PROSPECTUS
 OF THE
Georgia Medical & Surgical ENCYCLOPEDIA.

HIS JOURNAL will be issued on the first of ev-month, commencing in MAY, 1960, and will aim at octavo pages of original and well-selected text. It will be our aim and object, to the extent of our ability, to elevate the standing and dignity of the Medical Profession, and to clear up all questions connected with Medicine, or its sister sciences, will be at all times welcome. Original essays and communications from members of the profession are respectfully solicited. In considering that our pages may, however, occasionally be permitted to other than the ideal mean, we shall, as far as practicable, avoid introducing such topics might offend the modesty of our readers, although it might otherwise be a legitimate subject of medical communication.

We can only further say, that, so far as we are inclined, we shall endeavor to fulfill the

I believe thus much, and shall hope for a candid opinion of an attempt to be useful. The aid and influence of the Press, together with the cordial support of the Southern Anthon, is respectfully asked: should the plan on which we propose to conduct the Journal be approved, we cannot doubt an encouragement proportionate to its utility, and to the spirit with which we may be sustained. We shall receive - $2 00 if said assistance; $2 50 if derived till the expiration of the year.

The Driggs' Patent Violin
PLANO!

THESE beautiful Pianos are THE BEST in the WORLD! so says Thalberg, Strakosky, and other famous Musicians, Mason, Wm Henry Fry, and others.

B. DRIGGS, of New York, is the Inventor and Patentee. He took the Violin for his model, having wound his bars one at the top and the other at the bottom, curving outward; so that each of the bars of which they should be constructed, the Violin iron frame or bed plate is within this that takes the strain of the strings, independent of the wood work. By this arrangement great vibratory power obtain it, and a tone is produced equal or better than the best Grand Piano, and such as was never seen in a Squared Piano. The tension of Strings is effected by damp on a very weathered case, which they will stay in tune much longer than any other Piano; in short the most desirable points of excellence have been attained, and as they get older the tone will improve like the Violin.

Every thing said against these Pianos is false, and we are able to prove it. They will be warranted two years, and no charge for Tuning will be made during the first year. They will cost from $375 to $600. O. R. RICE, from the State of Florida for Florida, for the sale of these Pianos at $375.

Information cheerfully given. All communications should be directed to Macon, Ga. Two have been sold to teachers in Macon, and seven to other persons—all of whose names will be given if required.

ON, TROY, N. Y.—Dear Sir,—Having used your hair coloring for some time it, I take pleasure in making the following: From the state of a very gray and thinning head, I have now turning gray, and, as continued to grow the perfectly white, being very harsh and brittle, and falling out in great quantities, I have been induced to purchase two bottles of your hair coloring, and after using it for a few days I was surprised to find that the roots outward was turning black and the hair was growing so fast that it was only brown and glossy as it was in my youth, and it is now fully restored to its original color and growth.

testified, and says that the above statement

Discussion at Auburn.

For a week or ten days past the surrounding country has been dotted over with speech-making, announcing that Sam'l F. Rice (44) lately called with the Opposition party would address the people at Auburn, Ala., on Thursday last, in behalf of the Union. The fact that Mr. Rice and J. F. Widdell, Esq., of Crawford, was on hand at the appointed time, to challenge discussion, but neither of the speakers appeared in the handful number of the people. The people, however, gathered in considerable numbers, and were addressed by Hon. David Clayton and A. C.

Ferrill, Esq., in behalf of Breckinridge and Lane, and by Messrs. Baker and Walden, and Frank Reese, Esq., of Auburn, in behalf of Bell and Everett. We have not space to detail the proceedings, but we do not doubt that our cause was ably and triumphantly upheld by such advocates, and that a good day was for Bell and Everett was done at Auburn.

The election in this North State takes place on Thursday, the 2d day of August, it being the first State election to come off since the death of General Jackson. The election of John Bell, the Constitutional Union candidate for Governor, and a Legislative candidate for the Senate, and the election of the State are thoroughly united in the support of Gen. Bell, who refuses to believe himself either Breckinridge or Douglas, and is generally regarded as the favorite of the former. But we rely on the strength of our good cause to beat a distorted Democracy in this State election, and the election of Gen. Bell, who is a united and divided party in November.

One of the all-time records yet attained by the Democratic Party of the South, is the fact that Mr. Bell, who is a Union candidate, is a Union candidate, and is generally regarded as the favorite of the

The Cause in Georgia.

Information from various portions of the State shows that the Democratic vote is more than the very large majority of the people, that Douglas is much stronger than politicians have heretofore believed, and it is a very doubtful whether Breckinridge has a majority of the members of the Legislature. The fact that the Demo-

"This is the language of the Kansas Free Press. That language contains the essence of substance and principle which Breckinridge now complains. Breckinridge was then a member of Congress of the United States from Kansas, and made a speech in favor of the same. That speech went the full length of intervention and popular sovereignty. He then voted for the Kansas-Nebraska act. It is worth noting that the fact that it was the Kansas-Nebraska act, and not any separate act justified in bolstering up the position of the Kansas Free Press organization and breaking Democratic party, because the party

What is a Convention worth unless delegates who give it consider themselves bound by honor to abide therewith? If an honorable man who would go to a Convention with the understanding that he will be bound by its action, is not that man bound by his honor to abide therewith? If he would not take the Convention seriously, he would not take the Convention seriously. (Cheers.) I am glad to hear that the majority vote will be in favor of the Convention, and I was the next highest speaker at the Convention. The Church Harbors. There were some reports of light hearted pranks on Saturday. We know that the church is a place of refuge for the weary and the distressed. It is a place where the soul finds comfort and the body finds rest. We believe that the church is a place where the soul finds comfort and the body finds rest. THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

My friends, I have the honor to address you this morning in the annual message of the Governor of Georgia. It is a privilege to stand before you and to discuss the state of our commonwealth and the progress of our government.

During the past year, we have witnessed many achievements in our state. Our economy has shown signs of recovery, and our education system has made significant progress. We have also seen the passage of several important laws that will benefit our citizens.

One of the most pressing issues we face is the state of our public debt. It is my duty to inform you that the debt has increased significantly over the past few years. We must take immediate action to reduce this burden on our taxpayers.

Another major concern is the state of our infrastructure. Our roads, bridges, and public buildings are in need of repair and improvement. We must allocate sufficient funds to address these needs and ensure the long-term health of our state.

Education remains a top priority for this administration. We have made great strides in improving our schools and increasing access to higher education. However, there is still much work to be done to ensure that every child has the opportunity to succeed.

Finally, we must not lose sight of the needs of our most vulnerable citizens. The elderly, the disabled, and the unemployed require our special attention and support. We must ensure that they are not left behind in the progress of our state.

In closing, I want to express my confidence in the future of Georgia. With your support and the efforts of our government, we can overcome our challenges and build a brighter future for all.

Thank you for your attention and for the privilege of serving you. I am proud to be your Governor and to represent the people of Georgia.

My friends, I have the honor to address you this morning in the annual message of the Governor of Georgia. It is a privilege to stand before you and to discuss the state of our commonwealth and the progress of our government.

During the past year, we have witnessed many achievements in our state. Our economy has shown signs of recovery, and our education system has made significant progress. We have also seen the passage of several important laws that will benefit our citizens.

One of the most pressing issues we face is the state of our public debt. It is my duty to inform you that the debt has increased significantly over the past few years. We must take immediate action to reduce this burden on our taxpayers.

Another major concern is the state of our infrastructure. Our roads, bridges, and public buildings are in need of repair and improvement. We must allocate sufficient funds to address these needs and ensure the long-term health of our state.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page. The left edge is a dark, textured binding. The main body of the page is a light, mottled grey color, showing significant signs of age and wear, including numerous small dark spots and a large, irregular dark stain near the bottom left corner. The text on the page is mostly illegible due to the poor condition of the document.
