WHITWORTH COLLEGE
Spokane, Washington
Dr. James Willard Countermine has been at Whitworth longer than any other member of the faculty, and it is with a deep appreciation of his contribution that we take this opportunity to pay tribute to him. He came to Whitworth in 1928 from Hawaii, where he had been head of the Old Testament and Greek departments in the Honolulu Theological Seminary. He received his B.A. and his M.A. from Parsons College, his M.Th. from Princeton, in 1905, and his D.D. from Buena Vista College, in 1910.

His vast experience includes graduate work at Princeton University, and in Hawaii. He was principal of a high school from 1899 to 1904, head of the departments of Mathematics and Philosophy at Lenox College from 1898 to 1899, Dean of Religious Education at Highland Park College from 1912 to 1915, and Superintendent of Missions in Puerto Rico from 1917 to 1918. The next eight years he spent at the Honolulu Theological Seminary.

Dr. Countermine had charge of Whitworth’s Bible department until 1940, when his health demanded that he resign, but he has continued as an instructor in our Bible Department and now leaves us, the oldest professor in years of service, that Whitworth can claim. We are proud that he has been named Professor Emeritus in the Bible Department, and are sorry to see him go. It is more than his courses that we will miss, for we have thoroughly enjoyed the presence of Dr. and Mrs. Countermine at college functions through the years.

His life has been marked by a devotion to God and His work that has been beautiful to see. Dr. Countermine, you are loved and admired by all who know you, and this inadequate tribute comes from the hearts of Whitworth; past, present, and future.
SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The Graduating Class of 1945 goes forth, having left a deep impression in the four years they spent beneath the pines. Entering one sunny day in September, 1941, before the United States entered the war, they have pushed forward, and despite the fact that the war has taken a heavy toll of their members, they have provided an unusual amount of leadership. In athletics, in student body affairs, in club activities, in scholarship, they have been preeminent. Two of its members have been Student Body President, Bruce Finlayson and Dick Schwab; three of the class have been vice-president; two have been secretary, and two treasurer. In addition, two have held the position of editor-in-chief of the Whit­ worthian, and one, that of student council representative.

The freshman year saw such outstanding events as the building of Jay P.
Graves Hall, Pearl Harbor, the coming of Spokane Junior College to the Whitworth Campus, and the “Brickskrieg” to brick Graves Hall. The following year the women of the class provided leadership for the annual Women’s Conference, half of the committee members coming from the sophomore class. The same week-end, the men of the class went apple-picking to help out during an emergency shortage of men, but on the return trip the truck went over the bank, killing two men, including Francis Stevens, a sophomore.

As juniors the class excelled. They had won three of four ASWC officer­ ships as sophomores, and as juniors they swept the ballot. They kept themselves in the limelight by honoring “Schlauch’s Super Senior Scholars” at a junior­ senior party, and then three days later surprised the graduates on their senior sneak within two hours after the sneak began. The end of the year saw the Natshi, which the juniors always put out, something new in a radio-style production.

With Bruce Finlayson and Professor and Mrs. Mark Koehler serving second terms as president and advisers, respectively, the seniors proved they could not only find seniors on a sneak, but fool juniors seeking to find seniors, whey they disappeared for an early morning breakfast in downtown Spokane in February.
Marjorie Klein was awarded the alumni award, and Betty Marcellus was chosen May Queen. After many meetings held in their honor, the fifty-fifth Whitworth class will be graduated June 11th, with Dr. Jesse Hays Baird as their Commencement speaker. And they go forth, having left their impression, to make a greater impression on the world which is before them.

But they take with them in their memory, one who could not make that journey with them. A quiet youth he was, and deeply interested in science. He gave his life on no battle front, but he did give that life in freedom’s dark hour. And the seniors, hoping that this will be the only “Gold Star” for their class, pledge themselves that they will strive forward, carrying the Christian banner high, to create the better world for which Francis Stevens died.

WHITWORTH'S FIRST CADET CLASS

GRADUATING CLASS OF JANUARY, 1945

MARCH CLASS OF CADETS

CLASS PRESIDENTS

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is made up of the members of the Executive Board, and the presidents and vice-presidents of all clubs, classes, and organizations, as well as the editors and business-managers of the Natshii and the Whitworthian.

PIRETTES

The Pirette organization is made up of girls who have been chosen for scholarship and leadership, and who are considered best qualified to promote the spirit of Whitworth. Membership is honorary, and there is not a girl on the campus who would not like to boast a Pirette sweater.

WHITWORTH PLAYERS

All hopeful actors and actresses, when they arrive on our campus, look first for the Whitworth Players, our dramatic club. This organization makes one of the greatest contributions to the year’s activities, for the fruits of their labors can be enjoyed by all of us.

STUDENT EXECUTIVE

The Student Executive—Whitworth's "Supreme Court." Here, the laws of the student body are made. Here, the student leaders keep the machinery of student life running smoothly.

Muriel Ausink, Al Brown, Dean Munn, Margery Johnson, Dick Schwab, and Mae Lancaster.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The Social Committee has as its job, keeping Whitworth's Calendar full and interesting. This year's committee has done an excellent job in both respects. Who will forget our beautiful banquets, or the Party of all Nations?

Muriel Ausink, chairman; Marjorie Klein, Shirley Davies, Geraldine Falk, Miss Jenkins and Mae Lancaster (seated).

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

The work of the Women's Conference Committee begins in the Spring quarter when plans are laid for Women's Conference in the Fall, and continues through the summer and until the conference is over. It's a hard job this committee has to do, but the results are always so gratifying that the labor is soon forgotten. Women's Conference is the favorite activity of the year in the minds of most of the girls, thanks to such committees as as this.

CHRISTIAN ACTIVITIES COUNCIL

Christian Activities Council. The purpose of this new organization, which is made up of the presidents and vice-presidents of Whitworth's religious organization, is: "To seek to promote a well-rounded spiritual program on the campus of Whitworth College." Doron Coats served as Chairman this year, and the other members were:

Professor Koehler, adviser; Joyce Warren, Marilouise Dowdy, Helen Morrow, and Betty Marcellus.
CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The Largest Organization on the Campus. Under the direction of Miss Jenkins, adviser, and Miss Plank, co-adviser, the group realized in a large measure its goal to make more dominant the spirit of Christ on the campus. The officers were: Helen Morrow, president; Marilouise Dowdy, vice-president; Nancy McFarland, secretary; and Verna Zenier, treasurer.

In celebration of the birthday of Christian Endeavor, a Rally, and a special Chapel service were sponsored. Rev. Harold Penhalurick, of Sandpoint, Idaho, was the guest speaker. The celebration was closed Sunday evening, when the faculty took over the Christian Endeavor meeting.

LIFE SERVICE CLUB

With their main objective to know Christ better and to serve Him more fully during their college days, the Life Service Club has spent an active year. Mrs. Frank F. Warren was the adviser for this club, made up of girls who are looking ahead to Christian Life Service.

The officers were: Joyce Warren, president; Betty Marcellus, vice-president; Marjorie Haas, secretary; Ellen Kilby, treasurer; Marjorie Schauble, program chairman, and Johanna Briggs, historian.

The group sponsored a Letters to Servicemen project, planned a Chapel service, and enjoyed three very successful picnics.

PHILADELPHIANS

The year just completed, was one of vigorous activity for the Philadelphians, a group of men students planning full-time service for Christ. Leaders for the group included: Mark Koehler, adviser; Dorton Coats, president; George Van Leuven, vice-president; Bob Sanders, secretary-treasurer; and Arthur Sanford, program chairman.

The main project for the fall quarter was the purchase of plaques for the class rooms, but a much larger project was begun in the spring. These men undertook to build a Prayer Chapel for the use of the student body, and to our joy and amazement we have seen this building rise and Dorton and his club members busied themselves with hammers, saws and nails. Next year we will proudly boast of this addition to the campus. The Philadelphians deserve a bouquet of roses from the entire student body in appreciation of such an excellent project.
1. October 2 . . . Arrived at Whitworth today. Whew! What a trip, but I'm glad to be here.

2. Some students arrive one way; some, another!

3. Saturday . . . About thirty students went out to pick apples this morning. We brought back fifty boxes for the dining hall.

4. October 13th . . . Women’s Conference started today. That’s Mrs. Snyder standing beside Milly. She gave us some wonderful talks on China.

5. Isabel and Jean, and Eleanor and Marian, at the door of their cabin at Twin-Lo.

6. November 18th . . . Harvest Queen Peggy! Homecoming week-end has been exciting. Last night was the banquet at the Davenport, and tonight they gave “Ring Around Elizabeth.”

7. That’s our Dean. The look of ecstasy suggests—well, I don’t know, but I’m sure it suggests something.

8. The Cadets blossomed out in their work-uniforms today. They look like Angels of Mercy.

9. It must be nice to have time to sit in the sun like Carol and Eleanor, and Kathryn and Gerry do.

10. The stars of this picture are Dr. Hubach and Wallenstein. (That’s Wallenstein lying down.)

11. Poor girl! She just heard that Finals are drawing near.

12. The Ballardites decided to clean house today.

13. Presenting the Rev. Carol, or “Preacher” Berg!

14. Lois and “Sny” are such a devoted couple! Even in the morning.

15. Finals are over! !

DEAR DIARY...

2. Remember the day Bill Schlauch came home? Was Dr. Schlauch happy! !

3. Presenting our championship basketball team. Of should we say, our Championship GIRL/S Basketball team?

4. The Principals who played the leading roles in Spiritual Emphasis week. Dr. McLean, Mrs. McLean, and Prof. Koehler.

5. February 9th . . . Dr. Vale, the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church was here. His message will be remembered as one of the best in the entire year!

6. Homecoming for the Forresters! Dr. Warren and Chaplain “Jim” had a lot to talk about.

7. You haven’t seen Whitworth from the “bird's-eye-view” until you have hiked up to the Five-Mile Ridge.

8. Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Vale, the day of the Moderator’s visit to the campus. First Lady of the Presbyterian Church, and First Lady of Whitworth!

10. And to think that Muriel is a high and mighty (?) senior!

11. Wouldn’t you know the editor would put her own picture in ! ! !

12. Some of the town girls gave Jeanne Kirkendorfer a birthday party.

13. Remember the All-Nations Party? The trio did a good job (as usual).

14. Not convict Koehler, but basket-ball official Koehler ! !

15. When Corky left he didn’t know he would win the Pirette Inspirational Award, but he did!

16. The Cadets have certainly added to the scenic beauty of the Campus.

17. He who knows Whitworth knows Mr. Draper.

18. Whitworth Hall seems to be expecting company.

19. The Seattle Pacific boys “took over” for a day or so.

20. You name it and you can have it.
DEAR DIARY...

1. March 28th. Off to a flying start for the Spring Quarter. Lookit the purty girls—in the spring a young man's fancy etc. etc. etc.

2. What with spring and all, the Rev. Koehler stands ready to officiate at practically anything.

3. People certainly get silly in the Springtime here.

4. The boys must have heard that there would only be six girls to each fellow next year, so they packed up and started home.

5. Impersonation Day! It was a little surprising to see Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs walk into breakfast that morning.

6. Imagine all those people going to the trouble of getting dressed up to impersonate some dear departed hero of their childhood.

7. That's Michal Koehler, not an impersonation of her.

8. On Campus Day, when the Alumni played the Philadelphians in basketball! You'd think those Alums could have found their old basketball suits SOMEWHERE in the attic. Oh well, they dressed as appropriately as they could I suppose.

9. Even Raggedy Ann and Andy came to Impersonation Day.

10. Remember the play about the three old women? Wasn't that the crownert!?!

11. The very deserving winner of the coveted Alumni Ideals Award. That's our Margie, known in some circles as Marjorie Klein.

12. Some bus drivers just drive busses, but our Bill is different. He mails our letters, runs our errands, delivers us to our very doors—and all with a 10-million-dollar smile!

13. "The Game of Chess"—oh my goodness, look at that gun ! ! ! Oh well, it was only another Penthouse play.

14. Not to be confused with "angels" as defined by Webster.

15. And so we say good-bye to Whitworth for this year, but Miss Jenkins will be at her desk in September, waiting for you to come in with your registration card again.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

During a War year, publishing an annual would be expected to be difficult. It would have been, if we had not been so fortunate as to receive the unreserved cooperation of our own Administration, and of Leo's Studio. Our hearty thanks go to them for making this book possible when innumerable difficulties would have made it impossible.

To Leo, we give our personal thanks. He was always willing to go the second mile.

To the members of the faculty and student body who have helped us iron our difficulties, we say Thank You.

To Dr. Warren in particular, who has worked with us in publishing this book, and who has made possible the use of the beautiful Supplement that follows, we say Thank You.

In this view-book an attempt is made to depict graphically some of the physical, the academic, and the campus life at Whitworth College. There is much more that cannot be portrayed even with the magic of the camera—the lovely location, the traditions, the friendly interest of the faculty members, and above all else the Christian atmosphere which permeates the entire College.

This is an hour of unprecedented change in college curriculum and college life. It is quite possible that within the next few years much that has characterized the past in education will be radically changed.

Be that as it may, there will always be a demand for an education which takes in every part of man, which teaches students to meet life, not to evade it, and to come to grips with life's problems and solve them. There will always be a thirst for knowledge, a reaching out for that which is beyond and yet which is attainable, whether it be in the field of philosophy, music, religion, literature, languages, or science. In spite of changes which may come, we shall always study "the life of man in the light of God" ever seeking to measure life in terms of God's supreme manifestation, Jesus Christ.

It is for such an hour as this that Whitworth College has come to its acknowledged place of leadership and of influence. It has weathered the adversities of this present cataclysmic hour; it faces the unknown future with confidence and vision. We trust that these pages will help you to know and to understand your college.
Few colleges in the country have a more beautiful campus. Until 1913 Whitworth was located at Tacoma, Washington. A gift of over two hundred acres of beautiful, wooded land and substantial funds for the first buildings from Jay P. Graves, senior member of the Board of Trustees, brought about the moving of the College to its present favored location. Its position two and a half miles north of Spokane combines the beauty and quiet of the country with the advantages of a large city. Its seven large buildings are all surrounded with pine trees and lovely foliage.
Through these gates have passed thousands of young people in the years that are gone. During the current year close to five hundred young men and women have become members of the Whitworth family. Enter these gates with us and you will see campus and buildings, faculty and students. You will get at least a bird's-eye view of life as it is lived at Whitworth. We trust that to some degree you will also catch something of the spirit of the College, its youth, its maturity, its vision, and its purpose. And remember, it is a college dedicated to the great task of training for Christian leadership.

OUR DINING HALL

Everyday SOCIAL LIFE in an educational institution centers largely in the dining hall where the student family gathers three times a day. Morning and evening the meals are served by efficient student waitresses. At noon luncheon is served cafeteria style.

The new dining hall, in use for the first time at the beginning of the current school year, has solved one of the great needs of the College. It will seat very comfortably 200, and in designing the building plans were made for another 100. A beautiful stage at the far end of the hall makes possible lovely music and formal banquets.

Well-planned meals, gay fellowship, birthday dinners, and many special occasions combine to make dormitory life very attractive. Plans have been made to complete the building some day, giving it a necessary reception room, three music studios, and fifteen to twenty practice rooms for the Music Department. To carry out such a plan will cost approximately $35,000.

Students at Whitworth are fortunate, for they study with friendly, competent teachers. Dr. Schlauch teaches sociology.

The College enjoys a very happy relationship with this well-known Methodist hospital. During the past year nearly one hundred young women have taken their training under the United States Cadet Nurse Corps on the campus at Whitworth and are now in training at the hospital. The College is very happy that it has been able to serve the country in this needed capacity, and it is quite possible that there will be from now on an enlarging of the pre-nursing course at Whitworth.

Another feature of the new dining hall building is the use of students and faculty. This is the auditorium in the basement of the building. The audience can be seen from the ticket office, large classes, cafeteria, and other meetings which do not warrant the use of the Commons hall stage. It will also be used by the Whitworth Presbyterian church building and a separate church structure can be reserved.

The College Looks Ahead

Visitors to Whitworth inevitably comment on the spacious campus, the lovely trees, and the favorable location. As they inspect the buildings, however, often they are heard to remark, "The College needs an administration building and a library." This is unmistakably true, and looking ahead to the greater days of service to youth, plans are already under way for the construction of these two important additions to the campus. Announcements have been made that $250,000 will be raised for the construction of the building which will house offices, classrooms, conference rooms, and an auditorium seating 800 to 1,000 people. Work will commence as soon as funds and materials are available.

A large, comfortable library built to house 60,000 or 70,000 volumes, adequate reading rooms and visual education facilities must be constructed. The present size of the student body demands the full utilization of every available inch of space in the present library. It is the hope of the administration that such a building may be erected as a lasting memorial to some loved one. The construction of these two buildings and, at a later date, of a new women's dormitory and a science hall will give the College not only an outstanding campus but also a plant adequate, spacious, and beautiful for a student body of 500 to 600.

THE COLLEGE LOOKS AHEAD to the return of its men and the enlarging of those departments which train men for life. There will be a greater demand in the fields of mathematics, science, and aeronautics than ever before. The proximity of a large airfield will mean the possible offering of such courses. As our men return we shall also enlarge our pre-medical offerings, for on the basis of our enviable record in the past we know that our men and women will be in the best medical universities of the country.

Throughout the entire West there is the general acknowledgment that Christian education has its greatest opportunity, its greatest day just ahead. As a leading Christian college Whitworth is rapidly taking its place of leadership in this field. Its present student body, loyal alumni, and hosts of interested friends augur well for the future.
Religious Life Has a Major Part at Whitworth

A Christian college must have in its program a definite place for religious expression. Classes in Bible, many student organizations, stated chapel services, and Sunday worship all combine to make religion at the College a normal, attractive experience. Its primary purpose to provide a broad education under conditions which develop Christian character.

The Well-known "Chapel Hour"

For five years Dr. Warren and his singers have conducted each Sunday morning at nine o'clock over radio station KHQ a program known as "The Chapel Hour." Covering the entire Inland Empire, it has proved to be a great medium of religious expression and an asset of invaluable worth.
The Chapel Hour at the College is one of inspiration, entertainment, instruction. Not only are outstanding speakers brought to the campus, but faculty members and students alike take part in the frequent services.
The completion of Jay P. Graves Hall has given Whitworth College excellent equipment for physical education. Although it has been a number of years since Whitworth has engaged in football, yet through boxing, jujitsu, and competitive games our men receive their P. E. training.

A slogan at the College for years has been, "Whitworth Builds Men."
The largest playing floor in the Inland Empire is at Whitworth. Basketball is a favorite sport, and the College should in the near future become a college of champion teams.

Spokane is situated in the heart of the great Inland Empire and rightly takes its place as one of the great and growing cities of the Far West. It now has a population of about 150,000 people, but because of its strategic location and the development of Eastern Washington, because of the mighty waters of the Columbia, it is destined to become an even larger city. From Spokane one sees to the north the mountains of Canada, and to the east the lofty ranges of Montana's mountains. Through the heart of the city flow the swift-moving waters of the Spokane River.

Wandermere, a beautiful little lake less than two miles from the campus, with excellent swimming in the summer and skating in the winter.
Mt. Spokane is a prominent peak visible from the campus of Whitworth. From its summit is gained a glorious, panoramic picture of the Inland Empire.

Two views of mighty Coulee Dam, the greatest project of construction ever undertaken by man. Not only will untold power be generated to set in motion the wheels of industry, but tens of thousands of acres of land will soon be under irrigation and "will blossom like the rose." Whitworth is fortunately located, and its growth will be in keeping with the predicted expansion of the great Inland Empire.
