about ten persons who have lots of arms and legs. And, Santy, please put several windows in the office, because our news is "hot stuff." And, Santy, we just simply have to have some typewriters, or at least a new ribbon and a new leg for our old typewriter. We will hang one of Murdock's stockings up in front of Ballard hall so you won't have to bother coming down the chimney, because the office might get stuck. Oh, and Santy, do you suppose you could find us a cute little telephone, and some pencils?—and we must have some tables and chairs.

Maybe this sounds like a pretty big order, Santy; but we've tried to be good all the year, and honest Injun, it's awful hard putting out a paper when we have no headquarters. You ought to know how it is, Santy, because without your North Pole, I'll bet you never would get things enough made for Christmas.

Hoping you won't forget us,

A Harassed Staff.

P. S. And could you please send us some feature stories?—and, Santy, we do so need some editorials.

A. H. S.

COLORS OF THINGS

Lately we have been noticing the color of things, and it strikes us that it isn't only bank accounts that are going in for red.

One of the most noticeable changes in color has been in advertising, a change due to Neon signs. From quite a distance the glow from a city now has a reddish cast; and if you half close your eyes as you look down a city street, you see what looks like a red ocean. Another place where red is predominant is in the paper book jackets, which are, of course, designed to sell the book rather than to keep off the dust as they used to be. The more glaring the colors and the more unusual the design, the more intriguing seems the subject matter.

And then look at automobiles. Who but a fire chief would have dared to venture forth in good society a few years ago in a red car? Speaking of automobiles reminds us of red lights, and red lights call to mind the frequency of color-blindness which motorists experience on approaching intersections. According to this rapidly spreading condition, advertisers would do well to change their color note. What is amazing, though, is that red should always appear to be green.

Colors in general seem to be more daring in their combinations and more glaring in their hues than they were some years ago. Our reason for noticing red in particular may have been that we were "seeing red" or that we were looking at the world through rose-colored glasses; but really it was just that it is MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Echoes and Encores

A new musical group has been organized by the music department—the string quartet. The quartet is composed of George O. Poinar, first violin; Roy Lowell, second violin; William Herbst, viola; and Philip Walborn, cello. This group made its first appearance in a chapel program, where it presented "Emperor Variations," by Hadyn, and "Canzonetta," by Mendelssohn. The quartet also played on the regular ensemble radio program, on December 5; and furnished music for Mothers and Dads' night and for the Art club program December 20.

A string trio, composed of Roy Lowell, William Herbst, and Philip Walborn, recently played for the Kiwanis club and the Lions club at the Davenport hotel. On December 2, the trio played at Knox Presbyterian church.

The concert ensemble made its first appearance in chapel November 24. Its program included "Traumerai," by Schumann; "Song Without Words," by Tchaikowsky; "Minuet," by Mozart; and "The Heavens Are Telling," by Hadyn. The band, in uniform, presented two Bach chorales and a march at a chapel program on Friday, December 8.

George O. Poinar was the assisting artist at the Bel Canto club concert Tuesday, December 12. He is to be featured as the guest artist at a concert sponsored soon by the Whitworth auxiliary in the golden room of KFPY studio.

The Philomel club, which includes everyone taking chorus, had several engagements for programs of Christmas carols and chorales. Some of these programs were sung by the entire chorus, and others by smaller groups.

The engagements are as follows: December 8, Valleyford school; December 12, Radio program on Whitworth hour; December 13, Longfellow school; December 15, Dads and Mothers' night, Whitworth college; December 18, Women's Auxiliary, Crescent auditorium; December 19, Radio program on Whitworth hour; December 21, Presidents' council, Crescent auditorium; December 21, Hour's evening program, 8 p. m.

ANNE KAMM IN HOSPITAL

Anne Kamm is recuperating from an appendicitis operation at the Deaconess hospital.

Anne was operated on last Saturday and expects to be home around Christmas.

Murdock Hale Is Ill

Murdock Hale, president of the Volunteer Fellowship, has been ill at his home near Lake Chelan since the trip made by a group to Wenatchee.

Give Christmas Program

The Volunteer Fellowship gave a Christmas program for the members of the Foothills church on December 17. In spite of the difficulties afforded by the wind and rain and the balkiness of their respective Fords, Mr. Jenner and Bob Hood safely escorted the crowd.

The two most popular plays that the miniature actors put on are "The Medicine Men," a story contrasting the medical treatment of China and America; and "The Three Little Pigs." In the last three weeks John has shown these two programs to nearly one thousand persons.

Among numerous stories which he has dramatized are "St. George and the Dragon," an Easter story called "Mrs. Bunny," and a tale of old Holland entitled "The Boy and the Dragon."

GUMDROPS FOR FAVORS

Colorful Football Men Represent Opposing Teams.

Colorful little gumdrop football men with walnut heads greeted the arrivals at the football banquet on Friday evening, December 8. These attractive favors held the place cards. The tables were arranged so that the speakers' table, which was slightly elevated, was across one end of the room, and the three other tables were perpendicular to it. The center table of these three was decorated with flowers and a band of the college colors, red and black. At each of the other tables were football fields in miniature, with dolls dressed in colors to represent games that had been played during the football season.

The games represented were those played with Intermountain Union, Cheney, and Whitman. For the game at Walla Walla, the dolls were dressed in convict stripes. The printed programs were in two combinations of colors: green and silver, and pink and gray.

Group from College Goes to Wenatchee

Students Conduct Services at Presbyterian Churches.

Under the auspices of the Volunteer Fellowship a group of Whitworth students represented the college in Wenatchee, Sunday, December 10.

At 9 o'clock Saturday morning a gay group left the campus in the college Buick. Those comprising the party were Dr. Ward W. Sullivan, Estella Baldwin, Olive Clarke, Murdock Hale, Keith Murray, and Paul Koper. They reached Wenatchee early in the afternoon.

Saturday evening Miss Florence Baker, a former student at Whitworth, entertained the group in her home.

The Sunday morning service of the Calvary Independent Presbyterian church, of which Dr. Frank E. Beatty is pastor, was given over to the college group. At this meeting Estella Baldwin was speaker, Paul Koper presided and also sang a solo, and Olive Clarke and Keith Murray sang a duet. The evening services of the First Presbyterian church were also in charge of the students.

Sunday afternoon the students sang for Mr. C. W. Finlayson, a great friend of the college, who is at present confined to his home by illness.

Monday morning after making a trip to Lake Chelan, the group started for Spokane. They arrived at Whitworth late that afternoon.

WHITWORTHIAN

Not weighted down by pomp of yesterday,
Clinging to outgrown tempos
staid and slow,
But marching free as swings our own young West
Making our own tradition as we go.

Here in our wide green valley circled
By lapis mountains clothed in sentinel pine,
Here where the winds and waters make their prayer
Straight to the Godhead, from their source divine.

Here with our own broad land our dream shall grow
Strong with the years, as stone on stone we build
A greater Whitworth, reaching wide her arms
'Till West and East, her mighty halls have filled.

And when that time shall come,
grant Thou, Lord God,
Our credo still is service, that we see,
With vision clear, beyond the pride of power,
Remembering all our gifts have come from Thee.
—Rene Albourne de Pender.

The dormitories will be closed during the holidays.

The Vacuum Cleaner

by Willie Tell.

Well, boys and girls, just to spoil your happy Christmas, here is Willie Tell, the Swiss Cheese, to shatter the peace and quiet of the Yuletide season with some juicy bits of scandal and a few bum jokes. Safe no more the lovely paths That wind among the trees; In every dell lurks Willie Tell, And sees, and sees, and sees!

We just remembered a few things we heard about Mark (Under-the-Table) Whiteside, the Central Valley Comet, who disappointed the basketball team by not turning out for practice the Saturday after the football banquet. It's beginning to look as if Whiteside weren't one of those cast-iron guys we thought he was.

Getting away from that sort of thing, Willie Tell reflects that the way Bill Williams carried on at the last two banquets, he's lucky he didn't Dyer something.

All of which brings us to the Liver and Onion Song, "Annie Doesn't Liver Onion More."

After neatly dodging a shower of bad eggs and tomatoes for that one, Willie is back to ask whether you have heard the latest about Mrs. Miller's son, Boo. Boo is trying to dodge a red-headed woman who follows him out to school to see what he is doing in his leisure time. When interviewed about the situation, the poor victim gave out the following statement: "This Dearing woman is a swell kid for somebody that likes a live wire, but when a guy has blown his fuse, what good is a live wire?" So Boo is temporarily headed for quieter fields.

Just to change the subject, we've noticed that the little stimulation Ralph Phelps has been getting on Saturday nights has seemingly made a new man of him. Phelps surprised everybody by becoming a dark horse in the well-known Peery Sweepstakes. At this writing, it looks like a four-cornered race, with Benson, McEachran, Phelps, and Finney as the probable starters. A new entrant may complicate things later, but in the present set-up Willie Tell has his money on Phelps, especially since McEachran has been showing more than casual interest in a winsome blonde named Jorgenson.

To ease the tension, we come at you with Dave Glenn's theme song: "I Kamm Give You Anything But Love, Baby."

Or, if we want to get real tough about it, we lead a left and a right, and then right between the eyes we let you have Mayo Van Austene's theme song: "Can't You Hear Me Collins, Caroline?"

"All things come to an end," murmured Earl Miller, as he prepared to ask his date to the football banquet.

When you recover, we want to ask you whether you know that: Elise Aldrich is trying to reform Mark Koehler—without any noticeable results, so far?

Peggy (One more Drag) Brindell has her eye on a new victim?

And so, friends, the Vacuum Cleaner is reluctantly shut off for a year or so—well, anyhow until the next Whitworthian comes out. So long till next time,
WILLIE TELL.

Theatre Arts Magazine Is Gift to Library

The Theatre Arts monthly, one of the best magazines in its field, is now being received by the library, beginning with the December issue. It is the gift of a former student, Miss Alma Lauder, Moscow, Idaho, and was obtained through Prof. W. E. Adams, of the speech department. It deals with the theatre and various phases of the drama, and includes photographs and illustrations, and occasionally a whole play.

SPORTS

PIRATE CAGERS MEET LEWISTON

Two Games Lost to Fast Idaho State Normal Quintet.

Whitworth hoopsters journeyed to Lewiston, Idaho, to meet the strong State normal five in two games on November 15 and 16. Although the games were hard fought, Whitworth's inability to find the basket gave Lewiston a 43-15 win in the first contest and a 45-25 victory in the second.

In the first game Ventris led the scoring for the Pirates with 8 points; in the latter part of the game he was put out on personal fouls, as was Wilson. Heavy fouling marked both games, Whitworth having 18 personals called in the first encounter.

In the second fracas, Miles with 13 counters and Stonebrocker with 11 led the scoring; Gray with 9 points was high for Whitworth. Penhalurick, Pirate center, left the game on personal fouls. In the second half Whitworth played neck and neck with Lewiston, each five chalking up 19 points.

Twelve Basketball Games on Schedule

Ten Men on Present Squad; Good Showing Made.

Twelve games have already been scheduled for this basketball season, five for the home floor. The schedule, however, is far from completed; six tentative games and many other contests will be arranged later.

Four games are planned with Lewiston normal and the same number with the Gonzaga yearlings. Coeur d'Alene Junior college and Plummer Athletic club also have several places on the Whitworth schedule, and other games will be arranged later in the season.

APPOINT "BOO" MILLER

Interclass Basketball To Swing Into Action After Holidays

Interclass basketball will swing into action after the holidays. According to tentative plans there will be three teams, Upperclassmen, Sophomores, and Freshmen; and each team is to play a series of three out of five games with the other two teams. Games will be played when the varsity has night games or when it has scrimmages on other floors.

"Boo" Miller has been appointed as "W" club promoter of Interclass athletics. Men turning out for Varsity basketball will not be eligible for Interclass.

PLAN SKI MEET FOR JANUARY 21

Champion Jumps and Novice Events on Tourney Program.

From far back in the dim beginnings of history, skis were used in the Scandinavian countries, where the interior was very thinly settled, and where roads, when such existed, could not be kept open in the winter time, as six feet of snow was not unusual.

One of the best means of acquiring the necessary balance and control of one's body, as well as a steady nerve, was the jumping, and it was practiced for this purpose. Proficiency in jumping was in itself not the object; it was of value in learning to become expert in cross-country traveling.

When ski-running was placed on the basis of a sport, the jumping took first place. It holds first place also in the ski tournaments which are becoming more and more popular in this country, and it will be the major feature of the second annual Spokane Ski Tournament to be held at Wandermore, Sunday, January 21. As on the hills of Norway, form and poise will count to the skiers' credit as well as the distance made in their jumps.

Furthermore, the spectators may be sure that they will see the sport at its best, for among those competing will be the world's champion for distance, Boy Lymburne, who headed the Canadian Olympic team. Before the main jumping begins, other phases of skiing, such as skijoring behind horses, cross-country racing, and relay racing, will entertain the crowd. There will be a junior tournament, looked forward to by the boys of high school age; also dog sled racing; folk dances, reminiscent of Scandinavian lands; and the colorful pageant of the Queen of the snows.

Taylor's N. O. hoopsters were handed a fall by our five on the North Central floor last week. The score was about 39 to 35 when the regulars went to the showers and about 74-45 when the scrimmage finally ended.

WOMEN TURNOUT FOR BASKETBALL

Helen Robinson, Graduate of W. S. C., Is New Coach.

Several weeks of indecision finally culminated in the peppiest and most enthusiastic turnout for women's basketball for some time, when the first practice was held, Monday, December 4. Ten to eighteen women have been turning out regularly since the first practice.

Under the direction of Christine McDonald, vigorous practices were held the first week. Intensive work on fundamentals with some scrimmage was carried out in the short practice periods.

Beginning Tuesday, December 12, Miss Helen Robinson, who was recently graduated from W. S. C. in physical education, took over the coaching duties. Soccer, baseball, dodge ball, and several games were introduced at the regular practices. The periods are now divided, so that the first part of the hour is spent in these and other games, and the last part is spent on basketball.

No active schedule of games has been arranged, but it is expected that January and February will be interesting months from the intercollegiate standpoint. With most of last year's team back and several new and promising aspirants turning out, great things are expected of the 1933 team.

Moore Scores Lone Touchdown Of Year

Home-coming Game Against Intermountain Union Is Thriller.

Next time we'll have a cow on the goal line! Moore, hard-hitting full-back, attracted by a lone quart of milk suspended from the goal post, snagged an Intermountain pass and trotted into score territory for his team's only score of the season in the third period of the Home-coming battle on November 17. Smith, Pirate end, converted with a well-placed kick, the game ending 12-7 in favor of Intermountain Union. It was the last grid game for the Whitworth warriors, and a colorful crowd furnished enthusiastic sideline support.

The first Intermountain score came on an unusual break when their opening kick-off rolled into the Whitworth end zone and Walsh, visiting guard, fell on it for an unearned score. Girnus, Intermountain halfback, gathered in a long pass to go 30 yards to scoring ground for the winning score.

Whitworth eleven, although greatly outweighed, was a virtual dynamo of power and speed, every man on the outfit playing one of his best games of the season.

Whitworth chalked up eight first downs to Intermountain's nine, and completed six out of twelve aerial attempts.

Intermountain connected seven out of twelve attempts and had three passes intercepted. Each eleven was set back 40 yards by penalties.

Then throughout the grid season there were usually several in the bleachers or on the sidelines who know too much about the game and what the officials should do and who incidentally turned in some pretty sarcastic wisecracks on their own team. To these guys we offer a great big bouquet of "pansies" with our compliments. Let's lay off that in basketball, fellahs.

The bank president described the missing cashier thus: "He is nearly six feet tall and $5,000 short."

NEW SUITS FOR TEAM

The basketball team is now resplendent in new suits. They are red with a black trim. For a time it seemed as though the boys were doomed to play through the season in a one-piece costume, but to their relief the trunks finally arrived.

Thru the Megaphone

with DON FRANK

Well Gang! again the old sport stage changes to the maple court (or what kind of court have we?) Although our fellahs took it on the chin down at Lewiston, we still stick with our statement that we have one of the best quintets that this institution (or should we say college?) has had in a good many hoop seasons. So when we have games in our own "cracker box," let's get out there and give the men all the support we can. Now that we have a warm furnace-heated gym with all the comforts of home, there is no reason why we shouldn't be out there and BACK OUR TEAM!

Latest reports give dates of the Lewiston return games as January 19 and 20. Coeur d'Alene junior college will also play here on February 6. Reserve these dates.

The samples of food at the football banquet tasted pretty good. We're still wondering when they are going to give us the real banquet dinner.

Our heartiest congratulations to "Rusty," chosen as the most "inspirational member of the squad." The diminutive 145-pound package of dynamite certainly deserves lots of credit.

Incidentally our hats are off to Ventris for the oration he churned out at the banquet—quite a silver-tongued orator. Also congratulations, Tommy, on becoming honorary captain.

The Day-Major outfit, a team of veterans, furnished some heavy competition for our men, taking them 94-85 and 74-55 in a couple of long practice sessions.

A certain college official became slightly bullheaded and held up the main part of the team's new outfits when they scrimmaged the North Central five. On the spur of the moment Tommy Ventris became poetical and sprung this on us:

"Do your ditty—Do your dance. Basketball men will do theirs. When they get their pants."

Scoring honors for the football season are quite easy to calculate this year. Moore's milk-bottle touchdown is already famous; but how about a big hand for Smith, that spectacular little pass snagger, whose educated toe delivered the goods when he was suddenly called upon to convert after Moore's touchdown in the Intermountain game?

GIRLS START NEW SPORTS PROGRAM

W. A. A. Point System Is Being Remodeled to Fit Schedule.

ADD MANY ACTIVITIES

"Obstacle Relays" and "Touch Football" Prove to Be Popular.

An intensely interesting and entirely new athletic program for women started January 8. Drastic changes and an upheaval of the athletic plan have brought frowns of perplexity to many brows and a great deal of worry to many women. The old W. A. A. point system, with awards, has to be entirely remodeled to fit the expansive program of sports which is being started at this time. Whereas previously a limited athletic program was carried on, now a big, varied program is in effect. The old arrangement of basketball, volley ball, hiking, hygiene, baseball, and tennis has been considerably enlarged. Danish gymnastics, corrective gymnastics, folk dancing, rhythmic dancing, and games and relays have been added to the schedule.

Not only have the preliminary straight technical factors been added, but music has also been placed in the schedule. piano music, played for the dancing and the gymnastics. Rhythm has an important part in the new program.

Don't say that Whitworth women aren't up to date—they have even pretzels, although in a "different" form. The pretzels in question are really only one pretzel, and it is a sort of obstacle stunt, called the "pretzel relay." Biology is also mixed into the theme of things in the "crab relay." Then, too, the men aren't the only ones who have football, for a game just as exciting has been played at the women's gym class. The new game is touch

"Chicot, The Jester" Commencement Play

Adams Dramatizes Dumas Play By Same Name.

The clash of swords will ring defiantly in the college auditorium on the evening next spring when the commencement play is presented; and between the ringing of steel and intricate feints and thrusts, the amazing and amusing story of "Chicot, the Jester" will unfold.

The reason for the rattling of swords rather than the rattling of machine guns is not that the property manager is at fault. The reason for it is obvious, however. There were no machine guns or gangsters' gadgets in the days of King Henri IV of France. It was in the sixteenth century, during the days of King Henri of Navarre, that the action of this drama takes place.

The play was dramatized by Professor Adams from the novel of Alexandre Dumas by the same title. Professor Adams formally introduced "Chicot" to prospective participants in the play at a reading of the script at his home Wednesday evening, January 10. While refreshments were being served by Mrs. Adams, during a pause in the reading, the guests ventured enthusiastic conjectures concerning the plot, its unusual settings, costuming, and court intrigue.

Do not be surprised if you should see two or three sober-faced college men jabbing fiercely at each other with broomsticks. The campus provides an excellent "Field of Honor" for the amateur student swordsmen of "Chicot, the Jester."

LEWISTON HERE

The strong Lewiston Normal Pioneer basket tossers will be on hand on Friday and Saturday of this week to give the Whitworth hoopsters two stiff contests on those evenings. Although Lewiston has two wins over the Pirates, much closer games are expected at this meeting than in times past.

The Pioneers have under their belt a victory over the snappy Whitman college quintet. Recently the Pioneers came to Spokane and held the Gonzaga varsity five to an overtime game, before Gonzaga finally took the honors.

Whitworth's Son Dies in Seattle

Prominent in Development of the Pacific Northwest.

Frederick Harrison Whitworth, '87, for years a prominent figure in the development of the Northwest, died in Seattle on December 27. He was the last surviving son of the Reverend Dr. George F. Whitworth, pioneer Presbyterian missionary after whom Whitworth college was named.

Mr. Whitworth was a noted civil, mining, and railroad engineer. He crossed the plains with his father in 1853, going first to Olympia, and moving to Seattle in 1864. Dr. Whitworth started the first Presbyterian church in Seattle and was third president of the University of Washington.

Frederick Whitworth was an ardent booster for Seattle, and was instrumental in making that city the terminal of transcontinental rail lines, after it had been "passed up" by one of the larger railroads.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ada Whitworth; his son, Frederick Harrison Whitworth Jr.; and a sister, Mrs. Etta White, all of Seattle.

Hear Negro Spirituals

Cotton Blossom Singers Present Program in Chapel.

The Cotton Blossom Singers from the Piney Woods school in Mississippi entertained at chapel Thursday, January 4. They sang several negro spirituals including "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," and "I'm Going to Join the Band." Their theme song, "Old MacDonald's Farm," was cleverly presented. Their next selection was a medley consisting of "Mood Indigo" and "Stormy Weather." In closing they presented "O! Man River" as it was sung in "Show Boat."

At Piney Woods school the colored people in the South are taught various trades. The Cotton Blossom Singers travel about the country and through their singing procure money to help support the school.

PLAN CHAPEL PROGRAM

The associated students of Whitworth college are planning a musical program to be given in chapel on February 2. This program is in line with the new policy that has been enacted for student-planned programs on Fridays.

The various types of talent will in this way be given an opportunity to furnish entertainment for the group meetings. This new project offers possibilities for building up rare and diverting as well as educational and instructive features.

OPERA CAST IS BEING CHOSEN

Presentation Scheduled to Take Place Early in March.

"The Bells of Corneville," a light opera in three acts, is scheduled to be presented in the college auditorium during the first week of March, according to Kenneth L. Osborne, the musical director.

The presentation is a whirl of mystery, comedy, and romance, skillfully blended with the musical score. From the moment the curtain rises on the village gossips in the first act until it lowers on the romantic reconciliation in the third act, the opera teems with action.

The scene is in one of the old-fashioned Norman villages in the seventeenth century. In the second act, the supernatural visitors who appear at the Castle of Corneville add greatly to the effect of mystery.

Excellent opportunity for both acting and singing is offered by this production. Not all the cast have been chosen. The following members are now rehearsing: Serpolette, Mildred Downs Stephens; Germaine, Margaret Quist; Gertrude, Charlotte Slater; Jean Grenicheaux, Ralph Shanks; The Bailly, Al Bendor; The Notary, Mark Koehler. The villagers in the play are portrayed by members of the chorus.

Green Derby to Be Given on March 17

'W' Club and Pirettes Will Again Sponsor Annual Pep Show.

Hats off to the Green Derby, the show of shows, which will make its second annual appearance on March 17! The Green Derby, the big student affair of the year, is sponsored by the "W" club and the Pirettes. Proceeds last year were used to install a water system on the football field, and this year will go toward some other promotional activity.

With the precaution of last year, may it be said that the Green Derby is not an IRISH HORSE RACE. It turned out last year to be a "fast, snappy show," with Mr. Bailor, master of ceremonies, playing hide-and-seek among the audience, and lots of pep, music, magic, peanuts, popcorn, and candy. What a combination, and what a show! The perpetual action feature, obtained through the use of triple stages, was the idea of the general chairman, Johnny Nordmark, otherwise known as the "instigator of ideas."

The program will be drawn, as last year, from both college and outside talent; and although no definite plans have been made, the sponsors promise lots of snap and action. The committees in charge are Bill Davis, chairman, Boo Miller, and Scott Chatterton, from the "W" club; and Florence Moore, chairman, Marie DeMerchant, and Faith Helms, from the Pirettes.

DR. SULLIVAN, FIREMAN

Substitutes as Fire Stoker While Ventris Is Ill.

During Christmas vacation, President Ward W. Sullivan demonstrated his versatility when he made a thorough success of an emergency bit of stoking.

It all happened because Tommy Ventris, regular fireman for the college, became suddenly ill. Dr. Sullivan, true hero that he is, stepped into the breach like Horatius at the bridge, and soon showed that his skill with the shovel equals his genius with the pen.

DR. HARDWICK PRESIDES

Is Chairman of Educational Section of Scientific Association.

Dr. F. T. Hardwick was chairman of the sessions on education and psychology at the annual meeting of the Northwest Scientific Association held December 28 and 29 in the Daventport hotel. The association is under the auspices of several colleges and universities of the Northwest, including Whitworth college. Membership is open to anyone interested in science.

MR. POINAR WILL PRESENT CONCERT

Mr. Poinar
 Mrs. Marian Evans Schimke is the accompanist.

Works at McNeil Island

Former Student Now in Government Service at Federal Pen.

U. S. Penitentiary, McNeil Island, will be the address of Merritt Winans, former Whitworth student, for the next year or two.

Merritt first came under federal surveillance last year when he ranked third in the state in a civil service test. He entered the University of Washington last September, but the eyes of the Law were upon him, and after a month in the University he was removed to the Island.

Merritt's particular work is secretarial. (The rock pile is reserved for married men only.) He is in the branch of the office that has to do with the construction work of the prisoners.

An attempt to introduce the ocarina among the prisoners failed. Merritt contended that it would be useful to bolster up the morale and to raise the mental and moral outlook of the guests, but the prison authorities deemed it a dangerous incentive to revolt. He is, however, credited with being the man who put the "pun" in "punishment."

Visit During Vacation

Dr. and Mrs. Hardwick spent several days of their Christmas vacation with their children. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Harris, at Cashmere. They spent Christmas day with Mrs. Hardwick's brother, Mr. Glenn Wright, in Wenatchee.

Mrs. Harris returned home with them. The Dean spent New Year's with his son, Dr. Emerson Hardwick, and family at Hood River, Oregon.

WHITWORTH WILL OFFER FIFTH YEAR

Complete Preparation for High School Teacher-Training.

GREAT ADVANCEMENT

Accreditation Application Passed Recently at Olympia.

Whitworth college is now fully accredited to give complete training for teaching in the high schools of the state of Washington. The State Board of Education at a special meeting in Olympia recently passed favorably on Whitworth's application for accreditation of its work beyond the bachelor of arts degree. This means that students receiving their bachelor of arts degree from Whitworth or any other standard college can now come to Whitworth and complete their preparation for high school teaching.

Regulations.
 The regulations as laid down by the State Board covering the granting of high school teachers' certificates are as follows:

Temporary Standard Advanced Certificate: This certificate is granted upon the completion of the first college degree from an accredited institution plus twenty semester hours of postgraduate work. The students must select a major and two minors and complete the requirements in the department of education.

Five-Year Standard Advanced Certificate: This certificate is issued after the expiration of the Temporary Certificate. No additional college work is required except that the teacher must pass the examination in Washington school law or secure two semester hours' credit in that subject from an accredited institution.

Whitworth to Enter Debate Tournament

Three Act As Judges at High School Debate.

A debate tournament is to be held at Moscow on January 20 with six colleges and universities competing: University of Idaho, Washington State college, Gonzaga, Yakima Junior college, Spokane Junior college, and Whitworth. Whitworth will enter two teams, the members of which have not yet been chosen. The Whitworth men will debate on both the negative and the affirmative sides of the question. The teams will debate six times on the day scheduled, beginning at 9:30 in the morning and continuing throughout the day. Judges' decisions will be sealed, and will be opened in the evening after the last debate, when the winner will be designated.

On January 12, a high school debate between Spangle and Central Valley was held at Spangle, with David Glenn, Keith Murray, and Mel Fariss acting as judges. On the same day a debate was also held between the Rockford and Fairfield high schools, with Dr. LaVerne K. Bowersox, Miss Mabel Dickson, and Dr. Virgil Whitaker as judges.

A practice debate between Gonzaga and Whitworth was held January 10, with Philip Walborn and Mel Fariss upholding the negative side for Whitworth.

Dr. Sullivan in East

Dr. Ward W. Sullivan, who went to St. Louis several weeks ago to attend a meeting of the Association of American Colleges, is expected home soon.

SOCIETY STYLES SENIORS

Annual Christmas Party Is Success

Varied Program and Santa Claus Add to Holiday Festivities.

A Christmas party, held in the chapel, was the feature of the closing day of college before the Christmas vacation. Clare Woodward acted as master of ceremonies for the festivities, which were conducted entirely by the students.

After the singing of Christmas carols, Fred Winkler read the Scripture and Harold Penhalurick offered prayer. A very effective Christmas play, directed by Professor Adams, was presented. The characters were portrayed by Elsie Rhoades, Robert Allison, Chester Richards, and John Finney. A soprano solo, "Jesu Bambino," was given by Olive Clarke; and a mixed quartet, composed of Margaret Quist, Joan Dyar, Ralph Shanks, and Keith Murray, sang two German Christmas carols.

The party was closed by Santa Claus in person, otherwise known as Dick Allen. He had a pack full of presents for everyone, and by his witty remarks kept the holiday spirit high. He was ably assisted by three "good" little boys of the college: Mark Koehler, Scott Chatterton, and Don Frank.

CHORUS SINGS CAROLS

Christmas Program Presented by Candlelight.

The chorus, under the direction of Mr. Osborne, presented a program of Christmas carols in the college auditorium on Thursday evening, December 21.

During the program, the auditorium was in darkness except for a large candelabrum behind the chorus, and a spotlight shining on the stage from the rear. The candlelight, gleaming against the black of the curtain and falling softly on the black-robed singers, made a lovely picture. The chorus was aided in its program by the male quartet composed of Ralph Shanks, Loren Hatcher, Keith Murray, and Paul Koper, and by two soloists, Margaret Quist, and Mildred Downs Stephens. Genevieve Wilson was the accompanist. The audience rose while the last number, the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah," was sung as a fitting climax to a lovely program.

Entertain With Dinner

Pre-Ministerial Students Guests of Countermines.

Dr. and Mrs. Countermines entertained the members of the pre-ministerial association at a dinner at their home on Friday evening, January 12.

Those present were: Bill Rasco, Paul Koper, David Glenn, Neil Merwin, Ralph Shanks, Harold Penhalurick, Newton Brunton, Donald Dickson, Louis Erickson, Murdock Hale, Thomas Heald, Bob McCreary, Sam Murchison, Bob Reese, Angus Wilson, and Clare Woodward.

Wesley E Roberts is in the school of journalism at the University of Washington.

C. H. Heffelfinger '32 is attending the University of Washington, where he is taking graduate work. He will receive the degree of Master of Arts in history at the end of the summer quarter '34.

Ralph H. Askew, '32, spent the year 1932-33 at Princeton seminary and is now at Duke university in North Carolina, expecting to complete his theological course at the end of this, his second year. Ralph spent one year at Whitworth before going to Princeton.

Style Notes

By M. C.

Have you seen the New Middies? They are just like Mother's except that they are fitted and are worn on the outside, and of course the materials vary somewhat. We have seen them made up in both cottons and silk. The collars are either red or blue, with the regulation insignia in the corners. An added modern touch is the tie, worn in an immense bow in front. Be on the lookout for them, as they are destined to be very popular.

At the recent football banquet we saw the cleverest blue formal worn by the girl who came with our red-headed hero. It had the new high neckline, and the lovely sky-blue color was particularly becoming. We noticed another red-head who wore a smart blue dress of a dull diagonal weave crepe. The style reminded us of the quaint fashions of long ago, with the rustling taffeta duster ruffle of navy blue.

The new hats are being worn on the back of the head. It seems that the hats grow smaller each season. Really it must take more than the intuition to hold them on. We saw some clever hat pins with rhinestone heads. Does that give you a clue, girls?

The advance note on gloves and shoes is to have them match and by all means shiny. Of course for right now, hose are very dark.

We have seen many attractive twin sweater sets on the campus. They promise to be very popular for the spring, too; and really they are very practical.

Perhaps one of the most important considerations at all times is the appropriateness of the things you wear. Don't overdo; but don't go to the other extreme of having too sporty things for every occasion. A few things well chosen will prove a wise investment. Therefore, don't be in too great a hurry in making selections.

Echoes and Encores

The Whitworth string quartet has had an active program this semester, and its future plans include appearances at many club gatherings and banquets.

On December 20, the string quartet played at the Kiwanis club; and on December 21, it gave a program at the Art club meeting.

One January 4, the quartet program for the Women's Rotary luncheon was augmented by vocal solos by Westley Lynch, and readings by Genevieve Wilson.

The string ensemble gave the following program in chapel January 2: "Minuet," by Bach; "Air for the G String," by Bach; and "Minuetto in B flat," by Bolzoni.

The ensemble and the quartet gave a joint program January 9, on the regular bi-monthly radio broadcast period of the music department.

A varied musical program, sponsored by Whitworth college, Sunday evening, January 14, at the Grace Baptist church included numbers by the chorus and the male quartet, pipe organ music by Mr. Osborne, and a violin solo, Handel's "Sonata in D Major," by Mr. Poinar, accompanied by Mrs. Marian Evans Schimke.

On January 26, Mr. Poinar, accompanied by Mrs. Marian Evans Schimke will give the major part of the Whitworth Auxiliary program at the KFPY studios; and the string quartet will play one group of ballads.

The string quartet will play for the Y. W. C. A. banquet at the Masonic Temple January 29.

Criminology Class Hears Detectives

Students Are Shown Way That Finger-Prints Are Taken.

Last week the Criminology class was given increased insight into the ways and means which the police use in dealing with criminals by talks given by Chief of Police Ira Martin of Spokane, and the fingerprint expert, Wesley J. Turner.

Mr. Turner showed the class the way in which finger-prints are taken, transferred, and photographed. He then explained that, as a general rule, only four or five photographs have to be looked over to find the right one out of thousands. Another interesting feature was the explanation of the way in which buried checks are pieced together and photographed. Mr. Turner discussed several new phases of crime detection which most of the class had never heard of before, namely, the method of making plaster of Paris casts from footprints in the dust and the method of determining whether a gun has been fired recently or not.

At the second meeting with the class, Chief Ira Martin discussed the new boys' clubs which the Spokane police are organizing for the reform of delinquent youths who are returned from the various state institutions. These clubs are to be located in different parts of the city, with special police officers over each.

Mr. Turner gave some entertaining anecdotes based on his various experiences in dealing with criminals.

After the meeting, the "Chief" showed the class the new radio system which has recently been installed in Spokane police cars.

COMMENT IN ARTICLE

A recent article in the Diapason, a monthly publication concerning organists, commented on Mr. Osborne's position at Whitworth as follows:

"Kenneth R. Osborne, formerly of Ann Arbor, Mich., has assumed charge of his new work at Whitworth college, Spokane, Wash., to which post he was recently appointed, as announced previously in the Diapason. Mr. Osborne is director of music in the college.

"Whitworth is a small but growing Presbyterian college whose outlook is most promising. Mr. Osborne is teaching theory and piano and has charge of a fine choral group, which he is developing in addition to his other activities."

The Diapason, the largest selling magazine of its kind, is published in Chicago.

TURKEY GOING MODERN

The Rev. Edward Radcliff, of the First United Presbyterian church, addressed the student body at chapel, Friday, January 12. He spoke about his experiences during the five years he spent at Roberts college in Constantinople, Turkey.

"Turkey has had a century of progress in the ten years between 1922-1932," the Rev. Mr. Radcliff stated. "The Mohammedan religion has been replaced by patriotism, or nationalism. The Turk is suspicious of all foreign influences, and Christianity is being put out of the country."

Members of the advanced German class, together with some German club members, presented an interesting Christmas play, "Christmas Windows," at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ward W. Sullivan on Wednesday, December 20.

The French 3 class enjoyed a Christmas program on December 22. Gifts found in shoes before a fireplace were exchanged, and pop-sicles were enjoyed.

The foreign language clubs are planning programs and short plays for the coming weeks.

The Fall of Fame

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke lay claim to French Canadian parentage, but their darling daughter insists that she's a black Swede!

She was born at Kettle Falls, according to the records and her own testimony. Her grade schooling was a howling success, although she says that she did nothing outstanding at high school except flunk in Latin.

As for her college life, she quite dotes on basketball, and always falls with ease and elegance. She's been accused of making a basket, but as yet we have not been able to determine the authenticity of that report.

She candidly admits that—once, just once, she purposely poured coffee down somebody's neck. (That happened in our own College dining room, friends.) She didn't know that it was hot, but it did raise a blister!

"I never did much of anything at the dormitory, even during my first years here," says she, looking like one of Raphael's angels, "except sleep on the roof once in a while, or in the bathtub; and dump beds at unearthly hours."

Her hopes for the future? Well, she says that she slept on the same piece of wedding cake for three nights in succession; and the only man she could manage to dream about was Dr. Hedrick! It's just lucky for you, Dr. Hedrick, that Hymen got you when he did!

And as a final index to her character may we cite the time she hoped everything would come out all right when Charlotte had her appendix removed!

Our subject for this eulogy was named after the well-known English author, Mary Borden.

She is a great lover of nature and spends the greater part of every afternoon in the great outdoors.

When she lived at the dormitory she proceeded to raise general Cain, and the next year there was a new dean of women! She and her demoniac little companions used to dip their undemoniac roommates in bath tubs filled with cold, cold water.

When but an infant she astounded her supposedly shock-proof parents by cutting a good-sized piece out of herself with her little silver scissors. She was just trying to find out whether she was filled with sawdust like her doll!

Miss Ofam wishes to state for the benefit of the press that she will be glad to explain the little episode, to anyone interested, in which her effort was forced to return to the college for an axe! According to her version, it was not so serious as it first appeared!

Mr. Hussey is a most satisfactory person to interview; even we, in our pride and unpolished way, were able to get absolutely nothing in the line of information from that worthy.

He responded with alacrity to our question regarding his childhood; his activities at grade school, it seems, were virtually nil, although at the mention of marbles, he did perk up considerably, and confessed that he had done "pul-lenty" of damage in that direction!

Satisfied with that insight into his early moral character, we proceeded to his high-school career; but immediately realized that it was just another blind alley; for Mr. Hussey cheerfully evaded every question with the enlightening reply that he hadn't done anything at all while at high school, and that his favorite class responded to the rests in music!

We determined to forget our subject's unfortunate early schooling and advance to his most recent efforts along educational lines. Mr. Hussey started out nobly, but soon with tears in his eyes he confessed that for the last three and a half years he's been in a sadly passive state, and that regarding his hopes for the future, he is without any.

Now, just between you and us and the radiator, we rather suspect that Mr. Hussey has been indulging in a bit of irony at our expense, for, after all, he is president of the well-known Senior Class, and, as Antony in their forthcoming production, "Antony and Cleopatra," he will walk the boards, and "emote" as one of the world's great lovers.

PAPOOSES LOSE TO PIRATE FIVE

Ventris Leads Scoring With Total of 22 Points.

Ventris led the Whitworth five to a spectacular victory over the Cheney normal Papoose "quint" by a 36-30 score on January 9 in the college gymnasium.

Sinking 9 buckets for a total of 18 points and 4 free throws, Ventris led the scoring with 22 points. At the opening of the game Cheney gathered 7 counters before Whitworth was able to drop the ball through the hoop. The visitors also led 22-21 at halftime. In the second half, however, Whitworth's zone defense clicked, and Cheney gathered only 8 points whereas Whitworth added 15 counters to her score.

Walker and Davis led Cheney's scoring with 9 counters each. Only one substitute was used by the visiting team. A second game will be played on February 2 at Cheney.

Junior-Senior Five Defeated by Sophs

Game Full of Fancy Poses, Thrills, Chills, and Spills.

In the most hectic, slam-bang, floor-burning, hip-throwing game seen in many a moon, the sophomores defeated their rivals, the junior-senior team, by a score of 18 to 16 last Tuesday afternoon.

Macintyre proved to be the scoring ace for the losers, making 13 out of his team's total of 16 points. Don Frank was the only other man to score a field goal for the junior-senior aggregation.

"Boo" Miller and Chatterton were the shining lights for the sophomores, scoring 7 and 6 points respectively.

"Boo" had the bad luck to throw his knee out again just twenty seconds before the end of the game. The complete summary for the game is given below.

HAUL SNOW FOR SKI TOURNAMENT

Forty Jumpers Entered by Pacific Northwest Clubs.

Whether the weather is rainy or clear, it is snowing for the big Spokane Ski Tournament, which takes place, Sunday, January 21. It's true that the snow is coming by freight cars instead of falling from the heavens; but it will be good snow, nevertheless, and there will be plenty of it.

Six empty freight cars trundled out of Spokane last Friday night en route for Berne, the east portal of the Great Northern tunnel through the Cascade mountains. There the Leavenworth Winter Sports club packed the cars full of snow. The Great Northern Railroad by special arrangement, moved the cars only at night, and they arrived today at Mead, three miles from Wandermere hill. From Mead, the snow will be taken to the hill by truck. Spokane Ski club members will work all the night before the tournament to spread it on and stamp it down in approved fashion for jumping.

So there will be snow! There will also be the finest card of ski jumpers appearing in the Northwest this season, for all the member clubs of the Pacific Northwest Ski association have entered their star jumpers—forty in all! Which means eighty thrilling sights, for each man jumps twice in a tournament.

Ivan Hudspeth, who last year won the Denver Post trophy and the championship of Colorado, will jump at Wandermere under the blue and orange, the colors of the Spokane Ski club, for during the year he moved to this city and is now one of four Class A men who will strive to bring to Spokane the Pacific Northwest honors.

There will be many events besides the jumps to make January 21 an interesting day; furthermore the Ski club assures everyone that there will be no traffic congestion.

GONZAGA FROSH WIN FAST GAME

Rally in Closing Minutes to Make Final Score 32-26.

Gonzaga freshmen piled up an 18-11 lead at halftime and then rallied in the closing minute of the game on January 11 in the Gonzaga university gym to defeat the Whitworth hoopsters 34 to 26.

With the score tied at 22 all and at 26 all, the game appeared to be a nip-and-tuck affair; but in the last minute Gonzaga counted four baskets, thus putting the game on ice. Ventris tallied 11 points, although he frequently missed set-up shots. Gray, with 9 counters, and Koehler, with 3, were the only men to loop baskets. Second-half competition was much closer, as Gonzaga counted 16 points to Whitworth's 15. Eight of Gonzaga's points came on converted foul shots.

Koehler's leaving the game in the closing minutes broke up the Whitworth defense, and the yearlings broke into the scoring column with their four baskets. The Whitworth men opened the scoring at the beginning of the game and tallied five counters before Gonzaga scored.

A Whitworth "Sojourners' club" has been organized at the University of Washington to keep alive memories and associations of Whitworth.

Henry Schlomer '33 is president of the German club, which has a membership of 500, at the University of Washington.

Remember, dear reader, that "folly, as she flies, should be swatted."

Plan for Tennis

Plans for the spring tennis games are now being made by Dr. Hedrick. He is trying to secure games with outside colleges for both the men's and the women's teams.

PIRATES DEFEAT GREENACRES CLUB

Gray and Penhalurick High Point Men for Whitworth.

Whitworth maple-court men again broke into the winning column by downing the undefeated Greenacres Athletic club by a 33-26 score in the Whitworth gymnasium on the evening of January 9. Whitworth was never headed and held an 18-6 lead at halftime.

Canfield, of the losers, was high scorer of the game with 11 points; and Gray and Penhalurick were high for the home five with 8 and 7 points.

A fair-sized crowd lined the balconies and sidelines and furnished considerable support to the teams. The game was rough, fast, and hard fought, with many shots of both sides going wild.

Upperclassmen Win From Frosh Team

Play Three Extra Periods to Break Repeated Ties.

The second thrilling, spilling inter-class basketball game was held Thursday, January 11, between the freshmen and the upperclassmen, with the upperclassmen nosing out the first-year men 28 to 27, in three overtime periods.

In the first two overtime periods each team made two points, and in the last the freshmen converted one free throw to a field goal for the upperclassmen.

Fariss was high for the juniors-seniors with 8 points, and Hale counted most for the freshmen with 12 points.

Many fouls were called during the game, Pyles being put out in the last quarter.

Line-ups as follows:

Upperclassmen	Freshmen
Frank	F
Macintyre	F
Fancher	C
Pyles	C
Vicker	G
Davis	G

LEADS FOR OPERA ARE SELECTED

Margaret Quist and Loren Hatcher Take Principal Roles.

PRACTICES UNDER WAY

Date for Presentation Is Now Set for March 8.

Principals in the opera, "Bells of Corneville," which makes its debut on the Whitworth campus on March 8, have been selected.

Much time and effort are being spent in rehearsals held several afternoons a week.

The leads, as chosen by Kenneth Osborne, director, are as follows: Serpolette, the Good-for-Nothing, Mrs. Mildred Downs Stephens Germaine, the Lost Marchioness, Margaret Quist

Henri, Marquis of Corneville Loren Hatcher
Jean Grenicheux, a Fisherman Ralph Shanks
Gaspard, a Miser Keith Murray
The Bailiff Dwight Calkins
Gertrude Charlotte Slater
Jeanne Earleen Schiewe
Suzanne Mary Borden Crain
Registrar Clare Woodward
Assessor Clark Coppie
Notary Mark Koehler
Villagers, Attendants of the Marquis—Chorus.

The story of the opera follows: Henri, Marquis of Corneville, exiled since childhood, returns to his home on the occasion of the annual fair which is being celebrated in an old-fashioned Norman village in the seventeenth century.

In the first act, the curtain rises on an assemblage of village gossips.

Christine McDonald Heads Pirette Club

Five New Members Are Also Taken Into Organization.

On February 9, the Pirette club held its semiannual election of officers. Those chosen were Christine McDonald, president; Louise Picton, vice-president; and Mary Baker, secretary-treasurer. Installation of officers will be held Friday, February 23.

The following new members were chosen: Jean Campbell, Dorothy Cramer, Joan Dyar, Carmen Kopsland, and Helen Wilson.

Florence Moore has been elected general chairman of the Pirettes for the Green Derby.

The club also voted to adopt a new type of sweater, a black jersey coat sweater, with a red pirate as insignia.

E. M. KEYSER SPEAKS TO GEOGRAPHY CLASS

Explains Work of Weather Bureau in Forecasting.

"Weather forecasts are not based on a phase of the moon, the amount of fur on an animal's back, the amount of feathers on a chicken's leg, or the number of fair days in the first part of the month," stated E. M. Keyser, head of the Spokane Weather Bureau, in a talk to the Economic Geography class, Wednesday, February 14.

In the talk Mr. Keyser explained the two functions of the bureau: consideration of the weather as it is today and as it will be tomorrow. He also discussed three climatic causes of change in weather.

We're Up Among 'Em Now!

California sunshine and Florida palms have nothing on the Whitworth college campus.

Arriving at Whitworth one bright morning a short time ago, we were shocked to see that almost all the pine trees had been turned into palms over night. In other words, spring landscaping and pruning have already been started.

Maybe these green palms, the bright sunshine, and the yellow buttercups account for the large amount of "campus" that has been studied during the last few weeks: that old saying about "a young man's fancy" seems to have been set up a couple of months ahead of time.

COMMITTEE IS PROVING SUCCESS

Student Promotion Group May Become Permanent Organization.

The student promotion committee, created in an effort to increase the efficiency of the financial and the advertising projects of the Associated Students, is proving a success.

Set up as an experiment by the Executive board in an effort to concentrate under one head the promotional activities of the student body, the committee functioned successfully in its first big undertaking, advertising and ticket selling for the Home-coming banquet. It has continued to serve the college in handling the business and the advertising sides of social and athletic activities.

The Promotion committee, which is intended to supplement and aid the work of the Special Activities committee, is made up of a member of the executive board as chairman, and members from each of the four classes. Charles Benson is the present chairman; the members of the committee include Lester Hussey, Florence McEachran, Ralph Shanks, Margaret Quist, Robert Allison, and Elwin Davis.

"There is no doubt of the success of the experiment," said Ward Fancher, president of the Associated Students. "It has lifted the pressure from the other committees of the student body and enabled all to do better work. The promotion committee will in all probability be made a permanent agency of the Associated Students."

Men to Have Open Dorm

Public Invited to Ballard Hall on March 23.

On March 23, the men of Ballard hall will have open house. They invite all students and friends of Whitworth to "come up to see them" on that date. But listen, that's not the half of it: they also present for entertainment the great and famous "Hunky-Dory" trapeze artists. Multitudes who have seen these two widely known performers in action declare that you'll laugh until you "sink your floating ribs." In addition to this, there will be various straight and colored vaudeville acts of singing, playing, and acting.

Ballard Hall Initiates

Men From Omak Say They Were "Mightily Impressed."

Tuesday night, February 6, the members of Ballard hall had the pleasure of initiating three husky lads from Omak: Rollin Jaquish, George Hendrick, and Howard Culp. The new men declare that they were "mightily impressed." As we were in a hurry at the time of this interview, we did not ask what was meant by this remark. You may use your own imagination.

At the same meeting, Murdock Hale was elected dormitory manager.

PLANS FOR DERBY WELL UNDER WAY

Annual Program to Feature Elaborate Costume Show.

The program for the annual Green Derby, sponsored by the "W" club and the Pirettes, which is to be given on March 17, is well under way. It has been presented to the committees in charge and is waiting now for the approval of the two clubs. The program will be made up from both college and outside talent. An elaborate costume show will be featured throughout the Derby, and, if rumor is correct, the program this year will be even faster and snappier than the one presented last year.

Plans are being made for an extensive advertising campaign. Groups will visit North Central, Lewis and Clark, and John Rogers high schools, as well as Gonzaga, to present samples of the show. In addition, many posters and handbills are being made.

Ward Fancher is in charge of the advanced ticket sale for the "W" club and Charlotte Slater for the Pirettes. A clever new design is being styled for this year's tickets. Ticket sales will begin soon, so get yours, wear it, and help advertise this "big show of the year."

Plans For Natsihi Nearing Completion

1934 Annual to Have Color Scheme of Green and Silver.

Planning for the 1934 Natsihi has been virtually completed, according to Charles Benson, editor-in-chief.

"The Natsihi," said Benson, "will be constructed according to the best principles of modern bookmaking. Effort has been exerted to keep the book as completely modern as possible: by the elimination of outmoded devices as well as by the extensive use of modern forms of make-up."

The 1934 annual is to have a color scheme of green and silver. It will be more than a third larger than any previous Whitworth book. The original intention of the editors to eliminate written copy as much as possible is being carried out, the only section of the book to contain extensive copy being the athletic section, where it is especially necessary to keep a written record of events.

The chief difficulties which the editor and the business manager have met so far have been financial. "The adoption of the engravers' code has greatly raised the cost of engraving, the largest single expense in our budget," said George McDowell, business manager. "By the practice of strict economy, however, we hope to produce an outstanding Natsihi."

Frosh Wear the Green

Freshman co-eds at Whitworth have taken up the fad of wearing green. They explain these brilliant ribbons by saying that they wish to harmonize with the evergreens surrounding the college; but the appearance of many sophomores watching them has discouraged this theory and accounts, also, for the extreme lack of cosmetics among the freshman women.

Orders of the "W" club are carried out in the wearing of green caps by frosh men on the campus; and according to tradition, these frosh are not allowed to enter or leave McMillan hall by the front entrance or to enter chapel by the front door until April 2.

COURSES OFFER WIDE VARIETY

Interesting Choice Is Given in Departments This Term.

Many courses are being offered at Whitworth this semester for the first time. They furnish an interesting choice of new subjects in almost every department.

Embryology and Bacteriology are being offered in the biology department. Embryology students have been studying silver trout eggs, received from the state fish hatchery near Natatorium park. From Kansas City the department is getting pig embryos to study and to section. It is also getting fertile hen eggs, which the students will incubate and from which they will observe the embryology of the chick.

Bacteriology, the other new course, is offered especially for the students in the home economics and the pre-medics courses and for hygiene work. Apparatus for this course includes a pressure cooker, an oven, glassware, and stains.

The home economics department offers several interesting courses, among which are Home Economics Seminar; Child Care and Nutrition, which deals with the study of maternity and infancy; Home Furnishing; Home Management; and Dietetics.

The department of Christian Education is offering for the first time a course in Revelation. The aim of this course is to analyze the book in an endeavor to understand what will take place in the world after the end of the period of life—after the second coming of Christ.

The department of social science is offering Sociological Anthropology. The purpose of this study is to show, from the earliest records, obtainable, how the social life of people evolved.

In the department of English, the new courses are Advanced Composition and the English Novel. In Advanced Composition, special study is made of creative writing and also of the preparation of the research paper. In English 62, study is made of the development of the English novel through the eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries.

In the department of business administration, three interesting new courses are being given: Population, Money and Banking, and Labor Problems.

TENTATIVE PLANS MADE BY DEBATERS

According to Mel Fariss, manager of the Whitworth debate team, nothing definite has been planned in the way of coming debates. Tentative arrangements are that the University of Idaho, Washington State college, and the University of Montana will each debate Whitworth, but no definite days have been set. A practice debate with Spokane Valley junior college has also been scheduled for some time in February.

Forty-one New Students Register for Spring Semester.

MORE TO ENROLL

Both Men's and Women's Dorms Are Filled to Capacity.

Whitworth is beginning the spring semester with the largest enrollment in the history of the college. According to a statement issued by the office, the total number of registrations is at present 234, of which 41 are students newly entering Whitworth and 193 are students returning from last semester. Further enrollments are expected. Both dormitories are crowded to capacity.

Most of the students are from Washington, with others coming from Idaho, California, Illinois, Canada, and Alaska.

Ford L. Bailor, assistant to the president and director of promotional activities, says, "This is the largest increase in the history of the college, and shows a substantial gain over last year's total registration."

3-Year Lettermen May Get Sweaters

Executive Board to Vote on By-Law on Friday.

A new by-law has been prepared by the Executive board preliminary to final passage on Friday, February 23. This by-law concerns the awarding of sweaters to all lettermen who have won their third letter in any single sport at Whitworth. The Board also passed a supplementary motion which recommends the lessening of the number of years of play necessary for a sweater, depending somewhat on financial and other conditions. It is hoped that this step will be the first in a series of moves to stimulate athletics at Whitworth.

WOMEN TO VISIT W. S. C.

March 10 Set as Date for Annual Play Day.

Women from Whitworth college have been invited to attend the annual play day for women held each year at Washington State college. The date has been set for March 10. About thirty-five students from the college are planning to attend.

Olive Clarke, and Alice and Christine McDonald have been appointed on the committee to make arrangements. Transportation to Pullman will be by bus.

The purpose of the day is to get women from different colleges acquainted with each other, and to foster a spirit of fellowship among the women of the colleges of the Inland Empire.

Teams are chosen in the various sports, the choice being made by lot rather than by college, so that the competition is of the team rather than of the college. Sports include volley ball, baseball, tennis, ping-pong, and swimming. A treasure hunt is held as the climax of the day, the treasure going to the winning team.

The Women's Auxiliary recently refurbished Dean Jenkins' room in McMillan hall. The color scheme is rust and green. Among the new furnishings are a studio couch, desk, table, rug, occasional chair, and draperies.

"PATRONIZE HOME-OWNED BUSINESS"

We've all heard that old slogan, "Patronize Home-owned Business." It might be a very good idea if we took it a little to heart and applied it to the activities at Whitworth.

This is our college, and it is as much our duty to do something to help it as it is for it to help us. One of the ways that we, as students, can do the most for Whitworth is to attend the games, programs, and social functions which are held on the campus.

At a recent basketball game there were more rooters for the opposing team than for Whitworth. No wonder the teams don't always win! We're not all back of them to make them win.

The other day in assembly, when the yell leader asked for a little pep, there were plenty of "boo's" from the associated students. How's that for college spirit?

Right now the Green Derby must be put over. The "W" club and the Pirettes are doing everything in their power to make it a success, and it's up to the student body as a whole to put a shoulder to the wheel and help.

As a matter of fact, this whole article seems to be simmering down to that little word "co-operation."

One of the greatest difficulties on the campus is that the dorm students and the town students don't mix sufficiently. Perhaps if we'd all work together a little more, that disadvantage would be eliminated.

We've got the makings of a great college. Right now it's in the molding stage, and it must be cast in the right mold.

So let's have a spring housecleaning, get new college spirit, and back our Alma Mater in all her activities.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OPPORTUNITIES

In February our thoughts turn to the two great national heroes whose birthdays we celebrate—George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. We like to take these men as ideals because of the way in which they overcame seemingly insuperable obstacles and won success from situations which seemed to point only to failure. They were handicapped because of a lack of opportunities, but they knew how to make the most of the opportunities which did come their way.

Lincoln did not have many educational advantages. Most of his early schooling came from his mother, and his studying was done by the dim light of the fire after his long day's work was over; his equipment was a piece of charcoal to use as chalk on an improvised slate. Yet his "Gettysburg Address" is acclaimed the world over as one of the most brilliant discourses of all time.

We Whitworth students have immeasurably greater opportunities for self-development than either Washington or Lincoln ever had. We have the advantage of superior instruction; and newspapers, magazines, and books are available for all.

Yet most of us are making little or no attempt to take full advantage of these wonderful opportunities that are within easy reach—possibly because they are so freely given, we do not appreciate them. We allow opportunities such as Washington and Lincoln never dreamed of to slip away from us simply because we lack the ambition to reach out and take them.

It was not by a spirit of lethargy that Washington and Lincoln became the great men that they were: we cannot expect to achieve success without putting forth a high degree of effort.

Santa Claus didn't bring us a news office; so now we're looking forward to a visit from the Easter bunny. If he disappoints us, we won't believe in fairies any more.

Prof. Adams Gives Background of Play

Finishes Dramatization of Dumas' "Chicot The Jester."

Prof. William Edward Adams has just finished the dramatization of Alexandre Dumas' "Chicot the Jester," or, as it is known in French, "Madame de Monsoreau."

The action begins during the reign of King Henri III of France. M. de Chicot was actually a Gascon gentleman who held, in highest measure, the confidence of King Henri. Many believe that, when Chicot was made Court Jester to the King, he became more powerful for good in France than were most of the supposedly serious-minded advisers. While seeming to make sport, he was noted for the tact with which he gained ends for his country. Something like the opening scene actually took place in the reception room of Hotel Montmorency in 1578, on the occasion of the marriage of Mademoiselle Jeanne de Cosse Brissac to M. de St. Luc, a favorite of the King.

The play shows that being a king's favorite was not without its embarrassments, for Henri III was very jealous of his friendships. To complicate matters, many believed that Henry of Navarre was the rightful monarch. Others upheld the claim of the Duc de Gish, whose ancestry gave his followers a strong fighting chance for the unseating of Henri. The consequent intrigue in the court was not good for the nation. The King's brother, the Duc d'Anjou, was also believed to be scheming secretly to take his brother's place on the throne. In his novel, Dumas made all these machinations very plain, and much of Professor Adams' dramatization follows Dumas' version word for word, displaying the inner contentions then prevailing at the French court and some of the dangerous results for the citizenry.

The plot centers in the King; his Jester; his brother d'Anjou; his friend St. Luc; d'Anjou's friend, Comt de Bussy; and the House of Meridor, with the beautiful Diana as the pawn.

The great amount of French history used in the story, the number of plots involved; and the sad and revengeful nature of the denouement, as given by both Dumas' book and the history on which it was founded, have made the dramatization of "Chicot the Jester" a most difficult task. Professor Adams' play represents eminent achievement. Mr. Adams believes that he has taken advantage of the many dramatic episodes and has overcome these difficulties by centering attention on the events involving the beautiful Diana de Meridor and ending the drama with her first triumph in love, rather than with her later triumph of revenge.

Professor Adams plans to present "Chicot the Jester" as the annual commencement play. Tryouts are now being made for the casting of the production.

FELLOWSHIP MEMBERS MEET AT M. E. CHURCH

Speakers Are Dr. Hardwick and Paul Koper.

A stranger passing the Central Methodist church on the afternoon of February 11 might have jumped to the conclusion that a gang of convicts had escaped prison, when he observed a group of Whitworth faculty and students engaged in trying to pick the locks of the church. Had the stranger remained, he would also have concluded that the lock-breakers were wholly inexperienced. Failing in their attempt to open the doors, seventy-five Volunteer Fellowship members and friends marched up the street to the First German Methodist Episcopal church, where they were received by the Rev. F. L. Pederson, the pastor.

This meeting was planned as Volunteer Fellowship Retreat, not as a public demonstration of lock-picking. Murdock Hale, president of the Fellowship, presided during the afternoon. The following program was given: cello solo by Philip Walborn, accompanied by Jerry Hawley; song service, with Margaret Robbins at the piano; prayer by Dr. J. W. Countermine; duet by Olive Clarke and Keith Murray; solo by Loren Hatcher; and talks by Dr. Hardwick and Paul Koper.

GIRLS GO ON FIELD TRIPS

View Davenport Hotel From Cellar to Attic.

Women of the home economics department, under Miss Dickson, have recently gone on some very interesting and unusual trips. On one, they viewed the Davenport hotel from the laundry and the kitchen to the state room and "the chair that Lindberg sat in." On another, they were shown labor-saving devices at the Crescent. Other trips now being arranged will include visits to four private homes, to the Corresian rug company, and to several china shops.

Class Experiments With Many Foods

Many Interesting Problems Are Solved by Home Ec. Majors.

After questioning Miss Dickson concerning her experimental cooking class, your reporter received this testimony, confession, or what-have-you.

"We tried everything! We cooked potatoes different ways. We made apple sauce with skins, we made apple sauce without skins, and we made just apple sauce. We tried to make candy different ways, but we couldn't find anyone willing to taste the results, and so we dropped candy-making from the course. We found that a 3 per cent solution of gelatine is correct if the jelly is to be eaten within the hour.

"Junket is queer stuff made from milk, treated with rennet from an innocent little calf's stomach. We never knew before that gluten in flour was such funny stuff—looked like dried paste when we separated it out from the dough; now we know why Swansdown is the best cake flour! Yes, we experimented with yeast, too; that was rather interesting.

"Did you ever know that there are eleven parts to an egg, not just yolk and white? We discovered the intriguing little chalazae that we have heard so much about—and we still insist upon eggs for breakfast! Do you know what the pectin test is? We made jelly and tested it with real alcohol, donated by the chemistry department because they were as eager as we were to know whether crab apples contain pectin. We decided that the best way to cook prunes is to serve them raw!

"Yes, we did some microscope work, too—looked at uninteresting things like potatoes and carrots. We found the best method of cooking oatmeal; thanks to our Scotch ancestors, we were able to discriminate. Near the end of the course we all wanted to do something different; and so separately and apart, we found some 'lovely' new recipes for frozen desserts, and we always made enough so there would be a fair tasting sample for each.

"We fooled a lot of people by making things like soup, muffins, and puddings with evaporated milk and duplicating the recipe using whole milk. Despite their arguments that they could always tell evaporated milk, none of them could decide what was which; so we fooled them—but they ate all the samples. We made a cake, and froze part of the batter for a whole week; then we baked it, and behold, we had a 'grand' sponge cake, just as good as new! Oh, we did other things—ask 'Rusty.'"

GIVES SERIES OF TALKS

Dr. S. L. Divine of Seattle is Guest Speaker from Feb. 12-16.

During the week of February 12-16, Whitworth college had as its guest speaker, Dr. S. L. Divine, pastor of the Mt. Baker Presbyterian church of Seattle.

As Dr. Divine was formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Spokane, he has many friends in the city. He has recently been elected to the board of trustees of Whitworth and has always been a loyal supporter of the college.

During the chapel periods, Dr. Divine spoke on the following subjects: "Abraham Lincoln," "Elijah," "The Girdle of Love," and "Paul and the Heavenly Vision." Dr. Divine spent each afternoon interviewing students interested in full-time Christian service.

The Vacuum Cleaner by Otto Tell

Lower all flags to half mast and shed a tear for poor Willie Tell, who has gone, never to return! Willie has left; but his spirit lingers on, for into the breach steps G. Otto Tell, brother of Willie, to carry on the work (dirty work) of running the Vacuum Cleaner.

Otto picks up the falling torch with a choice story about the one and only Clare (Women's Choice) Woodward, who loves 'em and leaves 'em like a man. We print an excerpt from Woodward's diary (if Woodward were dumb enough to keep a diary):

"Rose early; dashed off letter to girl friend at Whitman. Went down to breakfast, and then went for short Platonic stroll with Jerry Hawley. Attended class, and then took pleasant excursion with Virginia Kurz, during which, time seemed to pass rapidly. Had little talk with Janey Carpenter; promised to take her walking in the moonlight. Made date for basketball game, took Janey walking, and so to bed."

What a man! What a lover! When better women are made, Woodward will make 'em.

The next item concerns that good-looking Scott Chatterton. Scott, as you perhaps have heard, was one of the chief officers of the Women Haters' club, but that's all over now. Yes, even the heart of that impregnable Chatterton man has been pierced, and you know as well as Otto does who is responsible. You might at least apologize to Koehler, Scott. That's Elise you can do, boy; Elise you can do.

At the present writing it appears that Doug Macintyre is trying to find out whether the synthetic lemonade left any permanent effects. We are considering writing a little playlet dedicated to Doug, called "From Chemistry to Campstry, or On the Trail of the Methyl Blue."

Otto has noticed that whenever he buys a popsicle down in the cafeteria, it tastes as if it had been in a fire. Tsk, Tsk, Mrs. Hardwick; don't tell us your theme song is "Smoke Gets In Your Ice-Cream."

With good old Carmen Kopsland back at college, writing the Vacuum Cleaner is a cinch job. Whenever Otto gets low on gags, he can drag out the old ones about Carmen and the boys. We don't know exactly what it is, but whatever name you call it by, Carmen has got it.

We don't vouch for the rumor, but the Vacuum Cleaner has heard that Imogene Cowan is trying to get Averill Wiley to construct a "bicycle built for two." Which is only our own quaint way of leading up to the fact that in that case Imogene's theme song would be, "The Old Spinning Wheel."

Pretty weak, pretty weak! Otto admits it. But let it pass, while we tell you that Margaret Robbins is letting the spring weather get the better of her. Margaret wandered so far into the forest and stayed there so long that she had to be a house guest at McMillan hall. Ah, me, what a wonderful thing young love is!

And so we come to the close of another Vacuum Cleaner. Before we finish, may we remark that this new Carioca reminds us of a prize fighter: a punch below the belt! Good-by, and be good while we are gone, because even when Otto is gone he is still around. Tweet, tweet.

SURVEY MADE BY CLASS

Results of a survey made recently by Miss Dickson's class in Orientation seem to prove that a college town is a poor location for a laundry.

A week's observation of the neatness of the college men was taken. It was found that 63 per cent of these students wear dirty cords, 44 per cent go without ties, and only 37 per cent dress as "gentlemen." Leather jackets and sweaters are very much in evidence, thanks to the chapel regulation.

SOCIETY -- SENIORS

COLONIAL PARTY SET FOR MARCH 2

Jo Schrap in Charge of Plans for Traditional Affair.

The spirit of '76 will reign on the college campus the evening of March 2, as stately ladies with powdered wigs and rustling skirts and gallant gentlemen dance the minuet and the Virginia reel.

This costume party is one of the traditional events at Whitworth. The decorations and the program will be entirely different from those of previous years, and the committee is planning many surprise features. A prize will be given for the best costume.

Jo Schrap is in charge of the arrangements. Other members on her committee are Clare Woodward, Murdock Hale, and Margaret Johnson.

OBSERVE C. E. WEEK

The Christian Endeavor society of Whitworth college observed Christian Endeavor week from January 29 to February 4, a week set aside to commemorate the fifty-third anniversary of the founding of Christian Endeavor by Dr. Francis E. Clark.

On January 20, a Whitworth group attended the Spokane District Rally, which was held at Knox Presbyterian church. At this meeting Miss Louella S. Dyer, Washington State Field Secretary, was the speaker.

At a special meeting held at the college the following Sunday, Dean Marion Jenkins spoke on the history and the principles of the Christian Endeavor organization.

INCREASE OF TWELVE NAMES ON HONOR ROLL

Keith Murray Again Tops List with Fifty-four Points.

Twelve more students were on the semester honor roll than were on the term honor roll—a considerable increase.

Keith Murray again topped the list of thirty-eight, with nineteen hours and fifty-four grade points. The individual grade point average was 15.9. The seniors took first place again with an average of 21.9 points.

Those on the honor roll for the semester are Keith Murray, David Glenn, Ruthann Jones, Charlotte Slater, Estella Baldwin, Douglas Macintyre, Harold Penhalurick, Carol Smith, John Bronson, Anne Kamm, Elsie Rhoades, Eleanor Goeke, Mary Baker, Charles Benson, Robert Reese, Eugenia Peery, Richard Allen, Margaret Robbins, Joan Dyar, Lester Hussey, Helen Ludwigson, Margaret Quist, Eleanor Henderson, Ansten Ness, Dorothy Reed, Mrs. Mildred Downs Stephens, Nadine Fisher, Jo Schrap, Jean Campbell, Mary Borden Crain, John Finkbeiner, Virginia Williams, Newton Brunton, Leamae Cantrell, Kenneth Short, Wilson Rasco, and Harold Eastburg.

Class honors, based on individual grade points, are: seniors, 21.9; sophomores, 17.1; juniors, 16; and freshmen, 14.1.

MAJOR CLARK SPEAKS

Major George Clark, of Fort George Wright, addressed the Whitworth student body on the subject of "World Peace" on Friday, February 16. He was speaking in behalf of National Preparedness week. Major Clark stressed the fact that he is not a militarist, but a pacifist. He told of his experiences in the horrors of war, but says that peace will come only through being prepared. He advocates disarmament as the last link in the chain for world brotherhood and peace. Captain Gleason, who accompanied Major Clark to the college, gave the invocation.

Sefelo Honors New Girls

Dorm Women Give Taffy Pull for Five New Members.

Sefelo entertained the new women of McMillan hall with a taffy pull, on January 30. The party was given in honor of the Misses Jane Carpenter and Doris Fisher of Mabton, Kathryn Cannon and Muriel McArthur of Entiat, and Jean Campbell of Spokane.

Adeline Keyser and Charlotte Slater prepared three kinds of taffy, and all joined in the pulling.

After a short business meeting the party closed with a group of college songs.

Art Club Presents Talented Artists

Leslie Hildenbrandt and Roy Goodman Enjoyed By Audience.

At its regular February meeting, the Whitworth College Art club presented two exceptional artists in the musical field—Roy Goodman, pianist, and Leslie Hildenbrandt, violinist. A large and enthusiastic audience gave appreciative attention.

Mr. Hildenbrandt opened the program with a group of two well-known numbers, MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" and "Waltz in A," by Brahms. He was accompanied by Miss Agnes Becker.

Mr. Goodman played a group of two, "Scherzo in B-flat Minor," by Chopin, and a more modern number, "May Night," by Palmgren.

Mr. Hildenbrandt appeared again in the rendition of Mendelssohn's difficult "Concerto in E Minor." Mr. Goodman returned to play Brahms' "Rhapsody in G Minor," "The Jugglers," by Moszkowski, and "Danse Negre," by Scott. His encore was the "Black Key Etude," by Chopin.

As his final group, Mr. Hildenbrandt played "Serenade Espagnol," by Chaminade-Kreisler; "Rondino," by Beethoven-Kreisler; and Kreisler's own composition, the beautiful "Schon Rosmarin." His encore was "Minuet in G," by Beethoven.

The artists were introduced by Mr. Poinar.

OPERA LEADS

discussing Serpolette, who comes in just in time to turn their taunts to rage.

Gaspard, an old miser, wishes to marry his niece, Germaine, to the principal magistrate, the Baillie; but this arrangement does not suit Germaine, nor a young fisherman, Jean Grenicheux. To escape from the power of Gaspard, Germaine becomes a servant to the Marquis Grenicheux and Serpolette follow her example.

The second act is taken up with the supernatural visitors who have made the Castle of Corneville so long an object of dread. Henri, determining to find out the real character of these ghostly appearances, discovers that they are the work of the miser, who has concealed his treasures in the chateau. The discovery drives Gaspard insane.

The third act represents the fete given in honor of the return of Henri to his home. Serpolette, believed to be an heiress by statements in papers found in the castle, arrives as a Marchioness; but the miser recovers his reason and shows that Germaine is the true Marchioness.

Sefelo Elects Officers

Sefelo held an election of officers on Tuesday evening, February 13. The following women will hold office this semester: Olive Clarke, president; Bertha Davis, secretary-treasurer; Ann Pillers, social chairman; Margaret Close, reception chairman; Jean Campbell, house chairman; and Anne Kamm, laundry chairman.

AUXILIARY GIVES ANNUAL TEA

Program Given in Honor of Mothers of New Students.

On Monday, February 19, the Women's Auxiliary of Whitworth college gave a tea honoring the mothers of the new students in the women's reception room of McMillan hall. The motif of the tea was Washington's birthday.

Mrs. M. N. MacLeod was in charge, and Mrs. Frank R. Furse poured.

Mrs. Morgan Allen had charge of the program sponsored by the speech department, which included readings by Carmen Kopsland, Margaret Brindell, and Ruthann Jones, a solo by Wesley Lynch accompanied by Genevieve Wilson, and poems read by Anne Kamm. Professor Adams gave a Washington day address.

Echoes and Encores

The music department has a busy season ahead, with the opera, the orchestra and band concert, and trips to various high schools.

Because of the success of the concert sponsored by the women of the Westminster Congregational church last spring, plans are being made for another concert to be given this year, to be presented jointly by the band, orchestra, and chorus.

Rehearsals of the opera, "The Bells of Corneville," are now well under way, with the chorus, orchestra, and principals rehearsing together. The date for the presentation of the opera has been changed from March 9 to March 8.

The orchestra and the chorus shared honors in chapel on Thursday, February 16, when they presented a program of varied selections.

The male quartet is becoming a very popular group, as evidenced by the full schedule of the last two weeks. During that time the quartet entertained as follows: at the Banquet of the Associated Engineers of Spokane at the Desert hotel; at a Lidgerwood Presbyterian church young people's meeting; at the Manito Masonic Lodge banquet; at the Libby junior high P. T. A., at a radio program over KFIO; and at the North Central high school P. T. A.

The string quartet also presented five numbers on the program of the North Central P. T. A.

On February 11, Mr. Osborne gave an organ recital at the Fourth Presbyterian church. He was assisted by vocalists from the church choir. Mr. Osborne is also to be presented in an organ recital at the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist on Sunday, February 25, at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Osborne is in charge of the chapel program each Tuesday, when a musical program is presented. On January 23, Mr. Osborne and Genevieve Wilson played as a two-piano duet, the "Arensky Suite." On the following Tuesday, Miss Evelyn McCray, a vocalist from West Virginia, presented a group of solos. On February 6, Joan Dyar was presented in a piano solo, the last movement of Beethoven's "Sonata Pathetique."

The elementary German class will be the guests of the advanced class at a German club program to be held soon in the Reception room of McMillan hall.

The program will feature interesting reports on Goethe and his works. Musical numbers will complete the program.

The Fall of Fame

Adeline Keyser is the world's hardest person to interview. She doesn't trust reporters; but after we backed her into a corner and threatened her with mud in her eye as well as salt in her hair if she wouldn't tell us her life-history, she decided that discretion is indeed a noble virtue, and agreed to "tell all."

She's had any number of interesting experiences. And did you know that she was born in Panama? Now if you should find that she has a weakness for chili beans, dark men, or mosquitoes, you'll know why. Furthermore, she was a passenger, though a small one, on the first boat to go through the locks upon completion of the canal there; and all this time we supposed for no particular reason, that Adeline had spent most of her years in Spokane.

We do know that Adeline is quite an enthusiast in the matter of cross-country hiking, especially in the company of the personable young man we have seen her with once or twice.

She's a strange mixture, this Keyser person. She has a delightful sense of humor tucked away under that dignified and reserved air of hers but as a tooter-of-her-own-horn, she's really no good at all!

We approached Tommy Ventris, feeling as though our knees must be sounding like castanets, for, after all dear reader, a football hero is a football hero, and is, as such, a decidedly superior human being.

We were, however, immediately set at ease by Tommy's first statement for publication, to the effect that, underneath it all, he is still just "a little farmer boy." This disarming confession was followed by the equally surprising one that he is really very bashful, extremely so; and here all along we'd been under the impression that his man-of-the-world air was his natural expression!

Well, as some sage rather futilely said, one learns and learns and learns!

He was finally graduated from grade school, although he admits that "poppa had to go see teacher a couple of times!"

As for his career at college, Tommy modestly states that he hasn't done anything yet, but he still has another semester!

As to his future, your guess is as good as ours, for he politely declined to do any speculating along that line; but here's luck to you, Tommy—this interviewing business could have been much worse!

Ruthann Jones confesses with blushes that she was the original inspiration for the touching eulogy regarding the prairie flower—you know, the one that grew rapidly wilder every hour? But just see what Whitworth has done for her!

When she was but knee-high to a drop of rain, she entertained all sorts of dreams about being a cowboy some day—or a cartoonist. Regarding the latter, she says to see Dr. Hedrick for references. It seems that her version of an earthworm vaguely resembled somebody's sketch of an underground railway!

At high school she must have been an amiable child, for she had no pet peeves. She drove a Ford to and from school. Aha, now we're beginning to understand how it happens that she handles a certain Model T around the college with such efficiency!

The W. A. A. recently added a new member to the Executive board. Florence Moore, elected to the position of secretary in a close election held February 2, takes over the duties of Joan Ellen Loveless, who has left college.

WHITWORTH WINS FROM LAKE CITY

Pirate Quintet Takes Game 33-28 from C. D'A Junior College.

The Whitworth hoopsters trounced the Coeur d'Alene junior college on February 8, by a score of 28 to 33. The game kept the crowd on its feet continually, for the score never varied more than three points until the closing few minutes. The Pirates took an early lead, but soon lost it, and from then on almost every basket changed the lead.

The half-time score was 15 to 15. Murdock Hale came into the contest near the end of the second half and sank two buckets in rapid succession, which helped greatly in the final outcome.

Tommy Ventris and Bobby Gray were the chief loopers for Whitworth, making 10 and 9 points respectively.

Boothe and McCall scored the same for the Lake city team.

The game was enlivened by the addition of the Coeur d'Alene high school band and a large crowd, which gave both teams hearty support.

Gonzaga Freshmen Win Rough Game

Contest Turns Into Knock-Down and Drag-Out Affair.

The Gonzaga Frosh defeated the Whitworth five by a score of 43 to 20, three headlocks and right to the kidney, in their second meeting on January 29 in the home gym.

The game was the roughest that the Pirates have played so far. The first half was uneventful, with the frosh piling up a commanding lead. At the beginning of the second half the Whitworth quintet began to get aggressive and overhaul the first-year men; but the Gonzagas retaliated in a rather pugilistic manner, and from then on it was a knock-down and drag-out affair.

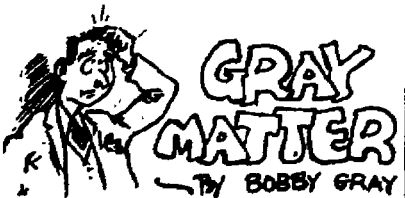

Olsen of Gonzaga was the leading scorer of the evening with a total of 15 points. Koehler with 6 and Ventris, Gray, and Wilson with 4 each were the high men for the losers.

"BOO" MILLER IS NOW BACK AT COLLEGE

"Boo" Miller, one of Whitworth's super-athletes, is now at college, after recovery from a serious operation performed on his knee. This makes the fourth time this season that "Boo" has had to have his leg placed in a cast. As the operation was entirely successful, he was able to return to college this week.

If you don't like this "colyum," remember the good old quotation, "Let him who is without sin be the first to cast a stone." I hope that you can't throw straight.

Have you girls noticed the cute little twist that Tommy Ventris uses in shooting short-shots? You should; it's really quite "ducky" - sort of "Mae West" style.

Al Luenow might have been greatly embarrassed at the last Gonzaga game if the spectators had been able to read his lips—if you know what I mean.

Did you know that we have our own "King Kong" right here at Whitworth? If you don't believe me, try playing basketball against Murdock Hale.

It's too bad that one of our prominent basketball players of last year is so busy studying "campus" that he can't turn out this year.

We noticed at the last interclass game that Charles Benson had to have at least two girls to keep him company. Don't you know that you're three behind at that, Charlie? You must keep up your reputation.

Figure this one out: Whitman beat College of Idaho and College of Puget Sound; Gonzaga U. defeated Whitman; then Coeur d'Alene J. C. defeated Gonzaga and Whitworth downed the Lake city quintet, therefore, Whitworth, if in the Northwest Conference, would be at the top.

Have you noticed how quiet it has been around the college for the last few weeks? I wonder whether "Boo" Miller's absence could have anything to do with this state of affairs?

Incidentally, we might mention the fact that the Whitworth ball team beat the fast Y. M. D. outfit last week in a practice scrimmage.

Let's see a larger turnout at the basketball games in our home gym. At the first Gonzaga game, the Gonzaga rooters outnumbered the Whitworth students. The college certainly can't boast much of spirit if they aren't able to get more students to attend the games in their own gym than the visiting team can furnish.

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of P.P.P.P.P. We saw Scott Chatterton out tossing the horsehide around the other day, and it is also rumored that he has handed in his resignation to the "Women-Haters' club." You'll have to draw your own conclusions.

Miss Mabel Dickson has recently been elected secretary-treasurer of the American Home Economics association in the eastern Washington division.

HOOPSTERS TAKE LOCAL BANK TEAM

Go on Spree to Win by Overwhelming Score of 52-16.

Whitworth severely drubbed the Spokane and Eastern bank ball tossers last Friday by the overwhelming score of 52 to 16.

The home loopers took an early lead and were never headed. Every member of the Pirate team saw action during the contest. Whitworth tried several new set plays, which worked successfully. The half-time score was 20 to 6 in favor of the locals.

Koehler and Ventris went on a scoring spree, both making 14 points. Three men, Koening, Barth, and Hansen, managed to sink two baskets apiece for high point honors. All but one of the Bank's buckets were made on long shots.

Whitworth's foul shooting improved greatly this game, the men dropping in 6 out of a possible 8 attempts.

Pirate Hoopsters Lose to Paposes

Team Unable to Overcome Early Lead Made by Normal Men.

The Pirate five dropped a hard-fought contest to the Cheney Paposes by a score of 32 to 23, January 29, on the Cheney floor. The Normal Men gained an early lead, which Whitworth was unable to overcome.

The half-time score favored the Cheney quintet, 13 to 6. Most of their points were made on long shots.

Whitworth was unable to capitalize on Cheney's foul shots, sinking only four out of fifteen attempts.

Gray was the chief scoring threat for the Pirates with 8 points. Davis led the winners with five buckets for a total of 10 points.

Sophomores Cinch Tournament Title

Win Five Games in Inter-Class Series to Gain Lead.

The Interclass Basketball tournament has been booming along at a great rate for the last two weeks, with the high and mighty sophomore team showing their heels to every one.

The sophomores cinched the title for themselves by winning from the upperclassmen by a score of 40 to 16 in the seventh game of the series. The junior-senior quintet were virtually helpless before the onslaught of the second-year men.

Chatterton with 16 points and Smith with 11 set an example for the rest of the squad, and every member of the winning team made at least one goal. Macintyre paced the losers with 5 points.

In the third game of the series the sophomores defeated the frosh by the close score of 26 to 24. Smith and Chatterton were the go-getters for the second-year men, scoring 9 and 8 points respectively. Hatcher showed his ability by making six baskets for a total of 12 points for the green dinks.

The sophomores were exceptionally "hot" in the fourth game and gave the exalted upperclassmen a terrific beating to the tune of 45 to 3. Smith again proved to be the guiding hand for the winners by amassing a total of 17 points. Earl Miller sank several beautiful long shots for a total of 12 points. Ward Fancher was the only man to sink a goal for the losers.

The fifth game was a walkaway for the upperclassmen, the score being 35 to 10. The contest was rather mild, for hardly anyone received any injuries, much to the spectators' disappointment. The first-year men led at the end of the first quarter 8 to 5, but from then on the winners had things their own way. "Flash" Macintyre was the shining light for the junior-senior aggregation, making 10 points. Hatcher was high for the losers, as usual. Davis, Olney, and Hatcher were removed from the game for too many personals.

The sophomores virtually cinched the championship by winning the sixth game from the lowly frosh by a score of 41 to 21.

The shooting of McEachran and the brilliant dribbling of Fleming were the outstanding features of the contest. "Mac" failed to loop a single bucket, and Dan failed to complete one dribble.

The game was made more interesting by the unique yelling section organized by Charles Benson and his harem.

SPRING CONCERT TO BE MARCH 22

Program To Be Sponsored By Westminster Daughters

READERS TO ASSIST

All Musical Organizations In College To Be On Program

The date set for the joint concert of Whitworth musical organizations, under the auspices of the Whitworth college music department, the speech department, and the Westminster Congregational church, is March 22 at 8 p. m.

As all available musical talent in Whitworth has been called into service, a varied program will be presented.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Poinar, will play a group of the classics, and the string quartet, string trio, and male quartet will be featured. Professor Adams is presenting two readers; the chorus, under the direction of Mr. Osborne, will sing; and Mrs. Herbst will give a group of vocal solos. Two soloists on the saxophone and the trumpet will play "Saxophobia" and "The Carnival of Venice" respectively.

A similar concert, given last year, was very successful.

Whitworth college will receive half the proceeds. The admission is set at twenty-five cents. Tickets may be secured from Mr. Poinar or from members of the various musical organizations.

Last Minute Dope From "Green Derby"

College To Be "Frying Pan" Of International Talent

Last-minute flashes "hot off the wires" tell us that this year's Green Derby will resemble an international mass meeting!

Yes, the United States may be the melting pot of foreign immigration, but Whitworth college will be the "frying pan" of sizzling foreign entertainment on Saturday night.

Four nations will join hands in the merrymaking. France, under the capable leadership of M'sin Daniel de la Fleming, and England, with ye olde Bobbe Allison at the royal helm, will cooperate with Germany, under Herr Direktor Bob Gray, in presenting part of the entertainment. "Our own" Tommy Ventris and Mark Koehler will direct and stage a modern representation of American life.

Battles, war debts, and boundary disputes will fade into nothingness on Saturday night; brotherly love and laughter will reign supreme.

Everything from a Venetian waltz to a "Cherman band" will entertain you at this conclave of nations.

Whether you're a militarist or a pacifist—come!

STUDENTS IN ACCIDENT

Miss Mary Borden Crain and Hedley Vicker were painfully injured in an automobile accident at the foot of the Wall street hill on March 2, as they were returning home from the college colonial party. Miss Crain was knocked unconscious and was severely cut around the face and head. Hedley suffered minor injuries. Both have recovered sufficiently to resume their work.

ANNUAL ELECTION TO BE HELD SOON

Petitions Must Be on Board By 4 P. M., Tuesday, March 20.

Aha, election time rolls around again! In store for Whitworth students on March 28 are an election and all the accompanying blarney, ballyhoo, and frenzy! As no restrictions are placed on the manner of conducting the campaigns, we should have a good time.

The constitution of the Associated Students provides for the election of a president, a vice-president, a secretary, five members of the executive board, a yell king, and a May queen. All petitions must be on the bulletin board by 4 o'clock Tuesday, March 20.

The qualifications of the candidates must follow the terms of the constitution, which specify that the candidates for president and vice-president shall be at least unconditional upperclassmen at the beginning of the college year following the election and that the secretary be at least a sophomore at the time of his election. Members of the executive board may be of any class, but at least two must be women and at least one a member of the freshman class.

Group From Fellowship Goes on Two-Day Trip

One of the Volunteer Fellowship teams, which was composed of Elise Aldrich, Helen Wilson, Paul Koper, Philip Walborn, and Murdock Hale, made a two-day trip to Asotin and Clarkston on March 11.

The team had charge of the Sunday morning church service at Asotin and assisted in the Sunday school service, after which a delicious lunch was served by the ladies of the Asotin church. In the evening the team went to Clarkston and conducted the evening service at the First Presbyterian church. The team were entertained in homes at Clarkston, returning to the college Monday morning.

The Volunteer Fellowship teams are still holding regular meetings at Foothills, although the time of the service has been changed to 7:30 in the evening instead of the morning. Other meetings have been held recently at Pleasant Prairie, Millwood Presbyterian church, Westminster Presbyterian, Emmanuel Presby. Terjan, Corbin Park Methodist, Opportunity, and Elk, Washington. Another retreat is being planned for March 25.

HALE WINS FREE TICKET

Submits Winning Slogan For Green Derby Contest

Murdock Hale is the winner of the Green Derby slogan contest. Murdock's contribution is: "Green Derby—Brimful of fun for so little mon."

A number of slogans were submitted, and competition was so close that the judges had a difficult time choosing the winner. Murdock was awarded a free ticket to the Derby.

PRESENT OPERA TO FULL HOUSE

Both Cast and Orchestra Present Creditable Performance.

"The Bells of Corneville," a three-act comic opera by Robert Planquette, was presented to a full house on Thursday night, March 8. The audience was very appreciative, even those who had to stand. The opera was a great success and reflects much credit on Mr. Osborne, Mr. Adams, and the cast.

Mrs. Stephens as Seroplette, the village mischiefmaker, and Margaret Quist as Germaine, the lost Marchioness, were fine in their parts, and "that booby of a Bailli," Dwight Calkins, was extremely funny. Loren Hatcher as Henri, Marquis de Corneville, took his part very naturally. Crazy Gaspard, Keith Murray, was miserly enough for anybody; and Ralph Shanks as John Grenicheux, the timorous fisherman who in the haunted chateau was "mailed and waiting for a ghost to put a postage stamp on him," did well. Mark Koehler and his attendants were excellent in their parts. The four coy and gossipy village maidens were Charlotte Blatter, Earleen Schiye, Elise Aldrich, and Margaret Robbins.

Credit should go to Margaret Close for the work on the costumes for the chorus, and also to Bob Allison and his committee for the make-up.

The costumes, of Normandy in the seventeenth century, were very colorful. Henri, in the first two acts, wore a Mexican costume, and was quite "dashing" and handsome with his moustache. Margaret Quist was lovely in a pink costume. In the third act, when Seroplette came back to Corneville as the Marchioness, she wore a beautiful blue dress with rhinestones covered train, shoes, and so forth, quite befitting her elevated station.

FAMOUS ARTISTS TO APPEAR SOON

"Hunky" and "Dory" Plus Others on Dorm Program.

Folks, here is a little scoop on the Ballard hall open dorm, which is to be held March 23. Besides the exalted trapeze artists, "Hunky" and "Dory" (whose services the entertainment committee was fortunate enough to secure for that evening), there will be something new, something different, and something spectacular: none other than the famous Hindu hypnotist and widely-traveled traveler, Prince Maharaja Ahaga Tahishama, and his worthy sidekick, Yah But, both recently returned from a trip to Africa.

Another thing if you don't believe that asbestos will burn, just step in long enough to hear the Wesqueakee trio from Wearen'sure.

At present the committee is trying very hard to obtain the services of Baron Von Munchausen, but this early in the game, no rash promises can be made. We do, however, advise everyone to come.

Now listen, young women if you're looking for a good little man housekeeper, just look around on the night of March 23 and take your pick. You might get wise even to his cooking ability, for we have heard through reliable sources that the best of refreshments are to be served.

DISTINCTIVE COVER CHOSEN FOR NATSIHI

A distinctive cover for the 1934 Natsihi has been designed by the staff. The cover copy, which is made up of rough-surfaced DuPont fabric cloth in two shades of green, is being manufactured at a local printing house.

Simple modern designs are being used both for the cover and for the insert pages which divide the book into its six sections: Faculty, Classes, Athletics, Campus Life, Activities, and Humor.

A late change in the staff places Margaret Johnson in the position of humor editor.

On Sunday, March 4, the Rev. Lee E. Knoll '29, pastor of the Monroe Park Presbyterian church in Spokane, went to Kettle Falls to take part in the ordination of Ralph Hanson '29 as an elder of the Kettle Falls church. Dr. O. W. Hays substituted at the Monroe Park church in the Rev. Mr. Knoll's absence.

Gym To Be Transformed To Gay, Colorful Green Derby.

The annual Green Derby, sponsored by the Pirettes and the "W" club, which is to be held on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, promises a round of high-class entertainment of music, fun, and gaiety.

There are to be four countries featured on the program: the United States, Germany, France, and the British Isles. Many artists from Spokane are to be seen and heard.

Albert Arend, one of the members on the board of trustees of Whitworth college, is to be master of ceremonies.

The following is a brief summary of the program: Germany: Piano Solo, Roman Ladder Act, Band, Song-quartet. France: Tap Dances, Marionette Act, Women's Trio. British Isles: Bagpipes, Accordion, Songs. United States: Male Trio, Harper Joy, Blues Singer, Dances.

Committee Named For Point System

Students To Carry Only Limited Number Of Activities

Plans for inaugurating a point system in Whitworth college are under way. The committee which has been appointed to work out the system consists of Adeline Keyser, chairman, Eleanor Goetze, and Robert Allison.

The work of the committee is to evaluate the different extra-curricular activities on a basis of points. As a preliminary step, class and club constitutions are being studied to evaluate offices.

Students will be allowed to carry only a limited number of points of activities. In this way, work will be divided more evenly than at present. New persons will be given opportunities for leadership, and others will not be overworked.

Pirette Club To Have New Official Uniforms

What is to be the new official uniform of the Pirette club? The members have abandoned the red slip-on sweater for a black coat sweater decorated with an attractive red pirette insignia. Inability of the club to purchase the old uniform sweaters is given as the reason for the change.

Installation of newly elected officers, followed by a social meeting, was recently held in the women's reception hall.

On February 24, Christine McDonald, Elsie Ratsch, Eleanor Goetze, and Florence Moore, of the Pirette club, represented Whitworth at a tea given at the Dessert hotel by the A. A. U. W. for graduating high school girls and their mothers. Dean Jenkins spoke at this meeting.

THE GREEN DERBY

The Green Derby was given at Whitworth by the "W" club and the Pirettes last year for the first time, with such success that it was decided to make it an annual event, sponsored jointly by the two clubs.

All the proceeds go to promote athletics at Whitworth. Last year the money was used to pipe water to the football field.

This year, of course, the plans are for a bigger and better derby, and the committees have worked out some novel ideas. They are doing all in their power to put the show over, but the ultimate success is up to the student body.

So reserve Saturday, the seventeenth; tell your family, friends, and relatives; ask your best girl—and we'll be seeing you at the GREEN DERBY.

STUDENT BODY ELECTION

By 4 o'clock on Tuesday, March 20, the petitions of all candidates for student body offices must be on the bulletin board. One week later the annual election will be held.

At this time a president, vice-president, secretary, yell king, and five executive board members will be elected to conduct the affairs of the college year 1934-1935.

There are many things to think about in the election of student body officers; therefore, it is not a matter to be taken lightly. Personal preferences should not enter into the balloting, for these officers are our representatives, whose duty it is to administer and supervise all the business and activities of the A. S. W. C.

We hear a lot about "intelligent voting." Here is a chance for us, as members of the student body, to see that we get officers who uphold our rights and our ideals.

THINK IT OVER

Two new ideas are being discussed on the campus lately: a "Hello" tradition and the starting of a men's federation.

The "Hello" tradition is part of college life throughout the United States. Its purpose is to foster a feeling of good will and friendliness among the students and strangers on the campus.

The idea of the men's federation is to get the men of the college together. This organization will promote interclass athletics, form a committee for the welcoming of visiting teams from other colleges, and give backing to student activities.

As these two matters will be brought up before the student body soon, it will be well to give them consideration and thought.

To whoever is responsible for the grading of the campus roads, we, the students of Whitworth, give laurels. A few weeks ago, we travelers of these roads felt as though tickets should be taken at the entrance to the campus. We weren't sure whether we were riding down the high ride at Natatorium park or over some cobblestone street in a Chinese jinrikisha.

It wasn't Santa Claus and it wasn't the Easter bunny; but we now have a place to hang our hats, to keep our belongings, and to edit the Whitworthian. There must have been a good fairy somewhere.

Echoes and Encores

The Whitworth male quartet are very popular. On February 27, they offered several numbers at a men's dinner at the Westminster Congregational church. On March 4 they were featured at the morning service of the First United Presbyterian church. They appeared again at Westminster Congregational church on March 10, where they provided entertainment at the Saturday evening session and at the banquet of the Christian Endeavor convention. On Thursday, March 15, they were featured at the meeting of the Rotary club.

Kenneth Osborne was presented in an organ recital at the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist on February 25. His selections were chosen from the compositions of Bach. On Sunday, March 18, Mr. Osborne will appear again at the Cathedral, in a varied program. His selections are to be "Allegro" (Symphony I), by Maquaire; "Adagio in C," Bach; "Improvisation," Karg-Elert; and "Choral in B Minor," Franck.

The Whitworth string trio offered a group of selections at Fowler M. E. church on March 4. They are scheduled to appear again on Sunday, March 18, at the Norwegian Methodist church; and on April 4 at Lewis and Clark high school, before the Inland Empire Music association.

The string quartet was featured Sunday, March 11, on a program of the American Association of University Women, with Westley Lynch, baritone, assisting.

The program of the Delphian club on March 24 will feature George O. Poinar in a group of selections on the violin. The male quartet will sing.

LIBRARY GETS BOOKS

Dr. Sullivan Gives Books on Present Economic Conditions.

Three new books on present economic conditions and the measures being taken for betterment have recently been presented to the Whitworth library by President W. W. Sullivan. "The Economics of the Recovery Program," by a group of members of the economics department of Harvard university; "America Self-Contained," by Samuel Crowther; and "The Roosevelt Revolution, First Phase," by Ernest K. Lindley.

Several textbooks in biology, economics, and history have also been purchased for the library.

"CHICOT" CANCELLED

"The Hunchback" Now Named For Commencement Play

"The Hunchback," by Sheridon Knowles, will be presented in place of "Chicot the Jester," as the 1934 commencement play, according to Professor Adams, director. The new play has been modernized by Professor Adams.

The following characters have been tentatively chosen: Jack Bevan, Virginia Kurz, Chester Richards, Bob Allison, Bill Rasco, John Freeman, Arthur Rasmussen, and Evelyn Irwin.

Derby Causes Excitement

Telephone operators looked at one another in bewilderment. Before them the operating panel buzzed and clicked, sparked and clanged.

"What's going on?" asked an operator.

"It's a fellow named Dan Fleming," was the reply; "he's trying to get some talent for Whitworth's Green Derby on Saturday night."

Not only was Dan lost in the coils of crossed wires, but he had Bob Allison, Bobby Gray, Tommy Ventris and Mark Koehler entangled with him.

"Hard work reaps bounteous harvest," philosophizes the Whitworthian sage. To prove his statement, the sage invites you to witness the shining array of talent to be presented on Saturday night.

SEE MASTER MIND!

Puppeteer to Be Featured on Green Derby.

The "Master Mind" who controls the destinies of human beings has nothing on Ned Chapman! Ned has merely to "pull a few strings" and his subjects dutifully fulfill his every desire. That is the interesting thing about being a puppeteer. His subjects are always ready to perform his bidding at the motion of "their master's hand."

Ned has instructed his mechanical men to appear with him as part of the French portion of the Green Derby.

This performance is but one of the many interesting and unusual acts to be presented Saturday night. So we'll be seeing you at the Green Derby!

Women Attend Play Day At Pullman

Sixteen Participate In Meet With Inland Empire Colleges

On Saturday morning, March 10, sixteen Whitworth women, with Miss Helen Robinson, left in the orange school bus of Mead, for Play Day, which is sponsored by Physical Education majors of Washington State college at Pullman.

From 10:30, the time they arrived at Pullman, the Whitworthians, together with women from Lewiston, Idaho, Cheney, and Spokane junior college, spent a busy day.

As soon as they arrived at the college, they registered and received their ribbons. Then there was a scramble to change into gym clothes in order to participate in the volley ball games, which took place in the men's gym. After the volley ball period, everyone went to the women's gym for lunch. Before and after lunch, groups of visiting women played ping-pong, darts, and shuffleboard. After lunch, a group of W. S. C. women gave a program of tap and interpretative dancing.

At 2 o'clock, everyone went over to the men's gym for basketball and relays. Three basketball games were going at the same time; every team played every other team. The basketball was followed by an exhibition of swimming stunts by the Fish Fans.

After all had had a swim, they went to the home economics building for a tea.

Then all were off for home! Did you ever try to drink milk from a milk bottle, when the bus you were riding in was bouncing over the road? There was milk spilled down sleeves and over clothes and faces, but the Whitworth women got to be quite efficient. Some became adept even at sleeping on their necks.

Tired, but satisfied, the Whitworth women arrived in Spokane about 9:45 p. m.

Fresh Girls Get Orders

List of Rules Given to be Obeyed Until End of Term

At last the freshman women have received notice of official initiation.

Woe be unto any new freshman woman if she should happen to violate any of the following rules:

1. There must be absolutely no talking to any of the men from 8 to 4 till March 19.
2. Green ribbons must be seen.
3. Each new student shall have one turn at cleaning the town women's room.
4. The back door to Chapel must be used.
5. No cosmetics of any form may be used.
6. Due respect must be shown at all times to all upperclass students. These rules hold until the end of the term.

Make Additional Lawn

Plans are being made to enlarge the improved part of the campus. Preliminary work is being done at present, by student labor. Trenches have been dug, and pipes for a water system to take care of the additional lawn are ready to be laid. Blue grass will be sown.

The Vacuum Cleaner by Otto Tell

Hi buddies, girl friends, and rival columnists, here comes old Otto Tell, staggering under a weighty load of quaint quippes and sillie sallies with which to pay his respects to the latest victims of Dan Cupid.

In the front row stands T. C. (Take-it-to-the-Dean) McFeron, who seems to have fallen at last for Danny's wiles. McFeron, you understand, is no ordinary victim. In his schnozzola flows the blue blood of the sturdy Pilgrim Fathers. To see McFeron go is like seeing an oak fall from its place on the hillside.

Shed a tear for poor T. C. He's not the man he used to be!

Next in line come Otto's pals "Dave" McEachran, and "Anne" Jorgenson, who have also acquired the habit of sitting in the library and mooning at one another. We can't blame Robert too much, however. He seems to be only another victim of the ancient maxim, "Love is Blonde."

The time has come to pull our latest theme song. This one is the property of Ward Fancher and Charlotte Slater, who have lately felt the urge of spring: "Let's Make Hey-Hey While the Sun Shines."

Doug Macintyre's latest activity is to sponsor a traditional "Hello Week" around the campus, during which all necessity for introductions would be dispensed with. Douglas says he is doing it for the good of the college, but Otto suspects he is just having trouble getting acquainted with some of the new freshman women. Tsk, Tsk, Douglas, a man of your charm and personality!

Otto next rises to observe that although Jack Bevan drives a Ford, he seems to have a weakness for Fisher bodies.

Next comes a little word about horses. A horse is an intelligent animal. A horse also knows when he is well off. Bobby Gray is not a horse. Nevertheless, Otto warns him that he is going to get ridden plenty if he keeps on horsing around with the Vacuum Cleaner.

We couldn't end the column without a little story about Janey (Three-A-Night) Carpenter, the original military maiden. Janey, you know, is no revolutionist, but she has an army. Now if Janey were not Otto Tell's friend and if he had not promised to refrain from writing anything mean about her, we would give you the lowdown on the army. But, since things are as they are, we will confine ourselves to giving her a tip to cut down on her infantry, to get more big shots in her artillery, and above all, to get some action from her intelligence division.

Another thing the column wouldn't be complete without is a few good theme songs. Otto will give you a few of his quaint versions of the dormitory student's luncheon pie song: "I Just Couldn't Take It, Baby."

If you don't like the pie version, you can try the fish version: "I Just Couldn't Hake It, Baby." (Sorry pals, I trout hard to bass that one up, but I fell.)

If you are still suffering from the last one, don't read the theme song of the stripper with lumbago: "I Just Couldn't Shake It, Baby."

Speaking of pie and fish brings to mind our old friend, Boo Miller, who is burning to be quoted in these pages again. Anything for a pal so we quote:

"Right now I am nursing my strength back to normal. With spring coming again, I expect to be 'out soon hunting for cherries." Nurse to you, Boo, you old snatcher-in-the-darker, you!

And so we come to the end of another Vacuum Cleaner. We are sorry we haven't got a sillie sally or a jollie jouque to end with, but Boo Miller and the fish wore us out. See you at the Green Derby.

Otto Tell

SOCIETY

FRESHMEN HOLD ANNUAL TEA

Margaret Close and Carol Smith in Charge of Program.

The freshmen held their annual tea, March 6 in the women's reception hall. Most of those participating in the program were members of the freshman class. The instrumental trip, consisting of Genevieve Wilson, Philip Walborn, and Art Rorberg, presented two numbers. Florence McEachran and Carmen Kopsland gave several readings. Philip Walborn played a cello solo, Isabel Boot and Loren Hatcher each sang a group of songs, and Art Rorberg played a violin solo.

Mrs. Ward W. Sullivan and Mrs. Francis T. Hardwick poured. Margaret Close and Carol Smith were in charge of the arrangements.

RABBI FINK SPEAKS

Addresses Student Body on "Hitler and the Nazi Program"

An interesting talk on present conditions in Germany was given in chapel on February 23 by Rabbi Adolph H. Fink, of the Temple Emanu-El of Spokane.

Rabbi Fink condemned the Nazi anti-Semitic program. He also asserted that Hitler is a menace to the peace of Europe, inasmuch as the Nazi platform is throwing all European nations into a mad scramble for armaments. Other main points of the Rabbi's address are that the Versailles Peace treaty is unjust and that democracy has disappeared from Germany.

Rabbi Fink is an interesting speaker, appealing to the listener's reason, rather than to his emotions.

Art Club to Have Party

Audrey Simmons in Charge of Arrangements.

The Whitworth College Art club will hold its regular monthly meeting on March 16 at the home of Margaret Quist. It is to be a social gathering, with Audrey Simmons as the head of the committee in charge of the program.

Instead of having guest artists as usual, the members themselves are to provide the entertainment. New members will be received.

Mr. Osborne is to have charge of the April meeting.

Many Attend District C. E. Convention

The Spokane District Christian Endeavor Union held their thirteenth annual convention in the Westminster Congregational Church, March 9, 10, and 11.

The convention was one of the largest district conventions ever held in Spokane, with a total registration of more than three hundred and of course with a great many more in attendance.

The theme of the meetings was "Not I, but Christ."

Those from the Whitworth society who had a part on the program were Dean Jenkins, Estella Baldwin, Olive Clarke, Paul Koper, Keith Murray, and Bob Reese.

Foreign Language Class Honors German Author

An interesting program was presented recently by the advanced German class, to which members of other classes and the German club were invited.

The program consisted of a tribute to Goethe, German author (1749-1832). His life and works were reviewed in a series of talks by the students. Those who took part in the program were Arthur Rorberg, Frances Jorgenson, Margaret Quist, David Glenn, and Anne Kazam.

APRIL FROLIC COMING

Traditional Event to Take Place Next Month.

It's an old Whitworth custom for the women of the college to have an annual picnic called the April Frolic. So one afternoon next month they will frolic to yonder hills to roast wieners and marshmallows; in the evening they will return to the college for a party.

This is the one event of the year at which men are taboo; but to lend effect and atmosphere, half of the women dress as men and act as escorts to the others.

Style Notes

By M. C.

Now that spring is really in evidence, our thoughts have definitely turned to new clothes. It is not an arduous task to choose our clothing this season because there are so many delightful things from which we may make our selection. The colors are particularly beautiful. For afternoon, dusky pink and blue and soft gray-green, known as Martini, will make us feel very elegant. Then, too there are beautiful floral prints. The materials are often moss crepes; still there are so many lovely materials that one may simply choose what most appeals to her.

We see many swaggar suits. The lines are much the same as those of last year, and the materials are often tweeds. One feature of a swaggar suit is that the coat may be worn separately.

The most popular coats will be untrimmed; the lines alone being depended on for achieving that "certain air."

In sport dresses we hear that the shirt waist style is certain to be a winner. There are so many clever variations of this style that there is certain to be a style to suit everyone. For the tall girl the diagonal stripe will be attractive.

Hats will be more or less off the face; however, if that style is not becoming, there will be many brimmed hats and also those very saucy little hats which come down over the eye. The materials for hats are varied. Among some of the most popular ones are the alpaca and the fabric straws.

In jewelry the antique patterns are being shown. Not many neckpieces will be worn, however, because of the high necklines. Still the shops are showing some long strings of amber or of pearl. The dress must be extremely simple if one contemplates adding the beads.

Flowers seems to be coming into favor again. Violets and gardenias and dainty organdie flowers are being used to set off dresses. For suits, smart fruits in glazed materials will be most attractive for that "touch of color."

GREEN DERBY

Roy Lowell, in charge of the music, has organized an eight-piece orchestra.

The committees in charge of the Green Derby have been working to make this entertainment even better than that of last year. The committee members are: Program, Dan Fleming; Bobby Gray; Bob Allison; Mark Koehler and Tommy Ventris; Advertising, Bill Rasco and Faith Helms; Grounds and decorations, Dwight Calkins and Carmen Kopsland; Music, Roy Lowell; Refreshments, Tena Lathrop and Elsie Hatch; Check Room, Joan Dyer; and Tickets, Ward Faucher and Charlotte Slater. The business manager is Bob McEachran.

The sale of tickets has been progressing well, and a good crowd is expected. Funds taken in from the Green Derby are used for athletic promotional purposes.

COLONIAL PARTY FESTIVE SCENE

Margaret Close, Murdock Hale Given Costume Prizes.

The library presented a festive scene on the evening of Friday, March 2, when the annual Colonial party was given.

Paul Koper, butler, announced the honorable guests as they made their entrance over a stile.

Powdered wigs, waistcoats, knee breeches, and full skirts were much in evidence as the guests danced the Virginia reel and "Skip To M'Lou, My Darling." Refreshments were served during intermissions.

Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Margaret Close and Murdock Hale. Dr. and Mrs. Hays, Miss Landsberg, and Dr. Hedrick received honorable mention.

The stage was decorated with a life-sized silhouette of a colonial couple, illuminated by a series of revolving colored lights. The walls were covered with red and white streamers, and light was furnished by candles and old-fashioned lamps. The committee in charge was Jo Schrap, chairman; Clare Woodward, Margaret Johnson, Murdock Hale, and Keith Murray.

JUNIORS PLAN BANQUET

Mel Fariss is Chairman of Committee for Event.

Plans are now being made by the junior class for the annual Junior-Senior banquet, at which the seniors are guests. The place and the date are not yet definitely arranged. Mel Fariss is chairman of the committee. Other members are Faith Helms and George McDowell.

DEBATE IS HELD

Whitworth upheld the affirmative in a debate with Spokane junior college, Wednesday, March 14, at Whitworth.

The debate question this year is: "Resolved, That the powers of the President of the United States be substantially increased as a settled policy."

ALL-STAR TEAM TAKES SOPHOMORE QUINTET

Final Game is Most Pugnistic of Season

In the final game of the season, the overassuring sophomores were drubbed by a classy aggregation of all-stars from the freshman, junior, and senior classes, some of whom had never previously played the game. The final score was 38 to 31.

The game was the most pugilistic one yet played. Fleming started out the first round—I beg your pardon, I mean the first quarter—by dribbling half the length of the floor. Davis retaliated by tripping him. Gustafson stepped in and parted them, warning Davis and awarding Fleming a free throw. Miller shot a short one to the backboard, but Fariss and Copple came back strong, carrying him to the canvas—there I go again, the maples. Kroske entered the fray and immediately was stepped on by Jacobs. Chatterton came out of a series of kidney punches and sank one in Reese—my error, the hoop. The sophomores seemed overtrained; and the loss of weight due to the absence of McEachran and the loss of speed due to the absence of Smith, were too much for them. In the last round, the all-stars repeatedly bounced the ball through the hoop and their opponents off the sidewalls.

Macintyre and Fariss were the big guns for the all-stars and won high-point honors by several jabs and a Boston crab.

Chatterton slipped in a few buckets when the other team wasn't looking and took the laurels for the most chagrined second-year man.

The Fall of Fame

Hedley J. Vicker—was there ever a person harder to interview? After hounding this elusive character for a week, we finally downed him. But under examination, cross-examination, and the third degree he refused to talk. From our questioning, we found out absolutely nothing; but all that follows is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

It seems that Mr. Vicker cannot recall accomplishing anything in grade school or high school, but in college he is majoring in "campus." We wish you success, Hedley. What will he be when he finishes college? The most satisfactory answer to that question was, "Well, I imagine about fifty."

We found out that Hedley was afflicted with the whooping cough in his youth (he still seems to be "whooping" around), and also with history. We hate to draw our own conclusions; but when a person won't talk, what is a reporter to do? About his hobbies, we have concluded that Hedley gets his greatest enjoyment from eating, sleeping, snipe-hunting, and Mary Borden.

As for his hopes for the future—well, who can tell? He would not confess to his one and only fault, but we'll wager that it is eating peas with his knife without even honey.

When asked about his pet aversion, our hero confessed that it is "snooty reporters"—there is no other kind. After that remark, we hastily made our retreat.

We thought that the president of the "W" club was hard to interview; but when it comes to elusive personalities, just try to get a true confession from the president of the Pirettes. When everything else fails, we can usually draw forth a stream of confidences with a few pink peppermint drops; but in the case of Christine McDonald, we found ourselves "up a stump," for she is susceptible to neither threat, flattery, nor pink peppermint.

We did, however, find out a few things. Her father used to call her "Bill" and accordingly expected great things of her, a fact which may account in part for her affinity for faded blue overalls and fishing rods, and her proficiency in chopping wood.

She used to "peg" rocks at nothing in particular with amazing accuracy, for no matter where she looked when she threw them, she invariably managed to hit a neighbor's window.

Her favorite sports are basketball and skiing, in both of which she excels effortlessly and gracefully. In fact, she is an all-round athlete.

INDOOR BASEBALL TEAMS FORMED

Men and Women Organize Teams to Compete in League.

Coach Snowy Gustafson's idea of forming an indoor baseball league met with instant approval, and the organization of teams is already well under way. The freshmen, who have elected Roger Hale manager, promise to have two fast teams. Ralph Phelps, recently elected manager of the sophomores, states that "the sophomores will have first and second places cinched," as they also will have two outfits in the contest. The combined senior and junior aggregation, under the management of Paul Koper, are entering "one" all-star team, which they believe will cop the bunting.

The women will organize on an individual team basis, forming their squads by the ballot method. It is expected that the "feminines" will have three teams in the tournament. At the end of the games, an all-star women's team will be picked to play the winners of the men's championship.

The athletic field will be divided into three baseball diamonds so that all the teams may play at one time.

Basketball Season Ends With Victory

Lake City Junior College
Trounced with Score of 37-28.

The Whitworth basketball team finished their season in a blaze of glory by trouncing Coeur d'Alene junior college on March 1 by a score of 37 to 28.

The Pirates started out fast, piling up a commanding lead by half-time, the score being 18 to 12. The Lake City men, however, came to life in the second half and by a brilliant scoring spurt brought the score up to 30 to 27. The home team tightened their defense at this point, and three baskets by Gray, Ventris, and Koehler cinched the game.

Ventris led his team with 10 points, being followed closely by Gray with 8, Koehler with 7, and Penhalurick with 6.

McCall scored 9 points to take the initial honors for the Junior college men.

The largest crowd of the season, comprised mostly of Whitworth students, was on hand for the game.

Gonzaga Freshmen Take One-Point Win

Koehler and Gray Are Scoring Aces for Whitworth.

The Gonzaga Frosh managed to eke out a one-point win over the Pirates in their last meeting of the season, by a score of 31 to 30.

Whitworth started out for revenge, and had Gonzaga virtually helpless during the first half, holding them to three field goals while scoring 23 points for themselves. The Frosh team came back in the second half with blood in their eyes and immediately started to whittle down the lead. Overeagerness on the part of the Pirates in the last few minutes caused them to make several fouls, which the first-year men took advantage of and sank.

With only a minute to go, Whitworth was leading 30 to 29, when Brass of Gonzaga, slipped in a short one on an out-of-bounds play and decided the game for Gonzaga. Koehler with 10 points and Gray with 9 were the scoring aces for Whitworth. Taylor led the green dinks with 12 points.

SPRING SPORTS BEGIN

Football, Tennis, and Baseball on Docket.

Spring sports are well under way now at Whitworth. Football has already started, with the men learning the fundamentals.

The tennis team recently elected Harold Penhalurick as captain for the coming year. Penn, an excellent player himself, should make an outstanding leader. Charles Benson handled the position of manager so efficiently last year that he has been reappointed by the lettermen. A ladder tournament is being arranged in order to classify the players according to ability. The courts are being worked on and promise to be in excellent condition.

Baseball will not officially get started until after spring football, but the men are out limbering up now. The team will have ten lettermen to build around this year. There are also a number of excellent non-lettermen who will be turning out.

Well, gang, now that basketball is over, we can turn our attention to the spring sports—baseball and tennis. Let's all get behind them!

The basketball team had a successful season, winning from five teams and losing to only four.

The interclass basketball games seem to have developed into a case of "shove at first sight."

Here's some good news for the frosh interclass basketball team. The champion sophomores will be graduated just in-time for the present freshmen to win the championship as seniors. (Paid advertisement.)

Did you know that the present champions of the interclass teams have not lost a single scheduled tournament game for two years? That's a fine record; keep it up.

With five lettermen and several ex-high school stars for the nucleus of this year's tennis team, the prospects for a successful season are exceedingly rosy.

The baseball outlook is most promising, with ten lettermen and several first-class new recruits, we should have a real outfit this year.

There ought to be a good chance for some new lettermen in tennis now that Benson has become a Trew man and given up his five-man rating.

As this column is supposed to contain some intellectual material, let's apply the Law of Effect in the matter of student turnout to our first game and have a satisfactory crowd, for the Law of Effect states that satisfactory results tend to be repeated. (With apologies to Dr. Hardwick)

Everyone should turn out for some sport this spring. With this new idea of the indoor baseball league, there is no excuse for anyone who wishes to get into sports; not to do so. Let's see a big turnout and make the league a success.

Now that spring football is under way, a couple of these campusty sheiks will have to get in their home work a little earlier.

The women's basketball team won both games that they played this year, thus ending their season with a perfect record. They ought to be given a big hand, considering the fact that they had to work hard all the season for just those two games.

That's all for this time. See you all at the GREEN DERBY!

TOMMY VENTRIS TAKES HONORS

Is High-Point Man for Second Successive Year.

Tommy Ventris, for the second successive year, has taken the laurel wreath for scoring honors in basketball, making 134 points. Bobby Gray, with 115 points, took second honors. Mark Koehler placed third with 89. Harold Penhalurick made fourth place with 65 points. Wilson scored 29 counters to take fifth.

Ventris also had the dubious honor of having the most fouls, committing 36. Koehler with 28, Penhalurick with 26, Wilson with 25, and Gray with 22 were the next four high foulers.

Koehler had the best percentage in free throws, making 19 out of 35 for a 54.28 per cent average.

Ventris led in the number of free throws made, having a total of 24. Koehler with 19, Penhalurick with 15, and Gray with 13 followed in this division.

The team made 489 points; opponents, 369 points. The Pirates won over Cheney, Plummer A. C., Coeur d'Alene J. C., Greenacres A. C., and the Spokane and Eastern Bank. They lost to Leviston Normal, Gonzaga Frosh, Cheney, and Yakima J. C.

Williams was the good boy of the squad, not a single foul being called against him in twelve games.

Pirates Defeated by Yakima Quintet

Local Men Have Early Lead, But Score Is Tied at Half.

Yakima junior college defeated Whitworth on February 22 at Yakima in a game that was not decided until the last minutes, the final score being 40 to 34.

The Spokane men started out with an early lead as usual, but at half-time the score was tied at 19 all.

With four minutes to go, the score was 33 to 31 in favor of Yakima. Ventris left the game at this time on personal fouls, and the Pirates' defense weakened, allowing the Junior College to drop in three baskets in fast order.

The game was played in regular California style, 26 fouls being called on both teams.

Bobby Gray scored 12 points to take scoring laurels for Whitworth. Penhalurick, with two field goals and five free throws, followed with 9 points.

Girls Take Valley Junior College

Make Eighty Points in Two Encounters of Season.

Eighty points in two games! Isn't it too bad that those two weren't eight or ten? The Spokane Valley junior college was the victim of the Whitworth women's team in both encounters.

The first game, played at the Junior college on February 22, ended in a 37-to-19 win for Whitworth. Both teams started slowly, but the Junior college soon found the basket, and for the first five minutes jumped into the lead. Gradually the Whitworth forwards began to locate the hoop, and at half time the score was 22 to 10 in Whitworth's favor. The second half was a duplication of the first, with Whitworth easily rolling up points. Every Whitworth substitute saw action.

In the second game, played Thursday, March 1, at Whitworth, the Whitworth sextet smothered the Junior college team under a 43-to-16 score. Both teams spent the better part of the first two quarters fumbling the ball. Overeagerness caused both teams to miss frequent passes and attempts at the basket. Whitworth settled down first, and from then easily outclassed the Junior college women.

During the intermission, the Whitworth squad presented Miss Robinson, coach, with a box of candy, in appreciation of her services during the season.

Sophomores Again Interclass Champs

Do Not Have a Single Loss in Two Years.

The sophomores spanked the upperclassmen to the tune of 39 to 17 in the final and championship game of the interclass basketball tournament. The second-year men had things all their own way throughout the entire game. This was their sixth consecutive victory of the season. The contest was outstanding for two reasons: Fleming finally completed a floor-length dribble and sank the ball and McEachran managed to drop in one of his spectacular one-handed shots.

Chatterton was "on," making 14 points to take the scoring honors for the sophomores. Macintyre and Fariss were the best scorers for the losers.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE TO REIGN MAY 4

Popular Senior Girl to Rule Traditional Festivities

GAY PROGRAM PLANNED

Mary Borden Crain and Eleanor Goeke are Attendants

Queen Charlotte Slater will reign over her loyal subjects, the students of Whitworth college, on the afternoon of May 4. Charlotte was chosen as May Queen in a very close race at the student body election held April 6.

Charlotte has been a student at Whitworth for all four years of her college course and has had a very active part in student body affairs. She is president of the Women's Athletic association, and has been an important member of the basketball team. Last year she won a sweater for participation in athletics, and this spring she will receive a blanket award. She has also been a member of the chorus, and last year sang the lead in the operetta, Riding Down the Sky.

Charlotte has chosen for her attendants Mary Borden Crain and Eleanor Goeke.

A gay program is being planned for May Day. A pageant is in preparation, and music will be furnished by the college orchestra and soloists. The main event of the afternoon will be the maypole dance and the coronation of the Queen.

Seventeen Make Term Honor Roll

Keith Murray Tops List for Third Consecutive Time.

Keith Murray again topped the honor roll for the third consecutive time this year. He is carrying 19 hours and made fifty grade points.

The individual grade point average was 14.1. The seventeen who made honors this time are Keith Murray, Paul Gustafson, Carol Smith, Anne Kamm, Estella Baldwin, Olive Clarke, Mary Baker, Eleanor Goeke, Lester Hussey, Elsie Rhoades, Newton Brunton, Christine McDonald, Eleanor Henderson, Mrs. Mildred Stephens, Neal Neuman, Helen Wilson, and Dorothy Reed.

Class honors, based on average grade points are:

Sophomores	15
Juniors	14.3
Freshmen	12

The question of why the honor roll is so small might be answered by the fact that we have had a very early spring, and spring always seems to have its particular effects.

END DEBATE SEASON

Whitworth closed its debate season with a non-decision contest with Lewiston Normal on March 30. Whitworth took the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, That the powers of the president of the United States be substantially increased as a settled policy." Philip Walborn and Graham Potter were the spokesmen for Whitworth. The debate team this year was coached by Professor L. K. Bowersox; Mel Fariss was captain.

MANY SENIORS SEEK DIPLOMAS

Investiture to Start May 11; Commencement to be June 1.

Nearing the close of the college year, we think of commencement. This year there are nineteen in the senior class who receive their degrees in June. This is the largest class in the history of the college. The seniors, with their majors and degrees, are: Estella Baldwin, B. A., Education and Christian Education; Ray Boynton, B. S., Chemistry; Leamae Cantrell, B. A., Business Administration and Economics; Olive Clarke, B. A., English; Mary Borden Crain, B. A., History; David Glenn, B. A., Classical Languages; Eleanor Goeke, B. A., Home Economics; Lester Hussey, B. S., Mathematics; Marion R. Jenkins, B. A., English; Margaret Johnson, B. A., English; Rutham Jones, B. A. English and Speech; Adeline Keyser, B. S., Home Economics; Edwin Larson, B. A., Social Science; Albert Rasmussen, B. A., English; Elsie Ratsch, B. A., English; Elsie Rhoades, B. A., English; Charlotte Slater, B. A., Home Economics; Mrs. Mildred Downs Stephens, B. A., English; Daniel Taylor, B. A., English.

Investiture starts the third week before commencement. On the three Fridays preceding commencement, the seniors wear their caps and gowns to assembly, where an appropriate service for the occasion is held. This year investiture starts May 11, and commencement is held June 1.

300 ATTEND CONCERT

Program is Well Received by Appreciative Audience.

About 300 attended the annual Whitworth spring concert, given Thursday, March 22, at the Westminster Congregational church. The program was sponsored by the Westminster Daughters, an organization of the women of the church.

The orchestra, chorus, band, and string ensemble were presented by the music department of the college, under the direction of George O. Poinar and Kenneth Osborne.

Several special numbers were featured: Jack Bevan in a saxophone solo, the men's quartet, Neal Neuman in a trumpet solo, and Mrs. Ina Wright Herbst in vocal numbers.

The dramatic department, under the direction of Professor W. E. Adams, presented Evelyn Irwin and Virginia Kurz in a number of readings.

Adams Talks At Poetry Section of Conference

Professor W. E. Adams addressed the poetry section of the Northwest Writers' Conference at Lewis and Clark High School, April 5.

His topic was "Muse, Pegasus and Company—Limited: Unfair!"

During the same week Professor Adams was also busy with his duties as president of the Speech and Drama section of the Inland Empire Education Conference. His duties consisted of introducing the speakers to take part in the three-day program and of choosing persons to preside on certain days.

NEW STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

W. A. A. CHANGES CONSTITUTION

Woman Must Earn Twenty-Five Points for Membership

A new constitution and point system have been adopted by the W. A. A. The constitution will go into effect just before the election in May. The point system will not be in effect until the beginning of the fall term.

In the past, every Whitworth woman student has been automatically a member of the W. A. A. Now, each woman must have twenty-five points to become a member, and must attend meetings regularly to remain a member.

Formerly the organization had no need of a vice-president. Now that the point system has been changed, a vice-president is to be chosen to take charge of the system.

As all sports will be intermural, it is hoped that more women will participate than formerly. There will be a "head" for every sport. Under each sport head will be a

Seniors Successfully Elude Junior Class

Traditional Sneak Held at Lower Twin Lake

In the cold, dim dawn of April fourth they did it: the seniors sneaked. The venerable custom of slipping away from suspicious juniors was upheld by the class of '34. Away they sped, into the rising sun, leaving Whitworth college shrouded in silence and Whitworth juniors shrouded in sleep!

After departure of the seniors for Lower Twin lake, the junior clan banded together for an indignation meeting. Soon they started in pursuit. Except for the fact that they started on the wrong road, everything was exciting. They rolled into the grounds at Loon Lake expecting to surprise the canny seniors. Nothing resembling Whitworth's graduating class was apparent. Someone suggested Deer lake.

Why not? Like bloodhounds on a new scent, the juniors dashed to Deer lake. The lake beamed serenely in the sun—but the juniors saw no beauty (and no seniors) on that April day!

Meanwhile the seniors were reveling in the fact that tradition had been upheld. The Senior Sneak plans had been successful. The weather, too, was a "success." In fact, everything about the sneak was a success—for the seniors!

And the juniors? Well—need we mention that?

RESERVE MAY 15

In the cold, gray dawn of the morning of Tuesday, May 15, the Whitworth student body will arise early to partake of a delicious breakfast of charred steak: that is the morning set for the annual beefsteak breakfast.

So get your alarm clocks into working order, mark off May 15 on your social calendar, get a few good nights' sleep, and we'll be seeing you bright and early at the beefsteak breakfast!

THREE-YEAR MEN GET SWEATERS

Ventris, Fancher, and Vicker Receive Honor.

An innovation in the presentation of athletic awards for men was inaugurated April 11, when the A. S. W. C. awarded sweaters to three outstanding athletes. This is the first time in the history of the college that such honors have been accorded.

Tommy Ventris was given a sweater for competition in football and basketball, in which he has consistently starred for three years. Ward Fancher, one of the mainstays of the teams in baseball and football, carried off the second sweater. Hedley Vicker, an outstanding lineman in football, was the third man to receive a sweater. The sweaters were of the black coat style, with three red stripes on the sleeve. They were presented by Charles Benson, acting under authority of the A. S. W. C., which recently made this amendment to the by-laws: "Sweaters shall be presented to all men who have won at least three letters in one major sport."

OPEN DORM IS SUCCESS

Public Sees 'Inner Decesses' of Ballard Hall.

Ballard hall's "open house," which was held on March 23, was a success from every point of view.

Before the public was invited into their rooms, the men staged a snappy program in the gymnasium—a program consisting of numbers by trapeze artists, vaudeville dancers, hypnotists, instrumentalists, and minstrels and other singers.

But the general public is trying to find out how the men get into their closets. It seemed as though none of the closet doors of Ballard hall "sport" knobs; at least they didn't on the night of March 23. It is a good thing that open house is held for one night only, for there might otherwise be great danger of spontaneous combustion.

But be that as it may, everybody who turned out for open dorm asserts that he spent an enjoyable evening.

NEW OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Keith Murray Elected President of A. S. W. C.

BIG YEAR EXPECTED

Executive Board Composed of Three Women and Two Men.

The newly elected officers of the student body were installed by Dean Hardwick in assembly, Wednesday, April 11. The officers are as follows:

President, Keith Murray; vice-president, Paul Koper; secretary, Murdock Hale; executive board, Dan Fleming, Christine McDonald, Bill Rasco, Florence McEachran, and Jo Schrap.

The members of this new group are well qualified for their responsibilities. Just as each retiring officer did his best to promote the welfare of Whitworth, so the incoming group will work hard for an even more successful year.

Keith Murray, the president, has outstanding qualifications for his position. He is president of the junior class, is a good debater, and maintains a very high scholastic average. Paul Koper, the vice-president, is a letterman and is also interested in debating. The secretary, Murdock Hale, is president of the Volunteer Fellowship.

The retiring officers are: President, Ward Fancher; vice-president, Tommy Ventris; secretary, Adeline Keyser, executive board, Mary Borden Crain, Charles Benson, Keith Murray, Dan Fleming, and Olive Clarke.

These officers have worked hard and have to their credit a satisfactory year. The new officials are ready to shoulder their responsibilities and do what they can to make Whitworth grow in every way.

Green Derby Fades Into 1934 History

Program of "W" Club and Pirettes is Successful

The 1934 Green Derby is history! "The shouting and the tumult die"; and we fondly look back upon a successful Green Derby program, in fact, one of the most lively entertainments that Whitworth has ever staged.

For the information of those who unfortunately could not attend, this year's Green Derby followed the "floor-show" style. Tables and chairs occupied the auditorium floor and the balconies, and an enthusiastic audience occupied these chairs.

The program on the stage, with Mr. Albert Arend as master of ceremonies, ran a smooth course; but back-stage—!

And right here we take time out to congratulate Davis for the efficient manner in which he directed this year's production. To Bill Davis and Florence Moore especially, and to all the others who participated in the Green Derby, much credit is due for a pleasant evening of mirth and melody. There was a variety of features on the program. Novelties were in abundance, from the clever marionette act to the Roman ladder act.

Fanfares and intermission numbers were interpreted in commendable fashion by an orchestra, under the direction of Roy Lowell and George McDowell.

A profit of approximately forty dollars was made this year on the project.

We wish to thank all those who devoted time and talent to make this Green Derby a distinct success.

SOCIETY

"No Men Allowed" At Annual Frolic

Women in Couples to Have Picnic and Program On April 20

Tomorrow is the date of the one annual social event exclusively for women, the April Frolic. The frolic is a traditional affair, and the watchword is "No men allowed."

The young women go in couples as partners, one dressing as a boy and the other as a girl. According to the custom, the older students will take the newer ones. They will leave the college about three o'clock in the afternoon, taking their lunches, and will hike about four miles to a picnic ground. After the outdoor supper, the group will return to the college for a social evening.

Committee chairmen are: Place and arrangements, Florence Moore, food, Christine McDonald; program for the evening, Leamae Cantrell; refreshments for the evening, Joan Dyar.

CHARLES BENSON IN CHARGE OF PROGRAM

Show of Popular Numbers Given April 13.

Friday the thirteenth is usually considered unlucky, but the jazz program put on by the associated students, Friday, April 13, was a great success.

With a bang, the orchestra started off the first part of the program, which was dedicated "to whom it may concern." Westley Lynch sang "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes"; and the women's trio, Elise Aldrich, Jerry Hawley, and Earleen Schiewe, in costume, sang "Mississippi Mud." A string trio—Art Roberg, Philip Walborn, and Genevieve Wilson—played "Dallas Man" and "There Goes My Heart" with Westley Lynch singing the latter song. Evelyn Irwin sang "Little Dutch Mill." Marvin Lindseth, the drummer, who plays at the Hofbrau, sang two numbers, "Everything I Have Is Yours" and "Who Walks In When I Walked Out?"

The second part of the program was dedicated to the girl friend. Neal Neuman started by playing "Ida" on his trumpet; Gordon Shaw sang "Eileen," the sax trio, composed of Harold Eastburg, Roy Lowell, and Jack Beyan, played "Marge" and "Sally" to conclude the group.

The third section featured a group of blues songs. The orchestra again led off, playing "St. James Infirmary." Evelyn Irwin, in costume, sang "Alice Blue Gown" and "My Blue Heaven." Neal Neuman played "Blues Prelude," with Harold Eastburg accompanying on a guitar. The orchestra came in again with "Farewell Blues."

Effective lighting was managed by Roy Snipes.

Charles Benson had charge of the program.

VIEWS OF NATIONAL PARKS ARE SHOWN

Program Given Auspices of Union Pacific Railway.

Under the auspices of the Union Pacific railroad, a number of colored stereopticon slides were shown in a recent assembly program. Most of the views shown were of the Grand canyon, Bryce canyon, and Zion national park, three of the best known national parks in southwestern United States. As each picture appeared on the screen, an interesting explanation was given.

By way of an introduction, views of Salt Lake City and the surrounding country were shown. Salt Lake City is the gateway of the Union Pacific to the three parks already mentioned.

There were also a few pictures of the new streamlined train of the Union Pacific.

Style Notes

Styles in hairdressing have made very radical changes within the last six months. Why not try arranging your hair in a new way? It is much fun to experiment. Just sit down in front of the mirror: try new parts and also brush the hair up high in back. If it looks well, it might be a pleasant change to wear it curled high, for it looks as if the general tendency for the new hair dress is on the "up and up."

Either long or short hair is good, depending on your type. Now if you look well with straight hair, adopt that style by all means. It is very distinctive. The cornet style for the girl with long hair is attractive.

Bangs, if you can wear them, are in good taste. For a high forehead, they will work wonders; but if your forehead is rather low, brushing the hair back will give a more noble sweep to the brow. The outstanding thing about the present hair styles is their dignity. Don't try any short clipped haircuts if you are large or if your neck is long, as that style is likely not to be becoming. Leave such haircuts to the petite girls.

PIRETTES PLAN DINNER

Affair to Be Given in Honor of Charter Members.

The Pirette club has been "going places and doing things" lately. An informal breakfast was given Sunday morning, April 8, in the Italian Gardens of the Davenport hotel. Several former members who were in town for the Easter holidays attended. Arrangements for the breakfast were made by Florence Moore, Jean Campbell, and Louise Pierson.

A surprise birthday dinner honoring Dorothy Cramer was given by her mother on Tuesday, April 10, at which the Pirettes were guests.

And now plans are being made for a dinner the latter part of the month to honor the charter members of the club, many of whom are in this year's graduating class. Those in charge of the affair are Mary Baker, Faith Helms, and Joan Dyar.

Fellowship Holds Retreat

The Volunteer Fellowship Retreat on March 25 was well attended. The Rev. Lee Knoll, pastor of the Monroe Park Presbyterian church, gave the address. Mrs. Mildred D. Stephens and Paul Koper supplied the special music.

The Fellowship has a very full program planned for the rest of the year. The four main trips that will be taken will be to Kettle Falls, Marcus, Republic, and Northport.

The annual spring picnic will be held on May 18, at Loon Lake.

Improvements To Campus Made By Student Labor

The campus is being improved at present in many ways. The flower beds have been spaded to give them that fresh appearance so closely associated with spring. The grass around some of the trees has been cut back to form a tidy circle. The parking place north of Ballard hall has been enlarged, and the ground to the west has been leveled to a certain degree.

It is planned to extend the walk in front of Ballard hall, and to put low wooden rails along the sides. As a step in this direction, lumber has been cut for the railings, and part of them have been erected.

Three Artists on Art Club Program

Program of Merit Given by Three Spokane Women.

An excellent program featuring three outstanding Spokane artists, Mrs. Edna Storms Moody, reader; Miss Elizabeth Campbell, violinist; and Mrs. Marian Evans Schinke, accompanist, was presented by the Whitworth college Art club in the reception room of McMillan hall on Tuesday evening, April 10. Mr. Osborne had charge of the arrangements.

The following program was given: Romance in F Major.....Beethoven

Women's Auxiliary Meets

Home Economics Department Have Charge of Program.

At the Women's Auxiliary meeting in McMillan hall, on Monday, April 16, the home economics department, under the direction of Miss Mabel Dickson, department head, had charge of the program. Projects of the various classes were shown.

Audrey Simmons, representing the class in home furnishings, demonstrated how to set a luncheon table correctly. Eleanor Goetz conducted a demonstration of textile testing. A set-up of 100-calorie portions was shown by Adeline Keyser, from the dietetics class.

The class in child care had as their project a table showing the additions to an infant's diet for the first year of his life. To prove their skill as cooks, the class in foods had a booth at which they sold fancy cookies.

As one project this year, the auxiliary has been donating money to develop the home economics department.

Seventy-Six Enroll In Christian Education Dept.

There are at present seventy-six students enrolled in the six classes of the Christian Education department: forty-four men and thirty-two women. The largest class is in Old Testament History, which begins with the study of Genesis and closes with Esther. The aim of this course is to familiarize the student with this early sacred history.

The second largest class is in Bible 158, "The Revelation of Jesus Christ." This is a new course offered this semester for the first time, in answer to a special request from a dozen or more students wishing to dip into the New Testament prophecies. This course has proved to be very interesting and popular. The aim is to provide a definite analysis of this difficult book, so often neglected, under the futuristic interpretation, and to avoid all the pitfalls of fanaticism so commonly associated with Revelation.

Other courses offered this semester are the Gospel of John, the Hebrews, and Romans.

HOLD SUNRISE SERVICE

The Whitworth Christian Endeavor society has been having some special meetings during the last two months. The Easter Sunrise service, which was held in the women's reception room, was conducted by Robert Reese. Another meeting, held April 15 around a camp fire, was led by Elsie Rhoades.

LIFE IS INDEED HARD

Journalists often raise this question to their reading public. "Do you ever think of the time and effort it takes to publish an issue of the paper which you so casually stuff into your furnace?" Then, taking for granted that the reading public doesn't think of "the time and effort it takes," the news-writer proceeds to tell him.

We of the Whitworthian staff are no exception. If you could see the hurrying, worrying, rushing reporters under the grim shadow of the "dead-line," or the exasperated expression which frequently distinguishes our editor from the rest of us, or hear the frenzied tapping of typewriters, then, dear reader, would you contemplate seriously the magnitude of the effort required to present the Whitworthian to you—on time!

For that reason, we are pleading with you either to frame your Whitworthian, or to paste it in a scrapbook, or to let it flap briskly from the radiator cap of your car; but please, please do not crumple it into the impersonal recess of your furnace fire-box!

PUCK

(How Buttercups Came to Be)
Who has not heard of little Puck,
The terror of Fairyland?
In all the mischief going on
He'd have a leading hand.

You all know how he played that trick
Way back in Shakespeare's day,
Concerning which that noted man
Had written us a play.

But have you heard how little Puck,
To his mischief-making due,
Has given to the world a gift
Surpassed by very few?

It all began one shining morn,
Just after a summer rain,
When Puck thought that the arching
Of the rainbow he would gain.

So, setting out, he travelled far,
Through greenwood and through field,
Though long and rough and steep
the way,
This sprite refused to yield.

So, at last, he reached the rainbow
And started its long ascent,
Though it was damp and slippery,
Puck
On climbing was intent.

Upward he climbed, without a pause,
With dance and hop and skip,
Until he finally reached the place
Where it began to dip.

Puck reached the spot he'd aimed to stand,
But there he could not stop;
Before he'd time to take a breath,
He'd shot beyond the top.

His hat blew off as down he sped,
He lost his footing, too,
And soon Puck's such momentum gained
It seemed he almost flew.

Yet more and more his speed increased,
Till he was going fast;
The flying birds saw just a streak
He flashed so quickly past.

At last he landed with a jolt,
But 'twas not on the ground;
From all sides, to his startled ear,
There came a jingling sound.

He looked about to see the cause,
Imagine his surprise!
He'd fallen into the pot of gold,
So scoffed at by the wise.

He struck it with such mighty force
It flew beyond the top,
And scattered over half the earth—
A flower for every drop.

In every place where this gold fell,
Immediately there sprang up
A tiny flower of golden hue,
A yellow buttercup!

Ruthann Jones

Miss Hazel Holder, former editor of the Whitworthian was a visitor at the college on April 5. Miss Holder is now attending W. S. C. where she has pledged Kappa Alpha Theta.

"The Hunchback," by Sheridan Knowles, has been chosen for the Commencement play in place of "Chicot, the Jester." The play has been rewritten and modernized by Professor W. E. Adams. The cast of characters has not been completed as yet.

THIRTY OUT FOR SPRING FOOTBALL

Fundamentals Given in All Branches of Game

The first spring football turnout at Whitworth proved a great success. More than thirty men attended the intensive two-weeks session.

The group was divided into two teams. One outfit, composed entirely of men who had never turned out for football before at Whitworth, was under the tutelage of Tommy Ventris. The second team, made up of the men who had had previous experience at the college, was in charge of Boo Miller. The whole combination was supervised by Coach Snowy Gustafson.

Actual work in the fundamentals was given in all branches of the game, as well as a good many new plays.

The first week was devoted to the learning of the fundamentals of tackling, blocking, passing, punting, backfield formations, and plays.

The second week was given over to scrimmages between the new and the old men. The veterans came out on top during most of the games but were hard pressed by several new men, namely, Stowell at guard, Freeman at end, and Culp at tackle.

Those turning out were: B. Gray, Ventris, B. Miller, E. Miller, White, Calkins, Wilson, R. Hale, Koper, Rasco, Keiser, Williams, Davis, Allison, Shaw, Wiley, Woodward, Oves, Claney, Stowell, Jaquish, Culp, Copple, Freeman, Hendrick, Pitts, Allen, Hamuck, Merwin, Masters.

Home Team Takes Trimming From L. C.

Orange and Black Get Nine Counters in First
Two Innings

Lewis and Clark recently coupled their hitting power with Whitworth errors to give the home team a trimming by a score of 13 to 4.

In the first two innings the Orange and Black nine ran 8 counters across the plate before the Pirates settled down to play ball. From here on the score was fairly even, but the lead was too great for the Whitworth squad to overcome. Okamoto, Williams, Miller, and Pritchard connected for three hits each for L. C. Chatterton and H. Kroske banged out two hits for Whitworth.

Williams pounded out a home run in the first inning for Lewis and Clark. Bobby Gray lashed out a terrific drive for a three-base hit in the seventh.

W. A. A. TO PRESENT ANNUAL AWARDS SOON

Charlotte Slater, Elsie Ratsch and Olive Clarke to Get Blankets

On April 27, the Women's Athletic Association will make their annual awards.

Charlotte Slater, Elsie Ratsch, and Olive Clarke will be awarded blankets. The blankets represent four years of work.

The Women receiving sweaters are Elcinore Goeke, Mary Borden Orain, and Ruthann Jones. The sweaters represent three years' work.

Gold pins in the shape of old English "W's" are given for two years' work. Christine McDonald, Leamae Cantrell, and Florence Moore will receive pins.

Letters, which are given for one year's work, will be awarded to Florence Moore, Jean Campbell, Louise Picton, Dorothy Reed, and Leamae Cantrell.

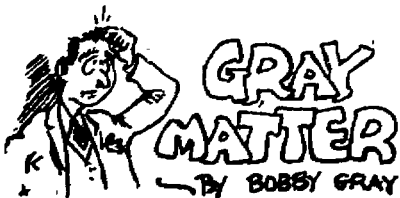

TENNIS TEAM TRAVELS

Take Barnstorming Trip Into Oregon in May

The tennis team is tentatively planning to take a barnstorming trip into Oregon sometime during the second week in May. It plans to play Linfield, Willamette, Pacific, and Oregon State.

Five men, besides the manager and Snowy Gustafson, are to be included in the group.

The men who make the trip will be chosen from the following candidates: Koehler, Penhalurick, Benson, Smith, Macintyre, Lowell, Gray, and Shaw.

This column is dedicated to the laziest man of the college, Mr. Popkes in person. In fact, he is so lazy that he even refuses to connect with the horsehide for fear he might have to run as far as first base. What a man!

Credit for the week's outstanding wisecrack goes to Mr. Howard Kroske. When called on in class, he replied that he was in a sort of "cultural lag," but Dr. Patrick informed him that "spring fever" would perhaps be a more appropriate name for his condition.

The ball club's batting average for the first three games looked like something the goose laid.

All "youse" tennis sharks had better get busy and do some intensive practicing, as the schedule for this year reads like sight-seeing trip of the Northwest.

Tommy Ventris is still continuing his "Mae West" style in baseball by dishing up those tantalizing curves.

Mert Gray certainly smacked the pill in the Rogers game, getting five hits out of six trips to the plate. Doesn't that help make up for some of those last grade points, Mert?

The way some of these new men hustled in spring football ought to make some of the lettermen sit up and wonder what their chances are going to be next year.

One of our well-known athletes was explaining to Faith Helms that the best way to understand a football game is to pick out one player each time and watch him. She replied that that was easy, since she could always find him, by his red hair. Ye Gods!

I wonder whether anyone remembers that it's a custom to award basketball letters at Whitworth?

Those new athletic sweater awards certainly ought to be an added incentive for athletes to turn out for sports.

The author would like to mention a few of the outstanding performances of some participants in the good old game of "indoor" sports, but since the warm weather has arrived, it would take too much cross-country work to check up on them. Those lucky people!

WANTED: One dog, kind and particular dimensions not essential. After watching Boo Miller umpire several ball games, I am convinced that he should not be allowed to wander around alone for fear he might get run over.

And so, as the monkey said when he stuck his tail into the lawnmower, "It won't be long now." Only five more weeks till semester exams. And with this cheery little thought I leave you.

WHITWORTH TAKES ROGERS PIRATES

Merton Gray Brings In the Winning Run

In the first game of the season, the Whitworth Pirates defeated the Rogers Pirates by a score of 10 to 9, the game going 10 innings.

The Rogers' batters found the offerings of Popkes immediately and proceeded to pound the ball all over the lot for a total of six runs in the first two innings. Chatterton relieved Popkes in the third and held the opposition to three runs the rest of the game. In the ninth inning, with the score 9 to 6 in Rogers' favor, the Whitworth team came to life and scored three runs, tying the score, Mert Gray getting the hit that brought in the tying counter. In the extra inning, the high school sluggers were held scoreless. Mert Gray again proved to be the hero, by smashing out a clean hit to bring in the winning run.

Pirate Ball Club Drubbed By Indians

Ventris Pitches Good Game;
But Team Gives Him
Ragged Support

The Whitworth baseball club journeyed to the North Central grounds last Thursday to take a severe drubbing from the Indians by a score of 9 to 0.

Ventris, in his first start as pitcher for the Pirates, pitched good ball but was given ragged support by the team. Jamme, the N. C. chucker, was in regular mid-season form, striking out 17. The Whitworth team had an off day, both at bat and in the field. H. Kroske and M. Gray were the only Whitworth men to make hits, each getting a single. Jamme, Tatman, and Carey smashed out two hits apiece.

manager from each class for each sport. By this plan the responsibility will be distributed.

A change in awards has been made. Only letters and sweaters will be given now, instead of letters, pins, sweaters, and blankets: For 500 points, a red chenille "W" on a black background will be awarded; for 900 points, a black coat sweater with three red service stripes on the sleeve.

Women entering Whitworth from other colleges may have their athletic points transferred and evaluated and earn more points under our system. They may earn the same awards as four-year Whitworth students, unless they have already received a sweater from another college.

All points earned under the old system will be transferred to the new system and evaluated accordingly.

The calendar of sports for next year is as follows: fall—volley ball; winter—basketball; spring—baseball and tennis; all the year—hiking, posture exercises, and life saving.

Sportsmen's Fair Held May 14-20

Plans for Annual Show
Are "Bigger and Better."

Spokane's Fifteenth annual Sportsmen's Show, May 14 to 20, staged under the Union Station viaduct as usual, is going to be "bigger and better." Each year the exhibition grows. One means by which this goal is attained is the constant addition of new features, many of them resulting from suggestions of business men throughout the Inland Empire who make the Sportsmen's Show their spring hobby.

This year will be no exception. The sagebrush hills, the volcanic ash dump heaps, the romance of the new towns, and the construction of the Grand Coulee Dam are to be seen in miniature, complete to scale. This model of the great Grand Coulee Dam project is to be about 8 by 12 feet; it will show the trucks and the tractors in place and the new wood buildings which dot the banks of the Columbia. Its construction is arousing keen interest, with the reclamation engineers lending their help and advice.

A collection of tropical fish has also been arranged for, including many fish fantastically colored and formed, with names unpronounceable.

And bruin is going to hold a greater share of the spotlight than ever before; there will be more of the funny tumbling bear cubs than usual, and of these there can never be enough, it seems, so that all who want to see them can get near the cages at the same time. This year in addition to the cubs, two performing bears of national reputation will entertain the crowds afternoon and evening with wild comedy, wrestling and racing about.

And so the list of new features mounts: trees begin to "grow" in the very center of downtown Spokane, and the rustic buildings of the Sportsmen's Show are being rapidly erected.

GERMAN-FRENCH CLUBS

The French and the German clubs plan to join in giving a variety program of music and readings soon, Miss Landsberg, club sponsor, recently announced.

THE CRESCENT

NEW HONOR CLUB IS ESTABLISHED

"Philacademians" Chosen As Name for New Organization

SCHOLARSHIP IS BASIS

Five Seniors and One Junior Elected to Membership

A new honor club has been established to take the place of the old Whitworth honor club. The name of this club is "Philacademians," which means "friends of the academy or school." The symbol of the club is "Phi Alpha," which is composed of the Greek letters for the initials of the two words, "phil" and "academians."

Election to the club is based on scholarship. The requirements for active membership are sixty hours at Whitworth, with senior standing and an average of 2.3. For associate membership the requirements are the same, except that the student must be of junior standing. A junior with an average of 2.3 automatically becomes an active member upon attaining senior standing. To be eligible, a student must carry twelve hours at the time of election. Faculty members are appointed to the club by the president of the college.

The purpose of the club is to honor and encourage those who attain high scholarship.

Elections will take place three times a year, at the beginning of each semester and during commencement week for the eligible graduating seniors.

The present members are as follows: faculty—Miss Dickson, Dr. Hedrick, and Dr. Bowersox; active members—Marion R. Jenkins, Charlotte Slater, Eleanor Goeke, Ruthann Jones, and David Glenn; associate member, Keith Murray.

Friend of College Passes on May 10

Whitworth Mourns Death of Mrs. Marion Jenkins.

One loved by the Whitworth faculty and students passed to her higher reward, May 10, 1934. Mrs. Marion B. Jenkins has lived at the college with her daughter, Miss Marion R. Jenkins, for the last three years. During this time she won a place in the hearts of all with whom she came in contact, being better known as "Big Mother."

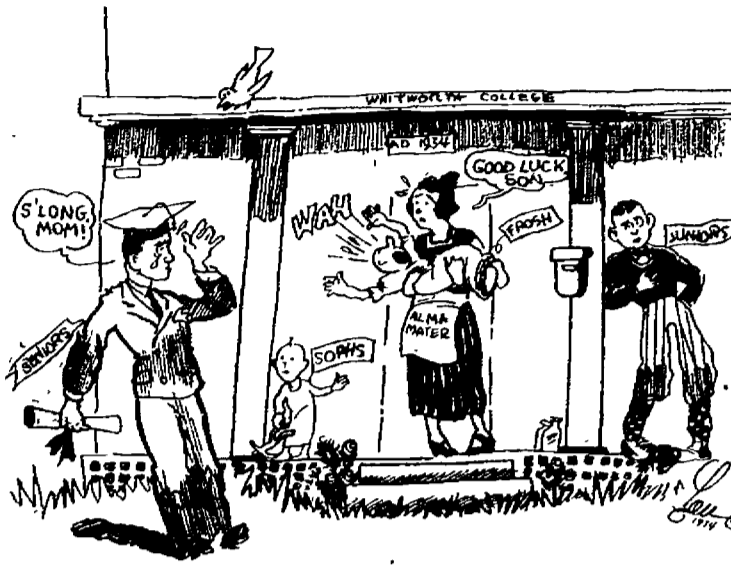

As a faithful servant, it may well be said of her, as Paul said, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

STUDENTS TURN COOKS

Annual Beefsteak Breakfast Held Morning of May 15

The Beefsteak Breakfast, an annual traditional event of Whitworth college, was held this year on Tuesday morning, May 15. The place selected was a spot near Deadman's creek, on the state highway leading to Newport. The college furnished the steak, buns, coffee, cookies, and oranges. Those attending furnished excellent appetites for the meal.

When the call, "Come get your beefsteak" was heard soon after 6 a. m., everyone responded quickly. The breakfast, however, was over early enough to allow the students sufficient time to reach 8 o'clock classes.

INSPECT JUNIOR HIGH "Hunchback" to be Presented May 31

The Junior High School class, consisting of eighteen members, visited Havermale Junior high school last Monday. All the departments were studied carefully, many of which were found to be near the ideal. Dr. Hardwick was in charge of the trip.

ANNUAL CAMPUS DAY HELD ON APRIL 27

Students Divide into Groups to Work on Projects

The annual Campus day, April 27, gave the students of Whitworth college an opportunity to prove that they are capable of physical as well as mental labor.

Mr. Jenner, leader for the day, divided the students into working groups, and they accomplished a great deal. But the lawn-raking crew found the next morning that more cones and needles had fallen during the night, the next rain stripped the newly whitewashed tennis fences of their paint; and the hard work the men did to finish our walks went for naught, as the flagstones have been carefully covered with sand ever since. Even the lunch served on the lawn by Mrs. Hardwick and her assistants, proved ineffectual; for the next day the students were all hungry again. However, everyone had a glorious time.

Audrey Simmons and Lester Hussey led the crews winning the prizes for the most satisfactory work. In the afternoon there was a baseball game between John Bronson's Invincibles and the regular Whitworth team.

"Hunchback" to be Presented May 31

Play by Sheridan Knowles is Modernized by Mr. Adams

"The Hunchback," a play by Sheridan Knowles, modernized by Professor William E. Adams, is to be presented at the Commencement play in the place of "Chicot the Jester," which was originally planned.

The plot of the play is based on the fact that the Earl of Rochdale, his family one of the leaders of the nobility of Great Britain, disinherited his only son because the son was a hunchback, passing the title and estates to a cousin of the rightful heir. To most who knew the circumstance, the hunchback was lost; but he was employed as an agent by his father. Thus, treated because of his deformity, the hunchback acquired an inferiority complex and took pains to hide the real facts of his ancestry. He was highly educated, was very much of a gentleman at heart, and proved successful in handling his father's affairs; he prospered and won the respect of all of his own chosen circle. He married a beautiful woman, but lost her when she gave birth to a daughter. Fearing that, misshapen as he was, he could not command the respect or win the love of the child, he posed for years as her guardian, carrying out her father's orders and looking after her welfare. Thus his child had come to love him as a father, without suspecting the relationship.

Master Walter, the hunchback, is the most prominent character; and next is his daughter, Julia. These parts are to be taken by Keith Murray and Evelyn Irwin. Next in prominence is Sir Thomas Clifford, a handsome young fellow of finest qualities, recently come into a baronetcy by the death of a cousin. This part was to have been taken by Robert Allison; but as he was unexpectedly called to work, Ford L. Bailor was persuaded to take the part.

Modus and Helen, distant relatives of Miss Julia, furnish much of the humor of the play; these characters are taken by Chester Richards and Virginia Kurz. Other parts are taken as follows: Wilford, John Freeman; Tinsel, Robert McCreary; Fathom, Gordon Shay; Stephen David Glenn, and Thomas, Witsch Rasco.

Summer School—June 18

The summer quarter at Whitworth will begin June 18. Courses will be offered in the departments of biology, education, history, English, and sociology. Subjects to be taught will be the same as those given during the regular college year. The work of each course will be completed in five weeks.

FLEMING NAMED SPORTS MANAGER

Executive Board Appoints Soph to Head Men's Athletics

Dan Fleming was appointed general manager of men's athletics by the Executive board at its regular meeting on May 11. This is in line with the general policy of the new board to simplify all student association procedure and to create a system of student managers to handle all student body funds with direct responsibility to the Executive board.

To carry out this policy it has been necessary to amend both the constitution and the by-laws, and to appoint students to oversee all student body business. Amendments to the constitution were presented to the student body April 20, and were ordered adopted by the members of the association at its regular meeting May 3.

These amendments were intended to eliminate certain conditions which have proved unworkable and permit the student body to work on a constitutional basis. The Halloween party, which has not been

CHARLOTTE SLATER CROWNED MAY QUEEN

Rain Stops in Time for Annual Program on Campus

In spite of the gray skies which threatened to mar the May Day ceremonies, the rain stopped in time to permit the holding of the program out on the campus, and so on a flower-covered throne Charlotte Slater was crowned May Queen of the Whitworth student body for 1934.

She was attended by Mary Borden Crain and Eleanor Goeke. The May Duke was Ward Fancher.

The procession, which started from McMillan hall, was headed by the graduating seniors and the faculty, dressed in their caps and gowns. Next came the little flower girls and the crown bearer, and the Queen's party.

Lester Hussey was master of ceremonies. The chorus sang several numbers, readings were given by Carmen Kopsland, Genevieve Wilson, Anne Kamm, and Virginia Kurz. Mrs. Mildred Stephens, Margaret Quist, and Westley Lynch sang; and the band played under the direction of Mr. Poinar.

Lunch was served in the cafeteria following the program.

Adams to Retire From College Work

To Devote Time to Speaking and to Creative Writing

William Edward Adams, professor of speech and drama at Whitworth college, recently announced that he would retire from college work at the end of the spring semester to devote his time to creative writing.

Mr. Adams, who is known as a frequent contributor to the Northwest Verse column in the Spokane Daily Chronicle, has gained rapid recognition in the field of letters in recent years. Volumes in which collections of his verse have appeared are "Washington Poets," compiled by Henry Harrison, and "Eminent American Poets," published by the Empire Company. More of his work will appear in "American Lyric Poetry," a volume being published by the Gallion Press. Mr. Adams' literary work has won him a place in "Who's Who in America." He was recently named to the advisory board of a national magazine.

Mr. Adams plans to continue as supply pastor at the First Baptist church in Spokane until late summer, and thereafter will be available as an interdenominational pulpit supply speaker. He will take a few private students, but intends to spend most of his time in writing.

LET'S WORK FOR 1934-35

The student body chose for its leaders an Executive board pledged to make their term of office the best year ever known in the history of Whitworth college. This executive board has been in office for nearly a quarter of its term, and throughout all that time has worked to lay a foundation upon which a successful start can be made next fall. It has tried in every way to live up to its pledge. Whenever it has failed, it has not been because thought was not given to every action taken.

But it has been stated constantly that if we are to have a really worth-while year during 1934-35, the whole group must work this summer to prepare for the start in the fall. This means that every member of the student body must realize that he is an "old" student, and will be looked up to by the entering freshman class. This also means that every prospective student of Whitworth college, both in Spokane and throughout the state of Washington, will look at those who are already here and question them as to what kind of college we have.

If we are to have a full enrollment and a return to the spirit that built Whitworth from a group of 60 students to 225, we must realize our responsibility to our college and get to work and dig for it. It is our college; and if we don't boost it, no one will. A student of Whitworth college who knocks it during the summer and returns next fall continuing to knock it is a detriment to his Alma Mater, and the rest of the students are justified in "sitting upon him" just as hard as he deserves. For his attitude poisons prospects and makes the new freshmen think that the whole college exists as a target for their kicks.

Unless we realize this, all the groundwork that the executive officers and the Executive board have laid will have been a waste of time and their work will be utterly valueless. But if we boost during the summer, and get to work next fall to build a spirit that will actually mean something, this pledge to make next year count will be fulfilled without the slightest question.

The Executive board needs your help in carrying out its pledge to you and believes that if you realize it needs your help, you can be depended upon to give it. So for next fall, let's get to work.

KEITH MURRAY.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

Where do we go from here? This is the great question of the seniors. Whitworth has been home to us for four long years, and now we are to leave her halls. We came to college to be prepared for life, just as a piece of steel is tempered for the job it must perform. Now we go into life to be shaped, just as the piece of steel is shaped into a specialized tool in the shop.

Although we are thinking of these various things of the future and saying our farewells, we cannot but think of our pleasures and contacts here in college. We say farewell, but our thoughts are of you, Whitworth, our home.

LESTER HUSSEY,
President of the Senior Class.

Investiture Services Observed by Seniors

Prominent Speakers Give Addresses in Chapel Meetings

In accordance with tradition at Whitworth, the first of a series of three investiture services was held during chapel on Friday, May 11.

The faculty and the seniors, garbed in their collegiate gowns, marched to their places to the strains of the "Coronation March," played by the Whitworth orchestra, directed by Mr. Poinar. The procession was directed by Faith Helms and Evelyn Irwin, ushers chosen from the junior class.

After a brief introductory talk by Dean F. T. Hardwick, the chief address was given by Dr. J. W. Counterpane, who spoke on the value of being well-dressed, and the origin of graduation gowns.

On Friday, May 18, Dr. Weldon Wilson, pastor of the Grace Baptist church, spoke on "The Education of Jesus." W. Wilson Durham, editor of the Spokesman-Review, was the speaker on Wednesday, May 23.

GROUPS TRAVEL TO PRESENT CONCERTS

Appear at Many High Schools and Churches

On Sunday, May 6, President W. W. Sullivan and Ford L. Bator, with the male quartet, Kathleen Gerking, and Genevieve and Helen Wilson, presented an evening concert at the Presbyterian church in Ephrata. The next day half of the group appeared before the Ephrata high school, and from there went to Odessa and Harrington, presenting programs in the high schools. The other part of the group appeared on programs at Neppell, Lind, and Ritzville.

On May 12, Dr. Sullivan, the male quartet, Olive Clarke, and Elise Aldrich presented a musical program in Northport. In addition to two services held there on Sunday, a service was held at Sunheim community on Sunday afternoon, and a program in the Northport high school on Monday morning.

Dr. Sullivan and the male quartet went to Republic and Curlew on May 19 and 20 to hold church services and to present programs in the high schools.

SENIOR CLASS ADOPTS INVESTITURE TRADITION

Caps and Gowns Will be Worn More Often on Campus

At the request of the administration, the senior class recently voted to start a new tradition on the Whitworth college campus, that of wearing caps and gowns frequently during the commencement period. The novitiates now wear their caps and gowns not only during the investiture service, but also to classes on each Friday of the investiture period. The caps and gowns will also be worn at the President's reception on Thursday, May 31.

The administration and the graduating class feel that this new tradition adds dignity and significance to the commencement season.

Spokane Speakers Give Sociology Lectures

Lectures by several prominent Spokane men and women were given in Professor Husson's classes during the last two weeks.

Dr. Marjorie Heitman talked on "Mental Hygiene." She told much about psychiatry, and dealt with the abnormal person.

The very Rev. Dean McAllister spoke on the "Child Guidance Clinic," and Dr. J. B. Stone told about "The Anatomy and the Pathology of the Ear."

Miss Margaret Kendall, of Tieton, recently spent a few days at Whitworth visiting her sister, Helen Kendall. She spent a week with her aunt, Miss Avery, of Spokane, before returning home.

TESTS ON NEW POLICY

Method Followed by Larger Colleges to be Adopted

Whitworth will inaugurate a new policy in examination schedules this semester. Following a method employed in larger colleges, the administration has scheduled Thursday and Friday of the week of May 24 and 25 for examinations. Students of mathematics and science will be allowed three successive hours for each examination, whereas students in other subjects will be given two-hour tests.

The administration has sponsored this system in an effort to relieve the students of the burden of intermittent examinations during the week.

Dean Hardwick has announced that special college tests will be given on Monday and Thursday, May 28 and 31.

W. A. A. Constitution Is Now in Effect

New Officers and Eligible Members Named for New Year

The new constitution of the W. A. A. is now in effect. The election of officers took place last Thursday and the following women were elected: Christine McDonald, president; Florence Moore, vice-president; Carmen Kopsland, secretary; Louise Picton, treasurer.

To be a member of the W. A. A., a woman must now have 25 points under the new point system. The following are eligible: Eleanor Goeko, Olive Clarke, Mary Borden Crum, Ruthann Jones, Tena Lathrop, Elsie Ratsch, Elsie Rhoades, Charlotte Slater, Virginia Kurz, Jean Betty Woods, Mary Zahniser, Genevieve Wilson, Helen Wilson, Jean Campbell, Imogene Cowan, Florence Moore, Louise Picton, Dorothy Reed, Christine McDonald, Carmen Kopsland, Joan Dyar, Jean McDonald, Alice McDonald, Nadine Fisher, Dorothy Cramer, Florence McEachran, Frances Jorgenson, Marie DeMerchant, Carol Smith, Irene Bell, Virginia Williams, Helen Ludwigson, Leamae Cantrell, Ann Pillers, Zena Norton, Margaret Prescott, and Pauline McCallum.

FLEMING NAMED

held for three years, was dropped as a traditional event. The committees on Traditions, Music, and Athletics were reorganized to permit them to work more efficiently. The promotion committee, which was organized last fall, was put on a permanent basis by constitutional amendment.

Amendments to the by-laws were also presented, and were, with one exception, adopted by the board. The student managers will hereafter be required to present an estimated budget for their activity before any money will be paid to them. Oratorical awards were eliminated, and debate awards were put on a more competitive basis. The class constitutions were put on a working basis, and the annual Fresh-Soph fight was provided for more specifically.

Another amendment opened up the May Queen selection to juniors as well as seniors, in order to permit a wider field of choice.

An amendment to erect a college building by the student body by a special assessment upon themselves was referred to the Executive board for action by the student association, but was tabled by the Board because of a lack of understanding regarding its use.

Jo Schrap was appointed to the chairmanship of the important Social activities committee. Murdock Hale was appointed chairman of the Traditions committee. Other committee appointments were: Religious Life, Wilson Rasco; Music, Christine McDonald; and Promotional, Florence McEachran. A special committee to arrange for the instruction of the entering freshman class in Whitworth traditions was authorized with Paul Koper as chairman. Managers appointed were Dan Fleming, athletics; Clark Copple, music; and Bob Allison, dramatics.

The Vacuum Cleaner by Otto Tell

Well, friends, after many useless efforts to resign and give up his career of sin, Otto Tell returns positively his last column. Public sentiment was carefully checked by Otto to see whether it was safe for him to write another column; and conditions being favorable, here he is, after removing the bullets from a couple of campus shotguns.

The first story in the last Vacuum Cleaner concerns that intrepid adventurer, Loren Hatcher. It seems that Hatcher, who faces unflinchingly the most fearsome mdenzas and lizzy high notes, retired ingloriously from the scene of battle when given the eye by a small blonde on the street of some small town visited by the quartet.

"Mr. Bator's leaving now," cried the faint-hearted Hatcher, as he fled in panic from the scene.

The only place where that "hello" tradition, passed so gloriously at student body meeting a few weeks ago, seems to be observed at all is in the phone booth.

An orchid, ladies and gentlemen, to Johnny Kingsland. Johnny brings the story of the week, which concerns the redoubtable Phil Walborn, and the no less redoubtable Margaret Quist, both good friends of Otto's. Ask

Johnny to tell you how he found Phil and Margaret going to town in the back seat of his car, when they were both supposed to be getting ready for a party. (That'll teach you, Tena, to keep Otto Tell waiting.)

Our candidate for the sweetest girl on the campus is Aimee Russell. Don't ask us why. Even dirt-column writers have some secrets.

Is there anybody in the college who hasn't by now seen the famous picture taken on the April frolic? (You know which picture.) Don't let Earl Carroll see the thing, Rorberg, or he'll sign the whole outfit up for the next "Vanities."

We've often wondered what there is left for Dave to do when he and Anne get away from people.

Bob McEachran's theme song: "My Blondy Lies Over The Ocean."

And now comes the deep, dark story of the Vacuum Cleaner. The story concerns Helen (Tiger-Woman) Kendall and that rural Romeo, Milton (Tarzan-the-Ape-Man) Haywood.

It's a long story. It seems that originally there was a triangle (we won't tell on you, Imogene)—anyhow there was a triangle, but Helen won out because she had a dark-room. We knew that sooner or later something would develop in that darkroom.

Well goodbye, everybody. It's time to shut the Vacuum Cleaner off.

JUNIOR CLASS HONORS SENIORS

Traditional Banquet Held in Gold Room of Dessert Hotel

The annual Junior-Senior banquet was held last Tuesday evening in the Gold room of the Dessert hotel. The banquet is a traditional affair, at which the junior class is host to the seniors.

Keith Murray, president of the junior class, was the master of ceremonies. Speeches were given by President Sullivan, Professor Hussong, and Lester Hussey, president of the senior class. The musical program consisted of violin solos by Helen Wilson, accompanied by Genevieve Wilson, and vocal solos by Evelyn Irwin.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Mel Farris, chairman; Faith Helms and George McDowell.

ANNUAL ELECTION OF FELLOWSHIP HELD

Penhalurick Named President; Shanks, Vice-President

The Volunteer Fellowship held its annual election on May 11. The following officers were chosen: Harold Penhalurick, president; Ralph Shanks, vice-president; Robert Reese, treasurer and manager; Bertha Davie, secretary.

During the past year the Fellowship has held more than seventy meetings. In the last few weeks it has held services at the Euclid Avenue Baptist, Union Park Baptist, Liberty Park Methodist, Kettle Falls, Marcus, Northport, and Republic churches.

The annual picnic was held at Loon Lake on May 11. After an afternoon of recreation, the group met around a big bonfire at the edge of the lake and held a devotional and installation service.

Whitworth Has Booth At Sportsmen's Fair

Informational Service Offered Prospective Students

One of the artistic displays at this year's Sportsmen's Fair was the Whitworth booth, located near the Trent avenue entrance.

The booth, which was planned by Ford L. Bailor, was constructed by Roy Snipes and Lee Pitts, under Mr. Jenner's direction. As one approached the booth, he received the impression of looking through the main entrance to Whitworth campus, with McMillan hall as the background. Overhanging boughs and trees presented a novel, as well as beautiful, effect.

"We offered visitors of the fair a college informational service, not only for Whitworth, but also for other colleges," said Mr. Bailor. "Many high school students, college students, and college graduates inquired at the booth."

Clarissa Stone and the Pirottes assisted in meeting and talking to the many information seekers.

Frosh Hold Annual Picnic

The freshman class picnic was held on Wednesday, May 9, at the Conrad summer home on Newman lake. The afternoon was spent in rowing, swimming, and hiking, after which the picnic supper was served. Rain caused considerable difficulty in climbing the hill. However, all joined in pushing, and mud and water did not detract from the fun.

Maurice Holt, June '33, who has been attending Princeton Theological seminary during the past year, is now supplying the pulpit of Millwood Presbyterian church.

Alfred Marquam, '33, has returned from theological seminary at San Anselmo, California, and is preaching at the Connell Presbyterian church.

SAILS FOR EUROPE

Frances Jorgensen to Visit Relatives In Sweden and Norway

Frances Jorgensen, popular freshman, left Spokane Sunday, May 20, and will sail for Norway from the New York docks on Saturday, May 26, at midnight.

She will arrive in Cherbourg, France, June 1; and from there she will go by train to Paris. After a short stay in Paris, she will go to Berlin, and from there to Norway.

In Norway she will visit her grandmother and other relatives. She will also go to Sweden to visit friends. In Denmark she will visit her father's relatives.

In Denmark, the Danish-Americans have procured a park where they gather for a celebration every Fourth of July. Frances will spend her Fourth of July there.

She will leave Oslo, Norway, some time the middle of September and will arrive in New York on September 27.

She plans to come home via Niagara Falls and will stop in Chicago to visit the World's Fair.

Pirottes Honor Charter Members

Garden Tea Held at Home of Florence Moore

The Pirotte club honored the charter members, Saturday, May 19, at a garden tea given at the home of Florence Moore.

The natural setting of flowers and ferns surrounding a waterfall pool was a beautiful decorative scheme.

The tea was given in place of a dinner at the Davenport hotel, as formerly announced.

Dorothy Cramer, chairman for arrangements, was assisted by Florence Moore and Marie DeMerchant as hostesses.

Those present were Mrs. Robert Blackwell, Helen Wilson, Joan Dyar, Eleanor Goeke, Zelma Morgan, Elsie Ratsch, Marie DeMerchant, Carmen Kopsland, Christine McDonald, Adeline Keyser, Mary Borden Crain, Margaret Johnson, Dorothy Cramer, and Florence Moore.

APRIL FROLIC ENJOYED

Women Hold Annual Picnic and Social Evening

On April 20, Whitworth women held their traditional April Frolic. The couples left the college at 4 o'clock and hiked to the usual picnic grounds, where they enjoyed a picnic lunch. They later returned to the college for social evening.

Frosh-Soph Picnic Held

Underclassmen Hold Wiener Roast at Camp Reed

The annual frosh-soph picnic was held this year at Camp Reed, Fan lake, on the afternoon of Saturday, May 6. The sophomore refreshment committee—Gordon Johnson, Scott Chatterton, and Marie DeMerchant treated the freshmen to a good old-fashioned "wiener roast."

During the afternoon the picnickers amused themselves swimming, boating, canoeing, and hiking. At 5:30, wieners and buns, cookies and coffee were served.

Dr. Sullivan and Mr. Osborne represented the faculty at the picnic.

Hedrick Home Blessed

Professor is Father of Ten-Pound Baby Boy

Saturday morning found another lusty voice screaming for food in the home of Dr. Hedrick. A ten-pound bouncing baby boy had arrived in time for breakfast.

The new arrival has the features of his dad, and from the way in which he asserts himself, it seems probable that he will also have the same characteristics.

"Doc" plans that this son shall become a biology "prof.," and Mrs. Hedrick hopes to bring him up to be a basketball coach, but our bet is that he will be a soda jerker in the new "College Inn."

In the Hedrick household the newcomer is creating quite a disturbance. Bottles, malted milk—everything is placed at his summons. You might think that he would be just another specimen to Dr. Hedrick; but you'll know you're wrong when you see the proud expression on "Daddy's" face.

C. E. HOLDS ELECTION

The Christian Endeavor Society of Whitworth, made up of students living on and near the college campus, has met each Sunday and Wednesday night during the college year.

Only two of the officers are elected at the close of the year; the other officers are chosen at the beginning of the semester, in order that new students who are capable of leadership may hold office. The elections were held yesterday.

Reporter Learns to Love Typewriter

A reporter comes to love his battered typewriter after he and it have worked together, worried together, and gone to pieces together.

Take this typewriter of mine, for instance. It is no different from other typewriters. It belongs to the class of "ominousoptious," a class of semi-dangerous mechanisms which, when disturbed, emit a curious substance commonly known as "xlypteriosis," the scientific name for which is "typewriter ink." This substance, though not exactly poisonous, will remain indelibly on the hands of the victim for a comparatively long period. However, if the machine is handled with gloves, there is little danger of infection!

The typewriter is very much like Man,—if you like to philosophize,—for it needs persuasion to entice it to work, and words flow from it in a constant stream!

The mortality rate among typewriters is tremendous. In some remote cases, timely operations restore them to their former usefulness. One of the greatest afflictions comes from that part of the machine known as the ribbon. This ribbon is strikingly like a tennis-tape in that both are always being walked upon.

Oh, yes, my typewriter has its good attributes, too. There is little danger of my having irritating persons looking over my shoulder as I write, because of the tremendous damage inflicted when the interior portion of the typewriter carriage swings with wicked velocity in the general direction of the "overseer," when I push a certain key.

But one of the best things about the typewriter is that it has afforded your confused reporter a theme, which he intends to hand to the editor-on-verge-of-nervous-break-down!

"W" CLUB INITIATES

When Murdock Hale stumbled blindly and wearily into assembly on Campus day, he provided a silent testimony to the devastating treatment accorded to "W"-club initiates.

After a night of kangaroo-court, raw liver, pockets-full of ants, and coffee grounds, Mark Koehler, Bill Williams, Murdock Hale, and Angus Wilson trekked their weary way home from the initiation.

Bill Rasco was chairman of the initiating committee that sponsored the punishment. The effeminate attire, the not-so-fresh eggs, the raw liver, and the ants were only a small part of the diabolical plans which the initiating committee devised for this semester's "W"-club initiation.

And was it a success? Ask any of the initiates!

Language Clubs to Picnic

The combined French and German clubs closed a year of pleasant social activity with a picnic at Fan lake on last Friday afternoon. During the year many interesting programs have been sponsored by these clubs, of which Miss Landsberg is faculty adviser.

PIRATES DEFEATED BY RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS

Baggage Men Have Little Trouble in Trouncing Whitworth

After winning a lopsided game from the Mail Clerks last week, the Whitworth ball club immediately turned jugglers, and lost to them by a score of 11 to 2. Nine of the expressmen's counters came in; the fifth inning, when Ventris blew up and B. Gray relieved him.

M. Gray and A. Kroske led the squad in hitting, each banging out two safe blows.

The third game between the Clerks and the Pirates was by far the best of the three. Ventris started the game and pitched good ball until his sore arm weakened; he was relieved by B. Gray in the seventh. The contest ended in a win for the baggage men in the tenth inning with a score of 7 to 6.

Ventris led the team in hitting, making two singles.

WHITWORTH TAKES JUNIOR COLLEGE

Wins Two Games From Spokane Valley Team

Whitworth scraped out a 1-to-0 victory over the Spokane Junior college on April 25 on the home grounds, and then the next week walloped these Valley men by a score of 16 to 3.

In the first game Ventris chucked superb ball, allowing only two hits. A feature of this game was the running catch of Neil's line drive to left field by Allen, who jumped outstretched in the air and pulled the ball down by one hand.

The Pirates' lone score came in the third inning, when H. Kroske singled, went to second on B. Gray's sacrifice, stole third, and scored on an error by the catcher.

M. Gray, Chatterton, and H. Kroske were the only ones able to hit for the winners, getting a hit apiece.

In the second game the entire team clicked, playing errorless ball behind the air-tight pitching of Chatterton. Scott held the opponents to two hits, both singles. H. Kroske and Chatterton, with two safe bingles apiece, led the hitting for the Pirates.

Invincibles Lose to Varsity Ball Team

Heavy-Slugging Regulars Victors in Close Battle

The mighty Invincibles recently went down to defeat before the heavy slugging of the Varsity, but not before they had put up some opposition that was nearly unbeatable. The final score was 8 to 7, four of the Pirates' runs coming in the ninth inning.

Boo Miller pitched an excellent game for the losers. He went out in the eighth in favor of the younger member of the Miller tribe, but Earl, being inexperienced, was unable to cope with the heavy artillery of the regulars.

Popkes got off to a poor start and allowed the enemy six runs in the first three innings. Ventris relieved him in the fourth and held the opposition scoreless. B. Gray replaced Ventris in the ninth and repeated Tommy's feat.

Vicker lashed out a terrific line drive in the third, which went thru M. Gray's legs and was good for a home run. Vicker, however, collapsed at the plate. Earl Miller was the hitting star of the Invincibles, cracking out three hits in five trips to the plate.

Howard Kroske and Mert Gray each got two safe bingles to lead the varsity.

Tennis Resume Puts Macintyre at Head

Koehler Ranks Second in Summary of Tennis Matches.

Macintyre has been the outstanding man of the Whitworth tennis team so far this season, as far as games won are concerned. He has won four of his six matches. Koehler, with three wins and three losses, is right behind him. A complete resume of the team's work for the season is given below. Koehler and Penn led in the doubles, with three wins and three losses.

	MP	MW	ML	DW	DL
Macintyre	6	4	2	2	4
Koehler	6	3	3	3	3
Smith	6	1	5	2	4
Shaw	2	1	1
Penhalurick	6	0	6	3	3
Lowell	6	0	6

NETSTERS MAKE TRIP TO COAST

Barnstormers Drop Three Games to Oregon Teams

The Pirates netsters traveled far and wide last week, they played and lost three intercollegiate matches.

In their first tournament, with Linfield, they were beaten 2 to 5. Koehler won his singles match and then teamed up with Penhalurick to take the measure of the Linfield doubles team.

The second match ended in a victory for Willamette, with Macintyre and Shaw winning for the Whitworth men in the singles and Macintyre and Smith taking the doubles. The final score was 5 to 3.

In the next set-to, Whitworth was trounced by Oregon State college 8 to 1. Macintyre again proved his ability by being the only Pirate to win a match.

Six men made the trip, accompanied by Coach Snowy Gustafson. Those who went were Penhalurick, Koehler, Smith, Lowell, Macintyre, and Shaw.

The Pirate varsity racket slingers lost a close match to the Gonzaga university tennis team last week by a score of 4 to 3.

Virtually all the matches resulted in lopsided wins. The results were as follows: Koehler won 6-2, 6-2; Penhalurick lost 1-6, 3-6; Smith lost 1-6, 3-6; Macintyre won 6-0, 6-2; Lowell lost 2-6, 2-6; Koehler and Pen won 7-5, 6-2; and Mac and Smith lost 5-7, 6-2.

LOSE TO NORMAL TEAM

Hard-Fought Contest Taken by Cheney Sluggers

Whitworth recently dropped a hard-fought contest to the Cheney ball club, by a score of 5 to 1.

Halloway was the big star for the Normal men, getting a home run and a two bagger with the bases loaded.

On May 3, the Rogers high school gained revenge on the Pirates, by defeating them 8 to 4.

Whitworth apparently had the game won until the fifth inning, but with two out and none on base, the Rogers' bats began to function, and seven runs had crossed the plate before the inning was completed. Ventris had pitched excellent ball up till the fifth, allowing only two hits; but his sore arm weakened, and Chatterton relieved him. Boo Miller and Ventris led in hitting, with two apiece.

Puget Sound Trounces Whitworth Tennis Team

Whitworth was defeated by the College of Puget Sound tennis team last week by a score of 6 to 1.

The coast team had an unusually brilliant squad, especially their number-1 man, Teats, who drove virtually every ball. The results of the match, which was played on the Corbin courts, were as follows: Koehler lost to Teats 3-6, 4-6; Macintyre lost to Ellis 1-6, 1-6; Penn lost 0-6, 2-6; Smith lost 6-8, 2-6; Lowell lost 3-6, 2-6. In the doubles Koehler and Penn won a hard match from Teats and Ellis 7-5, 6-2; but Mac and Smith lost a hard two sets, the final score being 4-6, 7-5, 4-6.

"W" Club News

The "W" club held their annual picnic at Woodbine Lodge, Twin Lakes, Idaho, on May 12.

Sixteen couples attended the affair, which, from all reports, was a distinct success.

The Dessert hotel was the scene of the "W" club dinner on May 3. A formal initiation took place. Among those present was Harold Slater, grad of '33.

Boo Miller was elected president of the "W" club in the election held last week. Other officers elected were Bob Gray, vice-president; Mark Koehler, secretary; Bob McEachran, treasurer; and Bob Allison, sergeant-at-arms.

The Executive Board, in their first session, accepted the recommendations of Coach Gustafson that letters be awarded to Tommy Ventris, Bobby Gray, Mark Koehler, Harold Penhalurick, Angus Wilson, Murdock Hale, William Williams, Bob Allison, and Al Luenow. Managers' letters were granted to Bob McEachran and John Schlomer. On May 17 these letters were presented before the student body by Coach Gustafson.

Whitworth Defeats Cheney Tennis Team

Takes First of Season's Games From Cheney Normal Men.

The Whitworth racketeers were victorious in their first intercollegiate match of the year, downing the Cheney Normal varsity by a score of 4 to 3.

Koehler was in top form, winning two straight sets, 6-1, 6-2. Penhalurick, after winning his first set easily, weakened and dropped the next two. Macintyre lost his first set, but came back strong to win the deciding ones, although both were extra-game sets. Lowell played a hard game, but lost the final two sets, after easily winning the first one. Smith won his first set by a score of 10 to 8 and his second by a score of 6 to 2. Although Penn and Koehler lost their match, it was the best of the tournament. Whitworth lost the first set 8-10; but rallied to take the next one 8-6, only to lose the last in a heart-breaking finish, which ended 7-9. Macintyre and Smith won their doubles, 8-6, 6-11, to cinch the victory.
