Whitworth Takes Part In Calkins Flight Program

Flying is the big thing at Whitworth now. Seventy fliers are in full-time CPT training at Calkins Air field, Dr. Merton D. Munn reported, and will finish classes November 15.

Whitworth has leased two rooms at Calkins field, taking over the teaching of ground school under government contract. Men are housed in barracks at the field.

Since flying is a full-time program, none of the fliers at Calkins field are taking courses at the college proper. Only navy flying trainees can do so.

FOUR OFFICERS MEET WITH WHITWORTH MEN

A joint committee of uniformed representatives from all major branches of the United States armed forces conferred Friday afternoon with Whitworth men concerning the many reserve programs open to college students.

Handsome young Lt. R. J. Roman of the Army ground forces first presented the claim of his division in general to the all-male assembly held in the old gym; then introduced his companions, each of whom spoke for his own division.

Speaking for the Navy air corps was Lt. John Goggin. Lt. Codiman Hislop told of the Army air corps, and the Navy ground force's spokesman was Lt. Eleroy Van Diest.

Following the general assembly, interested students were privileged to speak in conference rooms with any or all the officers concerning their own reserve program problems.

NEW GARAGE TO HOUSE COLLEGE BUS AND TRUCK

Rustic sides and composition roof will be features of the new Whitworth college garage, for which the concrete foundations have now been poured. The garage will be completed, according to President Warren, when lumber is available.

To be erected at a cost of from six to seven hundred dollars, the 26-by-60-foot structure will contain, besides a storeroom, space for three cars and for the college bus and truck.

The garage is located northwest of the Graves gymnasium, near the men's dormitory.

McMillan Gets Ready For Open Dorm

Outside it will still look just like this, but "Hurry up with that mop!" will be a familiar cry in McMillan's as well as Ballard's halls before the day is far spent on Saturday, November 14.

Traditionally "Open-Dorm" is one of the most popular events of the year, and no effort is being spared to make this year's scene real for those traditionally admitted only when they yell, "Man in the dorm!"

Helen Ghormley, social chairman of Sefelo, and general chairman for November 14, announces that the program will be held in the old gymnasium (so that all the guests will be able to enjoy the fun), and that it will be presented on a Greek stage in the center of the hall.

War Bond Will Be Journalism Award For Student Article On War Effort

Local journalism students and members of the newspaper staff have been invited to compete in a contest for the best published newspaper article on the subject "How Can College Students Best Aid the War Effort?"

The contest, which closes November 25, is sponsored by Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary coeducational journalistic fraternity. Prizes offered by the fraternity are a $25 war bond for first place, $5 in defense stamps for second place, and $1.25 in defense stamps for third place.

Invitation to compete is being extended to journalists in colleges and universities in the western United States, it is announced by Gil Cowan, Los Angeles newspaperman, western vice-president of the fraternity.

The purpose of the contest, according to Cowan, is to provide a summary of student thought on the subject of the war effort, and to obtain ideas which may be of value to the colleges and to civilian and military authorities.

PRE-MEDS WILL INVITE OFF-CAMPUS SPEAKERS

Medici Futuri, campus pre-medical organization, plans to have several outsiders in its field address the group this season.

Two associate members, Marjorie Johnson and Virginia Boggs, have been taken in as full-fledged members, and the club issues an invitation to all interested freshmen to seek admittance in the same way. After an associate member has completed a year in which he has demonstrated his ability to take a course in medicine, as well as sustained interest in the field, he may be taken into the club as a regular member.

For the accommodation of pre-meds, Medici Futuri keeps on hand a number of catalogs and other publications from the leading medical schools of the country, besides those from the American Medical Association.

The club makes its entrance into the 1942-43 season under the leadership of Loren Gothberg, president, and Tami Nozaki, secretary-treasurer.

All-College Play Goes Into Third Week's Rehearsal

"American Landscape" Stands for Democratic Ideal

The first all-Whitworth play of the year, "American Landscape," by Elmer Rice, is now in its third week of rehearsal under the capable direction of Professor Stanley Newcomb. Standing as it does as "a triumphant affirmation of the American democratic ideal," it is a play calculated to give everyone an opportunity to enjoy his history in a new way.

The story concerns Captain Frank Dale, played by David Holmes, who is planning to sell the farm that has been in the family since pioneer days. To prevent his selling it to the "German-American Bund, an organization that seeks to tear down all that is held sacred in America, his ancestors come back from the grave to the old home and there proclaim again the great heritage of America.

The role of Moll Pitcher is played by Mary Elaine Dugan, who will be remembered for her excellent performance last year as the mother in "Death Takes A Holiday," and that of Frances Dale Spinner, Captain Frank's granddaughter, by Barbara Miller, memorable for her sympathetic and understanding portrayal of Grazia in the same play.

Paul Merkel, witty sheriff of Nottingham of the cast of "In Sherwood Forest," will be heard again as Heinrich Kleinschmidt, and Roy Peringer of "The Duke," as Captain Anthony Dale.

LATHING IS UNDER WAY AT JAY P. GRAVES HALL

Lathing is under way this week at Graves hall, where work is progressing very satisfactorily in spite of difficulties in getting both workers and materials.

As soon as the finishing touches are put to the gymnasium floor, it will be ready for use.

In the basement much remains to be done: the heating and the plumbing systems are yet to be installed. But the concrete floor has been laid and partitions are being constructed now.

TRIBUTE

This is a tribute to a quiet boy and a fun-loving boy, whose lives were suddenly taken away in the line of duty.

This is a tribute to their twenty-three companions, plunged all at once from pleasant things to stark tragedy, who came up facing the issue without flinching.

This is a tribute to God Almighty, who did not allow more widespread disaster.

THEY ANSWERED THEIR COUNTRY'S CALL

Perhaps it didn't seem a great thing at the time. They merely signed up to pick apples. True, they were doing their part by helping relieve their country's labor shortage; yet so were forty others. But they gave more than the others—they gave their lives.

Many of us had scarcely learned the name of the one; to others who attended the same classes he was already a good friend, interested in sports, cooperative in school activities generally; to a few was accorded the privilege of having attended high school with him.

The other was truly a brilliant student in his chosen field, chemistry, and one of the top-ranking students in mathematics.

Their worth to the college is not easily measured. Diligent in their studies, friendly and helpful to their fellow students, courteous to teachers—of FRANCIS STEVENS and IVAN SWANBY it may truly be said they stood for Whitworth and her ideals.

Our personal tribute to you, Francis and Ivan—simply—you gave your lives for your country.

ARPEGGIO

Whitworth's pep band, a new campus organization by Dick Byquist, will make its first appearance at the Homecoming game with Gonzaga, December 5. The pep band will play for various activities of the school, helping to create enthusiasm and supporting Whitworth in the sports as well as in entertainment.

Practices will be held twice a week. Band personnel includes:

- Trumpets Al Burkhardt, Dick Byquist, Don Hecter, and Don Lancaster
  - Alto Horn..... Bobbee Judd
  - Baritone..... Maurice Davis
  - Trombone..... George Rodkey
  - E-Flat Saxophone..... Bill Paeth
  - Tenor Saxophone..... Yvonne Green
  - Alto Saxophone..... John Webster
  - Clarinet..... Jay Tomlinson
  - Susaphone..... Leslie Yates
  - Bass Viol..... Robert Shreve
  - Piano..... Merlyn Philo
- The ASWC will furnish funds for the music.

Sharing crescendos this week with the pep band is Whitworth College Choir, whose members, according to their director, voted to contribute out of their own pockets to the choir robe fund. Some spirit!

—Wait till you see them in their new raiment.

There'll be a note missing on the school's musical score November 20, when Bob Johnson, baritone, gives a series of recitals in Portland. Among organizations before which he will appear are Jennings Lodge and the Federated Young People's Union. Mary Anne Dresser, formerly of Whitworth, will be his accompanist when he sings his spirituals to the Portlandites.

A trio composed of Betty Armquist, Bob Johnson, and Barbara Miller, with Merlyn Philo as their accompanist, appeared Saturday night at the Autumn Festival in Waverly Community hall.

Two of the three, Betty Armquist and Bob Johnson, with Merlyn Philo as accompanist, brought down the house at the Masonic Lodge Executive Banquet in the Masonic Temple. As encore Betty Armquist sang, by popular request, "Only A Rose."

Running up the scale of musical happenings for the week we found a new quartet composed of Louis Messex, first tenor; Bob Johnson, second tenor; Rolla Riley, baritone; and Everett Scott, base, scheduled to appear Sunday on the Whitworth Chapel Hour.

Encore of the week goes to Jeanette Strang, promising young freshman, for her first appearance on the Whitworth Chapel Hour.

Now you know the score.
 (Next week's Arpeggio: Whitworth's new organ.)

The DEAN SAYS:

Dear Students:

Though only six weeks have passed since you started your school work here at Whitworth, so much has been crowded into those few days that the time seems much longer. Is it too soon for you to take inventory of your mental and spiritual growth? I think not. A periodic checking can be of inestimable value to you if you check carefully and honestly and profit by the results.

All of you are facing difficult days—days filled with change and restlessness in a world that is seething with war and hate and materialism. What shall be your attitude? Shall you, too, be restless and uncertain? You need not be. The foundation of the Christian remains solid and unshaken and Christ is the same today as yesterday. I do not mean to imply that you assume a complacent attitude and let the world go by; but you need not be restless and uncertain in your purpose when you have an eye single to His glory.

While in conversation with a young man recently he remarked, "All I can see now is the war." Are we not all apt to be near-sighted? Students, do not lose that larger vision which urged you to continue your education! You will be rewarded in due season.

One more admonition. When big things are happening all around you the little amenities of life are so often passed by that we all are made to suffer and your life as well as mine is poorer because of the neglect. Do not forget that the one next to you or the one to whom you speak so seldom, needs your friendship, your smile and often your prayers. "A Little Prayer," by S. E. Kiser expresses this same thought.

That I may not in blindness grope,
 But that I may with vision clear
 Know when to speak a word of hope
 Or add a little wholesome cheer.

That through the year which lies ahead

No heart shall ache, no cheek be wet,
 For any word that I have said

Or profit I have tried to get.

MEDICINE CLAIMS ONE OF CLASS OF '42; DEFENSE SIX

Gerald Dean reports a letter from Rex Blumhagen in which Rex expresses his great liking for medical school. Rex is attending Northwestern at Chicago, having just completed his first quarter.

A 1942 Whitworth graduate, he is now hard at work in his new field on the subjects of anatomy, biochemistry, and embryology. By night he assists a doctor in an industrial accidents office.

Harriet Thorndike Eaton is also assistant to a member of the medical profession, practising in the office of Dr. Harriet Judy. Harriet Aldrich, who is nursing in Seattle, is a graduate student as well in Public Health nursing at the University of Washington. Lois Morgan is a graduate nurse in Deaconess Hospital, Spokane, and Dolores Muench, a hospital technician.

Defense has claimed six of the 1942 graduates. Charles Hoyt, Bill Richter, and Wesley Scott are in the army. Irvin Potter is soon to fly for Uncle Sam, while Bob Anderson is working at the air depot. Bob Brault is in defense chemistry under Whitworth's former Professor Neustel.

Six members of last year's senior class have entered the teaching profession. Marjorie Boughton is at Sprague; Keith Hickox at Curlew; Lee Rodkey at the University of Idaho, and Alison Tharp at Metaline. Virginia Lee Nance is in the Salem schools, and Margaret Joss doing cadet teaching at North Central high school.

Of the five who have become or are becoming ministers, Joe Dixon is preaching at Moses Lake; Earl Klein at Reardan, and Stewart Sparrow at Pateros. Roy Howes and Buford Clark are at seminary.

Evelyn Olmsted is a graduate student at the University of Washington, and Elinor Schell applying her knowledge of chemistry in the laboratory of a local creamery. Following the example of their classmate, Gladys Hawley (Rosenquist), Ethel Boughton, and Verna Bunkelman are now respectively Mrs. Burton Saunders of Rathdrum, Idaho, and Mrs. Francis Unti of Seattle. Elizabeth Kelley and Harriet Thorndike are also married.

CHALLENGE LIVES AFTER SPEAKER LEAVES CAMPUS

There are some students at Whitworth who will never forget the visit of Dr. A. J. Elliott to the campus. Dr. Elliott, more commonly known as "Dad," presented the challenge of Christ and service for Him in a very dramatic manner, drawing upon his great fund of information and observations to substantiate his views.

"Dad" spoke in chapel Monday and Tuesday mornings, and at vesper services Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings. In each meeting the students were prompted to examine their own lives and motives in the light of Christian ideals, and definite commitments have been made as a result. Dr. Elliott's visit to Whitworth has made some visible changes in the attitudes of students, but there is undoubtedly a great deal of change which is invisible, known only to God.

Well known across the United States for his work not only among college students but with the men in the armed forces, "Dad" anticipates holding services in several of the state's army camps this month. From Whitworth he went to the University of Washington.

THRIFTILY YOURS

Not all good things come from 710 or 802 Riverside. With a little bit of ingenuity, even an old rag can be made to look like a bit of all right—what?

But if you are definitely thinking about purchasing a new skirt, why not look at the CRESCENT'S or PENNEY'S gorgeous plaid materials and make your own?—thus taking another of the many needed short cuts to economy. Ranging in price from 98 cents to $3.49 per yard, the plaids are all equally scrumptious. One that we liked particularly well was of fire red and navy blue with a thin yellow stripe. Another was of navy blue and forest green. Unlike woolen materials of previous years, these are 15 per cent rayon and 65 per cent wool, which shows that we may feel the war effort in more than one way this season.

One of the more clever skirts is the kiltie worn by Dorothy Beggs. Of navy blue clan plaid, it is softly pleated. Most striking is the safety pin fastened at a rakish angle on the kilt. To complete the outfit, Dorothy wore a red cardigan, red knee socks, and cloggers.

Then there was that red plaid tie worn by Bob Edwards, as only Mr. Edwards could wear it!

And something that we just can't forget is the red and blue woolen plaid shirt worn by Bill Schlauch. To date, it's one of the keenest that we have ever seen!

Just because coats are necessary is no reason they should be mediocre. One we saw this week proves our point, exactly. Tomato red in color, this box coat has the W.P.B. regulated pockets. The most striking feature is the three 2-inch buttons, which are trimmed with pieces of the fabric. Inside are two straps, which enable the wearer to change her mind and put on the coat as a cape. The possessor of this Sapphire Exclusive . . . Isabel Mise.

Three-piece suits are always good looking. One on this campus is exceptionally smart. Of brown herringbone tweed, and worn with a green beret, Isabelle McNeely's outfit is strictly tailored.

Maybe you have an old date dress which has an awkward shoulder line.

BYQUIST ORGANIZES CAMPUS FLIGHT CLUB

Because flying is restricted by CPT, a flying club is being organized on the campus by Dick Byquist. Members will fly at Calkins field in a special Piper J Cub plane.

The rate will be $2 an hour, the cheapest, according to Byquist, anywhere in the United States. Two more men are needed to complete the quota for the club.

One of the more recent magazines suggests that you transform the dress into a jumper and wear different blouses under it, thereby creating a new outfit. A simple job of revamping can be done on any long-sleeved dress by cutting off the sleeves and converting them into push-ups. Speaking of push-up sleeves, we heard that Florence Reynolds (pd. ad.) has a wool maroon frock which has this type of sleeve. Made with a long torso line, it also has unpressed pleats.

Snowflake of the week goes to Jean Zutrau for impeccable white saddles.

Dean Munn Trains Whitworth Cagers

Six of Nineteen Prospects for 1942-1943 Team Are Re- turned Lettermen

By Russell Rosenkranz

Under the able coaching of Dean Munn, nineteen prospects for Whitworth's 1942-43 basketball team blossomed out in many different colors at the first turnout Wednesday, Nov. 4.

Dean Munn has accepted the responsibility of coaching the team this year, so from now on he will be known to a lot of fellows as Coach Munn.

Although Coach Munn has been idle from coaching for a few years, he is really putting the boys through their paces. According to Coach Munn, fundamentals of basketball are very important to create a winning team. A knowledge of passing the ball, dribbling, and good footwork is being tossed at the boys. Those who receive it and put it into practical use are going to be the ones who win berths on Whitworth's gallant team.

After two weeks of this practical training, which also includes vigorous calisthenics each day, Coach Munn will then cut the squad to around 12 men. From there on, until our first game with Gonzaga on Dec. 4, which is also Homecoming, the team will whip into shape very quickly.

New suits have been ordered, and according to many students, Whitworth is going to have a pretty snappy team.

From last year's team there are six lettermen returning. They include Vince Grieg, who was last year's captain; Don Steele whose high scoring average helped Whitworth win many a game. Don was also awarded the inspirational trophy for being the most inspirational player on the team. Paul Merkel is the only two-year letterman returning. He should and will be a great asset to the team. Bob Lee, Al Brown, and Maurice Davis, also lettermen, will add greatly to the strength of the team.

ANNOUNCE CONTEST

ANNOUNCING—An open competition among COLLEGE JOURNALISM STUDENTS for the best published article on the subject:

HOW CAN COLLEGE STUDENTS BEST AID THE WAR EFFORT?

First prize: $25 WAR BOND (purchased at $18.75)

Second prize: $5 in Defense Stamps

Third prize: $1.25 in Defense Stamps

Contest sponsored by ALPHA PHI GAMMA HONORARY CO-EDUCATIONAL JOURNALISTIC FRATERNITY.

WHO MAY ENTER: Any staff-member of a college paper, or student in a class in journalism, in colleges and universities of the western United States.

FORM OF ENTRY: Article must be submitted in clipping form and must show masthead of publication. Article must be published BEFORE November 15, 1942. Publication may be in school paper or local press. No original manuscript will be acceptable.

CONTENTS OF ARTICLE: The article must present—in the form of feature story, news story, or editorial—constructive suggestions on how college students may aid the war effort.

PURPOSE OF CONTEST: To provide a summary of student thought on this subject; and to obtain ideas which may be of value to the faculties and to civilian and military authorities.

MAIL ENTRIES BY NOVEMBER 25, 1942, to:
IOLA RUST, EXECUTIVE SECRETARY
ALPHA PHI GAMMA
805 Center Street
REDLANDS, CALIFORNIA

New material includes Bob Bloggett, Roy Brinken, Grover Collins, Bob Edwards, Al Hagman, Dave Holmes, Bill Paeth, Russell Rosenkranz, Ray Rostell, Bob Savage, Bill Schlauch, and Everett Scott.

Don Steele and Bill Schlauch are still both laid up with a broken arm apiece. Even though they are handicapped, they're out there learning a lot with one arm.

The job of manager of the team, which is a very big responsibility, and has a lot of work connected with it, has been laid on the shoulders of Hubert Hull.

With a group of men such as we have here, the competitors of our school will be plenty worried when it comes their turn to battle the mighty team of Whitworth.

With a little support from each member of the student body, there is no reason why success should not reign supreme with Whitworth's basketball team during this coming season.

BUILDER PRESIDENT'S GOAL IN SIGHT

'Building to Serve' Will Be Theme of 1942-1943 Natsihi

Editor Eleanor Hook Announces
Appointment of Yearbook
Staff Members

Regarding the completion in 1942-1943 of the Jay P. Graves auditorium-gymnasium as a happy symbol of the spirit of a college which seeks in all its departments to build men and women for consecrated service in their chosen fields, this year's staff of the Natsihi has chosen as yearbook theme, "Building to Serve."

Editor Eleanor Hook, formerly editor of Pilot, yearbook of Lindbergh high school, Valleyford, and freshman staff member of the Whitworthian, has announced as her associate, Marjorie Klein, '45.

Other staff appointments announced by the editor are: Classes, Lorraine Kitt; Organizations, Virginia Hodge; Sports, Vince Gregg and Florence Reynolds; Art, Virginia Huffman; and Photography, Ellen Jones.

Dr. Kennedy is faculty editorial adviser and Professor Dizman, the Natsihi's first faculty business adviser.

The student business manager has not yet been selected, nor has the music editor.

The Natsihi is published annually under the supervision of the junior class, from whose ranks the editor is chosen by the class executive council acting in conjunction with the faculty editorial adviser.

PRE-MEDS NOW ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL AUTOPSIES

Members of the Pre-Med club are now taking turns in attending operations and autopsies at St. Luke's and the Deaconess hospitals. Those in charge of arrangements are: President Loren Gothberg, Gerry Dean and Ruth Huntley.

Members are also working on a Pre-Med library to be located in the Biology lab. Books will be donated by Pre-Med students and will be for the exclusive use of the club members.

'Professor Huntley Accounts for Axis Bias of Gremlins

Alas, the allies have another treacherous enemy to battle. Not only do we have the axis on our hands, but some very formidable, pixy-like creatures, called "Gremlins," the R.A.F. points out.

According to the R.A.F., practically all the Allies' aerial trouble can be attributed to the Gremlins. This includes iced wings, jammed machine guns, water in the fuel line, poor vision, and a host of other troubles which confront the air fighters.

Now, the question is: What causes these otherwise normal little fellows to be so hostile to our side of the fight? This question has given rise to a considerable amount of investigation in the biology department, and several of the students have been studying the physiology and anatomy of the Gremlins in an attempt to discover the fault. What is it that makes the Gremlins so decidedly anti-ally?

Jack Starrett has been carefully studying Gremlin embryos, but finds nothing out of the ordinary in this phase of the development of the Gremlin. Ruth Huntley, however, has arrived at a very logical conclusion which accounts for the well-marked Gremlin nastiness. "Professor" Huntley has deducted, and also illustrated in a diagram which is on the biology laboratory blackboard, that the Axis doctors have removed the "conscience bumps" from the heads of the Gremlins.

Monday, November 23, was more than just a birthday for Dr. Frank F. Warren this year. It was also the occasion for thankfulness that financial requirements for fulfillment of plans for the Jay P. Graves auditorium-gymnasium had been fully met, and that now the road to completion by the end of 1942 is clear.

HUNTER PROVIDES FOR FEAST IN MEN'S DORM

The entrance door to Professor Stanley Newcomb's apartment opened slowly. A man stood facing the reception room of Whitworth Hall. He stepped out, paused dramatically. Three little words fell from his lips.

An ominous rumble was heard throughout the building. Almost simultaneously, twenty doors opened; students poured by two's into the cor-

Whitworthian Staff Will Sponsor College Rental Library Bookshelf

When Whitworth students return to college after the Christmas recess, they will find a new bookshelf in the library. Recognizing the importance of keeping in touch with the thought of the world of today, the Whitworthian has volunteered to purchase twenty-five books as nucleus of a rental library of current fiction and non-fiction. Books will be selected from titles suggested by students and faculty members. All suggested titles should be deposited in the box provided for their reception at the desk in the library, on or before December 1. No unsigned suggestions will be considered.

The Whitworthian proposes Russell Blankenship's And There Were Men, that "brilliant new book" in which the distinguished professor of American Literature at the University of Washington is said to offer "a true and vivid portrait of the most colorful, mysterious, and romantic corner of America—the Pacific Northwest."

Basketball Season Will Open on New Gymnasium Floor

Jay P. Graves Hall to Be Scene of Hoopsters' Battle With Gonzaga

When Whitworth's hoopsters open this year's Homecoming program, Friday, December 4, they will join battle with the Gonzaga quint on the floor of the new gymnasium. Meeting an opposing team for the first time in Jay P. Graves hall, the Pirates in their crimson suits will be spurred to victory not only by the yells of their student supporters, but by the music of Byquist's recently-organized pep band.

Following the game, all will gather around to watch the kindling of the big bonfire built by the freshman class. It is rumored that although there is no official recognition of rivalry, the freshmen may find it necessary to protect their prize pyre against certain upper classmen avowedly set on prematurely igniting the heap.

The formal banquet will be held Saturday evening.

Still busy sending letters of notification to graduates is Mary Elaine Dugan, chairman of the Alumni committee, under whose surveillance are Ruth Barnes, Bob Blodgett, Jackie Davis, Marge Klein, Bob Lee and Dorothy Munce.

Virginia Hodge is chairman of the Program committee, her associates being Vernon Forkner, Quentin Leisher, Florence Reynolds and Bill Schlauch.

In charge of decorations is Dorothy Beggs and her committee members, Virginia Huffman, Eugenia Ivanhoff, Wilfred Landres, Bob Paeth, Marcia Parker and Isabelle McNeely.

PIRETTES FACED WITH PRIORITY ON SWEATERS

Because of war priorities Whitworth's new Pirette members will either have to go without the traditional crimson and gray sweaters or will have to persuade senior members to sell theirs.

Also on the Pirette schedule and now under way is the rewriting of their Constitution.

OUR PRESIDENT

President Warren had a birthday, November 23. It is a date that bears commemoration, for it was the birthday of one whose dream has been the Whitworth dream.

His purpose has been firm. This college must stand forth as a light in a world of confusion, a flame that must not be swept away by the flames of war. The torch of education must both supplement the war and make plans for that which lies afterward.

During the past year he has campaigned tirelessly for Jay P. Graves hall, Whitworth's new gymnasium. Almost alone, day in and day out, always trying to put a positive foot forward for the new gym, he raised nearly $39,000.

FRIENDLINESS, NOT FORMALITY

Whitworth stands for friendliness, for Christianity. At least, that's as it should be.

Some persons on the campus (this does not refer to the faculty) think that because Whitworth is a college, formality should be paramount.

But to go around calling others "Mr. So-and-so" or "Miss Whosit" certainly doesn't advance Whitworth friendliness.

It puts a barrier between friends.

Fellow students, let's continue to call each other by given or nick-names!

ARE WE?

Aren't we overlooking a publicity possibility? This writer decided to send a birthday card to a friend on the coast, and went into a store to purchase a postcard with a scene of Whitworth on one side.

Ah yes, here were scenes of Gonzaga, scenes of Spokane's three city high schools, but none of Whitworth.

I say this bears looking into.

ARPEGGIO

To Whitworth's new organ department and its able instructor, Mrs. Anna Carrel, goes the fortissimo of the week. Also to be commended for their excellent work are Helen Hartley, Isabel Mise and Joyce Warren, who serve as organists for the Whitworth College Church.

A new section has been added to the regular student-led pep band. Dick Byquist, organizer of the band, announced that in the future there will be a combination band and orchestra, besides the original pep section, which will play at games and assemblies. Many types of music are being purchased out of a student fund. Jay Tomlinson will direct.

And have you heard all the diligent vocalizing lately? Reason: Parts are being cast and soloists chosen for the "Messiah," which is to be presented during the Christmas season.

MEN'S DORM INITIATION TO FOLLOW HOMECOMING

Although initiation at the men's dorm has been postponed until the week after Homecoming, the freshmen are already beginning to wonder what it's going to be like. It has been said that the dorm initiation is much more vigorous than the all-freshmen initiation. And from what some male members of the freshmen class have said, that won't cool off for some time.

Beginning the Wednesday after Homecoming and lasting through Friday night, the program will reach a climax in an entertainment put on by the frosh men for the enjoyment of the upper classmen.

WHO WANTS TURKEY? GERMANY?

THE DEAN SAYS:

Dear Students:

Sometimes I feel as if our great American alibi, "I haven't time," is being substituted for by "This is war." Now it is this phrase which is becoming the excuse for inferior work and for getting out of work.

This is war, to be sure, and each one of us must put forth not just extra effort for our country but must give all we have to help our country. On the other hand we do not need inferior materials nor do we need less of character and personality. Now is the time you should give more than you have ever given and should put forth extra effort to be of more service to others.

As a customer approached the meat counter in a local store, she desired to purchase some chops. The butcher took some from the back of the tray which were inferior to those on display at the front. The customer asked for chops as good as those shown at the front of the tray but was told that she must pay more for those even though they had all been included under the one price. When she pointed this out to him he came back with, "This is war." As if war were an excuse for dishonesty! A lady was asked recently to take on some extra work. She, too, hid behind the war excuse.

Don't do it! To use this awful period of tragedy and bloodshed as an excuse for inferior work or for shirking work is cowardly and inexcusable! Because this is war your very best should be given in whatever you undertake. You should be willing to take on extra work to double for those who cannot be with us.

I think I gave you this gem from Phillips Brooks last year but it will bear repeating.

"O, do not pray for easy lives! Pray to be stronger men! Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers. Pray for powers equal to your task! Then the doing of your work shall be no miracle; but you shall be a miracle. Every day you shall wonder at yourself, at the richness of life which has come in you by the grace of God."

Sincerely yours,

MERTON D. MUNN.

THRIFTILY YOURS-

Good shoes, bad shoes, indifferent shoes; happy shoes, sad shoes — It takes all kinds of shoes to make up the world. Two types that are doing right well on this campus are the moccasins, which are laced with deer-hide thongs, and the loafers. Ever popular, the loafers have that "something has been added" touch. On the heels are stitched quarter guards, which look to us like a piece of leather glued on the shoe. Besides campus shoes there are shoes for more formal occasions — such shoes as the Kelly-green suede sandals, which would accent perfectly a black date frock. There are also crimson suede pumps and sandals. Although brilliant shoes

Dr. Speer Pleads for Renewed Dedication

Dr. Robert F. Speer, president of the Board of Trustees of Princeton Theological seminary, widely known for his more than fifty years' active work with the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, was a recent speaker at the First Presbyterian church, Spokane, to a large audience of laymen, clergy, and students.

A white-haired man of seventy-five, Dr. Speer is impressive in his simple dignity. Using no notes, standing erect behind the pulpit, he spoke directly from his heart to the hearts of his listeners, who maintained an intensely interested reverent attitude throughout. His message, "The Christian Church in These Times," was a fervent plea for a renewal of dedication to Jesus Christ of individuals in the Christian church.

Dr. Speer is fundamental in Christian doctrine, and fearless in his preaching. His handshake is firm. Within his eyes burns brightly the fire of divine guidance. Here is a man whose character has many facets—even that of humor, which more than once made his message clearer—and each facet reflects the glory of God in Jesus Christ.

To estimate the value of this man to the church would be impossible. He has lived a long life; at twenty-three he was graduated from Princeton Theological seminary and since that time, in addition to holding other offices, he has been moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church and secretary of the Board of Foreign missions of the same church. He is also known in the literary field.

Here, truly, is a grand old man— young in spirit; a man of God, whom it is a blessing to hear and with whom it is a great joy to speak.

and accessories add spice to your ensemble, beware (and heaven forbid) of mixing too much and not matching! It can be done, you know.

And you just can't help noticing those brown military shoes worn by JACK STARRETT. Nice leather, there. Nice shine.

Besides bringing the worms out of the ground, the rain was the incentive for some neat outfits which we saw this past week. First there was CAROL GARDNER'S reversible. Of green and brown block plaid with little red and yellow stripes, this coat has just plenty of dash.

The second item is a glass-tex jacket, which we saw wandering around the campus with SEICHI YAMADA inside. Despite the fact that the jacket looks as if it would be cold, Seichi declares it is extremely warm!

That KODALEN gal really laid 'em out in her white wool classic she wore the night of open-dorm. Which outfit plus red accessories definitely knocked them DIX-zy in the NOB.

—Penny Y-Y-Y's.

BLACKOUT IS SPOTLIGHT OF WOMEN'S OPEN DORM

Again Sefelo takes the spotlight with a unique and original "Open Dorm". As we opened the door to the gym ghostly apparitions (or were they Greeks?) swooped upon us and rushed us to our seats. Audrey Brault introduced the play, and Mary Elaine Dugan announced the arrival of those who are familiar faces on our campus, the men at least. The bright spot in "A Night in Ancient Greece" was the presence of Cleopatra alias Jeannette Strong.

As if the program and inspection of the girls weren't enough, a stormy night added to the atmosphere a blackout. Weren't those girls without candles the lucky ones though? Everyone will agree that this was Sefelo's most successfully carried out "Open Dorm," and the girls challenge the boys to do one better, (if they can)!

Whitworth Graduate Is Fellow-Passenger

Fellow passenger of Dr. Moweray Tate, Armistice Day speaker at Whitworth, was Miss Minnie Davis, a Whitworth graduate and missionary from Chung Jo in Korea, who also returned to America on the Gripsholm.

Dr. Tate spent the last six months of his ten years in Thailand in a Japanese internment camp, where he said he was not ill-treated though he and members of his group were not always comfortable. From there he was sent to Portuguese East Africa on a Japanese ship, where an exchange of 1500 Japanese prisoners of war took place. Dr. Tate returned to the United States on a neutral ship.

The Armistice Day speaker told Whitworth students that after the war missionary work will be greatly changed. Oriental supervisors have taken over missionary work in many places and are doing it very effectively. After the war, he said, Occidentals will probably serve in an advisory, rather than a supervisory, capacity.

C. E. INSTALLS STAFF: HAS MISSIONS PROGRAM

When the Christian Endeavor Society installed its officers this month, Jane Bovee, a past officer of the Seattle district Christian Endeavor, was in charge. The officers are: Roy Peringer, president; Loren Gothberg, vice-president; Betty Budd, secretary, and Hubert Hull, treasurer.

At the mid-weekly meeting the following night, Carl Blanford had charge of a panel discussion. The topic discussed was "Christian Life on a Christian Campus."

The last meeting to be held before Thanksgiving vacation was a missionary one, Sunday, November 22.

riders and seemingly with one accord headed toward the proctor's apartment.

At the doorway, all crowded in, faces strangely eager, expectant. Each man in turn, mouth watering, received a white paper napkin, nestling in the folds of which was a sizzling hot, large, luscious venison steak, fairly oozing with delicious goodness.

Dave Holmes supplied the steaks for this delightful evening feast. He and Professor Newcomb collaborated in cooking them in such a way as to bring out all the delectable flavor latent in choice venison.

Dave was one of seven dormitory students to go deer hunting recently. Six of the hunters were successful in their endeavor, Dave bringing back with him part of his prize. The other six were Grover ("Diz") Collins, Jim Collins, Bernard ("Nobby") Gwinn, Stan Gwinn, Phil Holmes, and Roy Peringer.

Anyway, on November 3, I had the pleasure of being informed that from then on, it was "Corporal Ludwig and you're in charge of quarters for the rest of the week"—so my sleep suffered a bit, but that is common here.

Tonight is choir practice, they want to get a choir started — tell Hoppy I'll be there—I'll miss singing the "Messiah" though.

Alumnus Heard Again in "Sylvia" of Student Days

Guest Speaker Quotes Flier on Attitude to Service of Men in Combat Duty

Surprise of the evening of Whitworth's Homecoming banquet, to which Christmas bells and candles welcomed alumni, faculty and students, Saturday, December 5, was the singing of two numbers by Chief Specialist Owen Picton, U.S.N. The second of these numbers, "Sylvia," was the last in which he was heard as a student at Whitworth College in 1933.

Guest speaker of the evening was Chaplain Thomas B. Richards, now stationed at Geiger Field. "We all grumble," observed Lieutenant Richards, "but it seems to me that a young flier in combat duty in the Hawaiian Islands put the feeling of service men into words when he said, 'I want you to know that whatever happens to me, it has been worthwhile'."

President Frank F. Warren turned his eyes to the future, inviting his Whitworth hearers to think in terms not of the night of December 5, 1942, or its tomorrow, but in terms of the decades that lie ahead.

Alumni roll call, taken by Association President Werner Rosenquist, revealed many gaps in attendance due to service and transportation obstacles. Mr. Rosenquist also responded to

WHITWORTH BARITONE TO ATTEND NATIONAL MEET

"We got a pal in Kalamazoo" will be Whitworth's theme song December 28-31, when Bob Johnson goes to the National Council of Baptist Youth Fellowship in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Johnson, according to Gordon D. Forbes, Seattle, director of the Washington Commission of Christian Education, is to be one of two Washington delegates.

Well-known as a Spokane baritone, Bob Johnson was chosen for his outstanding work in the church where he was president of the Young People's Fellowship for the past three years.

While in Chicago, Johnson will be the guest of his cousin, Thomas Warren.

Whitworth Has White Homecoming

Thousands of people all over the nation are dreaming of a "White Christmas," but Whitworthians, past and present, may now dream of a white Homecoming — which they got in abundance.

Friday morning started out like any other day, but by mid-afternoon students and alumni were running—not walking—to the nearest entrance to avoid being buried in snow. All Friday night and Saturday the season's first real snowfall continued, and by Saturday night those attending the banquet were stepping high and handsome to avoid the drifts. No winter weather casualties were reported and the snow did add that certain something to the atmosphere; so all in all this Homecoming—from the weatherman's standpoint—was a conspicuous success.

Music of Early Church Is Heard at Whitworth

Music of the early church, including that of Bach, was heard at Whitworth, Friday, December 11, when organ students and students in the class of history of music appeared in an afternoon lecture-recital under the direction of Mrs. Anne Carrel.

Students participating in the recital were: Betty Ann Douglass, Carol Gardner, Helen Hartley, Frances Hathaway, Virginia Huffman, Marjorie Klein, Isabelle Mise, Merlyn Philo, Robert Shreve, Joyce Warren and Dale Williams. Sam Smith acted as co-ordinator.

COLLEGE HAS FIRST EXHIBIT OF CHRISTMAS IN ART OF PAINTING

This week before Christmas, Whitworthians are again indebted to Mrs. Carrel—this time for the exhibit in MacMillan showing the development of Christmas in the art of painting as set forth by the great masters from the twelfth to the sixteenth centuries.

GRAVES HALL TO HOUSE COMMONS WITH STORE

Hear ye! Hear ye! All the students who haven't noticed the ground-floor of the gym. After you do read this description you will probably want to "hotfoot" it right over there and take a peep at the place where you are likely to be spending much of your time.

Everyone of you around the campus is by this time pretty well acquainted with the outside of the new auditorium-gymnasium and with its playing floor, but fewer of you, perhaps, know what the ground-floor has to offer. Do you know that downstairs there will be a Commons? — and close by, the Concessions? — a Publications office? — another for the custodian? — four rooms in which to practice music?

The students who enjoy sports will be interested to know that on this floor will be showers and lockers for both men and women, and that one room has been set aside for boxing and wrestling.

1942 "Messiah" Is Given First in City Church

College Choir Will Present Famous Oratorio for Seventh Consecutive Year

For the seventh consecutive year Whitworth College Choir will present as its Christmas offering Handel's famous oratorio, the Messiah. This year it will be heard on Sunday, December 13, under the direction of Mrs. Winifred McNair Hopkins, at the Swedish First Covenant Church.

Besides the "Hallelujah Chorus" and other well-known selections from this "one of the greatest religious works of all time," Whitworth's 1942 choir will feature two less familiar numbers, "Let All the Angels of God Worship Him," and "All We Like Sheep Have Gone Astray."

Sam Smith, baritone; Louis Messer, tenor; and Betty Ann Douglass, contralto; will be heard in solo parts, as will also Jeanette Strong and Gwendolyn Lobdell, sopranos. Merlyn Philo and Isabel Mise will accompany the choir.

STARS ON SERVICE FLAG NOW NUMBER FORTY-FIVE

The addition of eighteen stars to Whitworth's service flag makes the total now forty-five. This number indicates only the men who have joined since the Selective Service Act of 1940. The last star belongs to Wilfred Landrus, who entered the service less than a month ago.

"CHUCK" FRAZIER SPEAKS IN HOMECOMING CHAPEL

Mr. Charles Frazier, a member of the Alumni Association of Whitworth College, was the guest speaker for the Homecoming chapel service, Friday, December 4.

Mr. Frazier, known to many on the Whitworth campus as "Chuck," spoke about the necessity of an education after the war. He pointed out that students should now remain in college as long as possible, taking subjects that will be helpful in the war effort.

Mr. Frazier is at present Secretary of the Y.M.C.A.

CHRISTMAS, 1942

Silent night! Holy night! Holy infant so tender and mild,
 All is calm, all is bright, Sleep in heavenly peace,
 Round yon virgin mother and Child! Sleep in heavenly peace.

Down in your heart when this carol is sung, don't you feel a deep peace? You search there for the reason of this peace and a chord is struck when you find that it comes from knowing that more than a thousand years ago a Saviour was born. With this thought in mind you know that Christmas doesn't mean just snowflakes, parties and presents. There wouldn't be a Christmas with just those material things. It has to be built on something deeper—faith in what's to come.

You have often heard it said, "In this time of war." Yes, more than ever in this time of war we need to have that faith. And isn't the best way to show the joy in your heart by singing? Singing Christmas Carols that are known the world over? This time of the year—now more than ever—you are given the chance to show God—to show the world—that you have this mighty faith.

RETROSPECT

December 12, 1941: Whitworth's new gymnasium moved out of the dream stage.

"A Painting for the Duchess" was the title of the Christmas play, presented December 18.

Dr. Frank F. Warren attended a convention of Presbyterian educators in California.

The outbreak of war, December 7, occasioned several articles on the war as it affected Whitworth, and the Whitworthian stated editorially: "... we are fighting against those forces of treachery which are opposed to the Christian way of life and to Christ's teaching of love and respect for all men, whatever their race may be."

Whitworth opened her basketball season by clipping the wings of Spokane Junior college, 38 to 29.

THIS QUARTER SYSTEM

Do you feel that the quarter system is robbing you of your Christmas? Though this is Whitworth's first trial of it, we find that most of the students feel that they are really regaining their Christmases. There will be no term papers due after the vacation and no finals to study for. When we come back we will be ready for the next quarter. We will start anew!

Learning by experience how the system works, we might find "boning" these last two weeks worthwhile after all!

ARPEGGIO

This week finds the Messiah under "Hoppy's" able direction well along in practices, with Louis Messex, tenor; Sam Smith, baritone; Betty Ann Douglass, contralto, and Gwendolyn Lobdell and Jeannette Strong, sopranos, taking the leading parts.

Two of Whitworth's music students are gaining prominent positions in Spokane's music circles by their work as choir directors—Merlyn Philo as music and choir director of the Hays

Park Methodist Church, and Jay Tomlinson as choir director of the Fourth Presbyterian.

We're looking forward with interest to the Bel Canto Winter Concert to be held in Lewis and Clark auditorium, December 12, under the direction of Francis Baxter. This annual event has been proven in past years to be one of the outstanding events on Spokane's winter music calendar.

Speaking of winter, Christmas is

THRIFTILY YOURS:

As this is the last issue of the Whitworthian till after Christmas, Penny Y-Y-Y's has expanded her column considerably to aid you in your gift shopping.

Christmas and finals—what more could any student ask? If you are not cramming like a maniac for that chemistry final, you are worrying about what to give Aunt Flossie and Uncle Jake. You have just typed the last period on that forty-eight-page term theme. You breathe for two minutes; then you remember Cousin Willie whose eccentricities give you the biggest headache when it comes to purchasing him a gift. Our suggestion would be a pair of Deer Paw gloves made by McGregor. Their backs are wool-knitted, which gives them extra warmth, and their palms are of leather. We would almost bank upon it that Willie would go wild upon receiving them. And we would not blame him.

Hickok makes a fine contribution to the gift list by offering cowhide leather belts and suspenders (not that he would ever need the latter!) These are hand tooled with a Western embossed design. For Dad there is the just around the corner and along with it comes caroling. Carols having special significance in the month of December, we would like to suggest that carols (both the well-known and the ones not so well known but none-the-less beautiful) be substituted for the chapel hymns. And what about the carols of other lands? But we will leave that to the Modern Language department. We hear they are going to present the Christmas program.

If you're thinking of a Christmas present for a music-minded friend, why not a record? The music stores offer a great variety from which to choose. Outstanding are the two great Toscanini albums: Wagner's "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" and "Funeral March" with the N.B.C. symphony orchestra; and Brahms' "First Symphony." Both are by Victor. Special significance is attached to the Brahms, because it was made to celebrate Toscanini's seventy-fifth birthday.

For those who like their music a little lighter are the lilting melodies and waltzes in the Songs of Vienna album. Lotte Lehman sings them (Columbia). Another American classic which the average person would enjoy is Show Boat. Jerome Kern has made of it a "Scenario for Orchestra."

... And now that we're on the subject, why isn't it possible to have record-lending libraries? They would chapeau certificate. Saving time for you, it satisfies him because he can choose one to his own liking.

If you really feel in the flush you might give "him" a Jantzen sweater, something of which he definitely cannot have too many. There are also those bright Interwoven socks. One pair that hit us bang in the eye was of crimson red with a moose and fir tree design. To receive a pair of these would make any man's chest swell with pride.

If you are absolutely "stumped" as to what to give the-one-and-only in your life, why not come through with a Grayco tie rack? This is a really neat mechanism. There are eight bars, each bar designated by the proper tie color. On each bar is room for four or more ties. There is also a chart which suggests the fitting suit, shirt and cravat to be worn according to color. Quite an aid for the Joe who wants to look just so. Incidentally, from what we have heard, this rack is really theeeeeee thing as a skirt hanger.

Say, we saw just the gift for her—something she can not help but adore. Black velveteen mittens. There are two styles, those embroidered with flowers

THE DEAN SAYS:

Dear Students:

You, or your roommate, have probably been guilty of saying, "If I had only known, I should have done differently." Occasionally this may be true; nevertheless, many of your difficulties and problems could have been avoided had you taken into consideration that knowledge which you already possess.

It is hard to admit that we are in error or that we should have known better. Our pride rebels. We "kid" ourselves into thinking that somehow things will turn out all right even though we refuse to face the problem squarely. Thinking you would like a square meal will not in itself earn you one. Nor will thinking that you would like a strong body without putting forth the necessary effort to obtain one, make you an athlete. Merely thinking that you would like to be kind, gentle, or successful will not in itself bring about the desired traits. One has said, "The arrows of intention must have the bow of strong purpose to impel them."

Let a word to the wise be sufficient. We are now approaching the end of the first term.

Sincerely,
 MERTON D. MUNN.

HEAD OF SUNRISE HOME IS WHITWORTH'S GUEST

Having been in charge of the famous Sunrise Home for orphaned Japanese children near Kobe, Japan, for many years, Miss Irene Webster-Smith, a recent visitor to Whitworth's campus, was well equipped to speak with authority on her subject.

Miss Webster-Smith, a native of Dublin, Ireland, has received recognition from both the Japanese and British governments for her work; she has seen the orphanage grow from a meager beginning to an institute receiving world-wide recognition.

During World War I, Miss Webster-Smith served with Quaker ambulance units in France. Since her return from Japan three years ago she has resumed her work with the Friends committee, speaking at conferences, visiting Japanese camps for internees, and aiding in the re-location of Japanese in the United States.

Miss Webster-Smith has received reports that her orphanage buildings have been used as homes for working mothers and their children since the beginning of the war.

of different color yarns and those which are plain, trimmed only with peasant ribbon around the cuff. Scarves or head kerchiefs, whichever you may wish to call them, are extremely colorful this year. These would make a perfect gift for the girl who has a flare for color. From rough-woven woolens to tissue-thin chiffons, they may be obtained in any design. The ones that pleased us particularly were the Paisleys which were made in Switzerland. These are terribly gay, being of true greens, blues and reds.

On the novelty side we saw some clever little wooden pins, which would make a niftie little giftie if she's a fiend for costume jewelry. The cutest we think are the calves' heads which

CURRENT BOOKS TO BE AVAILABLE ON COLLEGE RENTAL LIBRARY BOOKSHELF

Introducing Whitworth's new rental library—to be located at the desk of the library room. Mrs. Gustafson, librarian, will be in charge.

Books were chosen from the titles suggested by students and faculty and on the basis of their popularity in book reviews and downtown rental libraries.

The collection of current fiction and non-fiction includes:

See Here, Private Hargrove	Marion Hargrove
Cross Creek	Marjorie K. Rawlings
Our Hearts Were Young and Gay	Cornelia Otis Skinner
Golden Fleece	Hughie Call
The World at My Fingertips	Karsten Ohnstead
The Robe	Lloyd C. Douglass
My World—and Welcome to It	James Thurber
The Valley of Decision	Marcia Davenport
Hostages	Stefan Heym
Tacey Cromwell	Conrad Richter
From the Land of Silent People	Robert St. John
And Keep Your Powder Dry	Margaret Mead
They Were Expendable	W. L. White
The Seventh Cross	Anna Seghers
Victory Through Air Power	Major A. P. deSeversky

are complete with the short shaggy forelock and bell.

We would hate to think what Christmas would be like without slippers. These good old standbys definitely have their hey-day during this time of the year. Joyce, famous craftsman of shoes, offers two outstanding pairs, each making an ideal gift in itself. One pair is the "balalaika." Of black velveteen, these are lined with bright red and white polka dot material. A merry little yarn boy is on the left foot, a yellow yarn-haired girl on the right. Cute? You just bet your boots they are! The other attractive deal is the imitation leopard mule. Just two bands of leopard speckled fabric crossed on the front of the foot make up this scuff.

"Glow worm" is the name of the black velveteen scuff, which is banded in white, the white shining in the dark. Definitely original, these we would recommend for the girl who loves the unusual.

And for that ice-skating friend there are ice-skating clamps, which when fastened on the skate enable the skater to walk across floors. A gift that would really be appreciated, we are "a thinkin'."

But before we leave off, we must mention some of the glamour rags that we saw at that big affair held you-know-when-and-where. The place was literally seething with big orchids, little orchids, medium-sized orchids, white orchids and purple orchids. Among those whom we saw (with or without orchids) were: Jo Jameson and Jeanette Strong, both wearing sequin skull caps; Della Specker in black and white plaid taffeta; June Jensen in dusky pink taffeta; Bobbee Judd in white lace; Helen Ghornley wearing a deep rose skirt, white jersey blouse and a white quilted jacket; Kay Sanborn in aqua taffeta, with tiny chenille designs; Marion Ruby in rose jersey; Eleanor Hook in striking teal bengaline and velveteen, and Lillian Stokes in an off-shoulder model. Just to mention a few.

  - Audrey Brault—Mike Davis
  - Gwen Lobdell—Bob Lee
  - Joyce Warren—Jack Starrett
  - Sally Schmidt—Dave Thorndike
  - Izzy McNeely—Don McInturf
  - Ellen Jones—Gerald Klein
  - Margaret Skeels—Loren Gothberg
  - Florence Reynolds—Frank Burgess
  - Marion Wall—Hubert Hull
  - Joe and Charlotte
- Just imagine!!!!

The big question in McMillan Hall after the corsages arrived—"Who has a date with Don Schmirler?"

Our pick of the most handsome couples:

- Virginia Huffman—Dave Holmes
- Una Scott—Bob Johnson
- Ellen Jones—Jim Collins
- Ruth Barnes—Bill Schlauch
- Mr. and Mrs. Werner Rosenquist
- Joe and Charlotte

For school spirit and enthusiasm it takes Byquist and the band!

Gripe-of-the-week-Dept.: We especially do not like the way the boys waited until Friday and Saturday to get their dates for Homecoming.

operate as book-lending libraries do, on a deposit and rental-fee basis. But, while you need two or three days to devour a current best-seller, you could borrow the latest record album for the evening only and thus music could be kept in circulation on a comparatively small stock of records. According to reports this has been done very successfully in some of the Eastern colleges and also in England, where shellac from which records are made is served in shells rather than Schubert.

After talking with people in several Spokane music stores, we find that Spokane too is to have a record rental library.

Encore of the week — to Whitworth's Star Dusters—Lorraine Kitt; Gwen Lobdell, and Joyce Warren, with their accompanist, Marjorie Klein, for their appearance at the Homecoming banquet.

Until next year—keep singing—and may all your Christmasses be merry.

And then there is always Hoppy standing at the door announcing, "Chorus rehearsal tomorrow at 4:15 —promptly!"

Boy, did Heeter ever make a three-point landing in chapel the other day!

Isn't it a good thing that Thanksgiving vacation lasted only four days? —so that we didn't lose too much sleep or get too much studying done?

Congrats to Herr Bachimont for becoming a father so unobtrusively.

Hats-Off Dept.: This week our hats are off to the whole student body for the swell school spirit they showed at the games. Nice going, peoples. It helps the team a lot!

HOME ECONOMICS GROUP VISITS HOSPITAL KITCHEN

That a hospital dietician has other duties besides planning the meals was learned by a group of Home Economics students under the direction of Miss Mary Boppell, when they toured the dietetics kitchen of the Deaconess Hospital, Tuesday, November 24. Leading the tour was Miss Stein, head dietician of the hospital.

Among interesting facts the students noted were these: all pastries and breads are baked in the hospital; vegetables, fruits and meats are ordered daily; and no meal is repeated.

After the tour Miss Steien talked to the girls about the dietetics profession. She explained that all prospective dieticians must complete four years of college work, during which they should take the required courses in home economics and science. After the student has completed her college course, she must spend one year of internship in a hospital, preferably one with a good standing with the American Dietetics association.

LABORATORIES EMPLOY WHITWORTH BIOLOGISTS

Three women graduates of the Department of Biology have obtained good positions in creamery laboratories. The graduates are: Tami Nozaki, '41; Elinor Schell, '42, and Dolores Muench, '42.

Tami is with the Benewah Creamery, and Elinor with the Commercial Creamery in Spokane. Dolores is in Portland with Arden Farms, Inc.

The increasing tendency for creamery laboratories to expand is creating new opportunities for students who have an adequate background of bacteriology and chemistry. That this valuable background can certainly be gained here, the above is evidence.

NEW COURSES OFFERED FOR SECOND QUARTER

One of the new courses offered for next quarter that will be of special interest at this particular time is "American Democracy." In this will be studied the ideas men had of American democracy from colonial times to the present. Dr. Bowersox is the instructor.

Another course that is being offered for the first time at Whitworth is "The Theory of Acting." Part of the quarter will be spent in acting, and part in the study of the theory of acting.

English 10 (Journalism) is to be a 4-credit course. Both English 10 and English 55 (World Literature, second quarter) are open to freshmen who complete English I with a grade of A or B.

We are just wondering which, if any, of these first college dates will culminate in college romances.

ALUMNUS HEARD

Toastmaster Sam D. Smith's formal address of welcome to the alumni.

Music by the Star Dusters, Lorraine Kitt, Gwen Lobdell and Joyce Warren, all attired in black with orchids on their shoulders, added a festive note when they sang Irving Berlin's popular hit, "White Christmas."

Whitworth's ever-popular baritone, Bob Johnson, responded generously with an encore to his singing of "White Cliffs of Dover."

The Whitworth college band under the direction of Jay Tomlinson, opened the program with two selections, "At Your Command" and "Overture Sincerity."

The banquet was concluded with a minute's silence in recognition of former Whitworth students now in the various branches of the armed service, and after it, the singing of "Hail, Whitworth."

Hoopsters Meet Two Teams on Week-End Trip

Blodgett Chalks Up 15 Points of Pirate's 36; Steele and Brown Score 13

Whitworth's hoopsters depart on a two-day playing tour Friday, January 15. The Pirates, who last Saturday whipped the Eastern Washington college junior varsity team 36-27, will play the team from Ephrata air base Friday evening. From Ephrata, the team will travel via motor coach to Yakima, where they will be in combat with Yakima junior college Saturday night.

They expect to return to Whitworth Sunday evening.

In the game with the Cheney Jayvees, the Pirates in the first half built up a 23-7 lead by splitting the twine eight out of nineteen tries, and making five of six charity throws attempted. Whitworth maintained a lead throughout the entire game, though in the second half the Cheney score seemed to creep up menacingly for a time, but at the game's end, lacked nine points of Whitworth's tally, 36.

Sparking the Pirates was Bob Blodgett, who scored a total of 15 points during the game, while Don Steele and Al Brown scored seven and six counters respectively. Cheney's spur was Sperline, who led his team with 7 points.

W.A.A.'S INTER-CLASS CAGE TOURNEY PENDING

At the conclusion of the girls' basketball turnouts, which are now in their first week, an inter-class tournament will be held to determine the leading team. According to Marjorie Klein, W. A. A. activity manager, the three teams to be picked during the three weeks of turnouts will include a freshman, a sophomore, and a junior and senior team.

For participation in the nightly turnouts one hundred points are given toward the earning of a Whitworth letter or sweater. Five hundred points are required for a letter, nine hundred and fifty for a sweater.

Six Whitworth Upper Classmen Make National Who's Who Among Students

Six Whitworth students have been elected to membership in WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. Their names and biographies will appear in the 1942-43 edition of this book. Those chosen are Carl Blanford, Eleanor Hook, Dick Schwab, Margaret Skeels, Sam Smith, and Jack Starrett.

Qualifications for this honor are character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society. Only juniors and seniors are eligible.

The six chosen from Whitworth for this year have been very active in campus affairs.

The first edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS was published in 1935. Its purpose is to create a means of national recognition for deserving students that is free and impartial. In 1942 there were 650 colleges listed, represented by the best of the students there. WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS also offers the free services of its placement bureau to those accepted for its listings. This service has placed many graduates in good positions, and it is used by personnel directors of business firms who are desirous of securing the best employees.

Army Reservists Prepared for Call at Quarter's End

Students in All Other Enlisted Branches Reasonably Sure of Finishing Year

Students in all the enlisted branches except those in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps are now reasonably assured of remaining in college until the end of the year, according to latest information received by Dr. Schlauch. Those in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps will not be called before the end of this winter quarter, and the army has not stated definitely that they will be called then. Students in the various reserve programs are:

Marine Corps Reserve: Lewis Cecil Messex, James Algot Peterson, and Paul Eugene Walther.

Army Air Corps Reserve: Hobart Jenkins and Ray Roestel.

Naval Reserve, V-7: Richard Byquist, Paul Grams, Paul Joseph Merkel, Bob Savage, Everett Scott, Sam Smith, David Thorndike, and Don Woods.

Naval Reserve, V-1: Frank Russell Burgess, James Millard Collins, Maurice Michael Davis, John Parrish Frost, Amon Lyman Groves, Stanley Milton Gwinn, Donald Edward Henker, Thomas Alfred Jones, Harry Harper Ladd, Robert Joseph McGrath, Keith Graham Medley, Robert Lawrence Paeth, William John Paeth, George William Rodkey, William Herman Schlauch, Donald Ernest Steele, and Harold Wimpy.

Army Enlisted Reserve Corps: Robert Blodgett, Bob Brask, Glen Brinsken, Vernon Forkner, Lawrence Forland, Loren Gothberg, Robert E. Lee, Marvin Moos, Merlyn Philo, Russell Rosencranz, Richard Schwab, Robert Shreve, and Jay Tomlinson.

WHITWORTH WELCOMES MRS. OAKES TO CAMPUS

Another very congenial member was added to the great Whitworth campus family recently with the coming to the college of Mrs. J. L. Oakes, wife of the Bursar.

Mrs. Oakes arrived here December 21 after a 3160-mile trip from Rochester, New York, where she and Mr. Oakes resided previous to his joining the Whitworth staff.

Now that everyone is back from vacation and all caught up on sleep again, maybe we can settle down to studying as we did last quarter.

FUZZ BLODGETT is certainly doing a thorough job of showing the new girls Whitworth at its best—and we don't mean MAURIE DAVIS!

It's perpetual Open Dorm season in MERLE WOOD'S and BRUCE FINLAYSON'S room—that is, at least until they get a lock on their door or else put up a sign, "THIS IS NOT THE PUBLICATIONS ROOM!"

You'd think that sooner or later MISS JENKINS would learn that you can't play "owl" with that fountain.

Right now, RUTH BARNES could just about qualify for the "Junior Zombie Club" with that "evil eye." She didn't get it from a door—but at least it was WOOD!

Hats Off Dept.: This week our hats are off to MISS BALDWIN for being so cheerful about having to put up with all the beefing that seems prevalent in her office all the time. We appreciate a good sport, MISS B.

BAMBI and his little forest friends (well, anyway us Jungle rats) were certainly plenty fagged after that marathon, alias a treasure hunt, last Friday night.

FLASH! FLASH! We also make note of the fact that the MOOS-McKAY combination wasn't allowed to rust during the brief separation! There's nothing like a little oil to keep things perking!

Our New Couple Dept.: IVANOFF and HOLMES, HUFFMAN and RODKEY, ROBISON and BLODGETT, McNEELY and FINLAYSON, TEA and CRUMPETS.

Song Dedication of the Week: "Serenade in Blue," dedicated to 21-year-old-this-week BOB McGRATH and his thigh-length baby-blue sox.

—And then there were a few of us who were lucky to make straight D's (trying to make it a D this quarter) and hope to make it through by 1945, 46, 47, 76—We've got the spirit!

Well, folks, this is it for another week. Your scandal reporters are now departing for the new room that has been fixed especially for us. It has the nicest, softest walls—and no furniture. Say, who are these people in white floating around here? Hal Hal we know—the waitresses!

NEW QUARTER — NEW YEAR

Dear Students:

The beginning of something is always refreshing because it carries with it new resolve and determination. Just now we have two things in mind—the new year and a new quarter of school.

Some laugh at those who make resolutions. "You can't keep them anyway," they tell us. This, I know, has been too often the case. Yet, the progress of the world has been because someone has resolved to make it different. The great inventions have been developed because man determined to solve a problem. Some of these have not been resolves for a year or for a quarter but for a life time. Today we are prone to think in terms of speed and too often our work is poorly done.

Resolve, determine—not only for today but for a life time; then you too may help build a great America and make the path easier for those who will follow. Some of you may want first to "wipe the slate clean." Do so if needed, but do not stop there. Begin to write only the best things in life.

What shall I resolve for my life? Here are a few suggestions:

1. Resolve to be considerate toward all.
2. Resolve to be tolerant and offer only constructive criticism.
3. Resolve to work harder than ever before at your school work and other assigned tasks.
4. Resolve to let no unkind word pass your lips during the year 1943.
5. Resolve to kindle courage and good humor wherever you go.
6. Resolve to take God completely into your life. E. Stanley Jones says, "Put your hand in the hand of God as you start the new year. Then the new year will be a fresh adventure every morning and a quiet benediction every night. You will be alive in every portion of your being. You will be aware of God and man."

Sincerely yours,

MERTON D. MUNN.

THRIFTILY YOURS

Riding our scooter around Whitworth campus we saw quite a few outstanding sweaters. Take a look the next time you're around at Eugenia Ivanoff's. It's a dream of pale green wool, slip-on with long sleeves and with it she wears a brown skirt and brown wooden jewelry. The very first candidate for an all-corduroy wardrobe was Lillian Stokes' pair of super-duper reversible mittens—brown with red, first name in red on one mitten and last name on the other. By the way, her mother made them. Aren't mothers perfect?

Second candidate is Doris Beck's brown pinwale corduroy gathered skirt with patch pockets. Doris, a newcomer on our campus, also made her own.

Plaids are appearing again. Have you noticed lately how some of the boys are blossoming out in new plaid shirts? To mention a few—Jack Starrett's is red and blue with gray predominating, while Keith Medley's is green and red. Paul Merkel sports a red, green, and blue number to German class. WOW! did our eyes bulge?

Prexy Conference Bound Addresses Wheaton En Route

Fifty-Three of Presbyterian College Presidents Get Together in Chicago

Highlight of the eastern trip of Dr. Warren, who left Monday, January 25, for Chicago and points east, will be his attendance at the Presbyterian College Union meeting of 53 Presbyterian college presidents in Chicago. The meeting will be held February 8-9.

Dr. Warren spoke at the annual Kellogg Y. M. C. A. meeting January 25, and left the next day for Chicago. On his way he was guest speaker at Wheaton college. During his visit in Chicago he is staying with his sister, Mrs. Alice Quall, whose husband is dean of men at Greenville college, Greenville, Illinois.

Following the visit in Chicago, President Warren will leave for Baltimore to visit a brother; then go on to Philadelphia, February 2, and to New York, February 3, to visit another brother, who is pastor of the West End Presbyterian church in New York. February 7, Dr. Warren will speak at the Second Presbyterian church in Butler, Pennsylvania, one of the churches which supports Whitworth.

Dr. Warren will be back on the campus Friday, February 12.

PHILADELPHIANS PLAN MEETING FEBRUARY 2

Philadelphians, club of young men preparing for full-time Christian service, will hold a fellowship meeting February 2, at the home of Donald Lantz.

The club is preparing for a very active year under the leadership of Merle Wood, president; Kenneth Monette, vice-president; and George Van Leuven, secretary-treasurer.

Members having definite charges are Carl Blanford, Coulee City Presbyterian; Lyle Bramblet, Asotin Presbyterian; Donald Lantz, Valleyford Evangelical; Quentin Leisher, Fourth Avenue Methodist; Lewis McConnell, Rathdrum Methodist; George Van Leuven, Sunset Presbyterian; and Merle Wood, Post Falls Community.

Other Philadelphian members are Frank Burgess, Euell Fulkerson, Bob Johnson, and Kenneth Monette.

Alpha Chi's Initiates "Assume the Angle"

"Assume the angle, WORM!" Whack—Hack—! And a whacking good time was had by all as twenty of the twenty-one "worms" of Alpha Chi gathered recently for the long postponed initiation. Though all but two of the initiates were here last quarter, none of them had yet gone through the "formal installation" into their happy home.

At 8:00 o'clock in the evening the lowly worms courageously descended to the rumpus room of the men's dorm. Censored . . .

Two hours later, having been "warmly" (or "wormly," heh, heh) welcomed into the Alpha Chi family, the boys returned to the reception room upstairs to climax the evening with refreshments of cakes, cookies, and cokes.

The "worms" of the evening were: Hull, Rosenkrantz, Wallace, D. Williams, Yamada, Forkner, Fulkerson, Medley, R. Paeth, W. Paeth, Blodgett, Forland, Davis, Shreve, G. Collins, B. Gwinn, Moos, Scott, Anderson, and Heeter. "Worm" Franz could not be found.

PIRETTES ON PARADE

Every Tuesday is sweater day for the fourteen Pirettes, four of whom are wearing sweaters that have already seen their share of Tuesdays. Betty Ann Douglas, Virginia Hodge, Marjorie Klein, and Selma Schmidt are the four, and their sweaters belonged to former Pirette members Evelyn Olmstead, Helen Carlson, Marion Wall, and Margie Boughton, respectively.

Scholarship and leadership determine membership in the Pirettes, an organization which has been outstanding on Whitworth's campus for 11 years. Among the activities sponsored by the Pirettes are the reception of new students, selling candy at games, and the presentation of the Pirette Inspirational award. A tea for new girls has already been given this quarter; big and little sister week has come and gone, and Helen Ghormely has been officially installed as new president of the club.

Miss Ghormely, a native of Yakima, is one of the busiest students on the campus. Besides holding the office in the Pirettes, she is president of the Life Service organization, and active in Christian Endeavor. As for hobbies, Helen lists sports of all kinds.

FIRST DRAMATIC PRODUCTION IN GYMNASIUM DOUBLE FEATURE

WRITES for WHITWORTHIAN

Dr. Schlauch's column, "Know Your Library," will appear regularly on page two.

"HEART SISTER WEEK" HAS NOTE OF MYSTERY

February 8-12 has been designated as "Heart Sister Week" for the girls of Sefelo. At the beginning of the week names are drawn, and each girl in the dormitory organization has a "heart sister," for whom she does something thoughtful during the day.

At a party which is given the last evening, each girl makes a valentine, enclosing a snapshot of herself. In this way the identity of the "heart sister" is revealed when the valentines are distributed.

E. STANLEY JONES IN CITY FOR FIRST TIME

The Rev. Dr. E. Stanley Jones, world-famous African missionary and author, will conduct meetings in Spokane for three days, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, February 7, 8, and 9. This is the missionary's first visit to Spokane, and he is coming under the auspices of the Spokane Council of Churches and Christian Education.

While in Spokane Dr. Jones will speak at four great public meetings at the armory. These will be held Sunday at 3 and 7:30 p. m., and Monday at 2 and 7:30 p. m. The meetings on Tuesday will be for educational groups.

Music, Speech Groups Work on "Trial by Jury" and "A Night at an Inn"

Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "Trial by Jury," and Lord Dunsay's one-act play, "A Night at an Inn," will be the double feature when the music and speech departments collaborate for the first dramatic performance of the year in the new gymnasium. The tentative date is February 13.

"Trial by Jury," the first operetta written by the famous Gilbert and Sullivan team, takes place in court where the dapper defendant is charged with loving two women. The delightful plot and lilting tunes have made it one of their best known operettas. A chorus of forty, accompanied by two pianos, with Mrs. Winifred McNair Hopkins directing, will sing the performance.

"A Night at an Inn," the second part of the evening's program under the direction of Professor Stanley Newcomb, is the story of four English sailors who steal the ruby eye of an Indian idol. Dramatic climax of the play comes when the priests having failed to return the ruby, Klesh, the god, retrieves it himself.

MODERATOR TALKS AT CHAPEL HOUR TODAY

Stuart Nye Hutchison, D. D., moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in America, is scheduled to address Whitworth College faculty and students in chapel today.

Dr. Hutchison will speak at the First Presbyterian church of Spokane, Friday evening at 7:30, when the combined Presbyterian choirs of Spokane and vicinity will sing.

The great East Liberty church of Pittsburgh is the present pastorate of Dr. Hutchison, who went there in 1921. This church, the finest Presbyterian edifice in America, was erected through the efforts of the late Andrew Mellon.

Author of many books of which HOLY GROUND is his latest, Dr. Hutchison has had a wide background of education. He was graduated from Lafayette College in 1900, and from Princeton Theological seminary in 1903. Thereafter he studied at Hamp-

WHAT IS YOUR OUTLOOK?

We cannot plan for ourselves what we would like to do, for these are days when we are told what we must do.

A period of war usually brings about a great many cultural changes, and even methods and ideologies are discarded in favor of new ones to meet the crisis. But in war or in peace, other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ.

There are students at Whitworth attempting to lay foundations of formal education, moral living, or rationalistic explanations of existing things. These are important and desirable stones in the building but they are unsatisfactory bases upon which to build human lives. The man who seeks to lay a solid foundation for his life will find his need met when he experiences the intimate friendship of Jesus Christ.

With the Saviour in his heart, an individual has a confidence which lifts him above the uncertainties of the present day and enables him to live calmly in a time when idols of the world fail and men who have trusted their own intellects are in despair. Moreover, he who places his trust in Jesus has a hope that does not fade away, but which is reserved in heaven.

Are you facing the future with your life founded upon the Saviour of men, the Son of God? —Carl Blanford.

KNOW YOUR LIBRARY—KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

Beginning with the current issue, the Whitworthian offers to its readers a new feature, "Know Your Library." The writer needs no introduction to Whitworthians. As sponsor of the International Relations club, Dr. Schlauch has been a consistent advocate of the "Know Your Neighbor" policy.

Another campus advocate of the same policy is Mrs. Anna J. Carrel, whose current graphic presentation of facts about the Argentine Republic is to be followed by a similar contribution on Brazil.

The Dean Says ~

Dear Students:

Life's road is paved with good intentions. I have come to realize through my contacts with many students that this is far too often the case. Recently I talked at length with a young man concerning one of his problems. The matter seemed settled and he had arrived at a course of action best for him under the circumstances, but it was never carried out. Why, I do not know.

Yet isn't this very thing too often true in your life? As you have talked to someone or even taken time to meditate by yourself, you have felt definitely the course of action that you should follow. You have even said, "I will do it." But somehow or somewhere you have failed to follow up that good intention. We suffer in many different ways by not following these intentions—by putting off—by waiting for a convenient season. Read the following on "Good Intentions" thoughtfully:

den-Sidney. He is a trustee of both Princeton and Western Theological seminaries, and of Lafayette, Wilson, and Grove City colleges.

"The things you do, whether good or bad, will bring you praise or blame. You will make your record yourself to give you a feeling of pride or shame. Your record will stand by the things you start, or the things you carry through, but you'll get neither praise nor blame for the things you meant to do.

"No matter how good your intentions are, the question is 'What have you done?' And it will be put at the end to you as it is to everyone. Perhaps there will be more praise than blame for you when your short life is through, but you'll never get any credit at all for the things you meant to do."

BOARD MEMBER ROBERT JOHNSON ATTENDS MEET

Bob Johnson attended the board meeting of the Washington Baptist Young People's Federation at First Baptist church in Tacoma, January 22 and 23.

The program, under the leadership of Gordon Forbes, director of Christian Education, Seattle, included plans for the Baptist convention to be held at Seattle in March.

S. K. E. All At Sea!

Dear Assembled Multitude:

Betimes I have been writing extravaganzas to certain former "assemblies." Of course you must realize it is much easier to write directly to personalities. But on this even I have suddenly been inspired to write to those whom I have known as a group and those that I don't know but should like to.

For the first fall in 17 years I started out by not attending school, and it was a little hard to become adjusted to at first. (The reader will realize that the author did not spend all 17 years at Whitworth College.)

The reason I have been inspired tonight is the receipt of not one, but two personal letters from President Samuel Smythe. Now in one of these epistles I was asked: "If you feel literary minded, drop a line to the Whitworthian editor. In that way we can all share your experiences."

Thus it is that I begin.

By now most of you should have heard of the British "Gremlins," or little people. It so happens that I had an account with a small trollish gentleman; not a Gremlin, but, as he told me, a Pjeelikim, whose name was Ralph.

Ralph's main interest in life was skimming over the waves in skimmers, (skimmers are long, pointed, wooden boat-like shoes worn by Pjeelikims for skinning purposes) and stirring up the crests of waves to make them foamy.

My first encounter with Ralph was one early morning before going on watch. I awoke to see a small sea-green figure with a rakish bonnet and a phosphorescent glow sitting on my left great toe. Never having spoken to a Pjeelikim before, I asked him if he spoke English and he told me his name was Ralph. His spirits seemed so dampened, which may have been partly due to sea water, that I asked him to tell me his troubles, and he replied, "I am a Pjeelikim and my name is Ralph." This was the first I knew that he was a Pjeelikim. Further questions brought the same reply and I decided that aside from fish talk this must be the only English he knew. I was about to try a new approach when he quite disappeared without ever a drop of water or piece of seaweed.

The next night he came again at precisely the same time.

Because of our implication in the war, the magazine ASIA has more significance for American readers than ever before. Its editors have recognized this fact in renaming it, for now it is called ASIA AND THE AMERICAS. The January number has much that should challenge the interest of every thinking person.

REPEAL CHINESE EXCLUSION NOW is the title of one editorial. The editor recommends that we cease to insult and humiliate our allies, the Chinese, by refusing to allow them to come into the United States on the quota basis that applies to Europeans.

In FIGHTING A WHITE MAN'S WAR, Eliot Janeway suggests the importance of doing all that we can to mobilize the support both of the Chinese and of the Negroes within our borders in winning the war. Japan, always quick to seize any argument, is using against the whites the argument that we do not treat men of other races as equals. She is using every possible argument to make this war of the Pacific one between the whites and the darker-skinned races. We must convince our allies that they have a real stake in American victory.

The miracles of the Russian armies are explained in part in THE SOVIET PEOPLE'S ARMY, which tells how soldier morale is held to so high a point in spite of repeated defeat; how the "winterizing" of Russian equipment is accomplished, and how the Russians meet the tactics and tricks of the Germans with new tactics and new tricks. The propaganda of the Russians in the German armies shows ingenuity of the highest order.

WHY THE ARABS ARE NEUTRAL is a keen analysis of the problems of the United Nations in enlisting the support of the Arabs in Iraq, that country so rich in oil, and so valuable a prize. The Germans are strongly entrenched in the minds of many Arabs, and they have capitalized on the unfriendly attitude of the

In one of the best games seen in the new gym, Whitworth's Pirates defeated an independent team from Farragut last Friday night by a score of 47 to 33. Merkel was high-point man for Whitworth with 13 points.

Saturday night the Pirates played a bang-up game against Gonzaga, and until the final whistle the outcome was not certain. Gonzaga finally won by a score of 41 to 38. Blodgett was high-point man for the Pirates with 17, and Lewis for Gonzaga with 10.

natives toward the British colonial policy. The author, born and educated in Baghdad, believes that the United States alone can convince the Arabs that this is not an imperialistic war, but that there is still a gigantic job to be done before Arab sympathies can be won over to the cause of the United Nations.

It seems that our task of winning the war is being made more difficult through the thoughtlessness and shortsightedness of the motion-picture producers. Ill-will among other nationals is being sown through wrong characterizations of Negroes, Indians, Chinese, Hindus, Russians, and Latin Americans. HOLLYWOOD AND MINORITIES gives several examples of such pictures. Today more than ever we need to understand our allies and overcome that ignorance and intolerance which stands as an obstacle to the world of tomorrow.

JAYVEE BASKETBALLERS KEEP HEAVY SCHEDULE

The Whitworth junior varsity basketball team is playing a heavy schedule of games in the Spokane church league. Coached by Everett Scott, the team plays games on Wednesdays and Saturdays at the Y. M. C. A. The church teams are divided into leagues, and three games are played every Wednesday and Saturday at 7, 8, and 9 o'clock.

So far the boys have played games with Northwestern Business college, the Navy pre-flight trainees, and with the Japanese Methodist and the Fourth Presbyterian churches. Games are scheduled with St. Paul's Methodist, Knox Presbyterian, Japanese Methodist, and a team from the Church of the Latter Day Saints.

Those turning out for jayvee basketball include Jim Collins, Maurie Davis, Stan Gwinn, Dave Holmes, Marvin Moos, George Rodkey, Dick Schwab, Sam Smith and Seiichi Yamada.

SECOND PRESENTATION OF MESSIAH BY CHOIR

Whitworth college choir, under the direction of Winifred McNair Hopkins, presented selections from "The Messiah," January 24, at First Presbyterian church.

Soloists of the evening were: Jeanette Strong, soprano; Louis Messix, tenor; and Sam Smith, baritone.

Selections included "Let Us Break Their Bonds Asunder," "Their Sound Has Gone Out Into All Lands," and "And He Shall Purify."

Following the program students participated in a social hour for service men.

HOME FURNISHERS RE-MAKE OLD, MAKE NEW

Making new articles for home and room decoration and making over old ones will play a major part in the schedule of this quarter's home furnishing course, one which is offered every two years by the home economics department.

With a total requirement of sixteen hours of outside preparation for this subject, the class members are permitted to work on any problem they choose and may plan their own working hours. A large variety of projects have been undertaken, including the almost complete furnishing of a dormitory room for one of the new women students. To fill other needs, one member is working on a needle-point picture and frame, another is making book-ends, and still another is making over a rocking-chair.

Probably the biggest project attempted by a home furnishing class was the one in the spring of 1938 when the new home economics building was furnished by class members. This year's class includes: Ruth Baldwin, Ruth Barnes, Audrey Brault, Mary Elaine Dugan, Charlotte Hanson, Isabelle McNeely, Ruth Meyer, and Florence Reynolds.

Dr. Jesse Hays Baird Leads in Spiritual Emphasis Week

By President Warren

Students and faculty will long remember the week of February 14th. For a long period of time plans had been made for the coming of Dr. Baird, President of San Francisco Theological Seminary. When he came, he came "in the fullness of the Spirit." His ministry has been rich beyond expression. Out of a full, great life of service to God he brought to our campus spiritual riches of incomparable worth. Now it is easily understood why he holds a unique place of leadership not only in the West but throughout the denomination. He is a man of God whose beliefs are well-grounded and strong. During this gracious week the Word was expounded with clarity and force which gripped both students and faculty members. In the morning chapel services Dr. Baird spoke on the great Christian beliefs. It would be hard to understand how anyone could go through these great services without

SUMMER SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENT

There has been a question in the minds of some as to the advisability of having a summer school session this year. Because of the desire of hospitals that the entering classes have a background of science courses and for the sake of those who are accelerating their college course, the administration announces that summer school will begin JUNE 22 and will be a six weeks session terminating JULY 31st. It will be possible in this time to complete ten quarter hours of work. Announcements will be made in the near future as to the courses available. If you are interested in living on the campus of Whitworth during these six weeks and continuing your college education, write Dr. G. H. Schlauch, director of summer school.

PROFESSOR MARK KOEHLER TO HEAD BIBLE DEPARTMENT

It is with a sense of deep satisfaction that the administration announces the appointment of the Rev. Mark Koehler, '37, B.D., M.A., Th.M., to become full-time teacher of Bible, Head of the Department, and Director of Religious Activities on the campus. Professor Koehler comes splendidly prepared for this important position. Since he is the son of beloved Dr. and Mrs. Charles F. Koehler, it was but natural that he should take his collegiate work at Whitworth. While in college he was active in every phase of college life and was an outstanding leader in music, athletics and student activities. While at Whitworth he met Clara Belle Braden, who now comes back to the campus as Mrs. Koehler. Upon his graduation Mr. Koehler enrolled at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, graduating in 1940 with high honors. He was awarded a scholarship for further study which

DR. J. W. COUNTERMINE RESIGNS AS HEAD OF THE BIBLE DEPARTMENT

Fifteen years ago Dr. Countermine came to Whitworth as teacher of Bible. During this long span of service, he has given himself without reserve to the important work of teaching the Bible and of directing this, the most important of all departments in a Christian college. His has been the rich privilege of watching scores of students go into the ministry, of having the students of the college in his Bible classes year after year, and of having a large part to play in the directing of the religious activities of the college.

A few weeks ago Dr. Countermine had a serious illness, and it was apparent that he could not carry the full responsibility for this work. His many friends and former students trust and pray that he may have a perfect recovery.

No amount of optimism can succeed in painting a rosy picture of the church-related college in a crisis such as this. Already many colleges have closed, others have merged, and to many, the handwriting has appeared on the wall. Administrators meeting throughout the country are facing this problem with seriousness and deep concern. The calling up of the reserves has already made deep inroads into the registration of all coeducational institutions. It was hoped that many of these men would be sent back to their colleges for further training, but thus far less than 300 out of some 1,700 colleges and universities have been chosen for this work and these are naturally the colleges with large dormitory facilities. What of the smaller colleges? Women, if not called for defense jobs, young men under eighteen, those who are deferred for medical work, ministerial preparation, or some other type of specialized work, may continue with their education. But without doubt there is bound to come a definite and sharp decline in registrations.

Whitworth is no exception to this condition. Already our large service flag is heavy with stars and many more will be added immediately. What of the spring quarter, the summer, and above all else, what of the new school year beginning this next fall? We would state with clarity that we are anxious to do all that we can do to help win this war. We are proud, and justly so, of the officers and men who once studied on our campus. We are thrilled as we read of their leadership and as we learn of the outstanding way in which they are assuming spiritual guidance. And yet with it all, we are greatly desirous of maintaining our enrollment. We believe that we have a unique contribution to make to America in the years that lie ahead. We believe that it would be a catastrophe if Whitworth after fifty years of service should have to close. Because of the ground gained these last years, we are stronger and

To Bring Teachings of Bible to Bear Upon Practical Problems

Will Show Bible Also to Be "Most Interesting and Inspiring" Book

"One purpose of the Department of Bible," said the Rev. Mark Koehler, Whitworth's new head of that department, "will be to show that the Bible is not only the best seller, not only the Way of Life and Salvation, but that it is also the most interesting and inspiring book in all literature. It is our hope that we can bring the contents and teachings of God's book to meet and to settle the practical problems of everyday living."

Mr. Koehler was graduated from Whitworth in 1937. He entered San Francisco Theological Seminary in September, 1937, and was graduated from there in 1940 with highest honors and the M.A. and B.D. degrees. While at San Anselmo Mr. Koehler sang in the seminary chorus, played on the basketball and tennis teams, and preached at Winters, California. During his senior year he won the Alumni Fellowship, which provided for a year of study at Edinburgh, but the war intervening, he took his advanced study at Princeton Theological Seminary, where he was awarded the degree of Th.M. He went to Port Townsend to preach in 1941, and since November, 1942, has been supplying the Millwood Presbyterian church.

While at Whitworth Mark Koehler was president of the freshman class, athletic director of the student body, a member of the college quartet, captain of the basketball team, and president of the W club; he was also the first one to be awarded the Pirette Inspirational Award in basketball.

At Whitworth he met Clara Belle Braden, and in Mr. Koehler's own words, "In just such days as these, a college romance blossomed into marriage." They were married in 1939 while he was at seminary. Whitworthians look forward to seeing more of their nine-months-old daughter, Michal Ann. Professor Koehler hopes to be able to move his family closer to the campus so that they can be more active in campus affairs.

YOUR 17-YEAR-OLD SON NEEDS A YEAR OF COLLEGE

Nearly 70 per cent of 20,000 young men recently sent to officers' training schools are either college graduates or have some college training. Parents should do all in their power to make it possible for their sons to attend college this coming fall. One year of specialized training could easily mean that your son would within a short time after induction into the armed forces, qualify for officer training. Why not give your son a chance? The tendency for many of them will be to await their call, whereas that year well spent in the courses as outlined by the army and navy will prove to be invaluable. If college men are matriculated in courses which the government considers essential, as a rule these students are allowed to continue for a brief time at least, their education. The great advantage presented by Whitworth College is that these courses will be taken on a Christian campus with Christian teachers and under the type of Christian influence which will prove to be of tremendous moral influence when your son is in the armed forces of his country. Some young men who are just short of high school graduation are planning on summer school or correspondence courses so as to be ready for entrance at Whitworth when school opens for the fall term, September 27th.

better able to serve than ever before.

Whitworth College wants as a minimum, one hundred twenty-five Freshmen for enrollment next September. The average age of our high school graduates is seventeen. We feel that you may have a wonderful part in helping us to get these students. The registrar's office is now prepared to send you a folder which will give you in a brief way the procedure in getting new students for Whitworth. This will include a list of the costs, offerings, admission requirements, etc. It will also contain application blanks. Write to the Registrar for this information. You may help Whitworth now in this, the most serious hour of her entire history. No one man can do this job. But as you talk to young people in your community about Whitworth and as you send us their names, you can in this way make a priceless contribution to your college.

We are not afraid of facing the future. Do you realize something of the tremendous way in which God has undertaken for this college during the last few years? Do you realize that whereas three years ago the college debt was $40,000, today it is down to less than $16,000? Have you remembered that during the last two years of great uncertainty, over $75,000 of much-needed improvements have been made on the campus? Has the fact that in a most amazing way our registration has held up, made an impression upon you? Have you thought of the fact that today, as never before, men and women in the great Inland Empire are concerned about Whitworth and are praying for it and supporting it? We face the future with prayer but not with fear. Somewhere there is the answer to our problems. Much of it is in your hands.

You are our LIVING ENDOWMENT. We have but little by way of invested monies, but we have you. You are the ones who either recommend the college or reflect upon its work. But we are proud of our sons and daughters. Think of Whitworth then, not as a college where once you attended and paid your bills and where your obligations are over, but decide that as long as you live you shall have a part in the building of a greater, better college. You have known of the LIVING ENDOWMENT PLAN and yet but relatively few have taken a part in it. If every former student possessed even one unit of Living Endowment and paid in this way ten dollars annually to the maintenance of the college, much of the financial worry of the administration would be over. Don't wait longer. Fill in the enclosed coupon and mail it today to the College. Our goal? Two thousand units at ten dollars each. How many units will you take?

Intuition, Reasoning, and Experience Are Guides to Assurance

In the first of a series of chapel addresses during Religious Emphasis Week, Dr. Jesse Baird emphasized the importance of a faith in God. The message was closely tied in with Genesis 1:1, "In the beginning, God . . ." Dr. Baird pointed out three ways of proving a Christian faith: by intuition, reason, and experience. We know by intuition "just because we know." We know by reason—our universe could not have "just happened." It has to have a controlling mind behind it, and this controlling mind is God. We know by experience because when we've been through an experience we know for sure that it happened. Dr. Baird concluded his address with the concise two-word summary, "God is."

Man Essentially Living Soul

Man is manacled by sin, but is saved by grace through Jesus Christ. This was the substance of Dr. Baird's address to Whitworth students Tuesday morning.

"All the troubles in the world today are due to the wrong answer to the question, 'In this my Father's world what sort of being am I,'" said Dr. Baird.

In his speech Dr. Baird brought out that just as the world was believed to be composed of four elements, so man is composed of the four elements, Earth, Air, Fire, and Water. Although man is the dust of the earth, he is still a living soul. "Man is an Eternal thing living in a body that has to die."

Dr. Baird presented man as born with a longing in his heart for fellowship with his Father, and he said, "The image of the Father makes man restless until he finally rests in Him."

Sin Not Unsolved Problem

If we are to live with victory and satisfaction in this world, maintained Dr. Baird in his Wednesday morning chapel talk, we must have the solution to the problems of sin and death. "God knows. God cares. God has provided an answer," said the speaker, and in support of this statement he gave a short sketch of the life of Christ. The outstanding attributes of Jesus were His tremendous purpose, His enthusiasm, and His courage, continued Dr. Baird. Many of our great men, such as Napoleon and Caesar, have been great because of their brutality, but Christ was great because of His kindness. "Oh that all strong men of history were like Him."

Dr. Baird concluded with the thought: "If Jesus were but a man, to Him I would cling. If Jesus is God—the only God—I would follow Him everywhere."

Cross is Symbol

"Of the many possible symbols for Christianity, why is it that followers of Christ have chosen the Cross," asked Dr. Baird in Thursday morn-

Dr. Countermine to Continue Teaching Bible Courses Here

Students Study Bible, Not Study About Bible, Is Aim

"To teach students not to study about the Bible, but to study the Bible" is the aim successfully carried out by Dr. J. W. Countermine, who has served Whitworth fifteen years as head of the Department of Religion. Dr. Countermine plans to continue teaching Bible courses here, but believes that the responsibilities of department head should be with a younger man. "There comes a time when an Elijah must find his Elisha," he said in referring to his action in the matter.

Dr. Countermine is rightly regarded as one of the cornerstones of faith of the college. He studied at Parsons College for his B.A. degree, at Princeton for his B.Th. degree, and thereafter received his D.D. degree from Buena Vista College.

In his already full and varied career for his Master, Dr. Countermine, previous to his coming here, taught religion in a high school, held several pastorates, and for a time taught in a seminary at Honolulu.

While he was here in 1928 on vacation from Honolulu, Whitworth was fortunate in persuading him to remain and work as head of the Department of Religion, a position which he has held since.

"I like young people, and I like to work with them," said Dr. Countermine in closing. That this liking is mutual is borne out by the popularity of his courses here, and by the willingness of the students to work in his classes.

International Events Interpreted in Books

Now on reserve in the library are ten copies of the Fortnightly Summary of International Events to February 1. This summary is an excellent interpretation of the developments in the international situation. The following spring books given by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace to the International Relations Club are also now in the library:

- Africa*—The Committee on Africa.
- India Today*—Duffet, Hicks, and Parkin.
- The United States and the Far East*—Hornbeck.
- World Order in Historical Perspective*—Kohn.
- Basis For Peace in the Far East*—Peffer.
- A Democratic Manifesto*—Reves.
- Thomas Jefferson: World Citizen*—Senator E. D. Thomas.

Bulletin and Whitworthian Join Forces

Because of the revision of the student budget, made necessary by the purchase by the A.S.W.C. of the thousand-dollar bond, the Whitworthian will hereafter be published in conjunction with the Bulletin.

It will continue to report the news and activities of the students of Whitworth. The duty of the reporter still is to collect the facts of these activities as soon as possible after they are known, and to assemble these facts so that they are interesting to read.

If events and activities are not scheduled ahead, however, and definite plans made ahead, it is impossible for the reporter to obtain the news in time to get it ready for printing.

Thus it will take the continued cooperation of every student on the campus to have a "newsy" Whitworthian.

Vision of Damascus Road Comes to Each, is Belief of Dr. J. H. Baird

Dr. Jesse H. Baird, Whitworth's 1943 speaker for Religious Emphasis Week, believes that each of us has at least one Damascus road experience, when Christ in all his majesty and glory appears to us; ours to accept, or to reject.

"What do I then say?" continued the president of San Francisco Theological seminary in his Monday night address to Whitworth students. "If I say, 'Dear Lord, what would Thou have me to do?' then from that moment on every day becomes joyously, blessedly different."

He explained that though we differ spiritually, mentally, emotionally, and physically, "The Risen Christ at some time stands before us in all His beauty and we must decide—if we decide for Him it is but the beginning.

"Paul said 'Yes.' Can you say the same?"

This first step in becoming a Christian Dr. Baird defined as vision and assent. The second step he described in Tuesday evening's meeting as what happens within after the first step is taken.

The apostle Paul again was used as an example: "I am crucified with Christ . . ."

Paul nailed to the cross the "righteousness" of his flesh—all his proud standing.

He took his mind and nailed it too to the cross. "There came forth all the inspired wisdom we find in his epistles."

Continuing, Dr. Baird said, "He nailed his life to the cross. It was as if he had died, and Jesus the resurrected had come to live in him. Paul went all-out for Jesus."

Dr. Baird explained that Jesus demands all—and has a right to do so, for He is God.

TOMLINSON TO DIRECT OPERETTA 'TRIAL BY JURY' IN GEIGER FIELD'S AUDITORIUM

Whitworth College Chorus, under the direction of Jay Tomlinson, will present Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "Trial by Jury," Wednesday evening, March 3, in Geiger Field's new auditorium.

In his concluding remarks, Dr. Baird explained that although "demanding all" may seem a hardship, it is not.

After reviewing the first two steps in Paul's Christian life—its beginning on the Damascus road and its transforming effect in making him a new creature in Christ—Dr. Baird began his message on the Christian's witness.

covery from his illness and be spared for many more years of service in the Kingdom. We are glad to announce that, although he will not henceforth carry the administrative work of the department, yet he will continue at Whitworth in a teaching relationship. His advice and help in the building of a greater department will prove to be invaluable in the months that lie ahead. Perhaps nothing could demonstrate more clearly the great heart of Dr. Countermine and his undying love and service to the youth of Whitworth than to quote from his letter of resignation to the Board of Trustees:

"Having served this college as head of the Bible department to the best of my knowledge and ability since July 6, 1928, the time has come when it seems to me to be the act of wisdom to ask that I be released from this responsibility in favor of younger leadership with vigor and vision who can do more in helping to train the youth of the generation just ahead.

"May I suggest that a former student whom I followed in college and seminary and graduate work, whose preparation is of the best and who holds the conservative position in Biblical interpretation, be appointed to this place. I refer to the Reverend Mark Koehler. I would be happy to have my mantle fall upon this sincere man of God to the glory of His name."

Dick Schwab's Article Leads Others in 'Ray'

Dick Schwab's research paper, "Leprosy," is the leading article of the January issue of The Ray, official publication of Gamma Sigma Epsilon Chemical fraternity. This issue also contains contributions by University of Mississippi and St. Lawrence University students.

The Ray is edited by Whitworth's Professor Martin Williams, Grand Recorder of Gamma Sigma Epsilon.

Mrs. Winifred McNair Hopkins, head of Whitworth's Music department, is sponsor of the production, and Barbara Miller, postgraduate student, stage director. Isabel Misc and Merlyn Philo will play the two-piano accompaniment.

"Trial by Jury," the first operetta written by the famous Gilbert and Sullivan team, takes place in court, where the dapper defendant is charged with loving two women. The delightful plot and lilting tunes have made it one of their best-known operettas.

Principals in the cast are:

Judge . . . . . George Rodkey
Plaintiff Angelina . . . . . Gwen Lobdell
Defendant . . . . . Bob McGrath
Counsel . . . . . Ray Klefstad
Usher . . . . . Don Lancaster
Foreman of the Jury . . . . . Alvin Franz

Bridesmaids include Ruth Barnes, Mary Berklund, Evelyn Deering, Barbara Dizney, Carol Gardner, Ellen Jones, Marjorie Schauble, and Joyce Warren.

Ten jurymen and twenty-one spectators complete the cast. The jurymen are Carl Blanford, Robert Edwards, Bruce Finlayson, Don Heeter, Bob Johnson, Russell Rosenkranz, Bill Schlauch, Everett Scott, Sam Smith, and Joel Swanson.

Spectators include Jean Aldrich, Betty Arnquist, Muriel Ausink, Helen Baldwin, Betty Ann Douglas, Geraldine Falk, Helen Ghormley, Helen Hartley, Loretta Holder, Virginia Hunt, Bobbee Judd, Louise Klieb, Estelle McKay, Jean Nance, Phyllis Robinson, Jeanette Strong, Maurice Davis, Dave Holmes, Kenneth Monette, Bob Shreve, and Lee Wallace.

Production committees are these two: props—Carl Blanford and Robert Shreve; costumes—Helen Ghormley, chairman, with co-workers Evelyn Deering and Esther Morton.

'Good to Be Back,' is Pvt. George's Verdict

"It's surely good to be back on the campus," said Private George Penniman as he visited Whitworth recently. Entering the service last June, he is now in the Army Engineer's Corps and stationed at West Camp, Claiborne, Louisiana.

George has had three years at Whitworth and plans to return for his final year when the war is over.

Asked how college life appears now, compared with college life last year, he replied, "Most of the students seem more serious-minded. The fellows are taking more mathematics and physics. Everyone seems to be finding more enjoyment in little things than they used to."

AFTER DECISION — WHAT?

Whitworth students and faculty have just experienced a week of great inspiration with Dr. J. H. Baird, and many of us have made decisions which affect our manner of living and our goals in life. The speaker has left; his presence is no longer here to sustain the emotions built up during his meetings. We fall back into the campus routine, but if our decisions have been real, we approach our studies, our activities, and our relations with other people with a different attitude. Our lives are no longer our own—they belong to the Lord Jesus Christ.

How then ought we to live?

First of all, our decisions should be strengthened by individual nourishment of our spiritual lives with daily study and meditation on the Scriptures, and the establishment of a vital life of prayer.

Other helpful steps are that we learn to love one another with sincere hearts; that we be determined to live pure and wholesome lives as far as our physical bodies are concerned; that we perform diligently the work in our classes and other activities for which we are called upon; that we walk honestly before all men, being ready to give a reason for our hope; and that we wait patiently for the coming of Jesus Christ. —Carl Blanford.

HOW DO YOU RATE?

How do you rate today? Can you and I look those Soldiers, Sailors, and Marines straight in the eye and say that we have done the best WE can to help in the defense of this United States?

Maybe we bought a bond last summer; but have we bought any stamps in the last few weeks? It's the fact of buying them regularly, no matter the amount, that counts. Then there are other things a student can do if we only look around. It may seem little compared to what the men in the service are doing but if it was honest effort and done cheerfully, that's what counts. It isn't so much the size of the job nor the effort expended, but it is the fact that we have done something.

Are we doing our work in school to the fullest capacity?—we—who are lucky enough to be enjoying one of the greatest American privileges—a higher education. Is it fair to slack when some of the boys are giving their everything, even their lives, in order that we may still be in school? In fact lots of them intend even to go back some day.

This war may yet be won on the home front. There won't be any medals or gold braid on our sleeves, but there will be a red, white, and blue flag waving over a United States of America. —Bobbee Judd.

War Stamps Will Be On Sale in the Commons

What are Whitworth students doing for the war effort? The town students see the hustle and bustle of war activity and the many uniformed men on the streets every day, and they sense the great change in the American way of life. Meeting conditions like these, day after day, makes people think. But are we as students DOING all we can to bring victory to our nation? We all bought bonds during the summer, but it is the continuous flow of money that will bring victory closer.

It is within the power of nearly every student to buy at least one ten-cent War Savings Stamp a week. If every student would do this, Whitworth could be contributing $18 to the war effort weekly. We are now to have a convenient place on the campus where we can buy Stamps—the Commons. Let's really get in and dig—buy all the War Savings Stamps we can possibly afford. Every stamp will help bring victory closer. —Vernon Forkner.

War Stamps Will Be On Sale in the Commons

In this war effort every small bit adds tremendously. Just because each of us cannot buy a War Bond, we should not be discouraged, become cynical, and in the end do nothing. There are hundreds of people doing that very thing. But if these people would stop their grumbling and buy a ten-cent War Stamp every week, I know they would be surprised at the result of their efforts.

Students cannot be expected to buy War Bonds, but they are expected to do their bit. —Lenore Trevitt Peterson.

KNOW YOUR LIBRARY

By Dr. S. H. Schlauch

Do not let the cover of Fortune fool you. The pictures may make you think that the magazine is devoted to technical subjects, but such is not the case, for it has a wide range of subject matter. True, its emphasis is on the romance of accomplishment of American business and American industry, and when you read of what Americans are doing in these fields it makes you tingle with pride.

The February number of Fortune has several articles that every wide-awake college student will wish to read.

The United States Army is already training men and officers for the job of caring for the territories as we win them back from the Axis. "Prepare to Occupy" shows in what ways the Germans have failed to gain the cooperation of the occupied countries, and how the United Nations are planning to overlook no possibility of obtaining help in these strategic countries.

This year over three million women will be recruited for work by the Manpower Commission in less than 200 cities. If they do not volunteer they must be drafted. Read "The Margin Now is Womanpower," and find out what kinds of work women are doing, and how well they learn the various skills needed.

How are we going to get into Germany itself when she has been driven back? We thought the Maginot Line was impregnable, but Germany has thick belts of forts that defy planes and tanks, and must be taken by men who storm the portholes on foot. American army engineers are now working out plans for the capture of these forts. "With Blood, Sweat, and TNT" tells the problem and some of the possible solutions.

Other articles of interest are "Daring Stephen Decatur," the story of the American lieutenant who entered the harbor of Tripoli and burned an American vessel that had been captured by pirates; "Draftsmen of the

This time he made his presence known by an agitation of the great toe of the right foot. This time he spoke fluent English which he had learned from a group of guppies who went to night school.

And he told me why he was so sad: "For years I have wished at the crests of waves to make them foamy and now I discover that I am of no more use, as the natural breaking of waves on the sea causes foam to appear without the necessity of my stirring them up."

I felt so sorry for him that I was choked with emotion, and didn't have the heart to tell him that waves had been doing this for years.

There was only one thing to do. I made the supreme sacrifice and donated my bottle of Alka-Seltzer to him so that he might place them in fellow-mates' drinking water, and thus derive a small satisfaction from seeing things foam. This was a great sacrifice as it was my sole remedy for sea-sickness.

For a while Ralph enjoyed it, but as time waned and the supply of tablets decreased, he became despondent and one early morning I found him munching an Alka-Seltzer tablet. Being a water sprite the stuff took almost immediate effect, and he began to swell like a great toad. He looked at me pleadingly as he grew greater, but there was nothing I could do. He burst in a great splash of water and dripped off my bunk. There was nothing left but the small, pointed boat-like shoes which he had used for wave skimming. I picked them up and shed a tear for Ralph, the only Pjeelikim I had ever known. I know that his sea-green spirit still splashes on the crests of waves, for I see it every day.

Every night I place the little boat shoes between my great toes, hoping that he will return for them. So far he hasn't. I will show them to you the next time I am on the campus.

Perhaps you don't believe this story, but then there are always disbelievers. There were even those who didn't believe in the Whitworth Stone dated 1703. Send all monies for buying stirring paddles for unhappy Pjeelikims in care of Sydney K. Eaton.

Whitworth Cagers Win From Geiger Five In Overtime Match, 48-47

Total of 158 Points Made in Game With Gonzaga Five; Cheney Jayvees Win

In the most exciting game yet played in the new gym, Whitworth defeated the Geiger Field team, February 22, by a score of 48 to 47. At the end of the regular playing period the score was tied at 44-44, but during overtime the Pirates made two baskets while the soldiers made only one basket and one free throw.

Again high-point man, Bob Blodgett brought his record to a new high with 24 points.

Rooters Enthusiastic

Whitworth piled up a score of 69 to Gonzaga's 89 in a fast game played on the Gonzaga floor Saturday night, February 20. The team was well supported by enthusiastic rooters, and made a good showing against the favored team. Blodgett was high point man with 23 points.

Pirates Overtake Jayvees, Then Lost

In the lead during part of the second half, Whitworth lost to the Eastern Washington College of Education junior varsity team by six points, Tuesday evening, February 23, on the home floor. At half time the Cheney team led by a wide margin, but the Pirates put on steam in the second half, and for a time were in the lead. Blodgett led the Pirates, scoring 18 points.

VISION OF DAMASCUS ROAD

rors of olden times. Just as they became brighter and clearer with use, so does the witness of a Christian become brighter the more he is used in reflecting Jesus Christ to the world.

Thursday evening Dr. Baird pointed out how paradoxical it is that the simple, gentle gospel of Jesus Christ should cause such an uproar in the world. He then declared in explanation that the gentle gospel of Jesus is in reality "gentle dynamite." Worldlings are opposed to the Christian and the Christian's gospel because the presence of Christ makes them uncomfortable. The gospel of Jesus Christ is unpopular with many because it condemns their sinful social and business life.

"These that have turned the world upside down are come hither," reported the rabble at Thessalonica (Acts 17:6). Such a testimony against Paul and Silas was one that was true not only of that great apostle; it is also true of every Christian that bears a good witness for the Lord.

It naturally and surely follows, the speaker pointed out, that when the Lord Jesus Christ is present in a life or in a business, all that is contrary to Him must go. All that is sinful must be put away. "It is no wonder," he said, "that the world hates the Christians"; but as he continued to show, it is infinitely worth while to suffer ridicule and persecution for the sake of Christ.

To the extent that we manifest Christ and His gospel to the world, to just such an extent will we as Christians "turn the world upside down." We may truly say, was his closing thought, that if our Christianity isn't disturbing the world in all its sinfulness, there must be something wrong. The gentle gospel of Jesus is gentle "dynamite."

As a fitting close to his series of messages on "The Making of a Christian," Dr. Baird spoke, Friday evening, on the meaning of death to a Christian. He used several verses from the writings of Paul, pointing out that "death is but an incident in eternity." This, he said, can and ought to be the feeling of every true Christian.

Student Opinion

Religious Emphasis Week has been one of the high-lights of my first year at college. I am sure the knowledge that I have gained during the meetings will stay with me for a lifetime.

* * *

Religious Emphasis Week is invaluable to the life of every student. It takes us from the surface of life into its deepest meanings.

* * *

I feel the One who is to be pre-eminent in our life would be cast aside if we were to have no Religious Emphasis Week. We need desperately this spiritual food.

* * *

The deepening I felt all week, and am sure everyone else felt in some way, ought to affect our whole lives—spiritually and intellectually.

* * *

Religious Emphasis Week is to me one of the most important weeks during the school year. With less studying to do, your mind is freed to earnestly consider your life and to make honest resolutions to improve yourself.

* * *

If there is one thing needed more than anything else in the colleges of America it is Christianity. I think the observance of Religious Emphasis Week is the thing.

* * *

I believe it is a fine thing for a college to have a Religious Emphasis Week. It is found to lead to a greater interest in the great work among Christian people.

* * *

The coming to our campus of this outstanding Christian leader has been marked by an increasing interest in spiritual values.

* * *

Religious Emphasis Week has meant a lot to me, and I am sure it has to all of the others.

I think that one of the greatest advantages of Religious Emphasis Week was the fact that it made us students stop and think. Many of the things we had taken for granted began to mean more to us: the privilege of coming to a Christian college, and the privilege of being raised in Christian homes.

* * *

Religious Emphasis Week was a high peak in my life. It was a challenge to me to step out and increase my faith.

* * *

God took a permanent dwelling in most of our hearts during Religious Emphasis Week. His words of wisdom were conveyed in a wonderful way.

* * *

From day to day as a group we are too busy to devote sufficient time to spiritual things, and a week set aside for this devotion is, to say the least, well spent.

* * *

Particularly of value during this period of strife through which we are passing. It should increase our evaluation and appreciation of the religious privileges which we as Americans may enjoy in a war-torn world.

* * *

Religious Emphasis Week came at an especially opportune time this year—shortly before many of the boys will be leaving for the service. This week will probably have made God more real and the foundations of life steadier for many as they go out to face the unknown.

* * *

Religious Emphasis Week meant to me seven happy days devoted to an intimate contact with God, and a feeling all through the week of freedom from fear and earthly passions.

Revised A.S.W.C. Budget Ensures Both War Bond and 1943's Year Book

Voting 119 to 14 at the close of a week of discussion, the student body endorsed the new budget as approved by the Student Council and Executive Board.

The budget now calls for a total expenditure of $3,177 during the year, which expenditure includes the purchase of a $750 War Bond and $750 set aside for the Natsihi. The new budget is $187 greater than the original, but this is accounted for by the fact that the income from fall quarter fees was greater than expected.

The expense of the War Bond was absorbed by the cutting of allotments to various campus organizations, including intramural sports, spring sports, women's sports, concerts, the Whitworthian, the Natsihi, Whitworth Players, W.A.A., A.S.W.C. itself, and the Volunteer Fellowship.

Asked for her opinion on the re-apportionment of funds, Eleanor Hook, A.S.W.C. secretary and editor of the Natsihi said, "I am glad to see the student body so unified in their willingness to cooperate in the war effort."

ing's chapel talk. One answer, stated the speaker, is that the true instinct of the human senses tells us that the Cross is the only thing telling the true story of Christ. The other answer showed that the Cross was the only fair symbol of Christ on earth—during His supreme test.

Easiest? — or Right?

"What shall I do with Jesus?" This question asked by Dr. Baird Friday morning, opened the fifth and last of a series of chapel talks during Religious Emphasis Week. The answer—"This is something each person must decide for himself or herself."

In conclusion the speaker named Christ as Saviour and Master, and put forth a plea to all students to accept Him, or to re-dedicate themselves to a life of fuller service for Him.

Mixed Quartet Sings for Groups on Coast

Dr. Warren and five Whitworth music students left last Thursday for Bellingham, where he was the principal speaker for the Christian Endeavor Convention held there the week-end of February 26-28.

On their way, the mixed quartet, Gwen Lobdell, Betty Ann Douglas, Robert McGrath, and George Rodkey, sang at Davenport, Creston, Wilbur, and Ephrata high schools, and Thursday night at the Yakima First Presbyterian Church. Monday the quartet sang before Ferndale and Bellingham high schools and the Bellingham Rotary Club. Miriam Joyce Warren was their accompanist.

Alumni News

News of Our Service Men.

Maurice R. Holt, Chaplain, U. S. Army, is still training in this country. He and Mrs. Holt and their loveable twin boys are at Camp San Luis Obispo, California. Maurice sends his regards to all his old Whitworth friends. Address: Office of the Chaplain, Seventh Motorized Division, Artillery, Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Second Lieutenant Bill Williams, class of '39, is an instructor in the Signal Corps at Camp Crowder, Missouri. His wife, the former Helen Lamparter, is in Lewiston with their young son, born the latter part of November.

Genial Jerry Stannard, Whitworth's coach for six years, is working in the Gene Tunney physical fitness program. He has just one complaint, and that is that he has not yet found the wonderful southern hospitality he has always heard about. Jerry's address is C. S. P. Ship's Co., Camp Allen, Virginia.

Hedley Vickers, class of '35, is in the same type of P. E. training program as Jerry. He is stationed in Chicago.

Bob Fraser, one of our former Whitworthians, was promoted to the rank of Second Lieutenant just before Thanksgiving. He is stationed at Camp Adair, Oregon, as a member of the 329th Engineers Battalion.

Captain John E. Gay, also a former Whitworthian, is stationed at Ephrata, Washington. His wife and baby girl reside in Spokane.

News of Alumni, Hither and Yon.

Charlotte Slater Fancher, class of '34, is a busy wife these days. Besides keeping house for husband, Ward, she also does X-ray work in Dr. Melvin Aspray's office.

We received an attractive book from MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois, the other day, and were surprised to find that one of our former promotion directors, Loren E. Hatcher, is the pre-college counselor. Loren and Keith Murray were an invincible team of student-finders for Whitworth. Keith is now teaching school in Kent, Wash.

We are proud that Mark Koehler, class of '35, has come back to Whitworth. This time he is to have added to his title of Reverend, the title of "Professor." We feel that he will be a real addition to the Whitworth faculty. We wish to extend our deep appreciation to Dr. Countermine for his untiring loyalty and inspiration.

Alums: Here is your chance to help buy something for that grand new gymnasium. Your Alumni Board would like to raise at least $100 this spring to buy much needed equipment. Send your contributions and dues NOW to Mrs. Sam Postell, Opportunity, Washington.

Send Alumni news to Mrs. Werner Rosenquist, W. 524, 15th Avenue, Spokane, Washington.

President Warren Meets With Presbyterian Educators in Chicago

From January 26th to February 12th Dr. Warren was absent from the campus. He combined a business trip with a much-needed vacation. An important meeting of "The Presbyterian Union" was called for February 8 and 9 in Chicago. Besides attending these important sessions, Dr. Warren visited with relatives in Greenville, Illinois; Baltimore, Md., and New York. Sunday, February 7th, was spent in fellowship with Dr. George Miller, minister of the Second Presbyterian Church of Butler, Pennsylvania. For some little time this church in the far East has been a strong contributing church to Whitworth. He preached in this church both morning and evening. Three colleges were visited en route and six addresses given.

Out of the two-day conference in Chicago came the strong conviction that today more than ever before, America needs the work of the liberal arts college and of the church-related college in particular. All agreed that the road ahead looks very serious and that without doubt certain colleges in the United States would not long be able to continue as the men are taken from the campuses. However, it was also agreed that those colleges which are well supported by churches and friends who believe in their program, will continue in spite of the drain upon them. Without question, the great Northwest needs Whitworth and will rally to its aid in the critical months which may lie ahead.

coming to a firm place of individual belief in God, His Christ, and the way of salvation.

Each afternoon forums were held and the students had the opportunity of bringing to their leader the problems with which young people are faced today.

In the evening services Dr. Baird spoke on the general subject of "The Making of the Christian." The attendance, the attention, and the spirit of these evening services but attest again to the fact that our modern youth will without question follow intelligent, spiritual leadership. The young people of the Christian college are thoughtful, are facing facts, and are responding to the call of Jesus Christ as never before. It is the consensus of opinion that under the blessing of God and the gracious leadership of our speaker this year's "Spiritual Emphasis Week" will stand high in the spiritual history of Whitworth. Dr. Baird will always be a welcome guest at Whitworth, and between our college and the San Francisco Theological Seminary a stronger tie than ever has been cemented. We rejoice that we can be "workers together" with Christ in kingdom building.

The meetings closed Sunday night, February 21st. Following the final message brought to a record crowd, almost a hundred of the dormitory students and faculty members joined in a "fireside hour" at the home of President and Mrs. Warren. We believe that the memory of the songs, the prayers, and the ringing testimonies of those who had caught anew the vision splendid, will remain, especially with the large group of men who are soon to be called from the quiet and the protection of Whitworth's campus out to a world of strife, bloodshed, and death. We feel clearly that it was in the rich providence of God that we were able to have at this time these meetings under the leadership of a man who knows so keenly the needs and the possibilities of youth.

GARDEN IS SETTING FOR ANNUAL COLONIAL PARTY

Attired in costumes of the period, Whitworth College students and faculty went back to the time of George Washington when they held their annual Colonial party in the old gymnasium at the college, February 27.

Chalk wall flowers, pastel streamers and dormer windows transformed the old gym into a plantation garden with a wishing well at one end and an archway at the other. There were even bluebirds—to add to the realistic effect of spring.

PROFESSOR KOEHLER

would have been taken in Europe had it not been for the war. A year of intensive work was spent at Princeton Theological Seminary where he was granted the degree of Master of Theology. Upon completion of his work the Rev. Koehler, with his wife, moved to Port Townsend, Washington, where an outstanding piece of work was accomplished.

We predict for this young man a life of tremendous influence and power on the campus of Whitworth. First of all, he is a splendid Christian gentleman. His warmth of heart, love for youth, and true evangelical fervor combine to make him a leader of young people. He has long been a keen student of the Word and will bring to his classes new strength and interest. As a young minister he has demonstrated exceptional pulpit ability and will be able while at Whitworth to use this great talent.

Because of the leadership Whitworth College would give to the youth and the churches of the Northwest, Professor Koehler will commence his work this summer and be on a twelve-months basis. His time during the summer will be utilized for field and promotional work, and he will visit Presbyterian Youth Camps and Christian Endeavor Conventions.

In a newly emphasized way, Professor Koehler will have charge of the religious life on the campus. Besides his teaching load he will expect to

COMMUNIQUES

Dr. Warren's back in circulation on the campus again—Junior Commando Dave Hull makes a one-man invasion on the Campus "Reds" — Gonzaga Bulldogs fail to see enough of the white of Rosie's eye—Burgess, Collins, and Davis complaining of the "draft-ee" condition prevailing — Curtains going down to, on, and for the Colonial Party — Wasn't George Washington a lucky man to be born on a holiday?

ANALYSIS

Sure sign of spring when couples start skipping those in-door labs in favor of field trips, and when everything turns green, including your Christmas jewelry.

Analysis: That conclusion was made in the Chem. notebooks in 1926 and was so good that we hear they have been used up to and including the 1943-Prof. Williams Class.

exercise a vital interest and concern in the religious activities of the College. The administration has long felt the need for a close, sympathetic supervision of the various religious activities which so splendidly characterize Whitworth. We believe that the announcement of this newest appointment to the staff of Whitworth College will meet a warm response among the students, the alumni association, and the ministers of the Northwest. Mark Koehler follows one of God's true noblemen, Dr. J. W. Countermine. May he build successfully on the foundation so carefully laid.

President Warren Is Yakima Speaker During Holy Week

In response to an invitation by the Yakima Council of Churches, Dr. Warren will be the speaker for the annual observance of Passion Week. He will speak from Monday through Thursday, returning in time to speak in Spokane on Good Friday. Nine of the leading churches of Yakima cooperate in these services. Dr. Warren will also speak in schools, and before civic clubs, and various other organizations. At the evening services he will speak on the following subjects: "Who Crucified Jesus?" "Our Lord in the Garden," "The Rent Veil," and "The Face of Jesus."

WHITWORTH C.E.'S ARE PARTICIPANTS IN MEET

Whitworth students took a very active part in the Spokane district Christian Endeavor convention held at the Fourth Presbyterian church, March 26, 27, and 28.

Muriel Ausink had charge of the pre-prayer services throughout. Responsibility for the Quiet Hour Breakfast was in the hands of Ruth Huntley. Other students taking part in the program were Betty Ann Douglass, Gwen Lobdell, Frank Burgess, Alvin Franz, Loren Gothberg, Bob McGrath, George Rodkey, and Sam Smith.

The principal speaker of the conference was the Rev. H. G. Ellsworth of the First Presbyterian church in Sunnyside. His theme was: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory" (I Chronicles 29:11).

Saturday afternoon a quiz contest was sponsored, entitled "What is your Christian Endeavor I. Q.?" Virginia Hodge was winner of one of the prizes—a ticket to the banquet held Saturday evening.

DEPARTMENT HEAD ADDS TO MATERIAL FOR BOOK

Dr. Wilma Kennedy, head of English, reports a profitable five days on the coast, where she devoted spring vacation to collecting further materials for her book on the Northwest. Asked how a specialist in English language and literature happens to find herself working in the field of history, Dr. Kennedy will tell you that her interest is really in biography, her subjects being historical figures.

The five days' itinerary included Portland, Vancouver, Astoria, and Seattle. One day was spent at the University of Washington.

WHITWORTH WILL OFFER SUMMER-QUARTER WORK

It is now evident that there is a rising tide of interest in summer school this year. Students who can complete their college work by July, 1944, are to be deferred until that time. For many this can be done only if they go to college this summer. Questionnaires have been given to the students now enrolled and will be mailed out to former students who are desirous of taking further work. It is quite possible that again as last summer, girls who are entering the local hospitals early in the autumn, will be on the campus for a period of eight weeks taking their pre-nursing courses. Any who are contemplating nursing should correspond with Miss Estella Baldwin, Whitworth college, Spokane, concerning these special nursing courses and their cost.

Because of our wooded campus, cool buildings, tennis courts, new gymnasium, and ideal situation in the country, Whitworth makes a strong appeal for those who desire to study during the summer months. The dates for summer school are June 21-July 30. It is possible that the nurses would continue for two more weeks. According to the registration, the dormitories will be open. Dr. Schlauch will be the director of the 1943 summer session.

Wins Alumni Award

To Samuel David Smith, Whitworth's student body president, goes this year's Alumni Award. The cup is awarded annually to the most outstanding member of the senior class, the choice being made on the basis of character, scholarship, activities, and general excellence.

Sammy's four undergraduate years have earned him a unique place in the minds and hearts of Whitworthians, who approve 100 per cent the Alumni Association's presentation. His name has been engraved on the cup, which is on display in the case in Ballard hall.

WHITWORTHIANs ATTEND SEATTLE B. Y. P. U. RALLY

Betty Hosca, pre-nursing student of this college, and Bob Johnson, popular baritone, both members of the Spokane Baptist Young People's Union, attended the Washington State Baptist Youth Fellowship conference at Seattle.

Bob is president of the Spokane B. Y. P. U., and is playing a major role in the organization of the Baptist youth program for the state.

Whitworth Players Will Be Heard in 'Family Portrait'

Easter Play Reverent Study of Three Closing Years of Christ's Life

By Professor Newcomb

Family Portrait, one of the most successful Broadway plays of the 1939 season, is to be presented by the speech department on April 21 in the Whitworth auditorium. Taking for its theme the Master's words, "A prophet is not without honor, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house," Family Portrait elaborates in the terms of an ordinary family which acts and speaks as we do today. The play preaches the spirit of humility and tolerance. It is a simple, eloquent, and reverent picture of the family of Jesus. In its entirety the story encompasses the last three years of Christ's life. It begins in Nazareth, which Jesus had left to start His work, and where His remaining brothers understood only that in the height of the building season He has left them and depleted

LT. DWIGHT GUSTAFSON TO ASSUME NEW DUTIES

A recent visitor of whom the Whitworth College group could be justly proud was Lt. Dwight Gustafson.

This young man was drafted from his student activities here at Whitworth last May, and has since that time advanced very rapidly in the army. When Dwight visited the campus last fall he was a sergeant. This time he came to see us as a graduate of the Ordnance Officers Candidate school at Aberdeen, Maryland.

Lt. Gustafson will be stationed in California where he will have an important role in the training of recruits for ordnance work.

KNOW YOUR LIBRARY

By Dr. G. H. Schlauch

The YALE REVIEW, spring number, 1943, has a range of interests that is wide indeed. A Commando Raider's Story and The Knot Hole are as full of thrills as any of the well-known western stories, and the articles are full of challenge to people who are interested in human affairs the world over.

A Commando Raider's Story gives an account, in the first person, of a Canadian who took part in the Dieppe raid of last August, received five wounds, and was awarded the Distinguished Service Order for high qualities of courage and leadership. This man kept going until he dropped, unconscious, after his fifth wound, and had to be carried back and put on his boat.

The Knot Hole is a gripping story of a box-car crowded with prisoners of war under close guard, being transported they knew not where. During a four-day stop one of the men succeeded in prying out a knot in one of the boards making up the wall of the car, and after that they took turns looking out at the French country-side. Here the reader can glimpse a little of what men in occupied countries are experiencing.

The articles in the YALE REVIEW are written for the really thoughtful reader. How Near Will the Better World Be? raises some important questions. To what extent can white men carry out the statement that this war will end imperialism, and still help to maintain order in the Far East? We realize that our isolationism helped give Japan just the chance she needed to grab control of rich territory. Shall we withdraw again and give her another chance after we have defeated her? How shall we go about bringing a more equitable distribution of wealth and opportunity, and a maximum production in our own country? How shall we establish mutually advantageous commercial relations,

GROWING INTEREST IN LIVING ENDOWMENT

By President Warren

At the present time there are 430 units of Living Endowment. A short time ago a letter was sent out to the general mailing list and each day the mail brings new pledges. Considering that during the past year close to $50,000 was raised for the new gymnasium, this is a very encouraging response. 430 units mean that during the current year $4,300.00 will come to the college which may be used for current expenses. Each unit means an annual gift of ten dollars. Many of the friends of Whitworth are not content to take but one unit and are taking several. It is the earnest desire of the administration that all former students, graduates, teachers, and members of the present student body have a definite part in this systematic, time-proven method of underwriting the annual budget of a college. After all, it comes back to the answering of the question "How much do I believe in the work of Christian education? Enough to invest $10.00 a year?" There is an unprecedented amount of money in circulation today. Most of it is going into the war program. More of it should go into the channels of the Kingdom of God.

"NOW'S THE TIME TO INVEST MORE IN LIVING ENDOWMENT."

The Dean Says—

Dear Students:

This is the day the Lord hath made. Every day showeth His handiwork. The wind in the pine trees, the rain beating against the window panes, the sun, the shade, the stars, and the dew. What shall you do with these days which have been loaned to you? Shall you squander them in idleness, in careless talk, in worry, in self-pity? No! Live them through joyfully and gladly. Fill them with thoughtful courtesies, with kindness, with profitable study, with quiet, sincere witnessing for Christ who expects you to return these days to Him worthily lived.

To you young men who are leaving our campus in a few days—take with you, the thought of living each moment as it comes. Live each moment worthily and you will be able to return to God unashamed at the close of each day the hours He has loaned you. All of us are going to miss you, and you will miss your friends here on the Whitworth campus. Even though separated, we may still be united through our friendships, interests, and prayers.

"God make me brave—Life brings Such bleeding things.

Helps me to keep my sight,
Help me to see aright

That out of the dark—comes light."

It isn't with a sense of grief that you should leave our campus, or grief on our part in seeing you go. It is the call of your country to give a part of your time to fight for that which is so dear to all of us. It is an opportunity to give of your time to God in defense of those things which he has given us.

Everything which is worthwhile in our lives has been the result of giving. We must give of our time and strength in order to acquire. You are not giving now for personal gain but for the many, many people about you who are looking to you for help. Jesus once said, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these ye did it unto me."

Sincerely,
M. D. MUNN.

DR. HARDWICK BACK ON CAMPUS AFTER ILLNESS

Great anxiety was felt recently as the college learned that its beloved Dr. Hardwick was ill. For two weeks he was a patient in St. Luke's hospital suffering from an attack of gall bladder trouble. He returned to his classes Monday, March 29, in good health and the best of spirits and we trust that the splendid health he has enjoyed during the past three years may continue.

Chapel Highlights

All are agreed that many of the chapel services during the past few weeks have been of a high order both from the standpoint of inspiration and entertainment. Looking backward we remember the remarkable address on "God" by Dr. Charles McCaughey, minister of the Central Methodist church of Spokane. The student body also received most cordially the testimony and songs of Rev. William Burcaw of Portland, Oregon. Prior to his remarkable conversion but five years ago, Mr. Burcaw was a professional singer who possessed all the qualifications necessary to become famous. His passion for singing, and devotion to his training were so great that he sacrificed everything, even his family ties, that he might achieve fame. He hoped some day to sing in Grand Opera. Then in the midst of a busy life he felt the touch of God on his life and consecrated his talents to full-time service. At once he entered a Theological Seminary and prepared himself for full-time work. He possesses a splendid grasp of the scriptures and using his great talent of song, he gives to his audiences a rich combination of inspiration and the highest type of real entertainment.

Among the musical entertainments of the past weeks was the splendid violin recital by Professor Harold Paul Whelan of Tacoma. Mr. Whelan is an artist of unusual ability. For years he has studied the violin under the most competent of teachers. He has played in the Seattle and Tacoma Symphony orchestras, has taught violin and has studied in Europe. He was ably accompanied by his wife.

College 'Chapel Hour' Grows in Popularity

For the past 128 consecutive Sunday mornings Whitworth college has been on the air. Because many of our loyal friends do not live in the Inland Empire and therefore are not able to hear the program, we review briefly what this broadcast has meant not only to the college but to this part of the country. Early in the fall of 1940 President Warren requested of Radio Station KHQ time for a Sunday morning broadcast. Save for a few Sundays in 1941 the hour has been from nine until nine-thirty. Various groups have sung and when Dr. Warren was out of the city other members of the faculty have acted as narrator. According to reports which come to the college this has become one of the most popular radio programs released from Spokane. Coming as it does on Sunday, the program has always been definitely religious in nature and always interdenominational in appeal. It has not

J. B. Mixed This

With a bit of pepper and a grain of salt, the following ought to make a very tasty Alpha Beta soup. Directions: Take the first letter of each name, and add appropriate words. For example, our Singing-Divine Soloist is Sam D. Smith. Merlyn Philo is a Magnificent Pianist.

A Rowdy Boy and a Roving Bachelor is Richard Byquist. Melvin Hansen is a Mighty Height, while Seeichi Yamada is a Small Yeal man. A Jiant Pirate is Jim Peterson.

Now for some spiritual ingredients. Kenneth L. Monette is a King's Loyal Man, while Helen Ghormley is a Happy Gospeler. George van Leuvan—God's Victory Leader. Lyle Bramblet is a Likeable Baptist.

Samuel D. Smith Recital Delights Capacity Audience

Baritone's Numbers Admirably Chosen to Display Full Quality of Voice

By H. H.

Before a large and appreciative audience on Friday evening, March 26, Samuel David Smith, baritone, gave his senior recital at Whitworth college, which was a delight to everyone who heard it.

His numbers were well chosen to display the full bass-baritone quality of his voice, and his sympathetic interpretations showed the careful training which he has received.

His first number was "The Lord's Prayer," the music for which was written by a former Whitworth graduate, Robert Dietz Anderson. The French group that followed was given the delicate, graceful interpretation which such works require.

Mr. Smith's versatility was shown in his aria from the opera "Lucrezia Borgia" by Donizetti, the interesting "Monotone" by Cornelius, and the dramatic "Rolling in Foaming Billows" from the Creation by Haydn.

His last group included war and patriotic numbers. The powerful "Voice of America" by David Guion was given especial dramatic interest. It is written in the manner of "Ballad for Americans" by Earl Robinson, with its contrast of declamation and song.

Mr. Smith was accompanied by Miss Marjorie Klein, piano student of Anna Jane Carrel's. Miss Klein's understanding interpretation of the songs contributed to the enjoyment of the performance.

At the close of the program, Mr. Smith gave recognition to his teacher, Mrs. Winifred Hopkins, professor of voice at Whitworth college.

A Mental Mastermind is Marvin Moos, and Loren Gothberg Loves Girls. Dick Schwab a Delving Scientist is, and a Jolly Whitworthian is Joyce Warren. Al Brown is A Break for the girls, like that Lovable Kitten, Lorraine Kitt. Another Great Lover is Gwen Lobdell—he's tall, fair, and handsome, this sailor of hers. And Sally Schmidt is Somebody's Sweetheart, and he is Really Musical.

An Enthusiastic Helper—that's an apt appellation for Eleanor Hook. Dale Williams and De Women—what more need be said? The ingredient for Phyllis Robison will have to be left to your imagination—she's a Pulchritudinous R—?

Red Hair fits two—Ruth Huntley and Robert Henriksen. Evelyn Deering, with her narrow escapes in lab, ought to be called an Effervescent Daredevil. Carl Blanford—always a Courteous Buccaneer.

Aside from calling a Big Fairy like Bruce Finlayson a Bountiful Freighter, and designating Kay Sanborn a Kute Sport, I'll leave you with these thoughts: That Harold Wimpy is a Hopeful Worker, Don Lancaster a Delving Learner (?), Marjorie Schauble is a Mite (maybe Mighty) Singer, and Virginia Hunt is a Valentine Hooker.

If Isabelle McNeely and the rest of the Alpha Beta club think I'm Mad for mixing this soup, they better taste it. It's delicious.

Natsihi Scheduled for Publication by Third Week of May

Freshmen Promote Snapshot Contest to Get Good Action Pictures

Work on the Natsihi is progressing according to schedule, says Eleanor Hook, editor. All group pictures were taken during the week of March 8-12, by Lacey's Studio. Senior pictures were ready for the engraver March 1, and the write-ups are ready for the printer. The book is scheduled for publication about May 20.

Fresh Sponsor Snap Contest

With the slogan, "Beg some film, borrow a camera, and steal some snappy shots," the freshman class sponsored a college snapshot contest to get some good action shots for the Natsihi. Phyllis Robison was chairman of the committee. The prize will probably consist of some piece of camera equipment. The judges for the contest will be members of the freshman social committee, Al Haggman, Jean Nance, Bill Paeth, Phyllis Robison, Russell Rosencranz, and Dale Williams.

'Nice Place,' Says Senior, 'in Spare Time; Thanks Lot'

So you want a place where you can find a little "peace and quiet?" Hummmm. Well, don't try the Commons. But for good company and excellent food—for food and fun—a certain senior was heard to remark it was the best thing on the campus. Ping-pong tables—a pair of them. And a lot of other table games. Piano. "Nice place to go," said senior, "in spare time. Thanks lots."

They're giving birthday parties there too. Tuesday last, Host Bob Shreve lined up places for eight. The guest of honor?—Gerry Falk (Gerry and corsage). The six other guests consuming chocolate cake and real ice cream were Virginia Huffman, Billie McKay, Marjorie Schauble, Jean Zutrau, Keith Medley, and Dale Williams.

"CHAPEL HOUR"

had for its purpose, the building up of any one church, nor has it been in any sense of the word, merely an advertising feature for the college. A college male or mixed quartette has generally sung four or five of the great hymns of the church, the narrator has brought an eight or ten-minute sermon or address and at the close of the hour brief announcements of interest concerning the program at the college have been given.

Out of the hundreds upon hundreds of letters which have come to the college in response to this program we have discovered among other things, that the people of this part of the country desire this high type of religious program. They are particularly fond of the old hymns of the church. Thousands who live in the country districts away from church privileges, think of this as their Sunday morning service. Each week in response to the requests which come, between one hundred and two hundred mimeographed copies of the Sunday morning meditation are mailed as the gift of the college to those who desire.

"The Chapel Hour" proved to be a real factor in the completing of the Jay P. Graves Hall. The birthday letter was sent to all on the mailing list and hundreds of gifts both large and small were gratefully received.

During much of this college year the responsibility for the music has been carried by a mixed quartette consisting of Gwendolyn Lobdell of Tacoma, soprano; Betty Ann Douglass of Ephrata, Washington, alto; Robert McGrath of Seattle, tenor, and George Rodkey of Post Falls, Idaho, baritone. The quartette has been accompanied on the radio by Merlyn Philo and has been directed by Sam Smith. The calls which constantly come from

Eleven Whitworth Men Will Report for Duty April 16

Enlisted Reservists Include Senior and Junior Class Presidents and Editor of Whitworthian

Eleven Enlisted Reservists of Whitworth will report for active duty April 16, 1943.

Two of the eleven are seniors: Vernon Forkner, editor of the Whitworthian and 1942 editor of the Natsihi; and Loren Gothberg, senior-class president. One is a junior: Dick Schwab, president of his class. Two others are sophomores: Robert E. Lee of the basketball squad; and Merlin Philo, well-known for his work as accompanist. Of the six freshmen, three are Pirates: Bob Blodgett, high-point man for the 1942-1943 season; Bob Brincken and Russell Rosen-cranz. Larry Forland was a winter-quarter freshman transfer from the University of Washington; Bob Shreve is a freshman with a major (interest) in music; and Jay Tomlinson, a frosh who will be remembered as conductor of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Trial by Jury."

The eleven will report on the date specified to the Commanding Officer, Reception Center, Fort Lewis, Wash.

take hard fighting, and through greater aid to China we can open up bases for the bombing of Japan itself. But what shall be done with Japan when she has been defeated? It would be a mistake to inflict punishment upon Hirohito, and Tojo is but the representative of the military clique, which seems to have the complete cooperation of the whole country. The realistic thing would be to disarm the Japanese nation, and destroy their arms plants, so that it would be impossible for them to begin again a career of conquest. The chains of islands in the Pacific that Japan has used so effectively must be placed in the hands of a regional Pacific council, or at least in hands friendly to the United Nations. We must offer to the Japanese a place in the new international system in which they will be given full opportunity for development within the framework of a peaceful world order.

the working force. It continues in Caperneum, where inn keepers and promoters seek to capitalize on His growing power and popularity. It returns to Nazareth and the disillusioning experience among His Neighbors. Then, swiftly, it journeys to Jerusalem, where the fickle crowd has turned from its cries of "Hosannah" to shouts of hatred, and to the upper room, where after the Last Supper, Mary awaits His return from Gethsemane. The play closes with the glorious news on Easter morning that Jesus has risen from the dead.

The cast includes Mary, the mother of Jesus, played by Eugenia Ivanoff of Seattle; the four brothers of Jesus, Joseph, Simon, James, and Judah, interpreted by Sam Smith of Chewelah, Bruce Finlayson of Anacortes, Alvin Franz of Marlin, and Keith Medley of Post Falls, Idaho; Mary Cleophas, an aunt, is portrayed by Mary Elaine Dugan of Tacoma; Mary of Magdala played by Lois Lyse of Davenport. Others in the cast include Marcia Parker, Esther Morton, Marjorie Johnson, Helen Baldwin, Dale Williams, Joel Swanson, Isabelle McNeely, Frank Burgess, Jean Aldrich.

Francis Stevens Memorial Added

To Whitworth's new student center, Graves Hall Commons, has been added a very special gift. A fine print of a Sollman painting of Christ now looks out upon the room from the fireplace wall. The picture is a memorial to Francis Stevens. It was presented to the college by his mother.

Formal announcement of the gift was made by Dr. Warren on the occasion of the first "sing-spiration" held in the new Commons, Sunday night, March 28.

"CHAPEL HOUR"

high schools and churches for the quartette attest to its popularity. Several rather long trips have been taken by Dr. Warren and the quartette and each Sunday night this group is busy somewhere representing Whitworth. Before the close of the year many high schools will be visited and several "Chapel Hour" rallies will be held. In many communities it has been discovered that practically all are constant listeners to the broadcast.

Who's New and Otherwise Who

Lois and Nancy Cochran of Oregon City, third-quarter transfers from Wheaton college, are majoring in dietetics. Their favorite sport is tennis. Lois is a freshman, Nancy a sophomore.

Another home economics major is Tomiyo Nishimoto, a transfer from the University of Washington. She is a third-quarter sophomore, home originally in Seattle, though she came to us from southern Idaho.

Tomiyo's fond of knitting and crocheting; she also does much roller skating.

Fumi Yasaki, of Seattle, is a pre-nursing student. This freshette's hobbies are ice skating and hiking.

Don Gustafson, freshman, is a Lewis and Clark graduate.

John Welch, transfer from Gonzaga, is a chemistry major. John is a junior.

Three former Whitworthians back in school this quarter are Jane Couch, Eleanor Schell, and Eugene Knauntz.

Jane Couch, graduate of Multnomah Bible school, is a pre-nursing student. Jane attended Whitworth during the spring quarter of last year.

For the past eight months she has been in nurses' training at the Deaconess hospital.

Eleanor Schell, '42, is beginning her fifth year to meet requirements for teaching home economics in high school. She plans to attend summer school and begin her cadet training in the fall. Since her graduation from Whitworth last June, Eleanor has been employed by the Commercial creamery as bacteriologist.

Third-quarter special student is Eugene Knauntz, an ordained minister with a Spokane charge.

A recent visitor to the campus is Lois Morgan, Seattle. Lois is en route to acquisition of a Public Health Certificate via Swedish Hospital in that city.

Lt. Dugald Robinson, transferred to sea duty in the Pacific, arrived at Whitworth only after many difficulties in transportation. Acquiring plane passage by dint of dogged perseverance, he was grounded at Billings, and made the rest of the journey by car.

Two Idaho residents, Mary Virginia Mount of Clarks Falls—Natsihi editor, 1942—and Christine McDonald of Mullen complete the roll of late March visitors.

President Merle Wood Will Head 1943-4 A.S.W.C.

Burgess, Gothberg, Starrett Speak for May Queen Candidates

Merle Wood, Withworthians' choice for student body president in 1943-1944, will be ably supported by Vice President Kay Sanborn, Secretary Marjorie Klein, and Auditor Bruce Finlayson. Choice for May Queen is Margaret Skeels.

At the election rally held last Tuesday, March 30, Dick Schwab presented the candidates for A. S. W. C. offices for the coming year.

The 1943 May Queen candidates were Audrey Brault, Mary Elaine Dugan, and Margaret Skeels.

Frank Burgess, speaking for Audrey Brault, presented a girl "loved by everyone for the things she stands for." Loren Gothberg presented the girl who "has almost everything"—Mary Elaine Dugan. Jack Starrett, the laureate of Whitworth, read his romantic masterpiece, "Queen of the May, Miss Margaret Skeels," which presented the qualifications of his candidate.

Eleanor Hook and Merle Wood were candidates for president of the A. S. W. C. In a clever skit Frank Burgess presented "The Hook" baited with votes catching the election. Muriel Ausink presented Merle Wood and explained his capabilities. He was president and vice-president of the student body at Multnomah School of Bible and is a capable speaker, at present serving as pastor of the Post Falls Community church.

Carl Blanford presented five feet seven of red hair and "push" for the office of vice-president. The candidate—Kay Sanborn. Stan Gwen presented Jeanne Bourland for the same office, adding that she had gone to Chicago to confer with last year's vice-president on possibilities.

The candidates for secretary were Marjorie Klein and Florence Reynolds. Bob McGrath stated that Marjorie had accepted the nomination from a sick bed. Euell Fulkerson, extolling the qualities of Florence Reynolds said that we needed a secretary who is beautiful, capable, and trustworthy; one with personality, and especially with experience.
